Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It Was Championship Football

Quite often, especially in high school football, when a game has been touted as being for a championship, and the anticipations of the fans has been stimulated to expect top-flight play, the actual game proves a dud. But such was not the case on Friday night when the Lumberjacks met the Prowlers on the Bemidji State college field with the Northwest football conference at stake.

From the opening kickoff by Bemidji's Dick Fortier to the final play of the game, when the rushing Jacks threw Paul Klungness for an 18-yard loss on a last-second pass play, the contest was of championship caliber, and fulfilled the expectations of the most critical fan.

The fans who were fortunate enough to be in attendance, and there was a good crowd in the stands, left the stadium realizing that they had witnessed a fine brand of high school football. And the players, too, must have a feeling of satisfaction in knowing that they performed well. Sure it is tough to lose such a game, but then the winner is bound to have respect for the loser and to realize that the victory was gained by a good effort against a strong opponent.

As has been the case in too many instances of Prowlers vs. Lumberjack football games, it was Bemidji's ability to explode their fast-moving backs for long gainers that proved decisive. On the punching into the line, and the off-tackle slants, the Prowlers more than held their own with the Lumberjacks. Incidentally, the Lumberjacks, unbeaten this season, will close out their 1962 schedule on Wednesday night by playing Brainerd at Brainerd.

Long Touchdown Runs

The 63-yard run by right halfback Roger Johnson in the first period, for a touchdown; and the 59-yard run by left halfback Dennis Aguiar in the fourth period, for a touchdown, were the big factors in the Jacks' victory on Friday night.

A couple of breaks, too, that went against the Prowlers perhaps had an effect on the outcome. Late in the first period a Prowler drive, which had moved to the Bemidji 21-yard line, was halted by a fumble. And midway in the second period a long gain by Paul Klungness, which had carried the ball to the Bemidji 20-yard line and a first down, was nullified because of a clipping penalty. And in the fourth period, with the score at 20-13 for Bemidji, a Prowler fourth-down play for a yard and first down, failed by inches, and Bemidji gained possession. Three plays later, the Jacks rocketed Dennis Aguiar through the line and away for a fifty-nine yards and a touchdown.

But that's football.

More of the Same

The Pine-to-Prairie football conference will have a game this week that could provide the fans with the same brand of football exhibited at Bemidji on Friday. Referring, of course, to the Mahnomen Indians vs. Fertile Falcons game at Fertile on Wednesday night. The two teams share first place in the conference standings, with each team having six wins and no losses, and the result of Wednesday night's game will decide the championship.

I admit to a bias in favor of coach Chuck Johnson and his Fertile club. The Prowlers play Fertile in baseball and basketball, and consider the Falcons as respected and highly-talented opponents.

And too, Rod Olson, one of the scoring stars on the Fertile club, is well-known to baseball fans in this area. Rod, a sturdy right-hander, was a draft choice of the senior baseball Thieves this past season, and he developed a number of friendships with the local players.

Just as a guess, I'll venture the score as being Fertile, 20, Mahnomen, 7.

An A-One Competitor

One of the finest competitors in Region Eight athletics, and I've seen a lot of good ones over the years, is Dennis Aguiar, the left halfback on coach Red Wilson's unbeaten Bemidji Lumberjack football team.

Aguiar, who is deceptively frail-looking as he weighs only 138 pounds, and is about five feet, eight inches tall, packs tremendous drive and desire into that frame. In Friday night's game against the Prowlers, the twinkly back was a constant threat, and he did break away for a long touchdown run. Not only is Aguiar a star in football, but he is also a top-flighter in track and basketball.

The memory of Aguiar's 440-yard duel with Crookston's Mark Stephens in Northwest Conference and Region Eight track competition is vivid. Aguiar finished one of these races, in which he nipped Stephens by a stride, with such a finishing "kick" that he fell sprawling on the cinder track after breaking the ribbon. But his concern wasn't about his skinned knees and elbows but about if he had won or lost!

Busy Bee at 93 . . .

Mrs. Anne Thompson Knits Shawls To Cure Idle Hands

Not even the attainment of her 93rd birthday would deter a venerable pioneer, Mrs. Anne Sjolsvold Thompson of this city, from knitting the traditional shawl for the latest in her long line of descendants, Natalie Johnson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Johnson of near Newfolden, grandchild of the Kenneth Wendels of this city, was not to be cheated. This was to be Mrs. Thompson's 37th great-grandchild, and while she had already child, but even her age would not allow her the luxury of idle hands.

Mrs. Thompson, who lives with her daughter, Miss Inga Thompson, employee of the local library for the past 15 years, was born in Rindal, Norway, on July 14, 1869, a year when America had still scarcely recovered from the assassination of Lincoln. She received what formal education her homeland then provided.

In 1882 she came to America, settled in the Duluth area, and four years later, moved to New Solum township of Marshall county. It was undeveloped country then, and she and Louis Thompson, whom she married in Warren in 188, came to know the meaning of the word "pioneer" in the truest tradition.

Their first home was a log cabin and there she bore her 11 children, without the services and comfort of a doctor. The midwife was revered and respected, and available when the time came, to sit beside the childbed, the bed of the sick, and sometimes of the dying.

Togetherness

The neighbors, scattered far afield, for the most part, early learned the lessons of neighborliness and co-operation.

Miss Thompson relayed the words of her mother, (long familiar after much telling over the years).

"They assisted one another in house-raising, in threshing, quilting and spinning bees; the men in the fields, the women in the kitchen preparing meals for and serving the large crews who gathered to be helpful, and to enjoy visiting and fellowship."

Building schools and churches required every man's hand to the axe, the saw and the hammer, and everyone's contribution—no matter how modest, "Father told of balances of under a dollar on the church books or in the school ledger. These balances were usually written up as, "nails, 47 cents;" and such."

Hard cash, foldin' money—there was virtually none of this in circulation in the area, when the family was young. They exchanged such commodities as butter, eggs, meat, wood, grain, livestock—and the products of the mother's ingenuity, her crochet and knitted articles—for their needs, which were mainly sugar, kerosene for the lamps, calico and flannel for the family's clothing. The latter was crafted with the aid of treadle sewing machine.

"The farm supplied most of our needs, Miss Thompson said. Mother made the bread, the butter, processed the meat, made the mittens, socks, quilts, scarves—

"Coffee was a treat reserved for special occasions" Grain was taken to the mill and ground into the family's yearly supply of flour, which was stored on the farm against a winter when 20 miles by oxen could be a brutal experience.

For many years the postoffice was just a centrally-located place, where the mail came once a week. Friendly neighbors often picked up their own mail and delivered that of their neighbors to more convenient points. Each family had to pick up its own mail.

The nearest town, at first, was St. Hilaire "as the crow fliers, or as the oxen lumbered along" over the trackless meadow which eventually showed traces of a trail traversed either on foot or in the cumbersome lumber wagon. In time, oxen gave way to horses, the wagon was abetted by the buggy for added speed and "elegance," in traveling, and the trails begin to resemble roads.

Endless Tasks

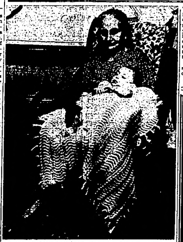
"The work never ended," Miss Thompson quoted her mother. "Even in the dark," she added on her own, "my mother would knit mittens, scarves, socks — For some time, all the wool was grown on the farm. My father sheared the sheep, mother washed the wool and dried it, father helped with the carding, and Mother would spin it into yarn and weave it on the four-treadle loom.

"We were pressed into service holding the skeins of yarn and winding it into balls. Always the knitting needles flew and the loom hummed. The neighbors said they never saw mother coming over the hill without a ball of yarn under her arm, knitting as she walked."

In the early years, school would be in session for only a few months out of the year. But Mrs. Thompson, a strong believer in education, insisted that her family would receive what there was offered. There was always much reading and studying going on by the fireside. The school year gradually lengthened, and educational opportunities broadened.

The years brought about many other changes; progress was everywhere in evidence. In 1928 the family, quite grown now, lost its father. In 1940, Inga and her mother moved to Thief River Falls, but the move to the city did not mean idleness for Mrs. Thompson's busy, creative hands, although it easily could have. Over the years, she has made, among other things, about 20 room-sized braided rugs, a heavy, woven blanket of white and pink wool, which she herself dyed, a gray-black-and red wool rug runner in use for over 30 years and washed regularly; handsome Afgahans in glowing colors, a bright-hued braided rug made from neckties donated for the purpose by friends and relatives.

And now the pale yellow shawl for the newest member of the clan.



CRAFTSMAN at the age of 93, Mrs. Anne Sjolsvold Thompson, 712 Main Ave. No., city, is shown holding her 37th great-grandchild, for whom she made the lovely fringed shawl pictured. The baby, Natalie Johnson, daughter of the Michael Johnsons of rural Newfolden, fell heir to a shawl at birth, as did the 36 other great-grandchildren of Mrs. Thompson who preceded her.

Bella's Fine Fella

Well, Washington rolled out the red carpet for Algeria's Premier Ahmed Ben Bella last week. At a White House luncheon President Kennedy toasted his guest as a man "who had borne heavy burdens and bears them now with distinction." The North African dictator was honored with a 21 gun salute. It looked like things were shaping up fine for the home team and we had everything under control.

The next stop on the Premier's itinerary was Cuba, and at the reception at Havana he was all for Castro and against American imperialism. The reports indicate that President Kennedy had given the visitor assurance of aid for his strife-torn nation. We do not know whether or not this was an unconditional promise.

Maybe it would be well to proceed a little more slowly in our official recognition of new governments that establish themselves by force of arms. Maybe it would be wise to let our European allies make the first decisions, when these changes are made in their neighborhood. They are closer to the problems and for them there is more at stake. At any rate there must be times when there would be some advantage in not offending them.

Proper Warning

Ike Eisenhower certainly was not a politician when he became a candidate for the presidency ten years ago and the campaigning that he did during his eight years in office was always mild and friendly. Today he is entirely different, speaking in defense of his own administration and hitting hard for those things he believes to be in the best interests of the country.

Eisenhower is an American first and somewhere in back of that he is a military man. In his farewell address to the nation, following eight years as President, he classified himself very effectively in the following statement:

> "The conjunction of an immense military establishment and a large arms industry is new in American experience. The total influence—economic, political and even spiritual—is felt in every city, every state house, every office of the federal government . . . Yet we must not fail to comprehend its grave implications . . . we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence . . . by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists, and will persist."

This is a warning that should not go unheeded. Next to personally ambitious politicians, personally ambitious military men probably are the most dangerous threat to free government.

Cuban Melodrama

The administration is not getting very far with its solicitation for friendly help from our allies in dealing with the Cuban problem. Secretary of State Dean Rusk tried unsuccessfully to persuade Norway, one of our NATO partners, to help isolate Communist Cuba. After a conference with Rusk on this and other matters, Halvard Lange, Norwegian foreign minister, told reporters that Cuba is "essentially an American problem." This seems to be the attitude of our other friends.

The following observations by the Vancouver Sun, no doubt express the Canadian point of view on this matter, and probably come close to expressing the reactions of most of our allies:

> "The sometimes ludicrous, often embarrassing drama of the United States of America versus Cuba continues to play to full houses. The Communists in the audience may be laughing. But many Americans seem bereft of all sense of humor or tragedy.
> "Recently the American Senate expressed itself in an almost unanimous vote. It voted President Kennedy full power to do whatever is necessary to remove this fearsome threat to United States security, including armed aggression.
> "The rest of the Western world can only hope that Mr. Kennedy has more sense of proportion than his Senate.
> "We suggest consideration of a few facts which could introduce an element of sanity into this shrill debate:
> "1. The present government of Cuba has fully as much legal basis as that of some rightist Latin American dictatorships. As much, for example, as the sordid and brutal tyranny of Mr. Duvalier in Haiti.
> "2. The U. S. is in a poor position to deplore Russian intervention in Communist Cuba. The U. S., in concert with us other allies, has long maintained military bases on the borders of the Russian empire. More, the U. S. has unilaterally chosen to prop up the Chiang Kai-shek dictatorship on Formosa, at Red China's border, despite the misgivings of some of America's allies.
> "3. The Monroe Doctrine, which U. S. interventionists quote, has never been clearly recognized as international law. The doctrine was a public declaration of policy by a U. S. government in 1823. More recently, in 1936, a succeeding American government was one of the countries which pledged itself to refrain from intervention in the affairs of other Western Hemisphere states.
> "4. An attack upon Cuba, under present circumstances, would be aggression. It would invite the same worldwide condemnation that Britain and France earned in their Suez invasion of 1956.
> "True, as American UN Ambassador Stevenson has said, the Castro regime does carry on a campaign of subversion and vituperation. But this is not a new role for Communists. Many American allies have experienced it, most of them at closer quarters than the U. S.
> "It is alarming to see the Cuba affair stampeding the Senate into voting emergency powers for their president."

It isn't always pleasant but sometimes it is healthy to learn bluntly just how our neighbors do feel about us and our problems.

Playful Fellows

An aquarium costing $10 million is going to be built in our national capitol. The $10 million will be paid by the federal government.

Such expenditures no longer are unusual but this one did have an especially interesting angle. There was opposition to this expenditure, and some of the opposition was quite vocal. Among those who suggested that there must be millions of better ways to spend millions of dollars than for a "glorified bathtub" for fish were Senators Morse of Oregon and Church of Idaho, both Democrats.

The "bathtub" bill had been sponsored by Representative Kirwan, an Ohio Democrat. With his pet project safely in the bag, he retaliated. As chairman of a House Conference comittee he prevailed upon his colleagues to do a little trimming of their own. The result was that a power project favored by Mr. Church and two reclamation projects advocated by Mr. Morse were stricken from another appropriation bill of the pork barrel variety. Washington will get its aquarium but the total appropriations authorized by this Congress were reduced by $96 million.

Playful fellows, these lawmakers.

Still Drifting

Next year the federal government will cut taxes and give us that long-promised tax reform. But don't mark it down as a sure thing. Better just check it off as another campaign promise that isn't likely to materialize.

And why is it not likely to materialize? Well, mainly because it probably would not have the necessary backing in Congress. There is solid support for tax reduction, providing there also is a cut in spending, but the pressure groups want more spending, and that likely is what it will be, with, eventually, still more burdensome taxes.

President Kennedy's budget, for the present fiscal year, was to be a balanced one as he projected the figures. There might even be a small surplus he assured us. Few informed people took his estimates seriously at the time. Now, with Congress adjourned, we have enough facts at our disposal to give the experts a fairly accurate idea of what our condition will be by the end of June.

Barron's Weekly is not hopeful. Following an anlysis of the economic trends and the state of the nation financially, it concludes:

> "All told, as things now stand, the U.S. will wind up the current fiscal year not with a small surplus but with a large deficit, one on the order of, say, $8 billion. Such an outcome, of course, would constitute a devastating indictment of the budget-makers, who, in their zeal to strike a spurious balance between income and outgo, blinked neither at beting on chancy legislation nor at embracing exuberant projections of business activity.
> "More tangibly, unless Washington throws prudence wholly to the winds, the deplorable state of the nation's finances is bound to jeopardize the prospects of early tax relief. In the best of times,, as the record of the 87th Congress suggests, tax reform is a long and arduous proposition. A ballooning budget deficit will scarcely speed the task.
> "The gap between promise and performance in the fiscal sphere thus looms very wide indeed. Unless it is bridged, all efforts to restore confidence at home and abroad, no matter how skillfully planned or executed, must in the end come to naught. In some aspects of life, as well as private, sophistication may well deserve a place. In budget-making, however, it is a poor substitute for prudence and honesty."

Interesting Opinions

"There is a marked increase in cases of mental depression and nervous disturbance round about the age of forty, when the ambitions of youth no longer satisfy, and the ideals and values that have been cherished in the past no longer seem of such lustre and importance."

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

Where To Now, On Taconite?

Another iron mine, the Zenith at Ely has closed, putting over 200 men out of work.

The time for voting on a taconited amendment in 1962 has passed.

In the most earnest effort to cooperate with all who share my concern about the serious conditions in Minnesota's iron range I submit the following eleven point action program for your consideration. Some part of it is underway. Taken as a whole I am certain it can restore full employment and prosperity to northeastern Minnesota. Its only chance for success is through non-political non-partisan total support. It is a summation of suggestions from many sources. I hope it will receive general approval and support so we can move ahead and resolve the crisis affecting many families.

1. The 1963 Legislative session should pass a statute providing for assurance of tax equity to processors of taconite and semi-taconite and also submit a 25-year constitutional amendment with the same provisions, to a 1964 vote of the people.

2. During the present transition period of high chronic unemployment in northeastern Minntsota the Federal government should impose quota restrictions on importation of foreign ore and steel.

3. Develop a program of special state aids to those communities in dire straits due to loss of mineral values to a serious extent which have cut services and costs to a reasonable minimum and have non-mineral properties paying taxes at high rates.

4. A plan should be devised to protect seniority rights of mining employees moving from one phase of mining operation to another. Worker retraining should be expanded and present labor force favored on re-employment.

5. A provision should be established under the Taconite law wherein "holding reserves" of good taconite land are defined and given full protection for a period of ten years. After that the holding tax per acre on established inactive reserves should be escalated at a reasonable rate.

6. Mineral reservations should be taxed so that they contribute on an equal basis with other types of property, and if not paid, surface owner could reacquire the rights.

7. Reclassify ores upon metallurgical test data and evidence of plans to build processing facilities.

8. Expand Minnesota Geologic Survey, with emphasis on geologic mapping. Drill ten deep holes on state land along southern edge of Mesabi Range. Require data reporting on all drill holes, to be held confidential for five years.

9. Tax concessions to U. S. companies operating abroad should be reviewed and if used to undermine our domestic economy, should be changed.

10. Domestic lake carriers should receive a Federal subsidy representing the difference between their costs and those of foreign vessels plying from Canadian and foreign parts to U. S. lower lake ports. Use of integrated trains should be studies as a further means of lowering transportation costs.

11. Greatly expand research efforts in the mineral industry, particularly in the development of new methods of concentrating and agglomerating the semi-taconites and the taconites. Market studies and economic appraisals of the more promising methods of direct reduction should be continued. Research on the utilization of lignite and natural gas for magnetic roasting of ores and the pre-reducing of pellets should be expanded.

Nonfarm Jobholders Hit Peak Last Month

September nonfarm employment in Minnesota advanced to 1,014,200 workers, a gain of 10,250 from August and 20,500 above year ago, according to Frank T. Starkey, Commissioner of the Department of Employment Security. The increase over the month was general, in line with seasonal expectations. The largest seasonal gains were recorded in manufacturing (2,100), trade (1,800), services (4,400), and government (6,000), partially offsetting losses occurred in the construction and transportation industries, said Starkey.

Within the manufacturing, the canning industry accounted for 1,600 of the gain as it reached the seasonal peak of 14,000 workers. The return to work of 1,200 transportation equipment workers involved in the annual model changeover layoff last month also added to the manufacturing gain, he said. Small losses in several other hard goods industries somewhat offset the increase. Approximately 400 workers were also idled by industrial disputes.

The gains in service and government employment were largely due to the fall opening of private and public elementary and high schools. The beginning of fall terms in most colleges will be reflected in the October figures.

The over-the-month employment loss in construction was somewhat larger than usual due in part to the wet weather this year. In the railroad industry approximately 1,200 workers were idled by a labor-management dispute during September. This dispute has since been settled.

Starkey reported that production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industries earned an average of $101.53 per week in September, up $1.57 per week from August and twenty-eight cents above a year ago. The monthly rise in earning was due to the longer work week.

The unemployment rate dropped to 3.0 percent in September compared to 3.5 percent the previous month and 3.9 percent a year ago. The current rate of unemployment was the lowest recorded for any month since Oct. 1957.

Billboard Space Ofered to Boost State's Economy

Business development Commissioner Tom Swain reported today the Outdoor Advertising Association of the Northern states has joined with the department in a campaign to promote Minnesota's tourist industry and business opportunities.

He said the association has offered free billboard space to the department of business development to help boost the state's economy.

Byron W. Vogel, Rochester, association president, said he expects the campaign will get underway in January and will involve between 400 and 500 billboards in all parts of Minnesota and some sections of South Dakota. The association represents outdoor advertising firms in Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

Swain said the department's only obligation will be to supply the advertising material for the campaign. There will be no cost for the space or servicing.

Free Arbitration Service Given by Labor Counciliator

State Official Offers Free Services to Help in Settling Disputes

A new policy of offering free arbitration services to employers, employees, and labor unions to help settle cerain types of labor disputes was announced today by Richard E. Wanek, Minnesota state labor conciliator.

Although the state labor relations act, passed in 1939, has authorized the conciliator to participate as a member of a board of arbitration to make final and binding decisions on request of disputing parties, the conciliation division has not previously participated personally in such decisions.

Wanek said although he and members of his staff will be available on request for any type of arbitration, he expects the service will be utilized chiefly in small cases where the parties cannot afford the expense and services of arbitrators from private employment.

"Our arbitrators will serve without cost to the parties," Wanek said. "They will be reimbursed for travel and subsistence on out of town assignments from state funds as they are now for handling conciliation assignments."

"I believe there is a need for final and binding arbitration decisions in many disputes between small businessmen and their employees or employee representatives at no cost to the parties except for their own counsel. Some disputes and ill feelings between the employer and employees continue over long periods because neither side can afford to pay the $50 to $100 a day fees that arbitrators from private employment usually charge."

Wanek emphasized that having labor conciliators serve as arbitrators will not interfere with their principal job of conciliating labor disputes by persuasion and non-binding, neutral assistance in reaching agreements.

"We will not serve as arbitrators unless both parties wish us to," the state conciliator said. "In addition if I feel there is any chance that arbitration work will interfere with future conciliation between specific employers and employees or unions, I will ask the parties to choose arbitrators from outside of our staff."

The arbitrator selected will serve as chairman of either an arbitration panel, with other members chosen by the disputing parties, or, if agreed on by the parties, the person selected may be the sole arbitrator.

LOCAL STUDENT IS ON GUSTAVUS HONOR ROLL

According to Dean Albert Swanson, 162 students have been named to the Dean's list at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minnesota. These students ended the second semester of 1962 with an accumulative honor point ratio of two point (a "B" average) or higher. On this list was Edward Lietzow, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lietzow of rural Thief River Falls.

Wetland Drainage Law Provisions Explained

Wetlands for wildlife received additional protection from drainage on Oct. 2, when the President signed H. R. 8520 into law. Known as Public Law 87-732 the legislation prohibits the secretary of agriculture from entering into agreements in any county in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota to provide financial or technical assistance for wetland drainage on a farm where the Fish and Wildlife Service, acting for the secretary of the interior, determines such drainage would materially harm wildlife.

Bob Burwell, regional director for the Fish and Wildlife Service in these states, said that details and procedures are now being worked out with the department of agriculture.

Burwell said that it would be up to the fish and wildlife service to make an inspection of any proposed drainage within 90 days of the date of application. If this is not done, the applicant may become eligible for assistance if the drainage meets certain specifications under the department of agriculture program.

If the fish and wildlife service finds the drainage would materially harm wildlife, it has a year in which to make a reasonable offer to purchase or obtain easement on the wetlands valuable to wildlife. If such an offer is made, and the owner does not accept, the proposed drainage harmful to willife is not eligible for cost sharing or technical assistance for negotiation period up to five years from the date of the finding.

Sportsmen throughout the area hail this legislation as a big step in discouraging destruction of wetlands valuable to the production of waterfowl and other wildlife. It is also a means of putting money into the pocket of farmers and landowners whose wetlands contribute to wildlife.

Highway Official Reviews City's Traffic Inventory

Results of an analysis of traffic safety activities in Thief River Falls was presented by Leo F. Steinmetz, representative of the safety promotion section of the Minnesota highway department, at the noon dinner meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club held Monday at the Elks club rooms.

"The annual traffic inventory program is based on the action program of the President's traffic safety committee," Steinmetz said. "It is a program for assisting cities and states in administering and improving their traffic safety and management activities. Its objective is to prevent traffic accidents."

Steinmetz outlined the program as "an assistance and mutual information project designed to provide cities and states with a means for measuring internal progress in their accident prevention and traffic control functions and comparing local activity with other cities of like size and with nationally recognized standards."

He said the analysis and criteria for evaluation are set by the advisory committee of the American Bar association, International Association of Chiefs of Police, Institute for Traffic Engineers and others.

Awards Offered

"Although the program is not a contest, some awards are made when a city achieves a minimum standard of excellence," the safety specialist added. "I am happy to announce that Thief River Falls this year is one of these cities, having been evaluated among the top 10 per cent of the cities in your population group in the nation."

Nationally the year 1961 saw a slow but continuous progress in reducing the traffic death rate to an all-time low of 5.2 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles of travel with the actual number of deaths decreased by 200. Minnesota's death rate of 4.9 compared favorably with national experience in that it is slightly lower, Steinmetz said.

Local Situation

Thief River Falls is one of 66 cities in Minnesota participating in the inventory program. Nationally there are 266 cities reporting in the same population group. This city in 1961 was evaluated at 75 per cent of currently recommended performance. The analysis summary as compared with a 100 per cent total for perfect performance according to recommendations, is as follows:

Accident records, 94 per cent; traffic engineering, 80 per cent; police traffic supervision, 59 per cent; traffic courts, 89 per cent; school traffic safety education, 46 per cent; public traffic safety education, 86 per cent; and organization for traffic safety improvement, 70 per cent.

Recommendations are made where it is determined from the survey that the situation could be improved. In the case of traffic engineering, recommendations in-

Kin of TRF Woman Ousted by Russia

Charge Kermit Midthun with Spying for U. S.

Kermit S. Midthun, first secretary at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow, Russia, was recently ordered expelled from the Soviet Union on charges of spying by trying to induce a Soviet citizen to transmit information of a secret nature.

Midthun, who is the nephew of Mrs. Tom Grovom of this city and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Midthun of Froid, Montana, is the second U. S. diplomat to be expelled recently. The action is believed to be in reprisal for the recent expulsion of two Russian spies from the United States.

Midthun denied the espionage charge, but in accordance with diplomatic protocol, he and his family are returning to this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Michalsky were in Minto, N. D. last Thursday to attend the funeral of Mr. Michalsky's brother Alex.

New Phone Directory out Next Week to List Numbers for 13 Towns

Northwestern Bell Telephone company's new regional telephone directory, which includes listings for Thief River Falls and 12 other communities in this area, will be mailed to all telephone users next week, James Wilson, manager, said today.

"The first of its kind in this area, the new directory is designed to offer Thief River Falls and other telephone users an improved number information service over a wider geographical area," he said. "All old telephone directories should be thrown away when the new one arrives."

In addition to Thief River Falls, other communities which will appear in both the alphabetical and classified sections of the new regional directory include Baudette, Crookston, Malung, Roseau, Wannaska and Warroad. Communities which will be included in the alphabetical or "White Pages" section only include Holt, Newfolden, Rainy River, Ont., Roosevelt, Williams, and Viking.

In appearance, the new directory will measure 6 by 9 inches and will be laid out in a two-column form. The new cover, printed on white stock, features an attractive design and the name of Thief River Falls and other communities in alphabetical order.

Under the new arrangement, each community will have its own separate white page section with telephone listings appearing alphabetically, and each community will be listed alphabetically in the directory and on the front cover. Business firms included in the "Yellow Pages" section will be listed under their proper classified heading and will have their town name in the listing to make it easy to identify the location.

DFL Bean Feed Set Saturday in TRF Armory

Freeman Unable to Be Present; Called Back to Washington

Local officials of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party have arranged for a bean feed to be held in the National Guard Armory Saturday evening, October 27, at 7 o'clock.

Cy Carpenter, Pennington county DFL chairman, announced that Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, who was to have been the principal speaker, will be unable to appear, having been called back to Washington due to the Cuban emergency.

It was announced later that Robert Bergland of Roseau would substitute for Freeman, but his talk, too, was canceled when it developed that his appearance at a political meeting would conflict with his duties as chairman of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Party candidates who will speak briefly included Dr. Harding Noblitt of Moorhead, seeking election to Congress from the new Seventh district; Louis Murray of East Grand Forks, seeking reelection as state senator; and Stanley Radniecki, candidate for state representative from this district.

Ben Wichterman of Plummer, retiring state representative, will serve as toastmaster at the dinner, the admission charge for which will be $1, with the net proceeds going into the DFL campaign fund.

County Alert Is To Be Tested In Full on Nov. 1st

Civil Defense organization in Pennington county came in for close scrutiny Wednesday evening at the strategic briefing for county Civil Defense personnel held at the courthouse meeting room. Kendall Gustafson, county CD director, presided at the session at which 26 members were in attendance.

Gustafson has just returned from attending a one-day strategic briefing session for county Civil Defense directors held the same day in Bemidji — headquarters for mobile Support Area III.

"When things get touchy, everyone is concerned about Civil Defense," Gustafson told the group. "When things are rolling along smoothly, Civil Defense is pretty much of an unwanted stepchild." He urged all local departments organized under the county survival plan to bring their personnel up to date and prepare for any eventuality.

Several phases of the program came in for main emphasis at the meeting. They included communications, hospital and medical care, warning, medical self-help and private and public fallout shelters. While emphasis was placed on preparation in the possibility of nuclear warfare, attention was also called to the use of Civil Defense in the event of local or area disasters.

Schedule Test Alert

Morris Owen, chief of the warning system department, noted that practice siren warnings are held on the first Wednesday of each month and have been for a number of years. At the direction of the county director, he scheduled a full-scale test of the county-wide warning system for next Thursday, November 1. All sirens in the city will be tested as well as the telephone warning system in the rural areas. In past tests it has taken about an hour to alert the entire county, he said.

Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern hospital and head of the hospital and medical care division, noted that supplies of hospitals are being doubled from about $22,000 in value to $44,000. Hospitals are to be prepared to handle 10 times their normal capacity. In the case of Thief River Falls, this would be about $1,200 persons. In addition the city has a 200-bed field hospital available in storage.

Booklet Available

Attention was also called to the Civil Defense booklet "Fallout Protection — what to Know and Do About Nuclear Attack" which the county CD organization has available. These booklets will be made available at the Thief River Falls postoffice, county treasurer's office, banks and check-out counters at city supermarkets. This is the most current booklet on the subject published by the office of Civil Defense.

Reference was also made to the medical self-help program which was started several months ago. One class was completed, another is now in progress and a third will get underway soon. The 16-hour course, designed to be pre-

Sharon Ann Wilde Wed To Roger Forsberg at Oklee

A candle-lit evening wedding on September 29 at Ebenezer Lutheran church of Oklee united Miss Sharon Ann Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilde of rural Thief River Falls, and Roger Allen Forsberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Forsberg of this city.

Rev. Milton Grorud used the double-ring ceremony.

Floor baskets of white gladioli and blue carnations decorated the church; white candles with blue bow trim marked the aisles.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Judy Johnson and Gloria Phillipps. Soloist Grace Hammer sang, "O Perfect Love," "Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown which was of her own design and creation, and was fashioned with a full-length skirt. The fitted bodice was of white Chantilly lace and the skirt of net, both over satin. The neckline was scalloped, and the skirt was detailed with scalloped lace in peplum effect, coming to a point at the center-front and center-back. The waist-length net veil fell from a white satin crown, embroidered with pearls. Her bouquet was of white roses with blue and white feathered carnations, centered on a Bible.

Maid of honor was Marian Bakken of Bemidji state college, a cousin of the bride; bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Lois Wilde, and the groom's sister, LaVonne Forsberg. They wore identically-styled, street-length gowns of blue, with matching head bands, all fashioned by the bride. Flower girl was Carol Wilde, sister of the bride; her dress and headband were like those of the bride's other attendants. She carried a basket of glads, and dropped yellow mum petals in the aisle as the bride proceeded to the altar.

Rings were carried by Mark Folkedahl.

Best man was Larry Forsberg, the groom's brother; Dale Wilde, and Ralph Wilde, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen. Ushers were Dennis Wilde and Jerry Nelson. The men and the ring-bearer all wore dark suits.

Mothers of the couple both wore navy blue dresses with corsages of white mums.

The bride's parents were hosts at a wedding reception in the church reception rooms following the ceremony. It was attended by a large number of friends and relatives. Those from out-of-town were from Duluth, Keewatin, and Cloquet, Minn.; Fordville, N. D.; Castro Valley, Calif., and Plymouth, Mich.

Mrs. Sigurd Folkedahl was hostess.

The four-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal pair with a tiny altar as a background, was baked by Mrs. John Nelson, and served by Mrs. Lee Roy Southworth, Cloquet, the groom's aunt, and by Mrs. Lila Martinson, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Larry Forsberg, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Julius Olson, aunt of the bride, poured. At the guest book was Mrs. Ralph Wilde, sister-in-law of the bride, and the waitresses were Pam Flage, Kathryn Johnson, and Sharon Martinson. Mrs. Roger Soletn, Mrs. Clifford Swanson, and Mrs. Marvin Bakken were at the gift table.

The couple left on a wedding trip along the North Shore Drive, for which trip the bride selected an aqua wool sheath with beige accessories.

Mrs. Forsberg is a 1961 graduate of Lincoln high school; her husband graduated in 1961, also from Lincoln high school, and is a painter employed by Northwest Decorators

Each club will have its own president and secretary-treasurer, and will be represented at conventions by two delegates, thereby giving them 10 votes in place of two.

Once in every five years, each group will furnish or be responsible for a president and secretary of the council. The council expects to call only one business meeting each year.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Monsrud of Roseau, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moen of Middle River.

Miss Alice Molby presided at the organ for the prelude of nuptial music and accompanied Rosie Mulder and Bonnie Bradburn of Minneapolis as they sang, "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of imported lace. The closely-fitted bodice was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long fitted sleeves, the skirt highlighted with tiers of lace. The finger-tip length veil was secured by a crown of crystal beads and seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and carnations.

The bride chose her sister, Diane Monsrud of Roseau, as her maid of honor, and as her bridesmaids, Delores Gunderson of Badger, and Diane Burns, Garber, Ia. The attendants were all in dresses of burnt orange and gold brocade which were styled with rounded necklines, cap sleeves, and skirt-length side pleats, with crown headpieces to match. They carried bouquets of white roses and carnations.

Jean Nelson, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a full-length white dress similar in style to that worn by the bride and wore a band of white flowers around her head. She carried a basket of white roses and carnations. Allen Monsrud, cousin of the bride, was ring-bearer.

Robert Nelson, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Edwin Monsrud, brother of the bride, and Edward Gormsen. Ushers were Vernon Peterson of Minneapolis, and Lowell Gunderson of Badger. The men in the party wore dark trousers and white dinner jackets, and white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Monsrud chose for her daughter's wedding, a green dress with bronze accessories, and Mrs. Moen wore a green dress with brown accessories. Corsages of white roses and carnations completed their costumes.

A reception given by the bride's parents was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. The serving table was centered with a tiered wedding cake flanked with candles on either side. Mrs. Donald Foster, Aurora, and Mrs. Albert Monsrud, Jr., Badger, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Darrell Tafe, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Oscar Gunderson, Badger, poured. LaRayne Monsrud, Badger, was at the guest book. Waitresses were LuAnn Kuebl, Nancy Burton, Jerry Frye, Jane Hayden, Karen Gustafson and Elaine Sather, all of Minneapolis. Mrs. Milton Erickson, Cherry Peterson, Marlene Vake, and Vicki Sandbeck, were in charge of the gift table.

Guests were from Minneapolis, Grand Forks, N. D., Aurora, Biwabik, Stephen and Niagara, N. D.

Legion Auxiliary Opens Enrollment For New Year

Enrollment of more than 900,000 members of the American Legion auxiliary for the year 1963 has begun in auxiliary units throughout the nation, according to Mrs. Orville Feragen, membership chairman of Ecklund Holmstrom unit here. Invitations to join the organization for the activities of 1963 are going out to eligible women and girls.

"Enrollment for the new year is progressing with more than usual eagerness and enthusiasm," said Mrs. Feragen. "This is due, I believe, to the desire of women of war-service families to 'show their colors' at this time of national danger. The American Legion Auxiliary, being the largest women's patriotic organization in the nation, gives its members opportunity for wide variety of patriotic service. We are planning a program of activities for 1963 that that give a good example of patriotism in action."

Eligible for Auxiliary membership, Mrs. Feragen explained, are mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of American Legion members and of deceased war veterans. Women who themselves were in the armed forces in time of war are eligible to membership in both The American Legion and Auxiliary. Special junior memberships are held by nearly 100,000 daughters and sisters under the age of 18.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

I have had several questions about preserving weeds and flowers. A clipping passed across my desk today telling a little about it. It said that if the items being preserved were gathered before they were completely dead, one could treat them with glycerin so that they would have a silky sheen and remain flexible and everlasting when dry.

The treatment is simple, and you want to try it on leaves that will be most effective in your arrangement if they don't grow brittle—such as oak, maple and other leaves. You can keep them soft and flexible by placing the stems of green leaves in equal parts of glycerin and water, in a small jar. Leave the material in this solution for a few weeks. You will notice a change in color within the same item.

For regular drying, many plants cure excellently if hung upside down on a wire or string.

Are you having difficulty keeping your arrangement secure? Why not dampen some sand slightly as a base in a tall container? If you have a container that is low and flat use modeling clay. Just insert the stems into this material.

The beauty of a dried arrangement is in the natural colors of the material used. Dry plant arrangements have other assets besides their beauty—their long lasting quality and firmness of structure.

If it is cost you are afraid of you don't need to be. Most everyone can gather a few weeds and leaves. All you need to do then is let them dry and make your arrangement.

Do you have a hunter in your family? Have you ever been presented with a bird that you just didn't know how to prepare? Pheasant season opens next Saturday and I am sure some birds will find their way to the kettle. I would like to pass along a recipe that I had the opportunity of tasting last year during the season.

Smothered Pheasant

1 pheasant, cut in pieces
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 eighth teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ cup fat
1 cup light cream.

Dip pheasant pieces in flour seasoned with salt, pepper and paprika. Brown in heavy skillet. Add cream. Cover and simmer 1 ½ hours or bake in 325 degree F. oven until pheasant is tender. Serve with gravy made from cream in pan.

Thief River Falls Traffic Safety Report Reviewed

cluded more off-street parking, additional street lighting and more marked crosswalks.

Police traffic supervision recommendations included further schooling for officers, investigation of more accidents at the scene, further development of selective enforcement personnel and increased arrests for hazardous violations.

In school traffic safety education, recommendation was made that one qualified school person be appointed in charge of the safety education program in the entire school system to coordinate the program in all the schools. A more complete accident reporting system should also be established so that all accidents can be reviewed and studies made to eliminate the causes.

Steinmetz commended the community for having "a fine operative committee of officials and an active citizens group. Many cities in Minnesota, because of this need, envy you," he said.

Wheelchair Pastor to Be Speaker Oct. 28 to Nov. 1

Rev. Allen V. Lee, a member of the staff of the commission on evangelism of The American Lutheran Church, will be in Goodridge from Sunday, October 28, thru Thursday, November 1 conducting a series of special preaching services in Goodridge Lutheran parish, of which A. For the past 17 years he has been an evangelist, preaching from his wheelchair. As an ELC evangelist, Lee has traveled extensively throughout the U. S., driving an auto with hand controls.

sented in eight two-hour sessions, is available to anyone desiring to take it and presents useful information in helping persons care for themselves in emergency situations.

Any and all persons interested in taking the course should contact Kendall Gustafson, director, or Ellsworth Jorgenson, assistant director, of the county Civil Defense organization.

Public Shelters

Public fallout shelters were given some discussion at the session and Jorgenson reported that a recent survey indicated that only nine buildings, capable of housing 195 people, met with approval for a good rating for fallout protection. Fifty-one buildings have some degree of fallout protection, he said, but their present nature drops them into lesser categories. Any improvements which would be made at the present time would have to be done at the owner's expense. Little hope that this would be done was expressed by the members present.

Another meeting of the county group was set for 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday, October 31, when further reports will be heard from members of the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Paradis of Fairbault, and Mr. and Mrs. Wes Dow of Anoka were guests at the Rev. and Mrs. A. Dean Headley home over the weekend.

Three Traffic Accidents Cause $1,350 in Damage

Two Men Hospitalized With Face Lacerations; Six Cars Are Involved

Three traffic accidents with damage totaling an estimated $1,350 were noted in Thief River Falls during the past several days. One resulted in two injured persons being hospitalized and is covered in a picture caption elsewhere in this issue.

The first mishap occurred at 10 a. m. Monday when a car driven by George Bustrack, rt. 1, Goodridge, was backing from a parking place on Second street between Horace and LaBree avenues and collided with a car driven by Clayton Ellingson, city, who was traveling east on Second street. Damage was estimated at $350 to the Bustrack car and $125 to the Ellingson vehicle. Bustrack was tagged for failure to yield the right-of-way.

At 9:10 p. m. on Tuesday, a car driven by Carol Neuhaulsen of rt. 2, Gary, had stopped for a red light and was facing east on Third street at LaBree avenue when the vehicle was struck from the rear by another car driven by Gary Wayne Anderson, city. The impact pushed the Neuhaulsen auto into a pickup truck stopped in front of it. Damage was estimated at $125 to the Neuhaulsen car and $130 to the Anderson vehicle with damage to the pickup, which left the scene, unknown. Charges in the accident are pending.

Beef Calf Sale Set at Crookston for Nov. 3

The Red River Valley Livestock association will sponsor a sale of beef steer calves on Saturday, November 3, 1962, at the Winter Shows buildings in Crookston. One of the primary objectives of this sale is to give boys and girls in 4-H and F. F. A. clubs an opportunity to select beef calves for their project work.

Approximatley 60 steer calves have been consigned to the sale by Minnesota breeders in the Red River Valley. All three beef breeds will be represented, and approximately equal numbers of Aberdeen Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn calves will be offered for sale. All calves will be inspected prior to the sale to determine their suitability for project work. Dean Workman of Borup, Minnesota, will serve as auctioneer.

The terms of the sale are cash; however, if credit is desired, arrangements should be made with the clerk prior to the purchase of any animals. The clerk of the sale will be Donald T. Lawler, treasurer of the Red River Valley Livestock association.

The sale is open to the public, but a special invitation is being extended to 4-H and F. F. A. members to attend the sale as this will give them an excellent opportunity for the selection of their project calves for the coming year.

Agency Seeks Action to Meet State Game and Fishing Demands

Third in a series

By Henry T. McKnight, Chairman, Minnesota Natural Resources Council.

Minnesota's game and fish provide enjoyment and sport to millions, — at least a half million hunters and one and a half million fishermen keep coming back for more.

But when the game and fish task force of Gov. Andersen's Minnesota Natural Resources Council studied the state's supply of wildlife — and projected the demands of a growing population — the picture became a bit alarming. As the task force report stated:

"Because of increasing population and greater mobility, there is a declining trend in Minnesota's available wildlife habitat. This trend threatens the continuation of successful hunting and fishing as a form of outdoor recreation."

This forward-looking report owes much of its thoroughness to the excellent leadership of task force chairman, Wesley Libbey, Grand Rapids, a past state president of the Izaak Walton League. Mr. Libbey was ably assisted by: Robert W. Burwell, regional director, Bureau of Sport, Fisheries, and Wildlife, U. S. Department of Interior; John C. Cornelius, senior consultant, Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, Inc., Minneapolis; Fred E. King, Farmers & Mechanics Savings Bank of Minneapolis; Glenn Ross, president, Suburban Lumber Co., Minneapolis. Another who lent his valuable knowledge to the task force was Walter Breckenridge, director, University of Minnesota Museum of Natural History.

The game and fish task force did more than simply call attention to the gloomier aspects of this natural resource. Indeed, they laid down dozens of specific proposals, which, if implemented, could provide enough wildlife for 750,000 hunters and 2½ million fishermen.

The problem of Minnesota's wetlands was probed deeply. The task force sized up the problem like this:

"Wetlands of western Minnesota will largely be gone in 30 years if they continue to be drained at the present rate of 2 to 5 per cent a year. With them will go the nation's best duck-producing habitat, spawning grounds for fish, cover for upland game birds, big game and fur animals."

Recommendations for preserving these vitally-needed wetlands were urge the U. S. Congress, through our legislature and governor, to stop federal drainage subsidies for wetlands that are of primary value to wildlife. State's wetland acquisition program should be boosted toward the goal of 250,000 acres by 1969, at an additional cost per year of $300,000. Several specific changes were recommended for state laws dealing with drainage assessments, drainage control, ditches and public waters.

Taking a closer look at Minnesota's supply of fish, the task force noted that production of the fish rearing facilities of the State Division of Game and Fish currently turned out only about 50 per cent of the annual need. They also pointed out the need for many more water access sites around the State — a recommendation that found the game and fish men in complete accord with the recreation task force.

The task force delved deeply into the problems of Minnesota's Division of Game and Fish. Most serious trouble in this department is staff losses — resignations of valuable personnel to take higher-paying jobs in other states or with Federal agencies During the past eight years, there have been 35 such losses. To counter this problem, the task force outlined a detailed reorganization plan for the division.

In another area, the task force urged the Legislature to delegate to the commissioner of conservation full authority to set all seasons and bag limits on game and fish.

These game and fish proposals, like all natural resource programs, must be approached from the standpoint of financing, too. This the game and fish task force has done. They have come up with a revenue program which, essentially, enables the Division of Game and Fish to pay its own way.

In the last session of the Legislature, transfer of certain game and fish funds to other state departments was authorized to cover portions of these other departmental budgets attributable to game and fish. The task force recommends continuation of this procedure.

To raise some new revenues for game and fish improvements, the task force recommends small increases in certain license fees— to $5 for resident deer; to $3 for small game; to $2 for fish house and dark house licenses; add a trout stamp (other than lake trout) at $2; and an issuance fee of 25 cents for licenses instead of the present 10 per cent auditor's commission. These increases would raise an additional $1.1 million a year.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I am writing this hoping to clarify a statement which Congressman Odin Langen has accused his Democratic Farm Labor opponent, Dr. Harding Noblitt, of falsifying his record by saying that he voted against the feed grain bill in March, 1961.

Here is the truth of the matter. On March 9, 1961, the feed grain bill was up for debate in the House of Representatives. Before the final vote was taken, the opponents of the bill offered a motion to recommit the bill to the committee on agriculture This common parliamentary method is used generally to kill a mesure before it can come to a final vote.

It was on the vote to recommit that Congressman Odin Langen voted yes. In other words, he voted to kill the bill.

When this attempt failed for Langen, he voted for the bill in order to conceal his own opposition. The record speaks for itself. Dr. Harding Noblitt was completely right.

Thief River Falls Has Awards Presented for 1961 Safety Performance

Two awards for safety programs were presented to Thief River Falls at the monthly meeting of the Pennington County Safety council held Monday at 6 p. m. in the Rex Cafe. Both were for performance in 1961 and included the presentation of engraved plaques to the city.

Leo Steinmetz, representative of the traffic safety section of the Minnesota highway department, presented one of the awards to Orin Green, Mayor, and Elton Cummings, police chief and coordinator of the traffic inventory program. The award was for having no traffic fatalities and a score of 75 per cent in the inventory program evaluation.

Rumon V. Juetten, assistant secretary of the Minnesota Safety Council, announced qualifications for a pedestrian safety award to the city. Presentation was made by Clinton E. Lundgren, Warren, director of the Minnesota Automobile association, sponsor of the award.

The pedestrian safety citation, one of 31 given to cities of over 5,000 population in the state, was for having no pedestrian fatalities and for participation in the annual pedestrian appraisal program. Seventy-seven cities took part in the program.

Anthony Madunich, driver's license examiner, reported on the Governor's Conference on Youth Traffic Safety held recently in St. Paul. Madunich and several local school students attended the conclave.

Easter Lily Has Season Confused

Evidence of the balmy October weather the Thief River Falls area has been enjoying is a two-foot tall Easter lily in stately bloom outside the home of an octogenarian with a truly-green thumb, Mrs. Harry Kinghorn, 821 No. LaBree Ave.

The lily burst into flower on October 9. The surprised gardener who is reaping the unexpected dividend is the widow of the late Harry Kinghorn, one-time mayor of this city.

Maintenance Job Let to Schenkey

The project, for TH 172 at the storage yard in Baudette, was awarded to Oscar Schenkey, Middle River, for $7,700, the lowest of four bids.

Prowlers Win Easily over Crookston 34-6

The Prowlers closed out their 1962 football schedule on Wednesday night by scoring a 34-6 win over the Crookston Pirates in a Northwest conference game played on Crookston's Highland Park field. The win gave coach Joe Mrkonich's squad an over-all season's mark of seven wins and two losses, and a conference record of three wins and one loss.

After being held scoreless in the first period in Wednesday night's wind-swept game, the Prowlers erupted for four touchdowns in the second period and gained a 27 to 6 lead at the intermission.

In the first period, with the Prowlers defending the east goal and facing an icy wind that angled across the field from the northwest, the locals had difficulty in sustaining an attack. Paul Klungness, on the third play from scrimmage, from the Prowlers' 36-yard line, broke away for a touchdown run, but the play was nullified by an offside penalty charged against the Prowlers.

In the high-scoring second period, Klungness pulled the cork out of the scoring jug by racing 49 yards around right end for a touchdown. Steve Mittelstadt, making the first of three conversion points that he tallied during the frame, drove over left tackle for the point, giving the Prowlers a 7-0 lead.

Moments later, after Tom Morben had partially blocked a Crookston punt, the Prowlers gained possession on the Crookston 10-yard line. Mittelstadt rammed left tackle for the score, and then added the conversion point, and the locals moved into a 14-0 lead.

The strong Prowler defense forced Crookston to kick, and a short punt gave the locals possession on the Pirates' 34-yard stripe. A first down moved the ball to the 20-yard line, and after Mittelstadt had gained to the 16-yard line, Klungness, on a sweep of left end, tallied the touchdown. And Mittelstadt hit left tackle for the extra point.

A Crookston pass play, Steve Erie to Roger Parkin, was completed for a first down on the Prowler 45-yard line, but Parkin fumbled when tackled and the Prowlers recovered. Klungness, on a double reverse, scooted to the Crookston 16-yard line. John Aune, on a roll-out and option play, swept right end for 16 yards and a touchdown. A fumble foiled the extra-point try.

The Prowlers added their final touchdown of the game in the third period when, with reserves in the lineup, Rick Jensen cut through right tackle and raced 33 yards for a touchdown. Ron Olson, on a plunge, added the point, giving the Prowlers a 34-0 lead.

The ever-trying Crookston Pirates averted shutout when Ken Epema, from one-foot out, drove over for a touchdown. The Prowlers had held four downs on their own 12-yard line, but three plays had failed to gain much yardage. On fourth down and a kicking situation, a high pass from center forced Jensen into the end zone, and he barely carried the ball out, being downed on the one-foot line, with Crookston gaining possession.

During the game, with the Prowlers' first-string offensive unit playing only the first half, the locals tallied eleven first downs to five for Crookston. In the first half of play, the Prowlers held a ten to one margin in first downs.

Punt, Pass and Kick Contest Entries Due by October 31

Tunbergs Invite Grade School Boys to Register for Competition Nov. 3

Roger and Wallace Tunberg, directors for the TR Falls Punt, Pass & Kick Competition for grade-school boys, warned today that only a few days remain in which area boys can register for the test of football skills which could lead to a White House visit and an appearance at the National Football League Championship game.

"Registrations will close Wednesday evening, October 31," Tunberg pointed out, "and none can be accepted any later, since we must draw up our competition lists and get everything ready for the big program on Saturday, November 3."

Headquarters for registration for the competition, open to all grade school boys seven through 11, is at Tunberg Motor Co. Entrants must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. There is no charge for registration nor is any special equipment needed. Competitors will vie with others of their age groups in contests of distance and accuracy in the passing, punting, and kicking (using a kicking tee) of footballs. There is no body contact.

Prizes in the local competition include warm-up jackets for the top winner in each age group, football helmets for second place winners, and autographed footballs for third place winners. Area winners, determined by comparing scores of all state winners, will receive expense-paid trips for themselves and their fathers, to National Football League games for half-time competition to determine the ten finalists. The National finalists and their parents will receive expense-paid trips to Washington for a White House reception.

Fewer Hunters Go in Quest of Ducks

Department Estimates Number Down 40-50 Pct.

A state-wide survey by department of conservation game managers and other personnel shows that the number of duck hunters out over the week end was down an average of 40-50 per cent from a year ago.

Gordon Nielsen, game manager at Fergus Falls, said it was the lightest hunting pressure for an opening that he had seen in eight years of checking his area.

A random sampling of hunters over the state on Saturday showed the 794 hunters checked had taken 780 birds. A similar check on Sunday turned up 566 hunters with 503 birds. Hunter success percentages were running about the same as last year.

Nielsen and other section of game personnel report that some major goose movements were underway through the state the past week. On the Friday afternoon before the Saturday opening, 5,000 geese were observed passing over the area south of Fergus Falls during one 30 minute period.

All of the more popular duck hunting areas reported a great reduction in the number of hunters this opening as compared with last year and other previous years. This drop was reported to be as high as 65 per cent in some areas.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Good Luck, Prowlers

The Prowler hill-and-dale squad—Rolf Wangberg, Orrin Joppru, Murray Dow, Joe Hedley, Roy Delorme, Mark Anderson, and Steve Honebrink — along with their coach Rod Max will leave town today enroute to Minneapolis where, on Saturday morning, they will participate in the state cross-country meet.

The local squad, winners of the Region Eight title in the meet held here on Saturday morning, and with Wangberg the region's individual champion, will be up against veteran and experienced competition in the state meet. Cross-country running, which is of recent origin in this district and region, has been a well-organized activity in the Twin City area for many years.

The Prowlers will be carrying the best wishes of the local fans as they compete against the state's best. And we must extend best wishes, too, to Bemidji's Gary Lockner, Roseau's Jerry Solom, and Fosston's John Guldberg who, by their individual placing in last week's regional meet, gained berths in the state cross-country tournament.

But to get back to the Prowler squad of 1962. This group has put in many long and lonesome hours of practice, running the sideroads in fair weather and foul. And the results were evident on Saturday when coach Max's defeated a strong Bemidji team.

An Attraction for Horse Lovers.

The Sundown Saddle club of Grand Forks will hold the first annual indoor horse show, approved by the N. D. H. S. A., in the University of North Dakota fieldhouse in Grand Forks on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28. The grand entry is scheduled for 1:00 p. m.

Sixteen events are on the program, and they include such interesting competitions as the men's barrel race, seniors keyhole race, pair sack race, junior pole bending, children's hat and boot race, reining class, and others. There will be a $2.00 added entry fee in the events, eight to sixteen, and the awards to the winners will be made on a 40-30-20-10 basis. Harold Rangen of Maddock, N. Dak. will be the judge.

The admission to the show will be $1.00 for adults, and 50 cents for children under twelve. The net proceeds of the event will go to the Exchange Club in Grand Forks for their annual Christmas Benefit for the underprivileged families in greater Grand Forks and the surrounding area.

Getting to Be a Habit

For the second successive week, coach Sheldon Elseth's Newfolden Nordics exhibited their come-from-behind talents when, on Tuesday afternoon on the Newfolden field, they tied the co-leaders of the "Top of the State" conference, the Greenbush Tiger, 19-19. Last week, in a game against the Kennedy Rockets, the Nordics trailed by a 13-0 score at halftime, but came back with a two-touchdown rally, and a conversion point, in the second half to gain a 13-13 tie.

But Tuesday's effort against a veteran, and heavier, Greenbush team was more noteworthy, for in this game the Nordics trailed by a 19-0 score entering the final period. And in this final twelve minutes of play, the Nordics scored three touchdowns and a conversion point, tying the game at 19-all.

Greenbush, with an all-senior backfield operating behind a sturdy line, and with quarterback Larry Johnson breaking away for a pair of long-gaining touchdowns, held leads of 7-0 at the end of the first half, and 19-0 at the end of the third period. Johnson swept out around left end for seventy yards and a touchdown in the second period after a pass interception had halted a Nordics' threat. Johnson added the point on a dive over right tackle.

In the third period, on a reverse to the left after the Greenbush line had overshifted to right, Johnson sped out around left end for twenty yards and a touchdown. And a short while later, Vince Ames, also on a sweep of left end, ran for a touchdown.

But in the fourth period the never-say-die band of Nordics began their rally. Three first downs, with a Jerry Strandquist to Terry Strandquist pass completion being the big gainer, carried deep into Greenbush territory. Jerry Strandquist, on a roll-out, circled right end for the touchdown. A Greenbush fumble gave the Nordics the opportunity for their second TD, and they ripped into the Tigers, with Marlin Anderson slicing thru left tackle for ten yards and the touchdown. Terry Strandquist added the conversion on run around left end.

Gaining the ball on a short punt late in the game, the Nordics started a dramatic drive that was culminated by Jerry Strandquist's seven-yard touchdown run around right end just as the game-ending seconds ticked off. On the conversion try, the success of which would have given Newfolden the game, the ball was fumbled, but Strandquist picked up the ball, eluded tacklers as he sprinted off to his left, then reversed his field and finally made a long toss into the end zone, trying to hit a Nordics receiver, but the ball was batted down, and the game ended in what must be a gratifying effort for the Nordics.

Newfolden fielded a good team with a varied offense, and in the Strandquist twins, Jerry and Terry, both juniors, the Nordics have two fine athletes.

In fairness to Greenbush, though, it must be reported that the Tigers were handicapped greatly when Johnson, the team's leader and prime scoring threat, was ejected from the game early in the fourth period because of a personal foul. But this detracts but little from the Nordics' last-period rally.

Plummer Eleven Wins Loop Title

Defeats Erskine 47-27 in Tri-county Conference

Coach Howard Emerson's high-scoring Plummer Cardinals football team clinched the Tri-County conference title on Friday night by scoring a lop-sided 47-27 win over Erskine in a game played on the Plummer field.

The Cardinals have a record of five wins and no defeats in conference play, and boast a two-game lead over the runner-up Oklee Bobcats in the league standings.

In Friday night's high-scoring game at Plummer, the Cardinals were paced by the brilliant running of Marv Walter, who raced for three touchdowns on runs of 80, 82, and 55 yards. Gary Martell added a pair of touchdowns on runs of 45 yards and 20 yards; while Dennis Wilkens returned a kickoff for 65 yards and a touchdown, and also made a 20-yard run for a TD. Russ Vigstol added a pair of conversion points, and Mike Gagner also added a conversion point.

Erskine had difficulty in running against the sturdy Plummer defense, and was forced to resort to an aerial attack, and with success. Erskine's Chuck Studhaug tallied a pair of touchdowns, on runs of 40 yards and 67 yards, following pass completions from quarterback Marv Hanson. Studhaug also scored a touchdown on a 3-yard plunge.

The scoring by periods:	1st	2nd	3rd	4th
Plummer	13	14	13	7—47
Erskine	0	6	0	21—27

Ski Area Built at Grand Rapids

700-Acre Complex Has 19 Runs, Cost $300,000

Among the biggest ski areas in the upper Midwest when it opens for skiing on Thanksgiving day will be the Sugar Hills ski area just south of Grand Rapids, according to Jon Hanson, ski school director and assistant manager of the new facility. Hanson stopped in Thief River Falls Tuesday on his promotional tour which will cover most of Minnesota in publicizing Sugar Hills.

The 700-acre complex will feature 19 separate open slope runs on more than 5¼ miles of slopes with the greatest vertical drop being 400 feet. Snow-making equipment will assure good skiing on all major runs all winter and a 4,500 square foot chalet will house accommodations for eating, ski rental, lounging and ski school. A smaller chalet will be located at the other end of the area. Total cost of the project is about $300,000.

Variety is a feature of the plan with slopes for all age groups and levels of experience and a family trail for group skiing. Skiing instruction will be available and Sugar Hills will be open Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Charles Skinner, an attorney who headed a Jaycee committee which originated the project, has quit his practice to manage the area.

The area was laid out by Sel Hannah of Franconia, N. H., outstanding ski architect, and was constructed through sale of stock and a SBA loan.

Prospects Poor for '62 Pheasant Hunters

Pheasants and ducks just don't see eye to eye when it comes to weather. Heavy snows last winter and a plentiful supply of rainfall in Minnesota this spring were welcomed by waterfowl which had suffered seriously from drought on the breeding grounds during the past several years. Not so, however, with Minnesota's pheasants, according to conservation department game biologist Maynard Nelson.

While a good crop of pheasants in 1961 made game managers hopeful for better things to come in 1962, these hopes were quickly dampened with the deep snows of last winter — snows which cut the breeding population about 25 per cent according to reports by field men. Next came an abundant supply of spring rains, again good for the waterfowl marshes but bad for the pheasant crop.

Pheasants just don't thrive in wet spring weather and it's the dry springs, such as occurred in 1958, which produce the bumper crops. Dry weather is more common in South Dakota pheasant country, said Nelson, but even they had heavy rains this year and their pheasants are down an estimated 35 per cent.

Minnesota's August roadside count conducted by game managers, wardens and biologists have shown an average of 197 pheasants per 100 miles of census route this year — a decline of 32 per cent compared to the average for the past 10 years and 42 per cent when compared to 1961. This is going to mean tougher going for the hunters although most southern and western counties still have a fairly good supply of birds. Hunting won't hurt the brood stock for next year, the experts are quick to point out, since the law protecting hens is designed to provide a maximum carry over and this law will be strictly enforced.

In the meantime, hunters with dogs had better give them a workout in preparation for the pheasant opening on October 27th. A couple of weeks of good drying weather are badly needed if the farmers are going to get much corn out before the opening. Otherwise, there are going to be a lot of weedy fields and heavy cover.

Protect Ornamentals Against Winter Cold

Snow warnings are reminders to gardeners that many ornamentals may not survive the rugged Minnesota winter without some protection.

Best way to protect the perennial flower border is to cover it with a mulch of dry leaves or marsh hay to a depth of 6 to 8 inches, according to C. G. Hard, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota. Apply the mulch after the soil has frozen slightly. Do not pack the mulch. Evergreen boughs will also make a good mulch, especially because they will trap snow, one of the best materials for winter protection. Bulbs need the same type of protection as the flower border.

The mulch serves several purposes. It will insulate as the flower border against extreme cold and will help control the temperature in the spring when the alternate freezing and thawing would damage plants.

Chrysanthemums will usually over winter if they are mulched in the same way as the flower border. If they are growing in a low spot in the garden, it may be a good idea to lift the clumps and move them to a higher place. Or put them in a coldframe and mulch them. Another method of over-wintering them is to put them in garden flats, put the flats on the east side of the house if possible and cover them.

Hard gives these alternate suggestions for protecting roses:

Cover them with dry leaves to a depth of 24-36 inches. Pack the leaves around the base but pile them loosely on top. The mulch should be about a foot deep above the top of the bush to provide enough insulation. Or

When the ground is beginning to freeze, mound garden soil around the base of the roses to a depth of 12 to 14 inches. After the soil is frozen, mulch the top to protect the upper part of the bushes. Prune back roses to a convenient height to make them easier to protect.

Apply a good fungicide before mulching or mounding roses to control black spot, mildew and canker.

Tilt climbing roses so they can be easily laid on the ground. Then cover with soil and marsh hay or dry leaves.

Tell Drivers: Keep Windshield Clear

Highway Department Warns Against Gadgets

The Minnesota highway department warned today that "fancy gadgets" designed for installation on dashboards, sun visors and windshields could prove costly to Minnesota motorists.

The warning was issued in response to recent queries regarding the legality and practicability of electronic devices supposedly designed to detect "radar beams" heralding speed violators. A firm that advertises such a device makes the claim that audible advance warnings of radar controlled speed and danger zones will be sounded by the device if it is attached near the windshield by clipping it to a sun visor or setting in on a dashboard.

The highway department calls attention to the Minnesota law which states: "No person shall drive or operate any motor vehicle with a windshield cracked or discolored to an extent to limit or obstruct proper vision, or with any objects suspended between the driver and the windshield, other than sun visors and rear vision mirrors, or with any sign, poster, or other non-transparent material upon the front windshield, sidewings, side or rear windows of such vehicle, other than a certificate or other paper required to be displayed by law, or authorized by the state director of Civil Defense, or Commissioner of Highways."

Any object that obstructs proper vision could prove costly to the car owner in the form of a court fine, according to the highway department. Vision obscurement figured in more than 100 accidents in the state last year.

Veterans Hospital Patients to Enjoy Meal of Pheasant

Minnesota Sportsmen Going out in Quest of Birds October 27 to 29

Minnesota hunters will take to the fields October 27, 28 and 29 in search of pheasants to feed more than 4,000 military service veterans hospitalized throughout the state.

Some 8,000 hunters from 250 Minnesota towns will join in the hunt to supply birds for the 22nd annual Pheasant Dinners for Hospitalized Veterans, originated by Ed Shave, Minneapolis Tribune outdoor writer who is now retired.

The program is sponsored by Minnesota veterans' organizations, Minnesota sportsmen's, civic and conservation clubs, and the Minneapolis Tribune.

Veterans in 15 hospitals throughout the state will receive pheasant dinners under the program. Dinners are planned beginning Nov. 1 at Veterans hospitals in Minneapolis, St. Cloud and Fargo; the Minnesota Soldiers home, Minneapolis; state hospitals in Cambridge, St. Peter, Rochester, Fergus Falls, Anoka, Hastings, Moose Lake and Willmar; the Nopeming and Glen Lake sanatoriums, and the Ah-Gwah-ching nursing home.

The largest dinners will be served at St. Cloud Veterans hospital, where 1,350 will be fed, and at Minneapolis Veterans hospital, where 1,000 will eat pheasant.

Dim Headlights for Safer Driving at Night Advised

Minnesota Law Requires Low Beam When Meeting or Overtaking Vehicles

By dimming bright headlights at night you will be wishing others a safe passage and encouraging more courteous driving on the part of all motorists, according to Minnesota highway department safety officials.

More than half of the fatal accidents, and also more than half of the injury-producing mishaps that occurred in Minnesota last year happened in darkness and during the periods of dawn or dusk, although the traffic volumes are not as great during the hours of darkness as during daylight, it was reported. The most dangerous period was from 4 p. m. to 7 p. m. when there was a total of 176 fatal mishaps.

A great many of the contributing factors in nighttime mishaps are related to a driver's ability to see or be seen under adverse weather conditions or darkness. It is therefore very important that motorists make certain they operate their vehicles in a manner that will allow them a clear picture of traffic, and at the same time allow others to see them clearly.

State law requires drivers to dim bright headlights when meeting or overtaking other vehicles to prevent the "blinding" of others by bright lights. Many vehicles are forced off roads, and into head-on collisions, because of the failure of motorists to show such courtesy, the report disclosed.

It also is important to be seen, according to the department, and motorists should maintain vehicle lighting systems and reflectors in tip-top condition for the coming seasons when most driving must be done under the cover of darkness due to shorter days and longer nights.

Big Family Spends Less Per Person on Food Supplies

If yours is a large family, you may at times be overwhelmed by your food bill.

But the actual cost per person is less than in a small family, though the total food bill will take a bigger bite of your budget.

Today's family of four, with two school children, spends about $32 a week for food—or $8 per person—using a moderate-cost food plan, says Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota. A low-cost plan may run about $24 a week for a family of four.

If there are five in the family, food costs will run 5 percent less per person. But with six or more people to feed, you'd pay 10 percent less for each, according to economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

For the family of two or three, though, food costs rise. You'll pay 5 percent more to feed each person in a family of three. The figure will go up to 10 percent more for each member in a family of two. But it will cost the man or woman who lives alone about 20 percent more than the amount for each person in a typical family of four.

In considering these food costs, Mrs. Loomis cautions families to remember that they cover food only, not the numerous other items purchased at the grocery store.

Heavy Snows Supply Data on Windbreaks

Last winter's heavy snows showed that windbreaks around farmsteads and rural homes needn't be as complicated as we used to think.

Foresters at the University of Minnesota found little need for having the "snowtrap" (a few rows of shrubs, as far as 60 feet out from the main windbreak) instead, 10 or 15 feet between main plantings and shrubs was good enough.

The idea used to be that a wide snowtrap would protect the evergreens in the windbreak against snow breakage and reduce drifting inside the planting.

On the other hand, many farmers wondered whether the extra land needed for the snowtrap was justified. And some felt it would result in plowing out the shrub rows, or having a weed patch between shrubs and the main planting.

Foresters Donald Dunchan and Henry Hansen kept records on an experimental windbreak planted in 1948 at the Rosemount Agricultural Experiment Station. The planting compares spacings of 10, 25, and 50 feet between the "snowtrap" shrubs and the main planting, both for windbreaks running east and west and for those running north and south. Last winter gave the best test of all.

Here's what the studies have shown.

Differences among spacings had little practical importance. However, having the shrub row close to the main planting puts the major snow drift where the moisture does the trees some good.

Regardless of the spacing, there was little breakage on any trees in inside rows. Also, snow depth in the farmstead area didn't differ much among spacings. In nearly every case, drifting ended about 25 feet beyond the inside row.

As a result, the foresters concluded, there is little need for planting shrub rows more than 10 to 16 feet from the main planting.

U.S. Army Reveals Officer Openings

Invites College Grads to Apply for Positions

A new program which will allow college graduates to enlist in the Officer Candidate School program has been initiated to help the Army meet a goal of 19,400 officers for fiscal year 1963.

This enlistment option is expected to triple the number of officers commissioned under the program. Prior to this change, OCS candidates were limited to active Army personnel.

College graduates between the ages of 18½ and 27 are eligible to apply for guaranteed admission to OCS from basic training. Applicants must pass a series of tests before reciving the guarantee.

Those selected to become officers will be sent, upon completion of basic training, to either Fort Benning, Ga., the Infantry center, or Fort Sill, Okla., the Artillery center, for a 23-week course.

All those qualifying must serve a minimum of two years on active duty.

SINGER of Gospel songs is Edward Menaldino who will appear at a rally Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls. The rally is sponsored by the Northwestern College Radio department with Russel G. Blank as guest speaker for the evening. The public is invited to attend the rally which is in observance of the seventh anniversary of one of the college's four radio stations.

"College education has gotten terribly wrapped up in numbers. Everybody frets about the hordes of new students, the need for more buildings, more classrooms, more laboratories. But the real problem is not getting youngsters into college; it's deciding how they can best get something out of college."

—National Observer

War or Peace

It appears that we now have reached the point of no return in deciding the question of whether we will have war or peace. That a decision would have to be made was inevitable. We could not continue to postpone the decision as long as to postpone meant to retreat.

President Kennedy has issued the challenge in terms that all will understand. It now will be up to Russia to decide whether to retreat or fight.

Adlai Stevenson has presented our case clearly to the world in an unemotional but factual statement to the Security Council of the United Nations. On the strength of his presentation we have received encouraging support from nations with which we have been allied. Our international position in this respect has been strengthened.

There still is a remote possibility of securing peace by negotiation. Within the United Nations organization is the machinery for such negotiation. It is within the United Nations organization that the first test of strength will have to be made, and that organization will rise or fall on the result of that test.

If the United Nations now fails to measure up to its responsibilities then the organization should be written off as a failure and be replaced by a new organization that would be less a Tower of Babel and more a Congress of Reason. Possibly it will be necessary for the nations of the free world to form their own organization. Such an organization could profit greatly by recognition of the mistakes that have been made and the notable shortcomings of the United Nations.

This is a time of crisis, but it is not a time for fear. We must not retreat, and to stand our ground will require courage. Success and survival will require unity.

Peace is the ultimate objective. Only with an honorable peace as the ultimate objective could war be tolerable. But if it must be war then let it be war. The alternative is slavery.

Canadian Austerity

Here in the United States our government is tossing billions of borrowed dollars around to restore the nation's economy. Across the border to the north of us the Canadian government is cutting expenditures drastically to restore the nation's economy. Both governments have the same objective but the means they are using to achieve that objective are diametrically opposed to each other. Can they both be right?

Probably not. It is reasonable to assume, certainly, that either our approach or the Canadian approach must be wrong.

The Canadians are trying to restore the health of the national economy by the method that proved successful in Europe. They have adopted what is referred to as an austerity program.

Austerity, according to Webster, is the "quality or state of being austere." And austere is defined as "sour and astringent; rough to the taste; harsh; bitter." We gather that "austerity" was not adopted as the name for a program to make it sound appealing. Just the opposite. The leaders who had the wisdom and the courage to restore Europe called upon the people to make a very real sacrifice—and the people went along with a program that in some instances created real hardship.

The nations of Europe had had experience with solving their economic problems the easy way. They had had experience with debased currencies and printing press money. The people of Europe accepted austerity as the only ultimate solution for their problems.

They worked hard and produced, and they lived within their means. They skimped and they saved and they won. Gradually their earning power increased and their living conditions improved.

In a remarkably short time a war-shattered and bankrupt Europe has become strong, progressive and prosperous. European nations accomplished this the hard way, and they chose the hard way because they had come to the conclusion that there is no easy way.

And so, getting back to our own continent and our problems north and south of the border, our Canadian neighbors suddenly discovered that there were a few things wrong with their economy. They were hurting from foreign competition, and their dollar was slipping in exchange value. The government had to do something, and quick. And the government did act.

The government had a difficult choice to make, a choice of two methods. There was the medicine of austerity which had proven itself to be effective. And there was the more pleasant course of treatment that our country has been experimenting with off and on for nearly 30 years. The Canadian government decided that the pleasant, painless way is not the best way. They decided that the pleasant way is wrong mainly because it does not cure, but merely postpones the inevitable adjustment that must be made in a return to sound practices. The cure for a hangover is not continued drinking.

And so our neighbors are moving into austerity. Whether the Canadian people will support their government in such a program remains to be seen. But it is an experiment that should be extremely interesting to us.

Our government is working around the clock trying to think up new ways of tossing more billions around. Up in Canada the government is reducing public spending, and the newspaper reports on what is being done are interesting.

From Bruce Phillip's column in the Southam News Service we get these reactions:

> "For an outfit with no previous experience at parsimony, the Conservative government has managed the transformation from Santa to Scrooge with remarkable success.
> "The revised estimates tabled Thursday, forecasting cutbacks of $228 million in the 1962-63 spending program, show the vigor with which the skinning knife was wielded. Few hides escaped unscarred, whether they be big or little, friend or foe.
> "If any pattern emerged, it was a decision to save something on everything, if only a few dollars. In householding terms, the government offered to day something on almost all the accounts, rather than throwing half in the wastebasket and paying off the rest.
> "It started with Prime Minister Diefenbaker himself, responding to the belt-tightening program by cutting the grocery allowance at his 24 Sussex Street residence by $300, his entertainment budget by $170 and the salary bill by $600.
> "From there, the economy wave swept through every department of government, touching some of them more severly than others, but all of them at least a little bit.
> "The most outstanding fact about the revised estimates is that so much of the reduction came by trimming overhead—salaries and administration. This has been achieved by not filling vacancies as they occur, and by cutting every other kind of office expense from paper clips to travelling."

And from the Winnipeg Tribune the following comments:

> "Most of us feel gratifyingly virtuous when we deplore government spending. It is so easy and noble to preach against extravangance and demand the government effect economies.
> Somehow this feeling dims when, a rare event, government actually does cut back and some pet project or service is affected. At this point, suspicion that government is being penny wise and pound foolish comes creeping in.
> "The Conservative administration should not be surprised therefore, if it finds itself subjected to a barrage of criticism for cuts in the estimates from those very people who have been most vociferous in demands for an end to deficit spending and a return to balanced budgets.
> "Ottawa's determination to reduce the $745 million deficit forecast for the year is laudable. A country cannot go on indefinitely recording larger and larger deficits year after year."

Good News

We have seen no banner headlines in the metropolitan newspapers calling attention to a recent warning by the American Medical Association to possible dangers that lurk in anti-fat diets. The warning states that, "the anti-fat, anticholesterol fad is not just foolish and futile; it also carries some risk. What is more important, the elimination of certain foods of proven nutritional value, could be detrimental to health."

We are glad to know that the AMA recommends milk, cheese, ice cream, beef, veal, lamb, pork, poultry, eggs, fish, butter, margarine, fats and oils. All of these are our favorites. The danger is, according to the report, that when an individual omits certain foods he runs the risk of depriving his body of essential nutrients.

Quit Worrying

If you happen to be a worrier about such questions, for instance, as will the solution sprayed on potato plants to kill the potato bugs also poison the potatos, you can quit worrying. We have the assurance of Dr. Fredrick J. Stare, Department of Nutrition of the Harvard University School of Public Health, that you are not in danger. In a recent talk on nutrition, and on the use of insecticides, pesticides and food additives, he came up with the following encouraging conclusions:

> "It is most unlikely that any of the chemicals that come in contact with food introduce any appreciable hazard to man consuming the food, nor are they likely to, even though they obviously are toxic to insects and pests, but that is what they were designed for—
> "Today I can feel we can state emphatically that in this country insecticides, pesticides, chemical additives, properly used in the growing and processing of foods, have not caused ill health of any type in man.
> "We would have great difficulty in feeding our expanding population without the aid of these chemicals. Do we get the food or do the bugs? It is as simple as that."

Noblitt gains Independent Support

Harding Noblitt, DFL candidate for Congress denied Langen's attack on his patriotism.

In a major TV address Noblitt said, "My opponent said that one of the paramount issues in this campaign is whether 'we are to be led into oblivion by those who would destroy all the principles you and I as citizens cherish'."

"I deny this charge," Noblitt continued. "I risked my life fighting for these principles in World War II. Does Mr. Langen think I would deny them now?"

Langen's statement links him even closer to the extreme right-wing element in his party. He votes with them 90% of the time.

Already political observers have noticed a sizeable shift to Noblitt among independent voters who dislike extreme attacks.

PAID ADV. — Noblitt for Congress Committee. Mrs. Glenn Sjolander, Moorhead, Secretary.

Demonstrating new '63 Chevrolet truck features the hard way!

When we came to a river we got wet. This river bed was paved with rocks the size of melons. What a test for new light- and heavy-duty suspension systems this was!

Conventional light-duty units have coil-spring independent front suspension—easier on truck, load and driver.

Users of new conventional medium- and heavy-duty units who have to operate in close quarters are going to like the narrower front ends (up to 7 inches).

New engines, suspensions, frames and narrower front ends show their stuff on Mexico's tough Baja Run!

With months of proving-ground tests under their belts, why did new Chevrolet trucks take on the rugged Baja (bah'hah) Peninsula?

This is the toughest line of trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Sending them over the most punishing terrain in North America (a road totally unlike the fine highways on the Mexican mainland) was double proof of this fact. Frames, engines, suspension systems were subjected to stresses far greater than trucks normally encounter. You can be sure that trucks that can handle this kind of beating can handle any kind of work.

Lets' talk PLUMBING!

The Boss says "We Need Cash . . ." "MAKE LONG DEALS!"

Ronnie Gerardy

A few weeks ago, we received a partial truckload of bath tubs, lavatories and toilets. It was a big truck, and by buying in big quantities, we are really able to make long deals! Of course, we have to pay the invoice on this shipment, and we're a little short of cash.

So, Bossman Vic Kalinoski says to me, "Ronnie . . . let's really make some long, long deals for fast action, offer some terrific discounts, and get some money in our bank account."

When the boss tells me to get some action, I really must produce or I'm in trouble, too. I've sold plumbing supplies for nine years for Ace Hardware, and never before have we made such deals.

Some people talk about high prices on merchandise today, but we're practically offering depression day prices. For instance, I'm offering three-piece bathroom sets for $99. That's right, only $99. And, this is good quality that will give you real good service.

We made a deal with the Ace Hardware in Rugby, N. Dak., and split a truck-load shipment of soil pipe and fittings. So, we're making some SPECIAL SAVINGS on everything in soil pipe and fittings.

When you need a stainless steel kitchen sink — and who doesn't? — we're the place to save. We have four sizes and three different finishes. The prices are down as low as $29.99 complete with rim. We have been buying these stainless steel sinks in dozen lots (a dozen a year ago, a dozen this spring, and now a dozen this fall). Buying in dozen lots allows us to get the price w-a-a-y down. We make a lot of happy customers even happier!

I've worked on a few plumbing jobs and talked to many people who know plumbing. I've been able to layout out jobs and tell them what they need in materials and I like to make free estimates.

For the handyman who likes to "do it yourself", we have plumbing tools that you can use FREE with our plumbing jobs. Drop in soon and talk plumbing with me, whether you need anything from a sink-stopper to a whole new bathroom.

The boss gave me a "pat on the back" for doing a good job in our electrical and wiring supplies department. In fact, he borrowed money from the bank to get a bigger stock and his loan repayment is due pretty soon.

We have agreed on some special deals for electricians. And, we have also guaranteed BARGAIN PRICES on every item to you good customers.

Frankly, we're not the biggest store in the world, but we like to think big. We buy our wire in 5,000 and 10,000 feet for one shipment, and we make a big savings. And, we pass these savings on to you.

We buy switch boxes in 300 pound shipments and have just unpacked another load. In fact, we're so loaded with inventory right now, that we are finding trouble to move around the store.

If you need information on how to do wiring, we can help you. In fact, we're helping you everyway we can: (a) Big selection (b) Low prices (c) free planning advice and free estimates. We'll even help you park your car.

Have you seen our display of light fixtures? I put up the display, and I'm real proud of it. And, if you don't find exactly what you want, let us help you find it in our Moe and Starlight catalogues.

While I'm still talking about wiring, I should tell you that our price on 14/2 UF wire with ground sells for 4½c a foot, and 12/2 UF with ground is only 6c a foot in coil lots. Can you complain about these low prices? By the way, stop in to get your FREE LIGHT BULB with every 3 you buy.

Well, that's about it for this session. Thanks for reading this column, although you should thank me when you make these big, big savings at Ace Hardware.

We need cash, and we're making deals that just can't be beat. In fact, our margin is so tight that we're getting stingy. I may be able to buy you a cup of coffee when you drop in, but please don't ask for lunch. We can't afford it.

See you in the store,
Ron Gerardy

Common Market Topic at Newfolden Monday

"The Common Market is a source of strength for France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg. In fact, it has the potential for forming these countries into the third power of the world." These were the views presented by Dr. O. B. Jesness at the Homemakers meeting held at the Newfolden school Monday evening, October 22.

Dr. Jesness was formerly the head of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota. Since his retirement, Dr. Jesness has devoted much of his time to the study of the Common Market and has spoken at many meetings on the topic.

The unique factor of the market is that the counties now involved in this economic bond have been wartime enemies. Dr. Jesness pointed out that this is proof that cooperation among countries is a reality: It is no longer possible to play a lone game. To countries associated with the Common Market it represents economic and defensive strength. One of the reasons the USSR is against it is because this union implies united strength.

Therefore the United States cannot overlook its importance. We must negotiate and make to concessions to receive full benefit, he said.

One of the problems foreseen is in the agricultural exports. One-fourth of the working people in the Common Market are engaged in agriculture. At the present time our agricultural exports have not been affected, but farm products—feed grain, wheat and poultry are products that are grown in the Common Market area. It is these commodities that will require negotiations and are subject to variable levies. It is the responsibility of the citizens of our country to have a full understanding of the Common Market, and to be aware that advantages far outweight the disadvantages.

Further information regarding the World Trade situation is available at the Extension Office in Warren.

The Newfolden meeting was sponsored by the Marshall Extension Home Program. Following the meeting coffee was served by the Tri-Town Homemakers Club and Holt Hustlers Homemakers Club.

Census Bureau to Conduct Health Survey in County

Natives of Norway to Receive Questionnaires in Mail Late This Week

A number of residents of this county who were born in Great Britain or Norway will receive in the mail late this week a questionnaire from the U. S. Census Bureau as part of a survey of health characteristics which that agency is conducting for the United States Public Health Service.

The purpose of the survey is to provide information for use in studying health problems involving diseases of the heart and lungs. Questions will be asked to determine if persons born in Great Britain and Norway are less or more likely to have these diseases than persons born in the United States, and whether these diseases have any relation to the places people have lived, kinds of work they have done, and similar factors.

The collection of information from British-Americans and Norwegian-Americans will permit comparisons with results of studies of persons now living in Great Britain and Norway, countries with different climates and living conditions than in the United States.

The survey is being conducted here and in 244 other counties where there is a concentration of former residents of Great Britain and Norway. National, questionnaires will be mailed to 32,000 persons who were born in Great Britain and to 20,000 people who were born in Norway.

All information collected in the survey will be kept confidential under Federal law and will be used only to compile statistical totals, averages, etc., Census Bureau officials point out.

Postmaster Given Rural Reminder

Unobstructed Approaches To Boxes Are Necessary

With winter driving conditions forthcoming in the not too distant future, patrons receiving their mail through rural delivery are issued a reminder by R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster.

"Approaches to boxes must be cleared of obstructions, including snow, which make it difficult or impossible for the carrier to serve the boxes without dismounting. Unless the approaches are cleared it may be necessary to temporarily withold mail delivery," Dryden said.

Rural carriers are not required to perform service on foot when roads cannot be traveled with vehicles normally used, but they are expected to make every reasonable effort to serve as many of their patrons as possible without undue physical exertion or added financial cost. If excessive detours are necessary in order to effect delivery of the mail; patrons should relocate their boxes or make other arrangements for thier mail until roads can be traveled again.

"The cooperation of the patrons in this area has been extremely good in the past and has materially helped in the prompt delivery of the mail on schedule," the postmaster added. "We hope that these patrons will continue to assit us in the future."

Compensation to Wounded Service Veterans Raised

A cost-of-living increase in compensation rates recently granted by Congress to nearly two million war-veterans has been hailed as welcome by American Legion Auxiliary members here, according to Mrs. Ellsworth Jorgenson, legislative chairman of Ecklund Holmstrom unit.

The increase amounts to an average of 9.4 per cent for veterans disabled as a result of wounds, illnesses or injuries suffered in war service.

"Our American Legion Auxiliary joined with the American Legion in asking that compensation be increased for the war-disabled to make up for the increase in living costs," said Mrs. Ellsworth Jorgenson. "This is the first increase in the compensation rates since 1957.

New Law Governs U.S. Drainage Aid to State Farmers

Requests for Assistance Will Be Referred to U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service

Representatives of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (ASCS and SCS office) and state conservation departments from Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota have concluded a series of meetings aimed at developing procedures to implement H. R. 8520 which was signed into law Oct. 2.

Under terms of the new law, landowners requesting either cost sharing or technical drainage assistance from the federal government will have their applications referred to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

If the wetlands proposed for drainage are determined to be of value to waterfowl and other wildlife species by a representative of the Fish and Wildlife Service, they will be ineligible for drainage assistance under the Agriculture program.

The law states that the Fish and Wildlife Service must complete their check of the land proposed for drainage assistance within 90 days after a request has been referred to them from the ASC county office. Then the Fish and Wildlife Service or state conservation agency will have one year to make an offer to purchase or lease the area.

If no purchase agreement can be reached, the wetland still may not be drained with federal aid for a period of five years.

Christmas Stamp Available Nov. 2

A special 4-cent Christmas stamp will be first placed on sale at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on November 1, in conjunction with the annual convention of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States. It will go on sale in Thief River Falls November 22.

This stamp will serve a dual function — it will make available an issue that is seasonably decorative and at the same time provide preferred handling for greeting cards. It will remain on sale at post offices through December 31.

The Christmas stamp, designed by Jim Crawford, a postoffice department artist, depicts the traditional holiday symbols — burning tapers and an evergreen wreath adorned with a red bow. A total of 500 million Christmas stamps will be printed in green and red on white paper.

The Hand of Trust

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Almost every frightening step of childhood is marked by a singular emblem of trust. A child's trembling fingers grope upward. A parent's warm grasp is felt. And youth steps forward into new paths, fear melting into confidence.

God must count on parental hands to lead His little ones to Him. For religious training is part of the vast unknown until Mother and Dad begin to lead their child each week to Church.

Yes! God counts heavily on our hands. There is no one else into whose palm our child's fingers slip so readily. No others can teach the early lessons of faith and prayer so simply, nor illustrate them so vividly at home.

Indeed, that loving hand of trust which leads a child to Church seems in turn to be clasped by the hand of God.

For Effective Representation
ELECT
OSCAR ROKKE
State Representative
MARSHALL COUNTY

HERE'S HIS PROGRAM

EDUCATION —
- Increased state aid for public, elementary and secondary schools, thus reducing the burden on local property taxes.
- Expanded opportunities for the education of the mentally and physically handicapped as well as the retarded and gifted students.

TAXATION —
- Taxes based on the ability to pay, not an unjust sales tax.
- Due to drought conditions last year and excessive rainfall this year the raising of land valuations for taxation purposes is unfair and unrealistic at this time.

ECONOMIC CLIMATE —
- The national and local economy must be strengthened in this era of international competition. It is imperative that we support programs to strengthen the growth of business in Marshall County and in Minnesota under the free enterprise system.

AGRICULTURE —
- The backbone of rural America and Marshall County is the family type farm. Cooperation between rural and urban populations is necessary for their mutual benefit.

GOVERNMENT REFORM —
- Enactment and enforcement of a strong code of ethics with the elimination of legislative conflicts of interests.

(Prepared and to be paid for by the Volunteer Committee for Oscar Rokke for State Representative, Emil Dyrud, treasurer, Newfolden, Minnesota.

ELECT
ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
66th District—Pennington & Red Lake Counties

AGRICULTURE ranks NUMBER One as the biggest business in Pennington and Red Lake counties.

RETAIL TRADE ranks second behind agriculture as the largest business. The progress and growth of this important factor in our economy depends to a great extent on favorable conditions for its continued growth.

ANDREW SKAAR will work for laws and speak with confidence and determination as your State Representative.

He will provide the counties of Red Lake and Pennington with the leadership in the State Legislature that we will need to keep our area of the state moving forward.

Here are just some of the reasons why so many voters want Andrew Skaar as their State Representative:

He has demonstrated his ability to get along with and work with other people;
He is not afraid to try new ideas and new methods in making progress;
He will apply the same sound judgment in his dealing with state problems that have made him a successful farmer;

He will invite counsel and advice from anyone in Pennington and Red Lake counties who is truly interested in the development and progress of the area,

He will use his wide knowledge of the problems and economic potential of this district to be effective in working with his fellow Legislators.

The independent nature of his election to the office of State Representative will allow him the opportunity to work with all groups in his district.

UNION STATE BANK

VOTERS
RE-ELECT
Louis A. Murray
STATE SENATOR

Here Are Some Reasons Why:
Consider Senator Murray's Valuable 12 years of Senate Seniority.
The next legislative session will be an important one. Senator Murray's experience and know how and his membership on such committees as Taxes and Public Welfare will be needed. He presently serves on five important committees and his re-election would assure him of another. He would request Public Highways. Any new member of the Senate would go to the bottom of the seniority roster.
Senator Murray supports Red Lake River Improvement.
Your present State Senator, Louis A. Murray was instrumental in organizing the Red Lake River Improvement Association. He presided over a group of civic minded citizens from farms and communities along this river when the organization was formed at Crookston this year.
It is our hope that the Corps of Engineers will conduct a survey of this river area to determine what should be done in order that the people on the east end will be able to drain their flooded fields, without causing floods in Crookston and East Grand Forks.
We also want to be able to store water to insure adequate water supply for our sugar factories and potato wash plants. We are thinking along the line of a series of small dams and retention reservoirs to accomplish this purpose. Several meetings have been held with State and Federal officials concerning this and top Federal Engineers have assured us of this survey when the funds become available.
Senator Murray Supports Agriculture
Senator Murray served on the Senate Agriculture Committee for eight years and during his twelve years in the Senate, he supported the farmers from his district and introduced legislation beneficial to the farms. His record in this respect is good.
It isn't necessary to be a farmer to fight for their interests. We point out two examples — Senator Humphrey and Senator McCarthy who served on the Senate Agriculture Committee in Washington — no two men better supported the Minnesota farmers.
Senator Murray's record concerning our Schools and Teachers
Senator Murray believes our school system is basic to our great democracy. It is for this reason, therefore, that we are proud of his voting record for our schools and teachers for the past twelve years, he has served us in the State Senate.
Our Senator has compiled a PERFECT voting record ever since he went to the Senate in 1951. All educators and teachers who have familiarized themselves with his record, know it to be true.
The Chairman of the Senate Education Committee has written Senator Murray a letter of appreciation for his constant and dependable support. Only a week ago, at a teachers meeting at Thief River Falls, Representative Ben Wichterman, the present Chairman of the House Education Committee praised Senator Murray for his full cooperation.
Senator Murray supported the Foundation Aids, Teacher Tenure, and the Withholding system of collecting Income Tax which is dedicated for our primary and secondary schools. He has always voted against diverting these funds for other purposes. Senator Murray supported Senator Holmquist's amendments to increase school aids.
Vote for a man who has proven his friendship during his tenure in office. Vote to re-elect State Senator Louis A. Murray.

NEW PLANS in the future of the Farmers Home Administration loan program were reviewed Thursday by the above men. Left to right are Leslie Matts, area FHA supervisor; Joel Rosengren, Pennington county supervisor; and Arthur Hansen, state director of FHA. New loans will be available soon for recreation development and woodlot and timber improvement. Emergency loans for crop planting are also expected to be numerous next year and early application is encouraged. Hansen spoke at an area meeting of county FHA boards in this city Thursday.

New Loans Available

Changes in FHA Reviewed At Area Meeting Here Thur.

Discussion of new features and review of previously established practices took place Thursday at an area meeting of county Farmers Home Administration committees at the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Heading the session was Arthur Hansen, state director of FHA.

Two new features added to the program this year are designed for already established farms, Hansen said. Loans will soon be available for establishing and improving recreation facilities and for wood lot and timber improvement. Hansen stressed the fact that the loans will be available only to holders of established farms and not to persons seeking funds with which to speculate.

The recreation loans may be made for developing natural facilities into income property—such as establishment of campsites, fishing improvements, access roads, cabins, water facilities, planting of food and cover for wildlife or establishment of wildlife itself.

Wood lot and timber improvement loans would be made for tree planting and culture, developing stands of timber growth and could be made for Christmas tree plantings.

A change has also been made in the program of off-farm loans for rural housing, Hansen added. Previously the loans were available only for new house construction in communities of 2,500 people or less. The change permits persons over 62 years of age to borrow money for the purchase of pre-existing homes in such communities.

County committees are comprised of three farmers in each county and all FHA loans are approved by the committee. Since the members are elected for three-year terms and cannot succeed

1963 License Tabs To Go On Sale Nov. 15

Sale of 1963 tabs for motor vehicle licenses will begin on November 15 with no increase in tax, according to Mrs. Silas Hanson, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in Pennington county. Green tabs for passenger cars and red-orange tabs for trucks and other vehicles are to be attached to the lower right-hand corner of 1962 license plates.

Use of tabs rather than issuing new license plates each year saves the state's taxpayers about $800,000 annually, Mrs. Hanson said. This saving is reflected in the present tax schedule in that there has been no increase in motor vehicle taxes since 1958 when a five per cent increase was made.

Procedures for re-registration will be substantially the same as for 1962. The IBM application card will be mailed to each motorist who will present it at the local deputy registrar's office for issuance of the 1963 tabs. Most owners will not have to fill out any forms.

If there is any change in the class of license, change of registered weight or change of ownership, however, a different type of application must be filed on a form provided for this purpose. Orange application cards will signify passenger cars, white cards will note trucks and pink cards will be used for miscellaneous classes.

New 1963 tabs can not be issued in advance of the November 15 opening, Mrs. Hanson said, since this is the date set by law. New tabs may be attached to 1962 plates upon receipt, however, with no waiting period required.

The mobile home tax law has not been changed from 1962 and the same procedure will be used for 1963 registration. Plates rather than tabs will be issued in this class of registration. Average personal property tax mill rate in the state has increased from 201.86 to 217.18 which will result in a slight increase in mobile home taxes.

"This rate is still considerably lower than the mill rate of Thief River Falls which is 274.55 mills," Mrs. Hanson said. The re-registration period for mobile home owners is from Nov. 15, 1962 through Jan. 10, 1963.

Lutheran Free Church Conclave Has Large Crowd

Attendance Forces Move To School Auditorium On Friday Afternoon

Overflow crowds for sessions of a special conference of Lutheran Free Church congregations in Thief River Falls last weekend caused the Friday afternoon session to be held in a school auditorium two blocks from the church. About 375 people attended the meeting after about 160 laymen and 23 pastors were in attendance at the morning session.

About 160 members and delegates of congregations interested in "continuing the fellowship of Lutheran Free Church congregations" met for the opening service at the church Thursday evening. Rev. Harold Schafer of Hendricks spoke on the topic "Press On to Salvation", part of the overall theme of "Press On Toward the Goal". Rev. M. Hankenstad, host pastor, welcomed the group as the meeting opened under the chairmanship of Rev. Fritiof Monseth of Valley City, N. D.

Business sessions were held all day Friday and Saturday with Rev. John P. Strand of Tioga, N. D., giving the keynote address Friday morning. Rev. Strand also spoke Friday evening at an evangelistic service. The business session was mainly concerned with laying the groundwork for the continuing of the fellowship of all interested Lutheran Free Church congregations together with all other Lutheran congregations interested in coming into such a fellowship.

Interest of the youth of the church was given emphasis at the Saturday evening meeting when Douglas Olson of St. James was the speaker. The conference closed on Sunday following the closing message by Rev. Hamar Benson of McVille, N. D., at the afternoon service. Morning speakers Sunday were Rev. Karl I. Farmers Union Elects County Officers Wed.

Ole Selmanson Again Elected President; Christianson Speaks

Ole Selmanson of St. Hilaire was reelected president of the Pennington County Farmers Union at the annual meeting held Wednesday evening at the Eagles hall in Thief River Falls. About 75 people attended the session at which Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, was the guest speaker.

Carl R. Anderson of Red Lake Falls was elected vice president to succeed C. R. Appelman of Goodridge while Albert Kotrba of Goodridge was reelected secretary. Directors elected included Appelman, Henry Panek and Carl Lindbloom of Goodridge and Harold Langans of Thief River Falls.

Resolutions adopted by the convention stated opposition to a general sales tax, called for continuance of farm programs with acreage allotments and price supports, expressed opposition to Senators and Congressmen traveling abroad at government expense and asked that land classified as agricultural land by recognized soil specialists not be set aside as game refuge or recreational areas without approval by the board of county commissioners in the affected counties.

Christianson called the Agricultural Act of 1962, as approved by Congress and sent to the President for signature, "another step in the direction of good farm legislation". He said that adoption of the new farm act assures "Continuation of the programs under which Minnesota farmers earned $65 million in acreage payments this year."

"Brushing aside all the claims and the counter-claims about farm programs," he continued, "The real test of a farm bill is whether it will improve agricultural income. We believe that the 1963 feed grains and wheat programs; because they include a direct payment support feature for the first time, will work more effectively and obtain greater participation by farmers in 1963 than in the past two years.

"This will mean that not only can we expect another large cutback in surplus stocks, but that the incentive to overproduction of livestock will be held down."

Christianson also expressed disappointment that the 1962 farm act does not include a provision for increase in dairy supports, but he said that inclusion of the direct payment measures for feed grains and wheat would hopefully set a precedent for extension of such measures to dairy supports.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. ROBERT LASHA

Fall is traditionally apple time, and this salad brings some of the fading brightness of that vanishing season back to the dining table. And the addition of a garnish of sugared grapes, both the delicate green ones and the flaming Tokays, further sparks this salad's appeal both to the eye and to the taste.

This one is grand when served with cheese crackers, a sweet roll, and banana or nut breads, and makes an "ooh!" and "aah!" lunch for the gals on bridge-club nights. It's a family favorite of the Lashas, which means that kids and husbands don't turn up noses at it either.

APPLE-CHEESE SALAD

1 cup hot water
2/3 cup small red cinnamon candies	½ cup chopped nuts
1 3-oz. package lemon flavored gelatine	⅓ cup finely-chopped celery
1½ cups sweetened apple sauce	⅓ cup mayonnaise
1 8-oz. package cream cheese

Pour hot water over cinnamon candies. Stir to dissolve. Add gelatine and stir until completely dissolved. Add apple sauce. Pour part of liquid into an 8x8x2 pan. Chill. When this is firm, blend together the cream cheese (which should be at room temperature), nuts, and celery. Add mayonnaise. Spread in a layer over the firmed apple mixture, and pour on the remaining apple mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with small bunches of sugared grapes (we dip them in boiling hot sugar syrup momentarily, and then drain on brown paper, for that frosty effect.)

The Lashas have three daughters, Debbie, 11; Roberta, 9, and Michelle, 4. Mr. Lasha is a foreman for Ranum Construction Company. He loves to hunt. "Hunts everything," his wife says.

Mrs. Lasha, who works part-time at the ASC office, does a lot of church and PTA work, and is on the board of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of St. Bernard's Catholic Church. In addition to all that, and the care of her family, she does a great deal of canning, loves yard work, and gardening, and yet finds time for hobbies. The hobbies are mostly of the creative sort; making sunbursts from tin cans, poodles from plastic, and other similar activities.

American Luth. Church Supports Cuba Quarantine

Milwaukee Convention OK's Resolution Offered by Dr. Skogerboe, Karlstad

Delegates to the first biennial convention of the American Lutheran Church in Milwaukee, Wisc. adopted by acclamation Wednesday a resolution disavowing the World Council of Churches' expression of regret over President John F. Kennedy's Cuba quarantine.

Passage came by voice vote after a heated debate on the same floor where an earlier session had turned back a move to take the ALC out of the Wold Council but retained its membership by a 647-307 margin.

The world council, in a statement issued at Geneva, had expressed "grave concern and regret" over the President's action.

The resolution, offered by Dr. Rudolph Skogerboe of Karlstad, Minn., stated that the delegates formally disagreed with the council statement, and reaffirm their support of the presidential action.

In other business on the closing day of the week-long convention, delegates approved a $22.1 million budget which includes nearly $4 million increases in approved expenditures. Among the budget items was a $1.5 million appropriation for expansion of the ALC's colleges and siminaries.

St. Cloud Dean Named State Teachers' Head

New president of the 30,000-member Minnesota Education association (MEA) is Dr. Irvamne Applegate, dean of St. Cloud State college's school of education.

And new vice president for 1963-64 is N. E. Duff, teacher of world history in Minnetonka senior high school, Excelsior.

Announcement of the new officers — elected in the biggest vote of the professional teachers organization's 100-year history—was made during the MEA's 84th annual convention, which wound up its two-day run Friday in the Twin Cities.

Dr. Applegate succeeds Melvin Voxland, Rochester junior high school principal, and Duff succeeds Josephine Hokanson, Alexandria high school mathematics teacher.

The biennial convention attracted more than 20,000 educators from every corner of the state. They attended scores of section meetings and special sessions scattered throughout Minneapolis and St. Paul and suburban areas in schools, hotels and public buildings.

During three general sessions held in the Minneapolis Auditorium they heard reports from Voxland and MEA Executive Secretary A. L. Gallop, speeches by Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of New York City's Sarah Lawrence college and now TV host of "Meet the Professor," and Prof. John Ciardi, former Rutgers university English professor and now poetry editor of the Saturday Review, and greetings from Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin and Gov. Elmer L. Andersen.

Voxland reviewed activities of the past biennium in "the MEA's professional march", including nation-leading activities in teacher ethics. Other activities: study of education and school finance problems on the Iron Range, establishment of better programs for teacher education and professional standards.

Voxland also laid out immediate and long distance goals, including:

Maximum learning opportunities for every student;

Attraction and retention of quality teachers;

Adequate teacher welfare, salaries, working conditions, adequate retirement programs.

Gallop discussed the stimulation of challenge to professionals dedicated to a common cause.

847 Loans Outstanding for Total of $4,288,000

Federal Land Bank Association of Warren, serving Marshall, Kittson, Roseau, Red Lake and Pennington counties, had its annual meeting at the Thief River Falls city auditorium last Friday.

Reelected for three year terms at the meeting were Stanley Younggren, director from Kittson county and vice president; and Millard F. Dailey, director from Red Lake county. Other officers of the association are Raymond W. Knudsen, president, from Marshall county; Bennie Christianson, director from Roseau, and Lloyd R. Johnson, director from Pennington county.

Manager of the home office bank, located in Warren, Harold Sorensen, noted that the bank has its highest number of outstanding loans, totaling 847 for a total of $4,288,172. This tops the previous high of 807 loans outstanding in 1961 by 4 and amount outstanding of $3,608,315, by $679,857. In 1958 there were 777 loans outstanding with values of $2,557,000. In 1959 this grew to 786 loans and $2,780,700 and in 1960 there were 785 loans valued at $3,137,910.

The association operated on a total expense of $25,056.96 and grossed a total income of $37,922.55 during the financial period beginning July 1, 1961 and ending June 30, 1962. Assets totaled $383,708.

Incentive Price on Shorn Wool to Continue at 62c

A shorn wool incentive price of 62 cents per pound has been announced for the period beginning next April, Edward A. Johnson, chairman, Marshall Co. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today. The incentive price for shorn wool is the same as for the first 8 years of the program.

The chairman also explained that, beginning next April, the marketing year under the wool program is being changed from an April 1-March 31 period to a calendar year basis, in line with recommendations from producers. In making this transition, the 1963 marketing year will be a 9-month one—from April 1 through Dec. 31, 1963. After 1963, the marketing year will be on a 12-month calendar year basis.

Payments to producers for the 1963 marketing year will follow the same methods employed for the current 1962 year. Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool up to the incentive price of 62 cents a pound.

With the marketing year ending Dec. 31, payments for the 1963 and later marketing years will be made beginning in April following the close of the year rather than beginning in July, as in the past.

The Library Corner

By Edwin Stengelsen

In last week's column we submitted a list of novels as suggestions to those who are uncertain what they want when they go to the library for their reading matter. We will continue it through successive weeks until we have run through the whole alphabet. We mention this on the chance that you might want to clip the column and keep it for future reference.

"Dutch," by Theodore Bonnet. Dan McClatchy, who runs a saloon in a suburb of San Francisco, discoveres that the dim old picture on the wall of the barroom he had just bought, is a genuine Rembrandt. From then on, things happen. Through the book marches an interesting parade of characters — a drunken lawyer who was once a football hero, a group of Bohemian artists, the women's club which objects to the tavern on moral grounds, the newspaper publisher who is not only a teetotaler but also a plitical power—and, finally, there's Dan McClatchy himself.

"The Perilous Night," by Burke Boyce. Central character is a farmer who helps the patriots carray on the Revolutionary War. In the background is the constant struggle of the patriots to obtain the munitions and supplies needed to keep the war going. The story deals extensively with conflicting elements in the community—profiteers, tories, tory sympathizers and patriots. The romantic interest is given prominent place.

"Winter Solstice," by Gerald Warner Brace. Setting of the story is a small New England town near Boston. Central character is a 29-year-old girl who takes over management of the household when her mother dies. She takes care of her father, a rough-talking man who drinks considerably and is something of a semi invalid due to a heart condition. There is her love affair with a married man and there are her rebellious brother and sister.

"Strangers in the Forest," by Carol Brink. A group goes to the Idaho panhandle to take up homesteads which they hope ultimately to sell to a rich lumberman who wants their fine timber. Among them is a scatter-brained, flighty young girl. They suffer hardship and troubles. When the test comes, it's the girl who shows the most courage and perseverance. She is a lovable and admirable character and quite steals the show.

"Jubilee Trail," by Gwen Bristow. A young New York society girl who marries a young man from her social set and sets out with him on the long overland journey to California. One of their traveling companions is a beautiful and vivacious young singer whom they met in New Orleans. On arriving at their destination, the girl meets her young husband's domineering older brother who had had a marriage with a rick young Spanish girl planned for his younger brother. There is conflict between the heroine and the older brother.

"Trumbull Park," by Frank London Brown. The column's readers will remember the race riots which took place some years back when Negroes were admitted as tenants in this housing project. Story is told in the first person by one of the six colored tenants whom the whites are trying to terrorize into moving.

"Hear Me, Pilate!" by Legette Blythe. Hero is a centurion, sent by the procurator to the Holy Land to report back on Pontius Pilate and Herod. He falls in love with Pilate's wife. Story deals also with the crucifixion of Christ and the death of John the Baptist.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, October 30, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Minnesota Natural Resources Council Asks Taconite Action

Fourth in a series

By Henry T. McKnight, Chairman, Minnesota Natural Resources Council

No natural resource area commends such attention — nor demands such urgency — these days as do the State's mineral problems and potentials.

Minnesota's mining industry — and its current events — are dramatic, to say the least. In iron mining, the state has moved from a position of nation-wide monopoly, with unmatched open pitmines, to a current position of rugged competition with iron ore deposits around the world.

Yet, to add to the drama, Minnesota is on the verge of awakening a sleeping giant on the iron range — the taconite industry. Taconite has potentials like these: Thousands of permanent year-round jobs; $1.5 billion of new investments in the state; enough taconite reserves to keep the industry clipping along at peak rates for at least a hundred years.

How do we tap this spectacular potential? That was the question to which the minerals task force of Gov. Andersen's Minnesota Natural Resources Council assigned itself.

This important task force, which turned in the lengthiest, most exhaustive of all reports, was headed by Dr. Eugene P. Pfleider, head of the School of Mines and Metallurgy at the University of Minnesota. Other widely-respected experts serving on the task force were: Frank Bourgin, Citizen's Program for Taconite Expansion, Virginia; Dr. Edward W. Davis, retired director of University of Minnesota Mines Experiment Station; John Hammes, Mineral economist, University School of Mines; Hugh H. Harrison, chairman, Pittsburgh Pacific Co., Minneapolis; Dr. George M. Schwartz, retired director, Minnesota Geological Survey; Donald W. Scott, metallurgical engineer, Continental Sales and Service Co., Hibbing.

The task force laid down dozens of specific proposals to help solve the problems of the mining industry and nothern Minnesota. But, in general, the task force offered these words of advice:

"If Minnesota is to realize its opportunity to achieve a growing mineral industry, the people, through government, should provide that industry with certain specific incentives."

Among the subjects that came in for searching study, of course, was the matter of taxation in the taconite industry. Here the report stated:

"The State should assure the taconite industry long-term stabilized tax treatment. The preferred course is through the so-called 'taconite amendment,' waiving the requirement relating to a minimum expenditure of $250 million within eight years, so as not to discourage plant investments by small companies."

The task force said that, because of the urgency of the situation, immediate passage of a legislative act to stabilize taconite taxes would be a suitable second choice to the amendment — but must be followed by an amendment.

Other proposals included: Expedite reclassification of natural ore; expand taconite exploration; ease restrictions of present mineral rights procedures; establish procedures to help mining companies acquire necessary public lands; allow companies to deduct, when figuring State income tax, costs of exploration in the State, contributions here, and interest on money borrowed for use here; iron mining communities should continue to cut costs and equalize property taxes so ad valorem taxes can be adjusted to reasonable levels; increase appropriation to Mines Experiment Station from $250,000 to $500,000 annually for expanded research; study possibilities of direct reduction of iron ore.

The minerals task force took a close look at other important areas affecting the mining industry too. In transportation, for example, the task force pointed out that Minnesota has lost its onetime competitive advantage of lower transportation costs. Another disadvantage here, of course, is Minnesota's short shipping season.

To overcome these transportation problems, the task force recommends: The State should encourage consolidation of the four railroads which now ship iron ores to Lake Superior ports; the State should urge the Federal government to establish a subsidy for domestic lake carriers representing the difference between their costs and those of vessels plying between foreign ports and lower lake ports; study ways of keeping lakes and channels open for a longer shipping season.

To assure availability of low-cost fuels for metallurgical purposes, the task force recommends cooperative research with North Dakota agencies to study use of lignite and natural gas for magnetic roasting of ores and pre-reducing of pellets. Further study of possible underground storage of natural gas is also urged.

Minnesota has unusually large deposits of peat — some five billion tons, representing half the Nation's supply Problem is there's not a large demand for this material right now. For that reason, the task force states:

"Because of its vast supplies, the State should help develop new uses for peat, especially in the area of agricultural application."

FAA Changes Outlined Here At Area Meeting

themselves, the training session is held annually to acquaint new members with their duties and bring former members up to date on changes in the program.

In fiscal, 1962, the 12-month period which ended June 30, loan volume nearly doubled from the 1961 period, the state director noted. In 1962 there was $17.1 million involved in new loan activity to 3,189 borrowers in the program. Loans are made for farm ownership, farm operating, emergency operating, rural housing, soil and water and watershed.

In the history of the FHA program, interest collected has exceeded the amount of non-paid loans charged off by more than 50 times, Hansen said in noting that the FHA is strictly a lending agency. He added that there is expected to be a heavy run on emergency loans to assist farmers in planting a crop next spring and urged farmers to make their applications early to permit more orderly processing of them.

For the current fiscal year the state has a budget of $6.8 million for operating loans and $1.5 million for housing loans. There is no limitation set on ownership loans. Emergency loans are on a revolving basis following an appropriation of $146 million made by Congress in 1946 on a national basis. This fund has now grown to about $152 million.

Curtis L. Charlson
COUNTY ATTORNEY
Pennington County
General Election November 6

(Pol. Adv., Inserted and to be paid for by Curtis L. Charlson, Thief River Falls, Minn., in his own behalf).

1961 QUOTA attainment certificates were awarded to Pennington county bankers by J. M. Roche, Pennington county chairman of the U. S. Savings Bonds campaign. At left is J. J. Womack, president of Union State Bank which hit 106 per cent of quota. At right is Gene Beito, executive vice president of Northern State Bank which reached 136.4 per cent of quota. It was the fourth successive year that the banks had exceeded quotas in bond sales. Banks offer the savings bond program to the public without compensation and at no cost to the government.

Farm & Home Week at 'U' Canceled for 1963

Farm and Home Week, for nearly 50 years a traditional event on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota, will not be held in 1963.

H. Macy, dean of the Institue of Agriculture, said that the change is part of the St. Paul campus' effort to keep its continuing education, short course, and conference programs consistent with our changing society. This is necessary to serve most adequately the needs of agriculture and rural Minnesota today.

The dean stressed that many of the features of Farm and Home Week will be continued or even expanded in a program of events, conferences, and courses that will accent specific problems and educational needs during the year. Actually some have already been incorporated in other short courses, he said.

The Rural Arts Show, an integral part of the Week in the past, has already been scheduled for a longer period, March 11-April 5, to meet the needs of both urban and rural people in Minnesota.

Other tentative plans include the possibility of a soils and crops institute, rural education conferences, homemakers conferences and similar events.

A special advisory committee will be named to consider other programs which might more effectively accomplish objectives similar to those of Farm and Home Week.

The decision to discontinue the Week came as result of faculty conferences and of an evaluative study involving persons attending the Week, rural community leaders and Campus staff.

The study indicated that both rural and urban visitors feel that activities such as those of the Week should be continued but that offerings should be changed to fit the needs of more specific audiences. Those consulted also indicated that they felt that programs of this type should be offered not only on the campus but also at convenient points, possibly at existing branches of the University, throughout the state.

Wheat Acreage up to 15 Is Exempted from 1963 Quotas

New Provision Applies Only to Next Year, Says Marshall ASC Chairman

An amendment to the recently enacted Agricultural Act of 1962 in effect makes the provisions of the 1963 wheat quota program relateing to wheat acreages of 15 or less the same as the provisions farmers voted on in the quota referendum last August, according to Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

This means that marketing quotas for 1963-crop-wheat will not apply to farmers who plant 15 acres or less of wheat for harvest in 1963. The amendment applies only to the 1963 crop. It does not change quota provisions relating to farms with more than 15 acres of wheat in 1963.

Under a marketing quota program, the chairman explained, farmers who do not comply with their wheat acreage allotments are subject to marketing quota penalties on their "excess" wheat. The new provision, however, like that in effect at the time of the referendum last August, permits a farmer to plant up to 15 acres of wheat for harvest in 1963 without marketing quota penalties being applied.

Mr. Johnson emphasized that this new provision relates only to wheat marketing quotas for 1963, and differs from the acreage provisions for participation in the 1963 voluntary wheat-diversion (stabilization) program. Specific details about the wheat stabilization program are available at the local ASCS county office.

Some Jeopardize Freeway Driving

The commissioner of highways has indicated vital concern over reports from the Safety division of the department that drivers who change lanes improperly on the multiple lane highways are "stealing" the safe, following distance factor from their fellow motorists.

For years safety experts have been recommending a following distance of no less than one car length for each ten miles per hour speed. However, at sixty miles per hour, these six car lengths appear too inviting to the "thief" who moves in between the cars. He does this all too often without first adjusting his speed or signating his intention to move from one lane to another. The stage is then set for a "tail-gate" or rear end accident and, when it occurs, the severity is limited only by the alertness of the other drivers in the fast moving lane.

VOTERS
RE-ELECT
Louis A. Murray
STATE SENATOR
Here Are Some Reasons Why:

Consider Senator Murray's Valuable 12 years of Senate Seniority.

The next legislative session will be an important one. Senator Murray's experience and know how and his membership on such committees as Taxes and Public Welfare will be needed. He presently serves on five important committees and his re-election would assure him of another. He would request Public Highways. Any new member of the Senate would go to the bottom of the seniority roster.

Senator Murray supports Red Lake River Improvement.

Your present State Senator, Louis A. Murray was instrumental in organizing the Red Lake River Improvement Association. He presided over a group of civic minded citizens from farms and communities along this river when the organization was formed at Crookston this year.

It is our hope that the Corps of Engineers will conduct a survey of this river area to determine what should be done in order that the people on the east end will be able to drain their flooded fields, without causing floods in Crookston and East Grand Forks.

We also want to be able to store water to insure adequate water supply for our sugar factories and potato wash plants. We are thinking along the line of a series of small dams and retention reservoirs to accomplish this purpose. Several meetings have been held with State and Federal officials concerning this and top Federal Engineers have assured us of this survey when the funds become available.

Senator Murray Supports Agriculture

Senator Murray served on the Senate Agriculture Committee for eight years and during his twelve years in the Senate, he supported the farmers from his district and introduced legislation beneficial to the farms. His record in this respect is good.

It isn't necessary to be a farmer to fight for their interests. We point out two examples — Senator Humphrey and Senator McCarthy who served on the Senate Agriculture Committee in Washington — no two men better supported the Minnesota farmers.

Senator Murray's record concerning our Schools and Teachers

Senator Murray believes our school system is basic to our great democracy. It is for this reason, therefore, that we are proud of his voting record for our schools and teachers for the past twelve years, he has served us in the State Senate.

Our Senator has compiled a PERFECT voting record ever since he went to the Senate in 1951. All educators and teachers who have familiarized themselves with his record, know it to be true.

The Chairman of the Senate Education Committee has written Senator Murray a letter of appreciation for his constant and dependable support. Only a week ago, at a teachers meeting at Thief River Falls, Representative Ben Wichterman, the present Chairman of the House Education Committee praised Senator Murray for his full cooperation.

Senator Murray supported the Foundation Aids, Teacher Tenure, and the Withholding system of collecting Income Tax which is dedicated for our primary and secondary schools. He has always voted against diverting these funds for other purposes. Senator Murray supported Senator Holmquist's amendments to increase school aids.

Vote for a man who has proven his friendship during his tenure in office. Vote to re-elect State Senator Louis A. Murray.

Candidates Fail To Sign Pledge of Fair Campaign

Several candidates for state legislative posts in this area have failed to sign the Code of Fair Campaign Ethics distributed by the Fair Campaign Practices Commission of Minnesota, according to a release from Dr. Clarence B. Bass, professor of theology and ethics at Bethel college and seminary and chairman of the commission.

Dr. Bass noted that even though a follow-up contact after the original request and an extended deadline was made, the candidates had not returned their signed codes to the commission by the deadline date.

Senatorial candidates listed were I. W. Anderson and J. H. McKee, 64th district comprised of Beltrami, Lake of the Woods and Koochiching counties; L. A. Murray, 66th district comprised of Pennington, Polk and Red Lake counties; and L. O Jorgenson, 67th district comprised of Kittson, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Candidates for state representative listed were L. R. Dickinson and E. J. Chilgren, 64th district; H. A. Wilder, 66th district; and V. L. Johnson and A. W. Erickson, 67th district.

Appointed this year by Governor Elmer L. Andersen as an outgrowth of a recommendation of an earlier Ethics in Government committee appointed by former Governor Freeman in 1957, the commission is non-partisan in composition and has 18 members. Six each are nominated by the two political parties and six from community groups.

Ethics Pledge

The Code of Campaign Ethics calls upon the candidate to pledge not to use personal vilification, character defamation, whispering campaign, slander, libel or scurrilous attacks upon his opponent; to reject the use of campaign materials which misrepresent, distort or otherwise falsifies the facts; to refrain from the use of malicious or unfounded accusations; to reject any appeal to prejudice based on race, creed or national origin and to publicly repudiate the use of materials or methods by any individual or group which resorts on behalf of his candidacy to similar tactics.

"It is encouraging to note," Dr. Bass said, "That by far the vast majority of candidates filing for office have returned their signed Code of Ethics. We call upon all candidates in this closing stage of the campaign to maintain the strictest surveillance upon their campaigns to insure a fair election in which the voters will not be misled by unfair and unethical practices."

In releasing the names of candidates who did not sign the Code, Dr. Bass stated, "The commission feels certain that most of these candidates do not intend to campaign by unethical standards. Their failure to sign probably is due to dilatoriness. However, in fairness to those candidates who have complied with the request to sign the Code, we are releasing these names."

Also listed as non-signers in addition to legislative candidates were William Brantz, candidate for governor; Conrad Hammar, Joseph Johnson and Alec G. Olson, candidates for Representative in Congress respectively from the second, fifth and sixth districts.

Police Request Careful Driving Hallowe'en Night

Youngsters With Dark Clothing, Masks Create Hazard on Wednesday

City police issued warnings to drivers and advice to residents of the city today as Hallowe'en will be observed on Wednesday. The annual night of ghosts, goblins and witchery is expected to be an active one in the city.

"Many youngsters will be out in the twilight hours, making their rounds of neighborhoods for tricks or treats collections," stated Elton Cummings, chief of police. "The children will be wearing masks which impair their vision, dark clothing which will make them difficult to see and will be too wrapped up in their activities to be alert to traffic.

"Our department and the parents of these youngsters will appreciate having all drivers use extreme caution when traveling city streets Wednesday evening. The night is one of fun for children and all of us would hate to have a traffic tragedy mar the festival atmosphere, the chief concluded.

Chief Cummings also noted that extra patroling will be done on Wednesday night to prevent possible vandalism. He warned city residents to secure loose property if they want to prevent the inconvenience of searching for it the following day. There has been no serious problem from vandalism the past few years and none is expected this year, he added.

Cummings also endorsed the Hallowe'en Festival being staged Wednesday by the local Lions club and encouraged parents to bring their children to this event to find entertainment. Details of the festival are carried in another story in today's Times.

Langen to Report on Cuba Tuesday

Congressman Odin Langen will issue a report on the recent Congressional briefing by the State department in Chicago when he addresses a public meeting in Fosston Tuesday night, Oct. 30. Langen said the briefing proved beyond a doubt that the communist buildup in Cuba has been most extensive. The veteran lawmaker promised to share facts and figures on the situation that has put this country on a full scale alert.

The seventh District farmer-Congressman also promised to discuss the agricultural problems facing the nation and the district, plus actions taken on the farm scene during the last session of Congress. The meeting will be held in the Fosston High School auditorium, free of charge, following a Langen appreciation dinner that has been planned for earlier that evening.

Urban Youth Urged to Become 4-H Members

Boys and girls living in towns, cities and suburban areas as well as in the country are eligible to join 4-H clubs.

At present about a fourth of all 4-H members are from urban and rural nonfarm homes, according to the State 4-H Club Office at the University of Minnesota. During the first 25 years of 4-H work in Minnesota nearly all 4-H'ers lived on farms. The shift in membership to more urban and rural nonfarm members has come about in the last 25 years partly because business and community leaders have urged that 4-H club work be extended beyond rural areas.

Minnesota counties drawing 100 per cent of their 4-H membership from rural nonfarm and urban homes include Ramsey, Cook and Lake. More than 65 per cent of the 4-H members come from urban and nonfarm homes in these counties: Hennepin, North St. Louis, South St. Louis, Anoka and Crow Wing.

As club membership has broadened, more projects have been added and many old projects have been adapted to appeal to urban and nonfarm boys and girls. Among the newer projects are career exploration; town and country business; a study of marketing; automotive care and safety which involves learning about care and safe operation of cars and costs involved; photography; and entomology, an opportunity to identify and study insects and their relationships to plants and animals.

Many other projects are suitable for young people living in cities and towns. Girls can choose any of the four homemaking projects including foods, food preservation, clothing and family living. Boys may be interested in shop and electric projects. Gardening, home yard improvement, conservation, safety, health and junior leadership have attraction for both boys and girls.

Though 4-H'ers work at their projects, they also have fun. Recreation is a part of every club meeting. Talent shows, picnics, club tours, county camps and sports days are among ways 4-H'ers make friends.

Anyone between the ages of 9 and 21 is eligible to join a 4-H club. If you live in town and would like to belong, contact the county extension office for help in forming a club if there is none in your community.

'62 Wheat Support Rules Are Relaxed

Frost-damaged Wheat Eligible for Support

The 1962-crop wheat price-support program has been relaxed to include frost-damaged wheat that otherwise would not be eligible for support, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee, said today. Early frost in some of the northern states has resulted in frost damge to wheat prior to harvesting.

The chairman pointed out that broadening support eligibility requirements will make price support more generally available to farmers in these and other areas, thus preventing a demoralized market price and encouraging more orderly marketing. Previously, price-support provisions had been relaxed to extend eligibility to light-weight wheat because of stem rust in some areas. The lower grade wheat must meet all other eligibility requirements to be eligible for price support.

Under this most recent action, Johnson explained, price support will cover wheat grading No. 4, No. 5 and Sample because of damaged kernels (other than heat-damaged). In other respects, the wheat must grade at least No. 4, No. 5 or Sample on test weight (not less than 40 pounds per bushel) but on other factors must grade No. 3 or better.

Discounts for such damaged wheat will range from 1 to 38 cents when the damage is not in excess of 30 per cent, and these discounts will be in addition to the applicable discount for grade No. 3. Discount for wheat containing damage in excess of 30 per cent will be 60 cents per bushel from the basic county support rate.

The petroleum industry invested nearly $2.5 billion in drilling and equipping wells during 1960—the latest year for which figures are available—according to Oil Facts. This does not include exploration, development and production costs.

Two citations were issued in the traffic mishaps and the truck theft is under investigation by the police and sheriff's departments.

The bulk oil truck was taken Friday night from the rear of the Pure Oil station and the theft reported at 9:47 a.m. Saturday. Recovery of the truck was made the same afternoon at 2:25 p. m. about half a mile south of Marcoux Corner along highway 32.

Brink is hospitalized with multiple bruises, lacerations and a fractured right thumb. Olson was cited for failure to yield to a pedestrian.

At about 7:15 p. m. the same day, a car driven by Odin Peterson, rt. 4, TRF, was traveling north in the alley between Main and LaBree avenues and making a left turn on First street when hit by a car driven by Thomas Braaten, rt. 3, TRF, which was going east on First street. HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Come the end of this crisp, colorful month, all the little ghosts and gobblins will be out trick-or-treating as usual. Hallowe'en today is a mixture of Druid practices and classic mythology. The Druid believed that ghosts and witches came out on this day so they built great bonfires to frighten them away. The Roman godess Pamona, protectress of fruit trees, gave the harvest feature to Hallowe'en. It was celebrated by the Early Christians as All Saints' Eve.

Why do you always see orange, red, and black as the Hallowe'en colors? The red symbolizes fire which was always feared by the witches, orange is for the golden harvests and black for demons and the dreary winter ahead.

When the tricksters come a-knockin' at the door you might like to have a tray of these easy-to-make yummies.

Caramel Marshmallow Bars
20 marshmallows
2 Tbsp. butter
One-eighth tsp. salt
4 cups caramel or cocoa puffs

Heat marshmallows, butter and salt over hot water. Stir until smooth. Pour mixture over puffs in buttered bowl and mix gently. Pat into greased 9-inch sq. pan. Cool and cut into squares.

If the goblins are planning a party they might enjoy "jacks" for lunch. All the cook needs to do is at least 24 hours before serving, make firm, well-rounded, large scoops of vanilla ice cream. On one side of scoop, use chocolate bits and slices of cherry or candy orange to make a jack-o'-lantern face. Freeze uncovered until 10 to 15 minutes before serving. Just before serving, insert a tiny yellow candle in top of jack-o'-lantern and serve lighted.

State Jaycees to Back Amendments to Constitution

Representatives of the 115 chapters of the Minnesota Junior Chamber of Commerce met in Winona, October 20, and went on record as formally supporting the three proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Amendment No. 1, which would permit broader investment policies for state trust funds, received broad support from the Jaycees, who believe Amendment No. I will allow a large increase in income to the state of Minnesota with no increase in taxes.

Amendment No. II, which would allow the state debt limit to be set by 60 per cent vote of both houses of the legislature, was unanimously supported by the Jaycees. The delegates felt the 60 per cent vote requirement is a strong check on legislative spending.

Amendment No. III, to change the length of the legislature session from ninety to one hundred twenty days, received the support of the majority of the Jaycees.

A soils map helps increase hay production for George Bauer, cooperator with the Mahnomen County SCD. When John Vogel, SCS technician, explained the effects of acid soil on alfalfa and other crops, Bauer realized why he couldn't raise good alfalfa on some parts of his land. Taking Vogel's advice on corrective measures, Bauer applied 250 pounds of gypsum per acre on one alfalfa meadow. Results were a one-third increase in production and much better quality alfalfa.

Planting bullheads in a farm pond can cause problems. One Yellow Medicine County farmer found that his livestock watering pond was constantly riled this summer. Cattle didn't like the water. Culprits were many small bullheads that neighbor kids had thrown in the pond. Can't destroy the bullheads without the permission of the State Department of Conservation says Yellow Medicine County Agent Dave Johnson.

"Farmers who adopted conservation programs were well rewarded this past wet spring. Without contour strips, waterways, and a good rotation, they wouldn't have had much topsoil left," says Ed Persons, V-Ag instructor in Grant County. Persons' enthusiasm for better land management, prompted many farmers in this area to become district cooperators and establish good conservation practices. Persons told Forrest Schasker, SCS work unit conservationist at Elbow Lake, that he would like to schedule a farm planning meeting in December for other farmers interested in soil and water conservatin.

Deep tilling after corn is removed for silage pays off for Harold Jorgenson, cooperator with the Lyon County SWCD. Jorgenson says that water recharge is improved by deep tilling on soils compacted during corn silage harvesting. He uses a tool bar cultivator with the teeth spaced from 18-20 inches apart, and tills sloping land on the contour.

They are joined by scores of organizations throughout the state—professional, civic, business, farm, labor, and church groups—in support of Amendment No. 2. This amendment would remove the out-dated debt limit of $250,000 in the state constitution, and make possible the much-needed building program for state colleges, hospitals, correctional institutions, and the University.

NEW MEALS AND SNACKS FROM MINNESOTA TURKEY BOLOGNA

Apparently there is no limit to the ways in which Minnesota turkey can be prepared.

The newest use for the succulent gobbler's meat is in ring bologna; and, because of the tangy seasoning which it contains, it lends itself to any number of economical, delicious main courses.

Two recipes for turkey bologna are suggested by Mrs. Arlene Stansfield, home economist for Schweigert Sausage Co., which has pioneered in the manufacture of new convenience food items utilizing turkey meat.

TURKEY BOLOGNA ATOP AU GRATIN POTATOES

INGREDIENTS:
5-6 medium-sized red potatoes
¼ lb. milk cheddar cheese
salt & pepper (to taste)
2 tbsp. chopped onion
½ cup whipping cream

METHOD:
Cook potatoes with jackets on until almost tender. Cool, remove jackets and grate (using medium-sized grater) a layer of potatoes into a shallow casserole or baking dish (6 x 10½"). Then grate a thin layer of cheddar cheese; add salt and pepper and onion. Repeat this process until baking dish is full. Pour cream over all. Bake at 350 degrees F., uncovered, for 30 minutes. Remove from oven and place slices of turkey bologna atop and return to oven for additional 15 minutes. Top should have golden brown crust. Serves 4.

HOT TURKEY BOLOGNA SALAD SANDWICHES

INGREDIENTS:
1 lb. ring of turkey bologna, chopped
½ cup soft cheese
2 hard cooked eggs, diced
2 tbsp. chopped pickle
3 tbsp. catsup
1 tsp. mustard
2 tbsp. salad oil
¼-½ tsp. salt

METHOD:
Mix ingredients together; spread in sandwich buns; place in pan covered with foil and heat 30 min. at 350 degrees F.

Federal Crop Ins. To Make Payments

Heavy crop losses in Pennington county will be eased by payments to farmers who participated in the Federal Crop Insurance program this year, according to David Drotts, FCI agent. Losses in Pennington county on wheat, barley and flax resulted from excessive moisture and an unusually cool growing season. Indemnities paid to farmers are from the corporation's premium reserve and are not taxpayer's dollars.

The 1963 FCI program has just been announced with several important chnges included. In Pennington county the coverage has been increased on all crops, including wheat, barley and flax. In addition a new "bonus indemnity" feature provides for an additional payment to be made when the crop is harvested but still falls below the farmers' guarantee.

In Minnesota a record number of 56,267 crops were protected in 1962 — an increase of 7,266 over the previous year. Applications for participating in the 1963 program are now being received. Farmers who whish to report a loss or obtain additional information may do so at the Drotts Agency.

Yard'n'Garden

Winter Protection of Fruits

Minnesota winters are usually too severe for many of our fruits to survive without some form of protection. Apples and pears can suffer from sunscald or damage from rabbits and mice. Strawberries and raspberries may be injured by extremely low temperatures or by alternate freezing and thawing.

To prevent sunscald, fasten boards to the southwest side of the trunk of large apple trees. Wrap the trunk of small fruit trees with burlap to prevent splitting of the bark on the southwest side of the trunk because of sunscald.

To protect young fruit trees from rodents, place a cylinder of old window screening or quarter-inch hardware cloth around the tree, up to the lowest branch. To allow for tree growth, the diameter of the screen should be about 6 inches. Be sure to fasten the overlapped edges securely with wire. Push the cylinder into the soil about 2 inches to hold it in place.

After strawberries have been exposed to one or two frosts, but before freezing weather, apply a mulch of 2 inches of straw or marsh hay over the plants. Fruit buds are injured by temperatures as low as 20 degrees F. It's usually a good idea to apply the mulch around Nov. 1 before a cold weather sets in.

Bend the canes of raspberry bushes over and cover the tips with dirt. You can hold the canes in place with pieces of wire shaped into arches and pushed into the ground. Covering the entire cane with soil is insurance against winter injury and rabbit damage.

If you have tender varieties of grapes, prune them, lay them on the ground and cover them with soil. Soak the soil thoroughly before the ground freezes.

Grygla Community Events of Interest

Mrs. W. A. Leverson

Halloween Party

All children of school age in Grygla and the surrounding community are invited to participate in a Halloween Party the evening of Oct. 31st, sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America. The invitation was extended today by Mrs. Nurman Newton, general chairman, who stated that the event will be genred to prove especially attractive to school children. Boys and girls have been asked to sign pledge cards which say "I promise to respect the property of other people and will cooperate with leaders to make this party a success." Pledge cards will serve also as registration in the Witch Wagon game. According to Mrs. Newton, the party will start at 8 p. m. and will be held at the Mar-Bel Hall, where costumes will be judged, and refreshments distributed.

The chairman also stated that a special feature will be the "Witch Wagon," attended by a number of witches in typical Halloween style, who will award special prizes to five of the costumed paraders, who can be found at home thirty minutes after the curfew is sounded ending the celebration.

Mrs. Newton called attention to last year's Halloween party in which 325 children participated, and stated that she felt confident that this year's event would draw a still larger crowd of participants. She urged parents and school authorities to encourage children to take part in the event, stating that "similar affairs here and elsewhere have proven their worth in promoting enjoyable, sensible Halloween celebrations".

Mrs. Newton, local representative said, "Modern Woodmen of America is sponsoring similar costume parties in hundreds of communities in the United States."

Larry Workman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Workman of Borup, recently returned from attending the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Ia. He attended the show as his award for winning the purebred show at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls on June 12.

"I enjoyed the trip very much and spent most of my time there watching the Jersey show," Larry stated in a letter to Roland Larson, secretary of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, Dairy Day sponsor. "The first place junior get of sire and the first place senior get of sire were won by a paternal brother to my calf which won at Northwest Dairy Day this past June."

Larry also attended the Jersey breeders banquet and met many prominent Jersey breeders and officers of the American Jersey Cattle club. He expressed his appreciation for having been awarded the trip.

Mail Box Damage Federal Offense

Postoffice Dept. Warns Halloween Celebrants

With Halloween only a short time off, the postoffice department today issued a warning that it is a federal offense to willfully or maliciously damage or destroy any receptacle used for the receipt or delivery of mail. In the past, rural mail boxes have been frequent targets of Halloween pranksters.

However, the department stated that before such pranksters attack a rural mail box it might be well for them to consider that their activities could net them a $1,000 fine or three years imprisonment. Postal inspectors investigate cases of damage to mail boxes and turn offeneders over to the United States attorney for criminal prosecution.

The government takes a very serious attitude toward the offense, and requests that anyone having information which might lead to the identification of a person responsible for mail box damage advise his postmaster at once.

Card of Thanks

We would like to say a big "Thank You" to all of you; our relatives and friends who came and hauled and sawed wood for us for the winter. It's hard to find words to express the thanks that are due you all. Also thanks to the ladies that served the dinner. We also would like to take this means of saying thank you again to our relatives and friends who have been so good and wonderful to us in their so many ways of helping and doing things for us in this whole past year. We hope and pray that the Lord richly blesses you all; as He has done us, by you all being so thoughtful in deed. Your acts of kindness will forever be remembered and appreciated. May the Lord Bless each and everyone of you. Mr. and Mrs. Obert Johnsrud and family. 1t87c

Card of Thanks

Withholding Tax Funds Due Oct. 31

Employers Reminded by Internal Revenue Chief

Withholding tax delinquencies on trust funds by business firms in Minnesota decreased during the past year, according to Gilbert A. Engel, acting district director of Internal Revenue in St. Paul.

Engel stated that the trend of increased delinquency in withholding tax compliance reported last year has been checked.

Last year when employer delinquencies increased, George O. Leihert, District Director of Internal Revenue, announced that his organization would take definite steps to combat the trend of non-compliance. He stated that increased delinquencies were believed to be due to misunderstanding of the law, lack of concern and disregard of employer responsibilities under the law. Vigorous enforcement action was initiated which has shown promising results.

Engel said that employers who withold $100 or more from employees' wages monthly are required to deposit the money in the federal reserve bank by the 15th day of the following month. They receive a depositary receipt which is to be filed with the quarterly return to show credit for the amount of tax prepaid. The number of such depositary receipts purchased each quarter during the past year has increased from 47,893 to 62,358, indicating compliance progress, Mr. Engel reported.

Engel reminded Minnesota employers that the deadline for reporting and paying income and social security taxes withheld from employees for the calendar quarter ending September 30, 1962 is Wednesday, October 31. He said that employers should use form 941 to report their tax liability and mail it, with depositary receipts purchased and full payment of any balance of tax due, to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

GIVING a brochure to Governor Elmer L. Andersen at the Boat and Water Safety exhibit held at the Minnesota State Fair grounds in St. Paul is Mrs. Louann Mosbeck Dimmen, stenographer and assistant in the Boat and Water Safety Bureau. She is a 1960 graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

P. Klungnees Tops Prowler Scorers

Prowlers Not Blanked in Past 42 Contests

The football Prowlers, in posting a season's mark of seven wins and two losses, scored a total of 210 points on offense, and gave up 67 points to their opponents.

On offensive, the Prowlers have a 42-game streak alive in which they have been on the score-board. It was back in the season of 1958, when, in a game against the Fergus Falls Otters, that the Prowlers were white-washed, losing that game by a 20-0 tally.

Paul Klungness, co-captain and halfback on the 1962 squad, led the Prowler scorers with 72 points, gaining these points on eleven touchdowns and six extra-point conversions.

The individual scoring:

	td	pt	tp
Paul Klungness	11	6	72
John Aune	8	4	52
Steve Mittelstadt	7	10	52
Bob Benson	2	0	12
Bob Olson	2	0	12
Rick Jensen	1	0	6
Ron Olson	0	2	2

Roseau, 17, at East Grand Forks, 31.

Coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks won the Northwest football conference title for 1962, and it marked the third time in the eight years that the conference has seen action that the Jacks have won the league championship. The previous championship title years for Bemidji were in 1955 and 1960. Last season's winner was Crookston Central.

The Thief River Falls Prowlers, winners by a 34-6 score over Crookston on Wednesday night, finished in second place in the league standings; while East Grand Forks, with a 31 to 12 win over the Roseau Rams, gained third place in the league ratings. Not since 1955, the year that the conference was organized, has East Grand Forks finished on a higher rung, and in that first time the Little Green Wave earned second place in the four-team league.

Northwest Conference Records

For the third time in the eight short years of the Northwest football conference's existence, the Bemidji Lumberjacks won the championship honors. This season's Bemidji squad posted a record of four wins and no losses, and racked up a total of 118 points while holding their opponents to but 32 points.

And it was for the third successive year that the Jacks, with the multiple offense, and precision execution of their plays, had scored the most points. The 1961 Jacks, runners-up to the champion Crookston Pirates, totaled 137 points; and the Bemidji club of 1960, champions that season, had total of 123 points.

During the eight years of conference competition (Roseau joined the league in 1959 to bring the membership to five teams), the Bemidji club has scored twenty-one victories and suffered seven defeats. The Prowlers, who gained second place honors this season, and who won the title once, in 1956, have scored sixteen wins, lost eleven, and tied one. The Crookston Central Pirates, league champions in 1957, 1958, and 1961, have won thirteen games, lost fourteen, and tied one. The Roseau Rams, winners of the title in 1959, in their first season in the league, have scored six wins, lost nine, and tied one. And the East Grand Forks Green Wave, who have never won the title, but have finished second once, in 1955, have a mark of six wins, twenty-one losses, and one tie.

In addition to competition in football, the Northwest conference has, since 1957, been holding track and field tournaments. And in 1961 the conference adopted golf as a league sport.

While the conference is operating smoothly as a five-team circuit, there is a possibility that another team may be invited to join the league. One team that would be acceptable to the league, and which engaged in a pair of games this past season against conference clubs, is Park Rapids. I'm sure that the member teams would welcome Park Rapids, a Region Eight school, into the conference.

Twins Night at Red Lake Falls

The Minnesota Twins "good will" troupe will appear in Red Lake Falls on Tuesday night, Oct. 30. The "Meet the Twins" night will get under way at 6:30 p. m. with a dinner at the Community hall, and tickets for this dinner are being sold by Red Lake Falls Legion members.

The program, which will include talks by Vic Power and Lee Stange, plus baseball movies, is open to the public, free of charge, and will begin at 8:15 p. m. on the second floor of the hall.

In addition to talks by Power, one of the most colorful performers in baseball, and Stange, Charles Lavender, Twins' ticket manager, and Don Cassidy, Twins' promotion manager, will make some comments of the successful season just completed.

Tuesday night's attraction should draw a large crowd of the area's baseball fans to Red Lake Falls.

Younger and Younger

That high school athletes are concluding their high school careers at a younger and younger age is indicated by the fact that such starring Prowler footballers as quarterback John Aune and halfbacks Paul Klungness and Bob Benson are just a month or two into their seventeenth year. And Prowler track and cross-country star, Rolf Wangberg, won't be seventeen until next month. It's remarkable that these youngsters exhibit such poise and maturity considering their comparatively tender years.

We can recall a number of years ago when Minneapolis Edison was a "power" in Twin City and state basketball play, and a scoring sensation in those days was Tony Jaros, who later went on to play with the Minneapolis Lakers. But Jaros, in his senior year in high school, was either very close to being twenty years old, or was in his twentieth year.

FU Market Group To Check Lambs On Area Farms

To assist sheep farmers in selecting only top quality lambs for market, the Farmers Union Marketing association will conduct a lamb grading tour on November 1, 2 and 3.

Sheep salesmen from South St. Paul and West Fargo will join fieldmen in grading lambs on the farm before shipment, assuring the producer of shipping only top quality lambs and receiving the highest return that the market has to offer.

Farmers interested in the service are asked to contact Cy Carpenter, 1101 Knight av. N. in Thief River Falls or phone MU 1-2409.

At Oakland Park . . .

Mrs. Stromberg Devotes Self To Care of Residents

By Mrs. Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

"Whatsoever ye do unto these, my children, ye do it unto Me."

The words are not emblazoned into the stone portico of the Oakland Park Nursing Home, and no one mouths them as you enter, but you feel them. . .

"We stress tender, loving care with a personal touch," Mrs. Frances Stromberg, supervisor of nursing care explained it simply. That tender care is given, is evidenced in the eyes of the patients as they follow her figure down the clean-smelling, polished halls, while she caresses a shoulder presses a hand reached out to her.

"We try to stress rehabilitation too, to help each patient attain the highest degree of his potential ability," she stated further "We try very hard to increase the activities, but we are so limited," she sighed. "We don't have the funds, the space, the trained personnel needed to expand this program. Take group singing: it's wonderful for morale. But we have to use the dining room for this, and even then we're so crammed for space that the patients fill the hallways.

"So let's not talk about Me to day. We want this story to be a means of acquainting the people of the area with what we have here, what we do, and what we would like to do. . .We want the public to frequent this place, to visit the patients, to plan entertainment for them. We would love to have volunteer groups, or individuals, to plan all sorts of activities here. The patients need crafts—for fun, for socialization, physical exercise, and mental stimulation. You have no idea how important these things are in a place of this type."

Mrs. Stromberg is "a native product, born and raised here", the former Miss Florence Stenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stenberg. After an absence of twelve years from the profession which she follows, she found herself impelled to return to her work a year a year and a half ago when family duties no longer prevented her doing so. "A love for nursing is just born into a girl," she said. "It is very difficult for most nurses to stay out of the profession for very long. The need for their services is so terribly great. . ." A graduate of NW Hospital School of Nursing in Minneapolis, Mrs. Stromberg did industrial nursing in Minneapolis for some time, as well as having worked at the Falls Clinic when Drs. Johnson and Haberle were here, and at old Mercy hospital.

At Oakland Park, she does all the personnel work, interviewing, and hiring, and she handles time schedules and work assignments. "From there on," she said, "my work involves the supervision of the nursing care, the teaching of non-professional employees, demonstrating equipment and procedures; in general providing patient care through the other personnel. I am the contact between patient and doctor, as far as medication is concerned.

"The local doctors are always on call. Every patient here is under a physician's care; each has a choice of doctor. And right here, I want to express a word of appreciation for the doctors' cooperation. They couldn't be more helpful.

"The area vocational school of Practical Nursing affiliates here. The girls get their geriatrics training with us. There are 42 women employed, and three maintenance men. There is no age maximum for patients but we are licenced to take in only those over 16 who need convalescent care."

The eldest resident at the present is Mrs. Emma Lee; she will be 96 on November 1. "She still crochets, with her glasses up on her forehead. And she comes to the dining room for her meals. . . We will have a little party for her, with a cake, as we do for all of our people. All join in to sing the birthday song . . . and the honored guest usually sheds tears of happiness.

"They have done some work with ceramic tile, some embroidery, knitting, making corsages, and making decorations for holidays. But it isn't enough; it should be a continuing thing," she emphasized. "We had a display table last year, and the craft objects were sold to the public. Money derived from their sale went back into the activity fund. I hope we can expand the program far beyond its present scope. We want to make jewelry, and things along that line. But we need money, we need people who have time to give instruction. . .Busy hands help to make for contentment. Idleness is deadly. Especially do we need to step up activities at this time of year. In summer, the patients can go out doors for passtime, but it's a long, long winter. ." Mrs. Stromberg sighed.

There is a bulletin board, on which each displays something of interest when his turn comes to do so. One lady displays her poetry, others show with pride their hand-work, lettering, favorite pictures from magazines, leaf collections, or fmily pictures. . .

This summer there was one picnic, which Mrs. Stromberg described as "a huge success." The practical nursing class helped get everyone outside.

Each patient is expected to get out of bed, if possible, each day, for at least ten minutes.

Meals are served at tables for four in the cheerful dining room right off the kitchen. Mixed groups are permitted. Most of the patents choose a certain place, and return to it for each meal. At holiday time, there are hand-made flowers on the tables, and other decorations are in evidence then.

The chapel in the basement has chairs up front, near the small white altar which stands along the wall, the piano in front of it. The room is far too small for the groups which would like to worship all at one time. Local members of the ministerial association alternate in holding services.

Somehow, the days pass. In a living room which has an air of hominess about it, is a TV set. In this room the men play checkers occasionally; follow sports telecasts in season; some read; some make the rounds of the halls and the rooms of their friends. In summer, they feed two pet chipmunks, which are tame enough to eat the nuts or tidbits proffered, or, search out those secreted in pockets.

Some of thw women knit, others crochet, read, watch TV, etc. But there is something missing. . .

Appeal to Those Who Care

"Please use this opportunity to make the needs of our people more widely known," Mrs. Stromberg pleaded. "Groups and individuals are invited, urged, to give a little of their time, their attention, their love, to those who have nothing BUT time, and a hunger for that personal touch, that feeling that somebody cares. . ."

How much a drive in the country, her wistful smile hinted, would mean to her patients on a Sunday: a show, a picnic, a dinner at someone's home! The aged have a need to be wanted, not only on the few holidays scattered through the year at such infrequent intervals. This should be a continuing thing. "I get so involved in this," she said, with a far-away look in her eyes. "No, this should not be my story at all. Just tell the people how much they are needed in this work. There is so much that could, that should — be done."

Her words brought to mind a touching bit of poetic truth: "There is a destiny that makes us brothers; none goes his way alone. Whatever we bring into the lives of others comes back again into our own."

TENDER loving care is the ideal embodied in the philosophy expressed by Mrs. Florence Stromberg, supervisor of nursing care at Oakland Park Nursing Home, which nestles among the oaks on the south edge of the city.

The evident regard in which the patients hold her is silent tribute to her dedication.

Khrushchev Surrenders?

It is difficult to believe, but circumstances indicate that Communist Russia is undergoing another revolutionary change. Just what the change will be had not been revealed by the week-end exchange of letters between Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy.

The Khruschev letters indicate that the Soviet government is backing away from the position that has been maintained with regard to military installations in Cuba. The fire-and-brimstone approach has given way to a conciliatory attitude that indicate far-reaching changes in official Soviet thinking.

Does this mean a more conciliatory attitude on other controversial matters? Are we approaching a realistic solution for the problems of Berlin and East and West Germany? Is a new Russia emerging that will not be dedicated to a program of Communist world-dictatorship? Is the government headed by Khrushchev being replaced by a government with which we can work in harmony if not in a common ideology?

Such developments now appear to be possibilities, and the possibility revives a spirit of hope. Maybe we are making a little progress in our efforts to achieve a peace that for this generation at least could be considered parmanent. The developments of the next few weeks could be very pleasantly exciting.

Asian War

That border skirmish between China and India has some of the earmarks of a real war in the making. At any rate it no longer is just a border skirmish. The Chinese invasion force has advanced to a point where it is a threat to a heavily populated area of India, it is reported.

Prime Minister Nehru is discovering that being peaceful is not a safe shelter from war. Weakness invites attack and unless India gets help in the form of arms the well equipped Chinese will meet with little resistance.

The NATO countries cannot afford to have India dominated by the Red Chinese and this is one instance where foreign aid is justified. Nehru will not accept guns as a gift but he probably will get some on credit. What's the difference?

What of India?

To what extent is the fear of Red China a factor in the possible new approach to world problems by Russia? George Sokolsky, whose syndicated column is always interesting, said several things last week that could have a bearing on what may be in the background of present Russian thinking.

Sokolsky spoke at a meeting of educators here in Thief River Falls years ago. He talked about the Chinese revolution, a subject on which he was well informed. His information was based on personal observations during the years he had spent in the Far East as a press correspondent. Because of this personal background and his special interest in the Asian revolution, his observations on the developments in India are especially interesting, and could explain some new thinking among the leaders of the government that rules Russia. According to Sokolsky:

"The sad plight in which India finds itself today is due to errors in judgment of Nehru and his adjutant, Krishna Menon. They adopted the doctrine of appeasement. They worked out a system of co-existence. They preached peace and love. They abandoned Great Britain which was expert in Indian affairs and had long maintained the eastern and northern borders of India against all comers. They sought to fool, trick and blackmail the United States into providing them vast economic aid while they played footsies with Soviet Russia. They assumed that Soviet Russia could control Red China.

"India has not been able to build an economic base strong enough to make war on Red China. To survive in this period of constant war, India has to depend either upon Great Britain or the United States to defend it. Here enters an important time factor: At certain periods, both Great Britain and the United States may be free to defend India. At the present time both Great Britain and the United States are deeply involved in a prospective war over Berlin and the United States has, at long last, awakened to its peril in Cuba. Has the United States the strength to meet the Communist menace on such multiple fronts?

"Red China, on the other hand, will persistently push toward the Chienlung Line which in Southeast Asia runs from Tibet to the Bay of Bengal. (Its northern limits are in parts of Turkestan which are now Russian territory.) The taking over of Assam, Bhutan, Nepal, Ladakh and parts of Kashmir by Red China will give it easier access to the Bay of Bengal and to the rich rice lands of the Indian Ocean. It could solve Red China's problems of starvation. It is a good gamble at a good time.

"There are two ways of stopping Red China:

1. Intervention in Indian affairs by Great Britain and the United States and the establishment of an effective, atomic force on the Himalayan border;
2. The intervention of Soviet Russia either by economic or military measures.

"Neither alternative is likely and there are no others. India cannot fight. It cannot raise the forces to fight. The Gurkhas of Nepal can fight and constituted a valuable force in the British army. But why should a Gurka fight for Nehru's India in preference to Mao Tze-Tung's China? It would be difficult to produce a convincing argument which for the Gudkhas would be money as they are mercenaries. As for the Sikhs, they want an autonomous province which Nehru has declined to give them. Their loyalty is to self-determination.

"Somebody will undoubtedly come along with a third alternative, namely, that Red China should be a good boy and behave. In the first place, Red China cannot afford to be a good boy; it can only afford to be a robber because its people are starving, its economic ideas have run riot like a metastasized cancer; It must rob to get food. The food is in Vitnam; the food is in Siam; the food is in Burma. If Red China can reach the Chienlung Line and the Bay of Bengal, othere ountries in Southeast Asia may starve, but Red China will take what it finds.

"This is the rationale of this war which will continue unless it is stopped by either the United States or Great Britain. As a practical matter, the United States and Great Britain have no particular reason for intervening in this matter. Nehru has played a stupid game and is losing. The next stage in India may be a revolution of violence against Nehru and the Congress party.

"Soviet Russian, on the other hand has much to fear from this development. Should Red China reach the Chienlung Line in India, who can say that the ambition will not be whetted to reach it in Siberia and Turkestan? Both sides of the Amur River, for instance, were once Chinese territory and all of Turkestan was Chinese territory — if one can think of the Chinese in those days either as a nation or a race. For the question does arise as to what a Tartar is, or was, nationally, politically, or racially? There are years of trouble and bloodshed in that one sentence and the end of it is not yet in sight."

Too Much Talk?

Senator Hubert Humphrey no doubt is one of the hardest working public officials in Washington. He thinks fast and he talks fast and he seems to be always willing to express himself on any subject. And generally he seems to keep good natured.

A few weeks ago he lost his temper and said the wrong thing. There was too much talk about Cuba, in his opinion, and he exploded thisaway:

> "A lot of people are being dam irresponsible about Cuba. It's time to call a halt to this before this government is driven to a position where it has no options of action."

The Senator probably was tired when he said this and we are not referring to it in a spirit of criticism. There has been much talk about Cuba for some time, and that is understandable. But we have been under the impression that the American people have been gnerally temperate in their remarks, very much aware of the seriousness of the problem and its many complications.

Careless talk can be dangerous but any supression of a free exchange of opinions would be intolerable.

If?

If, as reported yesterday, Khrushchev is ready to enter into a reasonable settlement of the Cuban question, and if the Russians actually do enter into such an agreement, and if, after having entered into such an agreement they actually do all of the things they promise to do—if these things actually materialized we would be very suspicious of the whole performance. It would be much too good to be true.

Good Publicity

(Art Suel in New Prague Times)

Minnesota has been getting some marvelous publicity in the New York area from famed sportscasters Mel Allen and Phil Rizzuto. Here from New Jersey, Sunday, my brother-in-law Frank Kelly reported that he and my sister regularly listen to the Allen-Rizzuto telecast of New York Yankee-Minnesota Twins games in Metropolitan stadium which are televised over New York TV channel 9. Aerial pictures of Minnesota farms and lakes and of Twin City scenes and camera shots of the crowds in Met stadium are shown on eastern TV screens with glowing, complimentary descriptions. Delegations from Minnesota and other states are mentioned and Allen and Rizzuto warmly praise the good sportsmanship of Minnesota crowds and the friendly hospitality of Minnesota people.—You couldn't buy that kind of favorable publicity.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862—the same year that

IN MINNESOTA, on June 16, the first of the famous Fisk expeditions left St. Paul for the Montana gold diggings. But whether they found gold or just plain dust, Minnesota's early pioneers knew that refreshment could be found in a glass of beer.

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of hospitality to any occasion. Minnesotans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

ELMER'S SECRET TAX INCREASE
Why Don't You Tell The Truth, Elmer?
★ You promised your tax study report last June!
★ Word has leaked that it recommends a 3% general retail family sales tax!
★ The secret tax report also recommends increased individual income taxes!
★ In spite of holding the record as the biggest spender of all time, on October 8, 1962, you promised the people "no new taxes, no increased taxes!"
★ Yet you have publicly stated you will spend $300 million or more in the next two years than you did in the last two years!
Elmer Andersen, you just can't spend $300 million more and tax less, and you know it!
Tell the truth, Elmer. The people demand that you reveal your secret budget, the budget that the law says you should have revealed by October 1, 1962. Where is it, Elmer? Why are you hiding it? How much longer will you violate the law? When will you unlock your secret sales tax program, your increased individual income tax program?
TELL THE TRUTH, ELMER! THE PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW BEFORE ELECTION DAY!

POLITICS IS A LITTLE COCK—EYED. And so are politicians these days. They have one eye cocked on the national situation and another cocked on the coming elections. There is no question about which of the two is holding the greatest amount of interest and will have the greatest impact on our society.

Not long ago this column carried several references to political activity which, in the mind of the writer, tend to downgrade the stature of statesmen. Call the following partisan thinking, if you will, but these are other drips from the political faucet which tend to create a little mental aggravation.

Thanks to the foresight of some people some time ago, our state government is a pretty fair piece of machinery. While the state offices are filled by persons with allegiance to major political parties, legislators are elected without party designation. At least, that is what Minnesota law requires.

This is one phase of the law which is disregarded by a great many candidates. In quest of election to the offices which they seek, candidates for the state legislature permit themselves to be "endorsed" by one major political party or another. To be labeled a conservative or liberal is apparently not satisfactory. To be endorsed by the DFL or GOP is considered to be more politically expedient, depending, of course, on the voting history of the particular district.

In this area, which is traditionally DFL-dominated on the ballot, the state candidates are including "DFL Endorsed" in their campaign material. Their opponents are basically running "without party designation". There are known cases of candidates active in particular parties which do not accept this endorsement. They are to be complimented.

Until the law is changed so that candidates run openly as Republicans or Democrats, the voting public should disapprove party endorsement. It is with the common good of the general public in mind, I am sure, that non-partisan law was written for legislative offices.

One other thing I feel should be mentioned. Thursday's edition of the Times carried a public opinion letter from the county DFL chairwoman, "explaining" Dr. Harding Noblitt's charge against Congressman Odin Langen which stated Langen voted against the feed grain bill. Nearly identically worded letters were received by papers in other counties from their respective county chairmen. It is not difficult to see where the informed county chairmen who stated "Dr. Harding Noblitt was completely right" got their information.

Here is a new scheme which should have some merit to those who advocate government spending programs. It would boost the economy and affect every farmer, laborer and businessman in the nation. Simply it is reduced spending to permit reduced taxes. To meet complete approval, it could be called "Federal Aid to Taxpayers".

The warden had been in charge of a prison for 10 years and decided this called for a celebration "What kind of a party would you boys suggest?" he asked the prisoners. Their response was unanimous. "Open house".

A city police chief sent six photo views of a wanted criminal to a country constable in an area where the thief was believed headed. The next day he received a call from the constable. "I got five of them fellas already and expect to have the last one 'fore the sun sets tonight."

"What do you do all day?" the tourist asked the Kentucky hillbilly. "Hunt and drink," the man replied. "What do you hunt?" the tourist persisted. "Drink", answered the hillbilly.

And finally the tale is told of an auctioneer who asked, "What am I offered for this bust of Robert Burns?" "That isn't Burns, that's Shakespeare," said a man in the crowd. "Joke's on me folks," the auctioneer said. "That shows what I know about the Bible."

THINGS ELMER ISN'T TELLING YOU ABOUT PER CAPITA INCOME

Mr. Andersen claims credit for a 4 percent increase in per capita income in Minnesota in 1961, while the national average was only 2 percent.

What Mr. Andersen didn't point out was that per capita income increases in Minnesota have averaged 4.2 per cent or more in Minnesota since 1950 (before Elmer).*

So Mr. Andersen is actually taking "credit" for a below-average year in income increase, but not telling you about that.

Very Few Local Races

General Election Polls Beckon Voters Tuesday

General election time is fast approaching with political candidates giving an all-out effort to capture the opinion of the voters prior to the November 6 balloting. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. in Thief River Falls and North township and from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. in other county polling places.

Attention in Pennington county, where there are only two contests for county offices, will be focused on these races and the 66th Legislative District contests. On the state ballot, 7th District Congressional seat and the race for Governor will be the main attractions.

In the only county-wide contest, L. W. Rulien, county attorney, is opposed by Curtis L. Charlson. Both men are Thief River Falls attorneys and are to be elected without party designation. The other county contest is between Donald L. Olson, incumbent commissioner from the Second District and Harry R. Lund.

For Representative in the Legislature from the 66th District which includes Pennington and Red Lake counties, the two opponents are Andrew Skaar of rural Thief River Falls and Stanley Radnieck of rural Oklee. Both are seeking the legislative post vacated by Ben Wichterman of Plummer, an unsuccessful candidate for Congressional endorsement by the DFL.

Senatorial Race

For Senator in the Legislature from the 68th District, which includes Pennington, Red Lake and Polk counties, Sen. Louis Murray of East Grand Forks is opposed by Harveydale Maruska of Angus. Sen. Roy Wiseth of Goodridge, whose district was incorporated into the new area by reapportionment, is not seeking election. Murray is an incumbent and Maruska has served two terms in the House of Representatives.

Rep. Odin Langen, incumbent Congressman from Kennedy who has served two terms in Washington, is opposed by Dr. Harding Noblitt, professor at Concordia college in Moorhead. Noblitt received the DFL endorsement when Wichterman withdrew from the primary contest after 22 the votes at the district convention. 50 Entries Made In Wool Sewing District Contest

Nearly 50 entries have now been received in the District I Make It Yourself with Wool contest to be held November 24 in the Thief River Falls municipal auditorium. More than 200 inquiries have been received by Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, district director, who expressed hope that total entries this year would surpass last year's record number of 104.

"Holding the contest on November 24 enables girls away at college to participate in their home district and we have several who have already entered," Mrs. Peterson said. Pennington county entries to date include Nancy DeBryn and Carol Haack, both of Thief River Falls. Marshall county with 16 and East Polk county with 10 lead the list of entries this year.

A large number of prizes are offered in the contest at district, state and national levels. Miss Jo-Ann Odegaard of Gonvick, competing in the senior division last year, won district, state and national contests and was awarded an expense-paid trip to Hawaii.

"As soon as the girls have decided upon their fabric and pattern, three copies of the entry blank are sent in to the district, state and national offices with a 3x3 inch sample of material," Mrs. Peterson said. "The national office then sends out sewing helps.

Fall Fashion Picture

"The overall picture for fall can be simply described in three words — elegant, classical and feminine," the district director continued. "Fashions for fall offer variety. There are many shapes, all designed to flatter the figure, fitting more closely to the body for natural effect. Elegance in the classical manner of the fashions have depth and richness of color. Newsiest, however, are the unusual combinations of interestingly-hued neutrals such as beige and gray. Samples of fabrics on the entry blanks tend to verify these facts of color and texture."

Judging Procedure

Judging at the district contest will follow the method used at the national contest. Since 65 per cent of the points are given for "costume on the girl", entrants will all model in their garments before construction is judged. Effects of construction show up as the garment is modeled. Girls will not be judged with accessories such as purse, hat and gloves. "Costume on the girl" will include coordination of fabric, pattern and trim, color, fit of garment, fashions of color, line and design, grooming and poise.

Girls who will be 13 years of age or older by December 1 may

Elaine's CHATTER

You can rake leaves until doomsday and there are still more . . . it's also discouraging to put up storm windows on a nice warm fall day when there isn't a cloud in the sky. Never heard of anyone doing it at night when the wind isn't howling, but it is an idea.

What we are trying to say is . . . November is a lovely, undependable month, and winter is just around the corner and we hope that corner takes you right to Elaine's.

A winter coat which covers everything is the most important item of wearing apparel. We have many to choose from . . . black is always smart and goes well with most accessories.

Tweeds are practical and of course there are many colors to choose from. We think the greatest names in coats are . . . Sycamore, Leeds, Jo Morr, Barnett, Modes, in Jr., petite, missy and half sizes, from $29.00 and up . . . It is shopping time and we'll be looking for you at Elaine's.

Heard it on TV . . "Never call a child a "Brat" he may want to live up to the name." Condemn the deed but not the child . . makes sense.

10-Step Survival Plan Listed by Minnesota Civil Defense Head

A 10-step plan for personal and family survival for both urban and rural Minnesotans was announced today at the request of Governor Elmer L. Andersen by Roy V. Aune, acting director of the Minnesota Department of Civil Defense, and Kendall Gustafson, Pennington County Civil Defense director.

"The head of every family and other adults should thoroughly familiarize themselves with the plan so they can move quickly to carry it out in a nuclear attack or any other emergency," Governor Andersen said. "Parents should instruct their children what they should do."

The information was released at this time "not to arouse alarm but rather to educate our people in personal safety measures," Aune said. Learning to recognize a national emergency warning signal and how to improvise a shelter are two important requirements of every person.

Taking an inventory of food and other provisions in order to determine additional supplies to be stocked is another step which should be taken immediately.

10-Step Plan

Here are the 10 steps to personal and family survival:

1. You will be alerted that a national emergency is imminent by official announcement of the President or the Governor or both. Local Civil Defense units will report to control centers.

2. Continuous blast of three to five minutes long on a siren, horn, whistle or other device indicates an alert is in effect. Short blasts or warbling sounds mean you should take cover at once. CONELRAD network will carry instructions.

3. Go to basement or lowest part of building if no shelter marked by Corps of Engineers is available. Barricade windows with sandbags or dirt. Sandbags, solid blocks or bricks stacked on floor above shelter area will shield against radiation; solidly stacked books will help.

4. Store drinking water to supply one quart per person for 14 days; sufficient canned and packaged food for same period; medicines and first aid materials; iodine or tablets for purifying unsafe water; extra soaps; flashlight and extra batteries; and battery-operated radio. Keep gasoline tank of car at least half full. Decide safety measures for shutting off fuel supply to house and also appliances.

5. Farmers should take the same safety and survival action as their town neighbors. Get livestock and their feed under a roof to protect feed from radioactive fallout with tarp cover. Place water supply under roof or cover the tanks. Contaminated food crops and livestock should not be destroyed. Most food for human consumption can be made safe by washing and peeling. Your county agent has helpful bulletins.

6. Nearest public fallout shelters are marked by yellow and black signs posted by Corps of Engineers. Your county or municipal civil defense director can provide you the latest report for your community.

7. The program to locate shelter space in existing buildings, mark these structures and stock them with federal supplies is being expedited.

8. Local radio announcers whose voices you easily recognize will furnish vital information over the CONELRAD network.

9. Important booklets on fallout protection, family shelter designs and other subjects are available from local Civil Defense directors. Many public schools have instructors qualified to teach survival courses.

10. Residents of the seven counties around the Twin Cities, as well as the metropolitan district and Duluth should carry out arrangements to stay with relatives and friends in outstate communities.

Rep. Odin Langen Refutes Charge

Explains His Vote in 1961 on Feed Grain Bill

"My opponent has tried to tell you that I have voted against all farm legislation, including the emergency feed grains program in 1961," said Congressman Odin Langen Tuesday evening, "and to a man who has farmed in this district of Minnesota all of his life, those are fighting words."

Langen, speaking in Fosston, pointed out that he was one of four Republicans who actually saved the feed grains program in 1961 and that he supported it again in 1962.

"Before voting for final passage of that bill in 1961, I did vote for the motion to recommit the bill to committee with instructions to take out section 3," said Langen. "Section 3 was designed to give the Secretary of Agriculture authority to sell grains below market prices, which I felt was nothing but a gimmick to force compliance with the program by arbitrarily pushing prices down."

Langen noted that he was sure he didn't have to tell his fellow farmers that he has worked constantly in the best interests of farm people, "but perhaps I need to set the record straight for my opponent, who apparently would vote for anything called a 'farm bill'."

Langen said, "My opponent's statements indicate that he would have supported the complicated proposals adopted for 1964. There is every evidence that under the 1964 program we will experience reduced income for farm people both in the area of feed grains and in the new wheat program."

Large Poultry Flocks Are More Profitable

Larger poultry flocks are definitely more profitable, not only in total return but in profit per hen as well.

That conclusion comes from a study of 96 members of three Minnesota Farm Management Services, and was conducted by agricultural economists S. A. Engene and T. R. Nodland at the University of Minnesota.

From 1959-61, they found, poultrymen with flocks of 800 birds or more averaged $2.04 return per hen above feed cost. That's compared to $1.30 for flocks of 400 to 499 and .64 cents for those under 200.

Costs other than feed and amount of labor used were not available. But other studies show that poultrymen spend about 2 hours per hen per year on flocks of about 200, receiving 32 cents per hour with nothing left for other costs.

For flocks of over 800 birds, however, the higher return above feed cost means that if labor can be held to an hour per hen, the flock can get about a dollar an hour for this labor.

Why are larger flocks more profitable? One reason is higher production rates. Flocks with 800 or more hens averaged 40 eggs more per hen than did those with fewer than 200 hens. With eggs at 28 cents per dozen, this means an extra 93 cents per hen. Feed cost for the extra 40 eggs is about 21 cents per hen, or only a fourth of the extra value of the eggs.

Average price for eggs increased with flock size—with a spread of 3 cents per dozen between flocks averaging under 200 and over 800. Larger flock owners had more opportunity to sell to local hatcheries.

The economists conclude that farmers with the large flocks may find it profitable to continue. And more hens may mean even greater profits. However, large flocks represent a rather large investment. The 13 farmers in the study with the largest flocks (averaging 1,431 hens each) used $5,500 worth of feed a year. This is enough to feed 200 hogs to market.

Many Activities On Schedule for Education Week

Each November, the week which includes Veteran's Day is set aside as American Education Week by four national sponsors — National Education association, American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers and U. S. Office of Education.

AEW grew out of the revelation during World War I that an alarming proportion of the American people were illiterate and physically unfit. The American Legion and NEA inaugurated the week as part of their plan for attaining a program of education adequate to American needs for the 20th century. The U. S. Office of Education became a sponsor in 1922 and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers joined in 1938.

'U' Man Says Outlook Dim for Small Towns

The nation's smaller rural communities are facing bleak prospects in efforts to attract industries to bolster their economies.

Because "we simply can't expect to locate an industry at every crossroads," Dr. George Donohue, University of Minnesota sociologist said Monday night.

He told the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives that towns under 1,000 have little or no chance for survival, with the odds for those up to 2,500 about three of ten.

But there are good chances for growth of communities with up to 5,000 population, Donohue said. He added that the number of residents was a deciding factor, along with resources, income and educational levels, and organizational strength.

Donohue said that farm areas were showing deterioration in the organization field. He cited that, historically, there have been three major farm groups — Farm Bureau Federation, the Grange and Farmers Union, usually following conflicting paths. And he cited the prospect of a fourth major group, the National Farmers Organization.

"Rural people, too, are losing their traditional advantage of overrepresentation in Congress, state legislatures and other governmental units," Donohue said. "It thus appears that the traditional common ground necessary for organizational strength and bargaining power no longer is present in rural areas.

"Farmers as a minority rather than majority group well may be the balance of power, as other minorities have been in the past—but they must have strong organizational relationships."

Donohue said that is where cooperatives might step in to strengthen rural territories, by functioning more as interest groups.

"There is the possibility that coops today may be more concerned with the sale of goods than with the representation of a way of life," Donohue concluded.

Warren Attorney Is Wounded While Pheasant Hunting

Harold C. Myhre, Warren attorney, is confined to Bethesda Hospital in Grand Forks, where bone specialists are treating his right foot which was seriously injured Sunday in a hunting accident near Breckenridge.

Mr. Myhre was pheasant hunting with Curtis Cornelius in the area. They had spotted a pheasant and had stopped the car to go after the bird. Mr. Myhre stepped out on the right side of the car, had loaded his gun which all of a sudden discharged. The shot entered the right side of his foot, dismembering the 2 smaller toes and shattering many of the foot bones.

Mr. Cornelius immediately applied a tourniquet and rushed him to the hospital at Breckenridge from where on Monday he was transferred to the Grand Forks hospital to be under the care of a bone specialist. If infection does not set in, the major part of the foot will be saved.

Mrs. Tweten Is Donor of Blood To Miami Woman

Local Housewife Is One Of Five Known In U.S. To Have Rare Blood Type

There is a saying which states that "you can't get blood from a turnip". It is equally true that it is nearly as difficult to find rare blood types which are sometimes needed. This is where organized Blood Bank programs are beneficial to the possessors of the rare types.

Take for instance the case of Mrs. Howard Tweten of 724 Conley av. S. in Thief River Falls. She has been a member of the local Blood Bank since it was organized but donated only twice — the last time just recently to a woman in Miami, Fla., who was scheduled for an operation.

Mrs. Tweten is only one of five persons in the United States known to have the rare type "O-RH positive Rautenberg negative" according to Paul Basquin, administrator of the Minneapolis War Memorial Blood Bank. It was the Minneapolis unit which called and requested the donation of blood last week.

For the Thief River Falls housewife, it was the second time she had been called upon to aid one of her fellow "blood brothers or sisters". The first time was in February of 1961—only shortly after having received a transfusion herself from one of the other four donors on the list.

In 1961 she went to Minneapolis to have the blood drawn. Last week the work was accomplished by local Blood Bank technicians at Northwestern Hospital and the blood was sent by plane from Minneapolis to Miami. Mrs. Tweten was located through the American Association of Blood Banks.

North Dakota Oil Going by Pipeline to Clearbrook

First crude oil from North Dakota flowing eastward through a new pipeline is expected to reach Clearbrook today.

The oil is moving along the 373-mile line at an initial rate of 25,000 barrels per day.

Opening of the facility was announced by officials of Portal Pipeline Co., who said that reduced transportation costs will mean an increased net of about 20 cents a barrel to producers in the area served.

The line extends from Lignite, N. D., northwest of Minot in the Williston Basin producing area, to Clearbrook, where the 16 inch main trunk connects with Minnesota Pipeline and Lakehead Pipeline.

The oil had previously been transported from the oil fields to Clearbrook by way of the Soo Line thru Thief River Falls.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Emergency feed has been approved for Pennington county. Farmers can now buy grain which is under loan at seventy-five per cent of loan price. Oats is running about 40 cents and barley 60 cents. The price will vary a little with the grade of the oats or barley and also with the amount of premium which may have been paid for the grain under loan.

Farmers are now asking which is the better buy? This depends somewhat on what livestock you have to feed and also on what you need to balance your rations.

On basis of "cow feed" only, oats is a better buy. With oats selling at 40 cents, barley is worth 60 cents. There is an easy rule of thumb to follow on this. One bushel of barley is worth ¾ of a bushel of corn; oats is worth ½ of a bushel of corn. For example: if corn is selling for $1.20 then you can pay 90 cents for a bushel of barley and 60 cents for a bushel of oats, providing these grains are equal in quality.

Farmers must remember that they can only purchase emergency feed grains to maintain their basic herds. For futher information call at the ASC office or the extension office.

Farm and home business will be examined at a short course to be held this winter. Families will examine their goals and study how best to reach these goals - the farms they are now operating.

The short course will be held at Oklee. It will be spread over Jan., Feb., and March. There will be about eight day-sessions. Both man and wife will attend the course.

University of Minnesota extension specialists will lead the discussions along with county agents. This will be an especially useful course on farm & home management for young couples. Pennington County can have ten couples in this short course. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Svendsgaard and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Muthiason have already signed up.

Would you like to be included? If so, please call the extension office, MU 1-2116.

USDA Centennial is being observed this year. What has this meant to you? Let's take a look at one case in point — nutritional diseases.

Have you ever seen scurvy, rickets, or pellagra? Probably not. There are also other nutritional diseases like goiter, anemia, beriberi, and night blindness. All these were common a few decades ago. As recently as 1928, more than 7,000 Americans died of pellagra. Now we know that foods with iodine, iron, or vitamins can prevent these diseases. Thanks to science in agriculture Americans have no more fear of them. USDA agencies thru research and education have helped conquer these diseases.

I am deeply grateful to the 1731 men and women who gave me and my candidacy their vote of confidence in the primary election Sept. 11th. In numbers, however, there were not quite enough of us.

Get Out the Brooms

The annual fall round-up meeting of the local curling club will meet Monday evening, Nov. 5, at 6:30. The meeting, which will be preceded by a dinner, will be for the purpose of making preliminary plans for the 1962-63 season. A film on curling will be shown.

Incidentally, those displays on curling, in the show windows of the Union State and Northern State Banks, are attracting plenty of attention. I hear that Jon Larson was in charge of setting them up.

And perhaps it is wise to give this word of warning to the local curlers. Russ Embury has secured a pair of curling shoes, and if he can get a pair of enthusiastic and strong-armed sweepers, his rink, he believes, will be a contender for the club championship. The Halvorsons, the Lidens, the Larsons, the Jordes, and the others, should take heed of this warning.

As the boys say, "Curling Beats Fun".

Getting an Early Start

The North Dakota Sioux hockey squad, under the direction of coach Barry Thorndycraft, will begin practice for the 1962-63 season today, Thursday.

Included in the squad of 21 candidates who will report for the season-opening drills will be 16 lettermen. Don Ross of Roseau, one of the finest hockey players ever developed in Region Eight, will be shifted to the blue-line corps this season. Last year, in his sophomore year, the powerful former Rams star was at a forward position. Don perhaps was the professor of the hardest shot in high school hockey during his years as a member of coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau club. On a couple of occasions his "bombs" went through the screen mesh protecting the end bleachers in the Roseau rink.

The Sioux, though, have very few Americans on the 21-man squad, for in addition to Ross, only goalies Gene Otto of St. Paul and George Baland of Virginia, and forward Dan Storsteen of Devils Lake are the only south-of-the-border boys.

The Sioux will open their season with a pair of games, on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, against the Duluth Branch of the U. of M.

Better Than Expected

The reports of the local nimrods who participated in last week's opening of the pheasant hunting season are trickling in, and these reports, while they aren't very extravagant, indicate that the opening weekend was better than expected.

The hunting, as had been predicted, was spotty, and the birds were difficult to maneuver into shooting range, but hard work and thorough hunting provided some bag limits.

The Carl Lee-Roy Lee-Dwayne Bakke party, which at times numbered twelve hunters, hunted the Clinton area and in two days this group bagged thirty-six pheasants. This is quite a remarkable feat when it is noted that the party did not have the benefit of any dogs. It had been the belief that dogs were a "must" if pheasants were to be routed out of the heavy cover, but it appears that an abundance of man-power was able to accomplish the trick.

And Floyd Ball and Lief Erickson hunted in the Kent area, and they reported having good luck. They used dogs to good advantage as they hunted tree lines and small thickets, and a couple of corn fields.

It was the consensus, though, that the area between Mahnomen and Ulen, which produced a great number of birds last season, was very slow this year. There are very few corn fields in the area, due to the late spring, and much of the cover has been put to the plow.

There is agreement that the hunting was tough, and such isn't for a fellow who is on a blood-thinning pills.

Recess in Grouse Season

Local hunters should note that the ruffed grouse season will be in a five-day recess starting on Monday morning, Nov. 5. The season will close on Sunday sunset on Nov. 4, and will resume at sunrise on Saturday, Nov. 10, and will conclude on Friday sunset on Nov. 30.

While the partridge aren't appearing in great numbers, and this season will be rated as poor, the hunting, because of the killing frost last week, has improved. It is an oddity that the partridge hunting has been better this year closer to the small towns and villages than it has been way out in the bush. This may be because there is more feed available in the cultivated areas than in the wilderness areas.

Progress Made in Sea Lamprey Fight

Fewer Are Found in Lake Superior During 1962

The sea lamprey control program in Lake Superior is achieving marked success, according to information brought out at the annual meeting of the Lake Superior advisory committee held in Hancock, Michigan, Oct. 10.

Hjalmar Swenson, supervisor of fisheries in the Minnesota conservation department and chairman of the committee, said it was reported that the number of adult lampreys taken in the 29 assessment barriers on Lake Superior tributary streams was only 9,204 this year as compared with 68,197 in 1961.

He said another encouraging sign was that retreatment of 20 streams this year showed very few to contain new lamprey populations. Also observed was a substantial reduction in the number of fresh lamprey scars on lake trout and a good survival of hatchery raised trout.

Swenson said that this year, Lake Superior was stocked with 1,659,000 lake trout yearlings and 76,500 lake trout fingerlings by Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Ontario.

The 1963 stocking will probably be in excess of 2,000,000 lake trout yearlings, he said. A new Federal hatchery now under construction at Jordan River, Michigan, will be ready for use in 1963 and will be able to contribute to the 1965 stocking of yearling trout.

Trapping Season on Mink, Muskrat Opens November 3

The Conservation Department reminded trappers this week that the 1962 season gets underway Nov. 3. Mink, muskrat, badger and raccoon may be taken without limit statewide from Nov. 3 thru Dec. 31 during this year's season.

Trapping in muskrat houses is prohibited and no trap may be set within six feet of the muskrat house. A longer mink and muskrat season has been offered this year to encourage an adequate harvest and to simplify game law enforcement.

Last year 32,300 mink were trapped in Minnesota. The total value of the mink harvest amounted to $560,000.

Red Lake Falls, 13, at Warren, 12.
Ada, 26, at Twin Valley, 12.

Coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile Falcons, with three players — Rod Olson, Bob Gullickson, and Paul Sannes—included in the top ten individual scoring performers in the conference, won the Pine-to-Prairie 1962 football conference title, posting a mark of seven wins and no losses.

In the league-championship game played last Wednesday night at Fertile, the Falcons, scored a 19-7 win over the Mahnomen Braves. The two teams had entered the game sharing the conference lead, and the loss dropped coach Tom Rowlette's Braves into the runner-up position.

Fertile's sturdy Rod Olson made a runaway of the individual scoring race, with the 165-pound back rolling for sixteen touchdowns and adding fourteen conversion points to pile up an aggregate of 110 points. Mahnomen's Mike Liebl gained second place with a total of 56 points, a total that was one-point better than the 55-point aggregate compiled by Don Hanson of Red Lake Falls.

Fertile's Bob Gullickson was in a sixth-place tie with teammate Paul Sannes, with the two Falcon players having 38 points apiece.

The dollar sign ($) comes from a Spanish coin called "piece of eight." The Spanish figure 8 looked much like "S" to which they added two vertical lines signifying the pillars of Hercules guarding the Mediterranean tip of Spain.

Natural Resources Council Deals with State's Water Assets

Fifth in a series

By Henry T. McKnight, Chairman, Minnesota Natural Resources Council

Next to land, water is perhaps Minnesota's most basic natural resource. The sparkling waters for which our State is famous play a vital role in so many facets of our lives — support of crop and forest growth — recreation — fish production — industrial uses — and of course, everyday human existence.

But, some pressing problems stand in the way of assuring ample supplies of clean, pure water in the future. Among the major problems listed by the water task force of Gov. Andersen's Minnesota Natural Resources Council are flood control and pollution.

This task force, headed by Nobel Shadduck, Annandale attorney, brought many expert minds to bear on these problems. Task force members were: Douglas Barr, consulting hydraulic engineer, Minneapolis; Frank P. Crippen, Sanborn farmer; Orville C. Peterson, executive secretary, Minnesota League of Municipalities, Minneapolis; Dr. George M. Schwartz, retired director of the Minnesota Geological Survey. At a council-sponsored symposium earlier this year, the task force also had the benefit of consultation from Sidney Frellsen, director of the state division of waters.

In probing the state's water problems, the task force found that one of the most basic difficulties is the abundance of agencies dealing with water. As the report states:

"In Minnesota there are no less than 18 different national and state agencies, plus many governmental subdivisions, that deal with water problems under various laws and regulations. The result is overlapping, intermingling and conflicting jurisdictions."

To untangle this maze of duplication, the report proposes:

"The state should develop means by which the policies of various agencies concerned with water conservation and use can be better coordinated and made more consistent with each other and with policies of local governmental units."

Two specific ways this untangling would be accomplished are: Consolidate present agencies wherever possible and avoid creation of new agencies; strengthen the Water Resources Board by giving it power to intervene and make binding decisions in disputes between State agencies.

To help lick the menacing problems of rampant flood waters, the task force had these suggestions:

"The state should participate with the federal government (U. S. Army Corps) in the solution of flood control problems in Minnesota." At present, there is no unit of state government which serves this purpose. To help local communities deal more effectively with flood control, the task force recommended:

"The state should give local units of government authority to utilize flood plain zoning to reduce potential damage resulting from unwise occupancy of land subject to floodings."

In some respects, Minnesota's abundance of surface waters has probably created a sense of false security. Pollution, for instance, is difficult for many Minnesotans to conceive, what with our "10,000 lakes" of apparently "sky-blue waters." But the task force has nailed down this problem, alarming in its actual prevalence.

"Probably the only sizeable streams in the state that are not dangerously polluted are those along the North Shore of Lake Superior. In the rapidly growing area of the Twin Cities there has been little successful planning for sewage disposal. Throughout the state— especially among the smaller villages—pollution has probably increased faster than it has been remedied."

Among the remedies suggested by the task force: Strengthen the Water Pollution Control Commission, by reorganizing this agency with more paid technicians and clarifying its authority; establish a technical unit under the Commission to deal specifically with pollution problems in the Twin City area.

Pollution and flood control are vital for most effective use of our readily available waters. But water supply itself threatens to be a problem in the future. The task force pointed out that supplies of underground waters — for domestic and industrial uses — are dangerously short in many areas.

The task force urged a more intensive study of water resources and development of a long-term water supply plan for the Twin City area. Specifically, the experts suggested studying the possible use of St. Croix River water to supplement that presently taken from the Mississippi and from underground.

To aid in water conservation, the task force also recommended a go-slow policy on drainage.

Water, like so many of the resource gifts of Nature, is far from limitless. Indeed, as this important task force report points out, we can hardly afford to waste or misuse this most precious gift.

Things Elmer Isn't Telling You About Shifting the Tax Burden to Your Family

NOW, Elmer has found a different way to shift the tax burden to Minnesota families — an outrageous giveaway to the utility companies! Mr. Andersen's new schedule will —

- increase property taxes on homeowners from 10 to 500%
- decrease taxes of property owned by gas and electric companies 10 to 50%!

THIS PROPOSAL MEANS AN ADDITIONAL BURDEN OF 30 MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR HOMEOWNERS AND SMALL BUSINESSMEN...SOMETHING ELMER DIDN'T TELL YOU.

Things Elmer Would Like You to Forget

During the recent legislative session, Mr. Andersen proposed a tax increase that would throw the tax burden on Minnesota families. His infamous "Family Tax" included these tax increases:

4% on telephones
4% on telegrams
4% on electricity
4% on heating and cooking gas and fuel oil
3% on new autos
½ cent on each bottle of soda pop

Benysek To Talk At Credit Union Banquet Nov. 14

About 100 Expected To Attend Dinner Slated At Local Eagles Hall

Edward M. Benysek, assistant manager of the Minnesota League of Credit Unions, will address the annual Credit Union Day dinner at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 14, at the Eagles Hall in Thief River Falls. About 100 Credit Union officials and several state legislators attending the dinner will hear Benysek talk on "Credit Unions, an Instrument of Democracy."

Benysek has been on the staff of the Minnesota League of Credit Unions the past 10 years as a field representative and as director of organization. He has been assistant manager the past year.

Prior to his service with the League, Beysek was with Western Union Telegraph company, Northern Insulating company and the Northern Pacific Railway.

The Thief River Falls Credit Union Day dinner is one of 10 regional dinners in Minnesota noting the 114th anniversary of the founding of the first Credit Union in 1848.

The Minneapolis Postal Employees organized Minnesota's first Credit Union in 1925. Minnesota now has 495 Credit Unions with 279,000 members and $152 million in deposits.

A Credit Union is a group of persons who save their money together, and make loans to one another. Each Credit Union is an independent, non-profit corporation chartered and supervised by the government. The average Credit Union in Minnesota has 563 members and assets of $341,500.

The Minnesota League of Credit Unions reports that its member Credit Unions have assets totaling $168,692,000 and outstanding loans totaling $142,120,000.

"Demagogues and agitators are very unpleasant, but they are incidents to a free and constitutional country, and you must put up with these inconveniences or do without many important advantages."

—Benjamin Disraeli

Just One Mill

Cliff Bouvette of the Kittson County Enterprise sharpened his pencil the other day and came up with the following interesting conclusions:

> "One mill is one-tenth of a cent. A mill of taxation for state purposes produces about $2 million dollars return. This is due to the enormous assessed valuation of taxable property in Minnesota. This is a good point to remember. In the future you will note time and again when the legislature meets, bills will propose an increase in state taxes of only a couple mills. Often proponents of these bills refer to the ease with which the money could be raised to provide funds to make a given bill operate. If it's a 2-mill deal you'll then know the measure requires approximately $4 million dollars; if one mill, $2 million, etc. It isn't an occasional mill levy that hurts, it is the disposition to repeat the process many times."

And what is true at the state level of government is also true at the local levels, the only difference being the number of dollars involved. Huge sums of tax dollars are spent foolishly in little dabs. Too often the informed opponents of wasteful spending do not object because the amount involved is so trifling.

The Real Issue

Another election is moving in on us fast and in a few days we will have the privilege of marking a cross after the names of the candidates we believe are best qualified to conduct our public business for us. And public business now is big business. A large portion of our earnings are turned over to the hired men whom we elect to office, and these hired men have a lot of discretion in determining how our tax dollars are going to be spent.

Here in Minnesota party names are not as important as they once were. We divide more as conservatives and liberals, both good words. At the extremes are radicals and reactionaries, but neither of these are numerous groups at the present time.

To some extent being a liberal or a conservative depends upon whether we are on the paying end of the tax operation or on the receiving end. Those who pay the bills generally are more concerned about how the dollars are spent. Those who are on the receiving end would be a little more inclined to look for more generous hand-outs. But another big factor in determining whether voters will be liberal or conservative will be their concern about future generations, and what the effect of liberal or conservative management is going to have on the young people who will inherit the results of good management or bad management.

As we become older we are inclined to become more conservative. It is natural for young people to embrace radical ideas. They are sure the world can be made better by just changing a few laws. As we get older we gradually realize that what the world needs most is better people rather than new laws, and that new laws are not necessarily going to make better people. Laws do not change human nature, and changing human nature is a slow process.

Another factor that influences voters is the knowledge that government at all levels is corruptible, and that politics tend to become corrupt. That is why, at fairly regular intervals, voters rebel in united run-the-rascals-out campaigns that ignore the usual voting considerations.

Taking all of the factors into consideration, we are satisfied that here in Minnesota the trend should be toward more conservative government, in our own best interests and in the best interests of those who follow us. To be conservative means to conserve what we have, passing along to the next generation, that which we inherited, along with what we have added to its value, without being mortgaged for more than it is worth.

A Good October

October was a good month in terms of weather—the best month of what old-timers are agreed has been the worst crop year they can remember. A good October has made is possible to get the ground in condition for next year's crops. After two bad years, one extremely dry and the other extremely wet, maybe we will be favored with one that has the right combination of wet and dry weather and the right temperatures. The law of averages should start working in our favor.

Maybe it's wishful thinking, but it does seem that a poor crop year does stimulate interest in livestock, which, year in and year out, is our most dependable source of farm income. And looking back, and comparing our present farming operations with what they were twenty or thirty years ago, the progress that has been made in our livestock operations is most encouraging.

Dairy herds that average more than 300 pounds of fat are no longer unusual. A lot of our grass and field crops are now marketed as beef and lambs. Turkey raising has become a mass-production operation, and while fewer farms have flocks of chickens, quality egg production seems to be on the increase.

The fourth annual Top of the Nation sale of dairy cows and calves, held recently, indicated the increased interest in production records. Buyers were not looking for show stock and pedigrees. These are always important considerations but the results of the sale indicated that dairy farmers are now thinking in terms of production, and the dairy herds of tomorrow are being built on herd testing records.

All of these are encouraging developments, which have come into clearer focus during the past month of good weather. The future is a lot more cheerful now than it was in late August.

Lessons of History

A distinguished American historian, Dr. Charles Beard, was asked if he could sum up the lessons of history in a short book. He volunteered to do it in four short sentences. Here they are:

1. Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad with power.
2. The mills of the gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly fine.
3. The bee fertilizes the flower it robs.
4. When it is dark enough, the stars can be seen.

Truman Declares War?

Good old Harry Truman came close to declaring war on Canada at the peak of the Cuban crisis because he didn't think our neighbors responded fast enough in supporting our stand against arms shipments. "We have supported them in former times and crises," he said, "and they should stand behind us today."

The gentleman from Missouri always was a likeable fellow. While he was often in error he was never in doubt. We thought he did a good job as president during the time that he finished President Roosevelt's unexpired term. During that period he had a great deal of humility. He asked for help and he received excellent cooperation.

The election went to his head however, and it was when he started throwing his weight around that he revealed his shortcomings. But we liked him nevertheless.

The Lawyers Should Know

We are glad to humor the members of the local bar by putting in a plug for two of the members of the State Supreme Court who are seeking election for another term. We are not acquainted with either of the gentlemen and of course we are not qualified to pass judgement on their qualifications for the high office they now hold. No doubt many other voters are in the same position as we.

But, in all seriousness, we are happy to be guided by the judgement of the bar in matters of this kind especially when the members of the bar are practically unanimous in their support of the incumbents. That is good enough for us and so we join cheerfully with the lawyers in urging support for Associate Justices William P. Murphy and James C. Otis.

Small Talk In Space

(New York Herald Tribune)

It is interesting to observe that among the comments offered by astronaut Walter Schirra after his successful six-orbit space whirl was the complaint that he didn't have sufficient "quiet time" during his journey. Or perhaps "complaint" is too strong a word; Comdr. Schirra was merely observing that there was a lot of chatter to and from the ground stations while he was circling the globe in his capsule.

This lack of quiet time in the heavens, as on earth, may be something worth noting. One assumes that most of the messages shot back and forth between the spaceman and those tracking his flight were necessary, but some of them probably fell into the realm of astronautical small talk—conversation exchanged just to make sure the space vehicle was still functioning properly, and the spaceman was still going strong. Even an experienced technician on earth must still get a thrill out of actually conversing with a man hurtling through the heavens in a space vehicle.

But the astronaut, apparently, has the same need for silence and repose that the rest of us do. Indeed, he may feel it even more keenly amid the splendor and the solitude of space. There, apparently, small talk seems even smaller than usual. No one yet knows what the space age will bring to mankind, but if it serves to cut down on general chatter, prattle, jawing, gabble and babble, its benefits may be even greater than we realize.

Interesting Opinions

Interested in learning what the construction company was doing with the money advanced to it, the banker told his secretary, "Go out there and find the exact number of men engaged in this project."

When the girl returned a few hours later, the executive asked her if she had gotten the information.

"Yes, sir," she said, "I checked all of the men and they're all engaged except four and they're already married." Wall Street Journal.

RE-ELECT
RICHARD FITZSIMONS
State Representative
67th District — Marshall County

A State Legislator has two main jobs to do. One to work for and vote on Legislation during the Legislative session. The second is to take care of the many requests of his constituents during the interim.

Representative Fitzsimons has done an outstanding job on both counts.

- He has compiled an excellent record of attendance and being on the job.
- He has worked hard for Legislation to stimulate the growth and development of our area.
- He has worked closely with the County Board in getting the business of our County before the Legislature taken care of quickly and well.
- He has been successful in getting much greater emphasis placed on Agriculture Research both for production and industrial use.
- He has been diligent in maintaining for Marshall County and its people our fair share of the economic growth of Minnesota.
- He has worked hard between sessions on the problems of individual citizens, school districts and villages.

The position of State Representative is an important one. We think the record shows Representative Fitzsimons has served Marshall County well.

An Open Letter To The People Of Pennington County

Dear Folks,

For the past several weeks I have been busy campaigning in your county for the position of State Senator. I have tried hard to personally contact each and every voter but this is pretty hard to do. I have met a lot of nice people and have made some new found friends. It has been most enjoyable traveling around the county and visiting with you.

I was born and raised in East Grand Forks where I live with my wife and six children. I served that community as a policeman, volunteer fireman, Municipal Judge, and City Councilman. I am an overseas Veteran of World War II and have been a railroad trainman with the Northern Pacific since 1938. In 1950 I was elected State Senator and have been reelected three times since. A man's best recommendation is his record of achievement and a constant vote of confidences by the people he has represented.

I have worked hard at trying to be a good senator for my people and I certainly welcome the opportunity of serving you folks too.

Sincerely yours,
Louis A. Murray

HONESTY is the Basic Issue

Democrats and Republicans should disagree on policy and program. Each properly support candidates that agree with their ideas. This is the backbone of the American two-party system. The voters should demand only that the candidates present their views honestly. Otherwise the voters are robbed of the ability to make an intelligent decision.

BUT WHEN A CANDIDATE OF EITHER PARTY KNOWINGLY FALSIFIES THE RECORD, AND REPEATS KNOWN LIES OVER AND OVER AGAIN, SUCH A CANDIDATE DESERVES ONLY DEFEAT AND REPUDIATION FROM THE VOTERS. No candidate, regardless of party, has the right to falsify and deceive his way into high public office.

This is the story of Elmer L. Andersen, and every statement made here will be documented so that YOU may determine the proof. We ask only that you read this to the end so that you may see the facts for yourself.

WHO IS THE BIG SPENDER?

Do you remember the last election campaign? When Elmer L. Andersen campaigned against Orville L. Freeman, whom he called the "spendingest governor?" Then Elmer L. Andersen presented to the 1961 legislature the largest budget ever presented by any governor, exceeding the Freeman budget by $49,430,000.

Do you recall the frustrations of that legislative session, and the two special sessions so that Gov. Andersen admitted that he couldn't work with the liberal-controlled House, and that the conservative-controlled Senate wouldn't work with him?

And do you remember the public disgust with it all, and the standing gag of the time: "Orville, come home, all is forgiven" as public regard for the governor fell to an all-time low when he had been in office less than six months?

DO PRESS RELEASES MAKE JOBS?

To rebuild his public image, Gov. Andersen named his press agent and former campaign manager Tom Swain to the post of Commissioner of Business Development, firing veteran Republican James W. Clark who had held that post under four governors: Thye, Youngdahl, C. Elmer Anderson, and Freeman. Clark had refused to turn his department into a publicity machine to build up the governor. Do you remember the public clamor that forced Swain to keep Clark in the department as Area Redevelopment Administrator?

Clark quit this post three weeks ago because of "disagreements" with Swain. As a loyal Republican, Clark declined to elaborate, but Mrs. Lillian Snyder, secretary to both Clark and Swain, also quit a few days later and told reporters the harrowing story of what went on.

Mrs. Snyder told of key personnel being forced to quit when they refused to approve false reports "designed only as public relation efforts to boost Gov. Andersen."

Perhaps the most glaring falsification of the record is the claim invented by Swain and used extensively by Andersen in this campaign to the effect that since Andersen took office in January 1961, employment has increased by over 250,000 jobs in Minnesota!

This would indeed be a most remarkable feat since there is a total of only slightly over one million non-farm jobs in Minnesota. For Gov. Andersen's statement to be true one of every four workers would have had to be unemployed in January 1961!

Still, Elmer Andersen keeps repeating this figure, even though the official October report of the state Department of Employment Security shows that the job increase in Minnesota from September 1960 to September 1962 was only 16,800.

CAN FAKE FIGURES BUILD ROADS?

Mass falsification of figures appear in the reports and programs of the state Highway Department where retired General James Marshall is commissioner. Marshall, incidentally, still has not moved his family to Minnesota from New York.

In the January 1962 Highway Construction Program Progress Report, there are numerous duplications, triplications, and even quadruplications of figures. The same stretch of highway is repeated many times under different titles so as to show many more miles of highway under construction than are actually being worked on.

For example in the January Progress Report, 2.9 miles of Highway 494 is listed four separate times for surfacing, fencing, lighting, and signing, but each 2.9 miles is added to the total miles under contract by the department.

Similarly in the much-heralded "accelerated" Interstate Construction Program for 1963-65 revised September 1962, there are dozens of duplications, all added to the total mileage figures. A 14.6 mile stretch of Highway 70 in Pine County is listed four times for a total of 58.4 miles of Highway District 1's total mileage of 114.8 miles. Eliminate this and other duplications and we find that Highway District 1 will actually have only 62.8 miles that will be worked on.

Each of the other highway districts has numerous duplications.

Highway District 7, which includes 13 counties of the Second Congressional District is listed for 42.7 miles of construction. Eliminate the duplications and the mileage shrinks to 25.7 miles.

Thus, by eliminating the duplications in the Andersen-Marshall program figures that supposedly show 804.4 miles to be built in 1963-65, you will find that there are only 498.5 miles that will be worked on in any shape or manner, and this does not mean completed.

Another joker in the so-called "accelerated" Interstate program is the fact, that of the $68,443,104 additional funds made available for 1963-65, Highway District 7 has been allotted exactly $8,888 total for the three years, but the state is spending $190,000 for an access road to Dayton's new Target discount store in Hopkins.

Again, in Gov. Anderson's proposed regular trunk highway program that depends on approval of a $60 million bond issue, there are more mileage duplications, all added to the totals.

Speaking of the regular trunk or ABC highways, it is interesting to note that Minnesota Good Roads, Inc. has pointed out that shifting of funds in the Highway Department to step up Interstate construction will leave a deficit in the ABC road fund of $10 million and that for the first time in history Minnesota will be unable to match federal funds unless a bond issue is floated or an additional cent and a half is added to the gasoline tax.

NO NEW TAXES—TRUTH OR FICTION?

Gov. Anderson has told Minnesota that he will propose no new taxes or tax increases.

But, at the same time he has endorsed programs calling for tax increases. The highway bond issue mentioned above is an example. The one and a half cent increase in gas taxes that will be required if the bond issue is not passed is another.

The governor has endorsed a school aid program costing an additional $130 million. He has endorsed the recommendations of the Minnesota Resources Council calling for a $20 million general obligation bond issue and additional license fees and taxes that run from the doubling of boat license fees to the adding of a surtax on drivers' licenses. This includes hikes of up to 100 per cent on hunting licenses, dark house licenses, deer licenses and state park fees.

Elmer Anderson has approved Tax Commissioner Hatfield changing assessed valuations that is cutting property taxes on public utilities, but is increasing these same taxes on other businesses and on homes. The newspapers have reported delegations from many areas going to St. Paul in recent days, protesting these assessment changes that in some areas have raised property taxes as much as 300 per cent!

Does any of this sound like no additional taxes? And until the governor reveals his budget, Minnesotans will not find out how much more in taxes they will be expected to pay.

Many other misstatements and outright falsehoods used by the governor on other subjects could be quoted in chapter and verse, but space does not permit more.

Your Local Editor Has Received Proof

Proof of most of the statements made here may be obtained from the editor of your local newspaper.

Each newspaper in the state received copies of the Minnesota Department of Employment Security, Employment Trends, October 1962; Highway Construction Program, 1962-1963 Biennium, Progress Report, January 1962; Interstate Construction Program, revised September 1962, with accompanying press releases; and Additional Regular Trunk Highway Projects report of September 30, 1962; Bulletin of Minnesota Good Roads Inc., of October 16, 1962; Natural Resources of Minnesota; 1962, report of Minnesota Natural Resources Council, October 1, 1962; Report of the Governor's Advisory Committee On School Aids and Formula, approved August 10, 1962.

It is from these officials' that the statements made here were taken. For the most part these figures were either ignored or buried in inside pages in the big Twin Cities papers. Small town editors, for the most part, just didn't have the time to dig through these lengthy reports, but they should now be able to find these facts out for themselves. So may you.

HONESTY, NOT POLITICS — THE ISSUE

At issue here is not differences in opinion on programs or policy, but the basic question of honesty in government. A candidate who will falsify facts to get elected, will be deceitful in office. The record shows overwhelmingly that Elmer L. Andersen has consistently lied to the people of Minnesota, that he has knowingly sought to deceive them on many issues.

Republicans may disagree with policies advocated by his opponent, Lt. Governor Karl Rolvaag, but no one will question Rolvaag's honesty or integrity. In fact, it may be stated that Rolvaag has been often bluntly outspoken in letting people know where he stands.

THE ISSUE IS BASIC HONESTY IN GOVERNMENT. VOTE FOR INTEGRITY ON NOVEMBER 6!

Minnesota's Future Is In YOUR Hands!

Part of Interstate Freeway 35 Now Open

Governor Elmer L. Andersen, Congressman John A. Blatnik, Chisholm, and former Governor Hjalmar Petersen head a group of federal, state and county officials joined by municipal and civic leaders n three communities at a three-stage ribbon-cutting ceremony today celebrating the opening of 13½ miles of Interstate freeway 35, the longest single section of completed Interstate highway in Minnesota.

The ceremonies begin at the Highway 48 interchange at Hinckley at 1:15 p. m. with Max Lehman, Mayor of Hinckley, presiding. The Hinckley High school band will play during the ceremony. Governor Andersen will cut the symbolic ribbon.

From Hinckley the motorcade will move northward toward Sandstone where the formalities will be repeated at the TH 61 interchange, south of the city, with Mayor H. E. Wright presiding and the Sandstone high school band providing music. Here Congressman Blatnik will cut the ribbon.

The third and last stop will be made at the junction of TH 23, west of Askov. Mayor Fred Brandes of Askov will take over with the Askov High school band playing.

Other officials participating in the ceremonies are: W. W. Fryhofer, St. Paul division engineer, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads; L. H. Miller, Duluth, district engineer, Minnesota Department of Highways; legislators, presidents of the Chambers of Commerce and state and county highway personnel.

Highway officials stated that if the weather remains favorable, an additional three-mile section of Interstate Highway 35 south of Hinckley, connecting with THs 61 and 23, will be completed in a few weeks. The total expenditures on the whole section will amount to $6,078,344, they said. The total includes the purchase of 85 parcels of land for right of way at $189,000 while grading, 16 bridges, concrete paving, fencing and fabrication and erection of signs made up the construction costs of $5,889,344.

The four-lane divided highway, which follows in part the old military or government road which carried the old Concord stagecoaches from St. Paul to Superior, Wisconsin, has a roadbed surface consisting of nine-inch thick reinforced concrete. The roadways are 24 feet wide in each direction, flanked by 10-foot wide bituminous shoulders.

Evangelist Due at Plummer and Oklee

Rev. Merlyn O. Huke to Speak November 4 to 8

The Reverend Merlyn O. Huke, of Naples, South Dakota will be guest speaker at the Immanuel Lutheran church of Plummer and Ebenezer Lutheran church of rural Oklee for a week of evangelistic services November 4-8.

Graduated from Luther Theological Seminary, he is now pastor of four rural congregations at Williston, North Dakota, where his work has been considered outstanding.

Fluent and forceful in his presentation of the Scripture, Reverend Huke has chosen for his theme, "Disciples of the Lord." Beginning with the Sunday morning service at both the Immanuel and the Ebenezer churches, he will discuss "The "What" of Discipleship." Following this on Sunday evening at the Immanuel church in Plummer will be "The "Why" of Discipleship."

Monday evening at Ebenezer, his topic will be "The Marks of Discipleship"; Tuesday evening at Immanuel, "The Challenge of Discipleship"; and Thursday evening at Immanuel, "Discipleship—Applied Christianity."

Sunday morning service will be held at 9:45 a. m. at Immanuel and 11:00 a. m. at Ebenezer. All evening services are at 8:00 p. m. Tuesday, November 6, will be youth night at Immanuel with a Luther League banquet at 6:30 p. m. for all people of the congregation. Members and friends of the congregations are invited by Reverend Grorud, pastor, to attend these services and partake in the coffee and fellowship hour following each service.

Crop Diversion Program Goes on

Marshall ASC Explains Recently Enacted Law

Farmers taking part in the Conservation Reserve program whose contracts expire the end of this year were urged not to destroy the protective cover on their land until they become acquainted with provisions of the new 1963 land use adjustment program authorized by the recently enacted Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

Conservation Reserve contracts covering 1.3 million acres of land on about 19,000 farms expire at the end of this year.

Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee, said that such farmers will have an opportunity to continue diversion of their land from production of row crops and small grains and keep it in conserving use for another year, under terms and conditions similar to those for the existing contracts.

As under the Conservation Reserve program, farmers taking part in the 1963 land use program will be required to provide a cover which will protect the land from wind and water erosion. Specific details concerning payment rates and other provisions are now available in the ASCS county office.

Longer-range aspects of the land use adjustment program are being developed and will be announced later, the chairman said.

Allotments of Durum Acreage Return to Normal

No increase in wheat acreage allotments for durum wheat will be necessary in 1963, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall Co. ASC committee, reminded growers today. The decision was made recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, following department conferences with producers and millers of durum wheat and manufacturers of semolina products. They recommend that no acreage increases such as were in effect for 1962 be made for the 1963 durum wheat crop.

This year's crop of durum—currently estimated at 67 million bushels—set a new record. Yields are expected to average at least 28.5 bushels per acre, also the highest on record, and almost double the average yield of 14.4 bushels during the past 10 years. The average yield in 1961 was only 12.3 bushels per acre.

The big 1962 durum wheat crop follows a year of extreme worldwide shortage of durum wheat, which is used for making spaghetti, macaroni, and similar products.

The 67 million bushel-production estimated for 1962 will provide adequate supplies for domestic processors of semolina products during the current marketing year, and will assure a fully adequate carryover at the beginning of the 1963-64 marketing year.

Car Safety Check Urged on Drivers

Highway Department Asks Fall Vehicle Checkup

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and can make travel safer and more pleasand for the Minnesota motorist and his family, according to the Minnesota highway department.

Fall vehicle checkups will make seasonal driving safer and will assure car owners that they will not be caught by surprise when hazardous weather and road conditions develop suddenly, an official declared. Motorists are urged to pay special attention to the condition of lighting equipment, brakes, windshield wipers, tires, tire chains, battery, heater, defroster and exhaust systems.

Postponement of repairs or replacements may hasten the day of trouble on the road, either in a vehicle becoming stalled far from a garage and as a roadside hazard to others, or prove to be a contributing factor in a severe traffic accident.

During October and November of last year, 139 persons were killed in Minnesota traffic. This included 38 pedestrians. In 19 of the fatal mishaps, vision obscurement was considered a contributing factor.

Bids Are Invited on Highway Work to Cost $5,500,000

The Minnesota highway department has sent out a call for bids on a November 16 state trunk highway letting estimated to cost $5,522,097. Several of these projects had been postponed for several weeks awaiting passage of the 1962 Federal Highway bill which provides federal aid funds for ABC highway projects. Sixteen projects have been set up in 13 counties for a variety of road improvement jobs. Chief among them are two conjoining grading and base jobs on TH 61 in Winona county covering 8.4 miles. The projects extend north from Minnesota City to .4 mile south of the north county line. None of the projects is in this section of the state.

PENNINGTON & RED LAKE COUNTIES—The 66th Legislative District

ELECT
ANDREW SKAAR
and be assured of able and qualified representation from our 66th District.

SKAAR has demonstrated by his accomplishments and achievements as a Pennington county farm leader that he is well prepared to fill this vital role.

REAPPORTIONMENT agreed upon at the last Legislative session will result in a substantial change in the make-up of the Legislature during the coming session. Rural Minnesota will be faced with a greatly reduced number of Representatives and Senators. Selection of the proper man to provide important, effective lead-ership is the duty of District voters.

ANDREW SKAAR is a student of economics and government. He will provide the type of representation needed for Pennington and Red ake counties in the years ahead as the number of voices for rural Minnesota become fewer.

HEAR - - JOHN NOBLE'S own Dramatic Story
I Was A Slave In Russia

JOHN H. NOBLE . . . BORN IN Detroit, Mich. . . trapped in Germany during World War II . . 1945 arrested by the Soviets . . . deported to the dreaded Soviet Arctic Slave camps . . . is one of the few American citizens ever to see the true and undisguised face of Communism in Russia, having survived 9½ years of brutal, satanic present day Soviet Slavery.
Mr. Noble has realized that only due to the grace of God was it possible to return to freedom and loved ones. Returning to a somewhat confused and still little concerned America, he brings back a message that should shake the "Free World" out of its complacency.

THAT'S A WONDERFUL STORY!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Yes, that's a wonderful story. Maybe he'll be president some day, or like the man in the storybook. Maybe his picture will one day be shown in an historic sketch—a flashback of the life of someone famous.

It could be you. It could be your own child, or someone you know. The young have dreams, the old have visions. But, from young dreams come realities.

The greatest reality is God. He is waiting . . . for you. He waits in your church. Relive the dreams of long ago this Sunday . . . in church we call those dreams, prayers! For prayer is often but a wish, and frequently a silent "thank you" sighed to God. You can face stern realities with stronger faith, if you have that faith renewed—often.

These Religious Messages, brought to you by the following: PUBLIC-SPIRITED CITIZENS and BUSINESSES . . THEY DESERVE YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT!

Can You Believe Elmer When He Says:
"I Accomplished Withholding??"

Withhholding tax collection plan, now a law, was a liberal authored and sponsored bill. By its adoption, the State has improved collections by $22,000,000 . . . a fact that benefits and eases the load on all taxpayers.

Over a period of 4 years, Elmer Andersen took 7 different stands this bill.

1957 — As a State Senator, Andersen voted 100% against withholding.
1959 — Mr. Andersen said, "There should be no forgiveness clause in a withholding law."
1960 — As candidate for Governor, "I am for withholding, but only with 100% forgiveness."
1961 — Mr. Andersen stated, "I am neither for nor against withholding."
1961 — Mr. Andersen stated, "I am for withholding, but only with 100% forgiveness."
1961 — Mr. Andersen stated, "I will support the Senate change only," which called for 50% forgiveness.
1961 — Mr. Andersen finally signed a bill which gave 75% forgiveness.

At no time as Governor, did Mr. Andersen make a single recommendation to the State Legislature, regarding the withholding bill.

Dear Neighbors and Friends:

I have not been able to visit many of you during this campaign, because of the lack of time and finances. It is not because I have taken your friendship for granted that I have directed most of my efforts in areas where I am not so well known.

I am proud of the wonderful support and vote you gave me in the primary election and I am hopeful you will do the same Nov. 6th.

Thank you so much,

Vocational Problems Reviewed on Thursday

State Director Tells School Board and PTA About Building Needs

S. K. Wick, state vocational school director, met with Thief River Falls school district board members and a committee representing local Parent-Teacher organizations, at the high school Thursday evening. Wick expressed his concern about the trend to a scattering of the vocational school throughout the community in rented quarters and the use of the building that had been authorized for the vocational school for high school needs.

He reviewed the history of the school, pointing up the fact that there had been little progress until suitable quarters had been provided. Since that time there has been wonderful progress, he said, but he feared for the school's future unless more satisfactory building arrangements were made.

Wick reminded his audience that the vocational school was operated at little cost to the district. State and federal aids along with tuition, cover all of the maintenance costs and also the proportionate share of building costs for out-of-the-district students. It is a very important community asset, he said, and deserves fair consideration.

Guy O. Tollerud, state director of school plant planning, explained his position in advising communities as to building needs. He stressed the fact that school operations were a joint community and state responsibility and urged that consideration be given to future needs in all school planning. He reviewed the report covering the needs of the Thief River Falls district and the thinking behind the recommendations that had been made for an expanded program.

The assistant 4-H leader asked faith in God and your fellow man, our economic system, institutions, educational system and government; courage to speak out, resist the temptation to "trade freedom for security provided by someone else" and to "become educated — not merely graduated"; and confidence in yourself and your future, listening "to that quiet inner something that allows you to continue".

Diane Haugen Pledges Vows with Ralph Jorstad

Before an altar decorated with fall mums and gladioli, Miss Diane Marie Haugen became the bride of Ralph Jorstad in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Harold R. Peterson in Trinity Lutheran Church on Saturday evening, October 20 in the presence of about 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Haugen of this city, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jorstad, also of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Walter Larson, presiding at the organ, provided traditional nuptial music, also accompanying Mrs. Everett Amundgaard, who sang, "The Song of Ruth," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white, embossed peau de soie, with full skirt, fitted bodice, rounded neckline and long sleeves which came to points over her wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was an opal pendant, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, white carnations, stephanotis, and ivy. The "something old, something new" theme was carried out.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Thomas Gustafson of this city. The bridesmaid was Miss Patricia Rustad of Minneapolis. They wore identical gowns of sapphire blue nylon taffeta in street length, fashioned with full skirts, fitted bodices, and short sleeves. They wore matching veiled hats, and long white gloves. Bouquets were of white mums, stephanotis, and orange wheat sprays.

Marcie Ann Gustafson of this city, and a niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown of light blue taffeta detailed with a full skirt. She also wore a matching veiled hat and short white gloves, and carried a basket of fall-colored flowers.

Carrying the rings was Jeffrey Wayne Haugen of Minneapolis, a nephew of the bride. He wore dark trousers with a white dinner jacket and carried a blue, heart-shaped pillow trimmed with white lace and streamers. The pillow, and the dresses worn by the bride and all of her attendants, were fashioned by the bride's mother.

Donald Jorstad of Grand Forks, N. D. attended his brother as best man, while Sherwood Orvik of this city was groomsman. Serving as ushers were Gary Gustafson and Edward Holmes, of this city. The men in the party wore white dinner jackets and dark trousers. Their boutonnieres were of blue carnations.

The bride's mother wore a beige two-piece dress with black patent accessories, while the groom's mother wore a brown two-piece dress with dark brown accessories. Their identical corsages were of yellow roses and white carnations. The three grandmothers were also presented with corsages.

The bride's parents gave a wedding reception in the couple's honor in the church parlors following the ceremony. The bridal table carried out the color theme of white and blue, and was centered by a tiered, pillared cake of cloverleaf design topped by a miniature bridal couple in a heart-shaped frame. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Laurence Lubitz and Mrs. Gil Sannes. Cutting the cake were aunts of the bride, Mrs. Corine Anderson, Plummer, and Mrs. Carl Haugen, Hibbing.

Pouring coffee were Mrs. Kenton Liden, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Richard Haugen, San Diego, Calif., sister-in-law of the bride. Serving as waitresses were Sandra Christianson and Judy Hanson, both of Minneapolis; Carolyn Cummings of this city, and Susan Lindquist of St. Hilaire. Registering guests was Mrs. Donald Jorstad, Grand Forks, N. D., a sister-in-law of the groom. Arranging the gift table were Mrs. Ralph Klockman of this city, an aunt of the groom, Mrs. James Fisher, Miss Judy Johnson and Mrs. Donald Haugen, sister-in-law of the bride.

Attending from out of town were guests from San Diego, Calif.; Minneapolis, Hibbing, Duluth, Perham, Oklee, St. Hilaire, Goodridge, and Plummer, Minn., and Grand Forks, N. D.

For going away, the bride chose a two-piece black wool walking suit with fur collar and matching hat, patent accessories, and a corsage fashioned from her bridal bouquet.

After a brief honeymoon, the couple are at home at 703 East 8th Street in this city.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school and is employed at the Falls-Starekow clinic. The groom is also a graduate of the local high school and is employed with Ihle Insurance Agency in Thief River Falls.

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. DENNIS GREEN

Cloud-light and airy, a palate-pleaser for any season and just right for any reason, is this dessert. Its possibilities are practically endless: there are infinite variations possible. You can color or flavor it any way you choose; the portions can be divided as you prepare it and colored differently to fit your particular theme. I think you'll see its virtues the very first time you try it.

The kitchen we dropped in on for this dessert is one well-known to us; we lived there for awhile. The new occupants are a young couple, the Dennis Greens, who moved into town the first part of September from an area farm. Mr. Green, who is a draftsman with Forsberg Brothers, is located within walking distance of his job. They have a huge lawn made lovely with a number of towering elms. Lawn care, added to the care of their little family, makes for much activity.

Mrs. Green likes this recipe extremely well. She sometimes splits the regular size angel-food cake and uses part of it for short cake and the rest in this dessert. The small, ready-baked oblong cake is just the right size for this. So whether you bake your own, or buy it baked, the rest is easy as anything.

ANGEL FOOD DESSERT

Line a 9x13" pan with pieces or crumbs of angel-food, using half the regular-sized cake.

Dissolve 1 pkg. lemon (or orange) Jell-o in 2 cups hot water. Let stand until it begins to set. Then beat well.

Pour a small can of crushed pineapple over ⅓ lb. miniature marshmallows.

Whip ½ pint cream until it forms stiff peaks. Fold cream into Jello and add pineapple-marshmallow mixture.

Pour over the cake in the pan. Sprinkle with coconut, also maraschino cherries if desired. Set in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Cut into squares and serve.

The Greens have two small children, Debra, 2 years, and Douglas, 4½ months. But their young family does not tie them to the house all of the time. They still take time out to swim, skate, and bowl. As for hobbies, the young mother loves to knit and sew. In fact, she sews most of her own clothing and that of the children, and has made shirts for her husband, as well.

They are members of First Lutheran Church, and Mrs. Green is with the ALCW group.

The Lonergans lived at Plummer for over 40 years and he was a mail carrier there for 38 years. He retired some eight years ago.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Christmas Season is the time of the year when all of a sudden certain Non-Jewelers go into the Watch business. These same stores do not have trained personnel that can advise you properly on the type of watch to buy nor do they have service departments equipped to service the watches they sell. Ask the clerk to shorten the band or regulate the watch. The answer "Sorry, we can't do that here." Ask him the difference between a pin lever watch and a jeweled lever watch and you can be sure he won't know the answer. Ask him the price — it's a bargain — he thinks! Yes, and soon as Christmas is over these same stores go out of the watch business.
Because of this competition of poorly made watches, the BULOVA Watch Company, the largest in the world, introduced the Caravelle Watch which is a fine jeweled lever watch for a reasonable price. $10.95 and up. This is no doubt the finest watch available for the price. PLUS, authorized Bulova dealers that maintain a service department with a licensed watchmaker to service the watches they sell.
Think twice before you waste money on a bargain watch. You wouldn't go to a foot specialist to get your teeth pulled — would you? Soo-O-O-O-O- when your in the market for a watch, why don't you see your Jeweler.

Squares Dance In A "Wild West" Setting

It was an "Extra Special" square dance evening made possible by a special guest caller for the Falls Squares and their guests Saturday November 3rd in the city Auditorium. Duluth's Jim Higgens at the mike was ably accompanied by his wife, Gen, on the banjo and Marge Werschay at the piano to complete a musical trio unusual to local square dancers.

The Wild West decorations were provided by Elva Jude, and the hall was decorated under her guidance by Ray Jude, Don Peterson and Norm Caplstran. Campfire-type coffee pot and wooden bowls were used by the serving committee, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Simon, Quentin Jones, Vern Schollin, to round out the theme.

The Falls Squares meets again on November 17th in the city Auditorium.

An after-party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Higgens, Mrs. Werschay and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gunderson, all of Duluth, was held at the Fireside Room where dancing continued.

Mr. and Mrs. Mandus Nordlund of Halma were guests at the N. P. Martinsons one day last week.

Mrs. George Biddick returned this week from a 10-day visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Biddick and family at Firbault.

CARE Opens Drive to Ease World's Hunger

The biggest CARE Food Crusade campaign opens this week as part of a year-long plan to help feed a record 26 million hungry people in 32 countries.

As their personal share in the task, midwesterners are asked to give $1 per package over the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday season toward the total of 7,500,000 packages that will be delivered overseas. The dollar packages, each bearing the name and address of the donor, will provide supplementary food for five million persons in 20 countries.

Funds for the rest will come from CARE Partnership Programs whereby local governments pay all or part of the Agency's costs of distributing farm abundance donated by the U. S. Government under the Food for Peace program.

In announcing the program, Harold Gauer, Midwest Regional Director of CARE said the typical $1 package would weigh 25 lbs. and contain mainly farm stocks: milk powder, flour, corn meal, bulgur wheat, edible oils, beans. However, he said, CARE adds items donated by private food firms or purchased to match country needs and expand the dietary usefulness of the gifts. The donor of each dollar my direct CARE to select the destination country, or he may select them himself from among: Colombia; Cyprus; Dominican Republic; Ecuador; Greece; Haiti; Iran; Hong Kong; Israel; Jordan; Korea; Macau; Mexico; Poland; Pakistan; Sierra Leone; Turkey; Vietnam; West Berlin; Yugoslavia.

Each package contribution is acknowledged by CARE and correspondence from abroad often follows. Contributions may be directed through the Midwest Regional CARE office, 125 E. Wells St., Milwaukee 2, Wisconsin.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

New books on the shelves of Carnegie Public Library include three novels. "Fail-Safe" authored by Eugene Burdick and Harvey Wheeler; "The Voices of Glory", written by Davis Grubb; and "An Answer From Limbo" by Brian Moore. These three run the emotional gamut and one, or all, will appeal to every adult card-holder whatever their literary appetite.

"Fail-Safe" is a spine-stiffening, breath-quickening story of what MIGHT happen IF an unidentified flying object is spotted on Omaha's Big Board in the war room and a routine fighter patrol is sent to investigate while atomic bombers are orders aloft to rendezvous at a "fail-safe" point to await further directions. Your blood does not begin to cool down too fast however, until the unidentified craft is found to be friendly. Mechanical failure of a signaling machine causes havoc. A false signal notifying the Commander of Group 6 to take his group past "fail-safe", causes the commander to open his orders and finds "Target: Moscow".

Attempts to recall the bomber group are futile because the Russians are testing some new electronic equipment. The fighter planes accompanying Group 6, which had turned back on signal, are instructed to reverse course, switch on afterburners, overtake and destroy the bombers. Too much speed and lead prove to be too big odds for the fighters. The bombers continue on course, unchecked. Last remaining hope is the direct line phone between Washington and Moscow. The calls pursuade Russia's Premier the planes are attacking by error. The quick changes of scene from Washington to Omaha to Moscow to New York and the desire of America to cooperate, even to the point of attempting to shoot the bombers down before they reach Moscow, make the reader grip the book in his hand as if it, too, were waiting to explode.

Twenty-eight characters, inhabitants of the Ohio town of Glory, tell their stories in "The Voices of Glory" as Marcy Cresap, a public health service nurse, goes her way aiding the weak and weary and opposing the gross and materially entrenched. The theme of the entire production is the essential difference existing between good and evil and the basic conflicts between right and wrong. "The Voices of Glory" could be the story of 29 people living in any town anywhere, but seldom are the innermost thoughts of 28 individuals put before us in such a manner. The author, the same who wrote "The Night of the Hunter," does not pull too many punches and whether or not the reader agrees with the author's rules, his thinking processes will be provoked.

Seldom does an artist frame a brassy segment of life more boldly than Brian Moore in his "An Answer From Limbo". As the reader looks at the picture he is keenly aware of the irresponsibility of two of the three main characters and what is more, is deeply saddened by it. The book's Brenden Tierney is a young Irish writer married to an American girl, a commerical artist, and they are, unfortunately, the parents of two woefully neglected children. The writer's mother, brought from Ireland to baby-sit and housework, grasps dignity and retains serenity which keeps her apart from, though she is in the midst of, the sordid existences of her son and his wayward wife. The author tells the sordid story with the ability of a great writer, engrossing the reader's mind, but never offending it, for the story of Brenden and his wife, their children and his mother is a sad story.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

Last Saturday I had the privilege of attending an Institute on International Politics at Moorhead State College. It was encouraging to see people there in large number from all over Northwest Minnesota although the majority were from the Fargo-Moorhead area.

On the many sessions and panel discussions were people from seven or eight foreign embassies who discussed problems in their respective areas. These presentations were factual, "on the spot" reports which are somewhat different from the day to day reports that you and I hear on the radio and read on the front pages. The concept that these people have is different from ours in some respects.

One of the most enlightening sessions was the three-hour session that was held on the European Common Market and the problem involved, and the effect that it will have. After hearing a broad discussion of this I am convinced that it will have a "shot in the arm" effect on the economies of the free nations, including the United States. It is encouraging to note that European nations have recognized what it takes to make the business world work as it should.

The spurt that has already taken place in Western Europe is something to behold as people are working and jobs are waiting for more people to fill them. New business growth is taking place mainly because trade barriers have been removed and the tax structure has been overhauled. Maybe as a result of it the United States will open its eyes slightly farther than they have previously. You simply cannot tax individuals and businesses out of a large portion of their risk capital and still expect to see a great deal of expansion. This is an elemental fact that too many people in this country have as yet failed to recognize.

Another phase of the Institute that was enlightening was that of Latin American Affairs. We had lunch with James Loeb, Jr., who is Ambassador to Peru and found him to be a most interesting person. Others on the schedule of the day were equally impressive. In their discussions on underdeveloped nations we found that they are very much in favor of the Alliance for Progress because they feel it is the only alternative short of revolutionary chaos in Latin America. They urged patience and understanding on the program and never to consider it a failure until we've had time to really test its ability. In hearing the sincere dedication of these people, we became much more sold on our foreign relations departments than we were before.

And, of course, there was a discussion in regard to America's position in this bi-polar or bi-power world. The generalization was that the United Sites must continue to preach the gospel of freedom but that it must be very careful not to force it down people's throats either. They must decide. It was the opinion that we must support our allies to the fullest when Communist agression presents itself. It was also felt that when dealing with under-developed nations, the U. S. must back up its words with tangible deeds which cost money.

Anderson Bros. Have Good Crop of Millet

Olaf Ness, acting manager of Valley Feed & Supply Co., Inc., Thief River Falls, reports that Anderson Brothers of rural Thief River Falls harvested a good crop of red millet this year. From a 20 acre field they harvested 44,395 pounds of cleaned seed which was marketed to the local company plant.

Noblitt Posters Illegal, District GOP Chief Clams

"It is my opinion," charged Seventh District Republican Chairman Aurel Parenteau Saturday, "That the DFL candidate for Congress in this district, or some group supporting his candidacy, is guilty of violating the corrupt practices act."

"Hundreds of large posters have mysteriously appeared everywhere in the district in his behalf, which do not bear the required information as to who prepared and paid for them," said Parenteau. "If a few appeared in isolated areas, I could believe it was a minor ovearsight and ignore it, but not when such posters appear everywhere, including the DFL candidate's home town."

Parenteau said the law is very clear on this subject, stating that all literature attempting to influence voting must bear the name and address of the author. Any group or person failing to do this is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"The reason for this law," explained Parenteau, "is to give the public a chance to know who pays for and is responsible for advertising of a political candiate."

Lawyers Tell How to Prove Date of Birth

Your birth certificate, as a legal record, provides evidence for establishing such important facts as the date of birth, the place of birth and parentage. It is therefore a fundamental document when proof is required of age, of citizenship, or of family relationship. Birth records are required for many purposes from the time a child enters school through the time application is made for pensions or social security benefits, the Minnesota State Bar association explains.

Most Minnesota born persons today can obtain a copy of their birth certificate from the clerk of the district court of the county where they were born or if born in the cities of Minneapolis, St. Paul, or Duluth, from the health officers who are local registrars in these cities. If there is no local record, you may write to the Minnesota Department of Health, Section of Vital Statistics, 350 State Office Building, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

You will be notified if the Department of Health is unable to locate your birth record, and you may then proceed to set up a delayed registration of birth if you so desire.

Delayed registrations are divided into two classes, one which contains those registrations filed between the age of six months and four years and the second class which contains those registrations filed subsequent to the fourth birthday.

Delayed registrations of birth for persons less than four years old should be made by the attending physician, if any, or otherwise, by the person having personal knowlege of the facts of birth. No further proof is required in this instance.

Delayed registrations filed subsequent to the fourth birthday, if not made and subscribed by the attending physician, should be made and subscribed by the nearest of kin, if any, or otherwise, by any person or persons having personal knowledge of the facts of birth. Such certificate should be accompanied by a supporting affidavit.

Minnesota Banks Given Farm Award

Win U.S. Honors for Support to Agriculture

The banks of Minnesota have been honored for outstanding service to agriculture by the recent presentation of the 1962 American Bankers association agricultural award.

This is the 24th year that Minnesota has received the award, presented to state bankers associations whose educational programs for better banking services and special agricultural activities have been of notable service to agriculture during the preceding year.

The special recognition of the Minnesota association and its nearly 700 member banks was announced by T. P. Axton, ABA agricultural committee chairman, Lafayette, Indiana, banker. MBA President Wayne Blackmer, Wayzata, congratulated the members of the MBA agricultural committee and Minnesota bankers on the award and their "excellent participation in a wide range of projects to bring about greater understanding and cooperation between the farm and financial communities".

Jerry J. Kigin, president of the Northwestern Bank & Trust Co., St. Cloud, was chairman of the agricultural committee which organized the 1961-62 program cited in the award. Particularly noted in the award were sponsorship of the first Agricultural Credit Conference, promoting reforestation and conservation, informing member banks on agricultural and rural development matters, sponsorship of agricultural scholarships to the University of Minnesota, and statewide support of 4-H and FFA activities.

Consumers in Study of Moisture in Hams

Which are more flavorful and tender — high moisture or low-moisture hams?

Two studies by taste panels were conducted at the University of Minnesota's Institute of Agriculture to find answers to these questions and to determine which type of ham was preferred.

High-moisture hams were chosen by some of the tasters because of their juiciness, low-moisture hams by others because of their flavor. Tenderness was not an important difference in taste choices.

The first study showed a slight preference for higher moisture hams. In this study panel members evaluated flavor, tenderness, texture and juiciness, some panel members apparently preferred moist hams with less flavor; others preferred less moist hams with more pronounced flavor. Juiciness was checked most often as a reason for preference of the high-moisture hams. Flavor was checked most often for low-moisture hams.

In the second study the panel as a whole did not prefer one type of ham over the other.

The study in hams was undertaken because of the recent controversy over the amount of added moisture that should be allowed by state or federally inspected meat processing plants. Little information is available about the acceptability of hams with and without added moisture, according to W. J. Aunan, associate professor of animal husbandry, and Mrs. Shirley T. Munson, assistant professor in charge of the food processing laboratory, University of Minnesota.

Ten pairs of hams were processed for the first study and 11 for the second. In the studies one of a pair of hams from one hog was pumped to 110 per cent and the other to 120 per cent of green weight with curing solution. Both hams were artery injected with the same curing solution, cured in the same vat and smoked at the same temperature the same length of time. The hams were cooked in pre-heated ovens at 325 degrees until internal temperatures reached 160 degrees F.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—Who has top priority for admission to VA hospitals?

A—Veterans needing hospitalization because of injuries or diseases incurred or aggravated in line of duty in active service.

Q—Do wives and children of veterans have an eligibility for VA medical care?

A—Not as such. If the wife is a veteran, she might have her own eligibility, of course. You may be thinking of the special restorative training provided certain children under VA War Orphans education assistance, but this is training rather than part of the VA medical program. Some children eligible for the War Orphans program but unable to pursue an education because of physical or mental disability may receive training such as speech and voice correction, lipreading, Braille reading and writing, and the like.

Q—How much does the VA spend annually on medical care for veterans?

A—Congress has approved an appropriation of $1,017,692,000 for that purpose for fiscal year 1963.

Big returns is what you'll get if you'll invest in a soil test. The $1 testing fee is repaid many times through increased yields and elimination of wasteful fertilizing practices. Get sampling supplies and information from your County Agent.

Five hundred farmers and conservationists attended Sandy Land Field Day in Anoka County. This summer farmers on wagon tours saw demonstrations of wind stripcropping, field shelterbelts, Christmas tree plantings, corn and soybean fertilization plots, alfalfa yield test plots, chemical weed control, livestock ponds and wildlife ponds for wetland development areas. All local state and federal agencies cooperated in making the field day possible.

The city of Canby is interested in developing a watershed, lake, and recreation camping site on Canby Creek. Two flash floods this spring with flooding damage in the city prompted this interest; County Agent David Johnson says city officials presently are checking with the local SCS concerning prospects of a watershed project to protect their city and provide recreation.

"I should have stripcropped my land a long time ago," says Walter Simon, cooperator with the Rice S&WCD. With the assistance of SCS work unit conservationist Aldis Johnson at Faribault, Simon started his strips in 1961. He completed the layout this past spring, bringing his total amount of contour stripcropping to 88 acres. He has also installed some tile and a grass waterway, and plans to construct a livestock watering pit. "Soil conservation should be a natural, common thing—not something special to think about," Simon added.

No. Central Seeks to Halt Regina Run

Cites Lack of Patronage on Line North from Minot

North Central Airlines wants to suspend its flights between Minot and Regina, Sask., director Harold G. Vavra of the North Dakota Aeronautics Commission said in Bismarck.

Vavra announced the airline has asked the civil aeronautics board in Washington for temporary suspension of the Minot-Regina service it began in May last year on a three-year certificate.

He noted CAB rules provide this type of application is decided by written briefs without public hearings, Vavra added he plans to meet soon with the Minot Chamber of Commerce Aviation committee to discuss the case.

North Central told the CAB that passenger traffic on the route does not meet the five passengers per day standard nor the seven passengers per mile requirement.

The airline, Vavra said, also stated that Pacific Western Airlines — a Canadian outfit that handles North Central's station and reservations in Regina — has announced it will discontinue Regina operations Nov. 30.

It would be too expensive to establish its own facilities in the Canadian city, North Central explained.

Congratulations are in order to every 4-H'er who received awards at the 25th annual 4-H banquet last Thursday evening. Those boys and girls that didn't receive awards should also be congratulated on the excellent work they have done in their respective projects. They have received the award that is more lasting for they have gained in their knowledge and experience.

Cider, candy and crepe paper are the usual staining culprits after the trick or treat season.

Garments that have been stained by cider, soft drinks or candy should have immediate dry cleaning first aid if the stained fabric is wool or silk. Stains containing sugar can cause what drycleaners call a carmelized sugar stain. Time and heat can make this type of stain permanent.

If the stained garment is cotton, sponge a cider stain as soon as possible with cool water. If it doesn't come out, pour boiling water through the spot. Sponge candy stains on cotton with cool water or soak in cool water for half an hour or so. If the stain is still there, work detergent into the stain and rinse thoroughly. Allow the article to dry. If a greasy stain remains, sponge with grease solvent. If a colored stain remains, use a bleach.

The dye from crepe paper is sometimes permanent, but try laundering and bleaching.

When you use a meat thermometer, be sure is doesn't touch a bone. Why? Because bones are conductors of heat. If the bulb of the meat thermometer touches a bone, you won't obtain an accurate reading of the internal temperature of the meat.

All-N.W. Conference Football Team Named

The football coaches and athletic directors of the member teams of the Northwest football conference, at a meeting held in Erskine on Wednesday night, selected the annual all-conference squad. As has been the custom over the past years, the selections were limited to seniors. The Bemidji Lumberjacks, the conference champions, placed six players on the squad; the runner-up Thief River Falls Prowlers had five players on the all-conference group; East Grand Forks gained four places on the squad; and Roseau and Crookston had one place apiece.

The conference voted to add a fifth sport, baseball, to its growing list of activities. The circuit now competes in football, cross-country, track, and golf. A home-and-home schedule will be drawn up by the league's four schools that field baseball clubs—Bemidji, Thief River Falls, Roseau, and Crookston—with a trophy being awarded to the conference champion.

Lowell Larson of Crookston was named league president, succeeding Roseau's Oscar Almquist. Bob Strand, also of Crookston, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

5 Area Hunters Bag 10 Deer On Canadian Hunt

Five area hunters legally started their deer hunting early by traveling about 400 miles from Thief River Falls to the Moosomin, Sask., Canada area a week ago. Saturday they returned from the trip with their two-each limit of 10 deer including two large bucks.

Making the trip were Klemens Gigstad, Leonard Brekke, Robert Hirst, Orville Gillespie and Robert E. Thompson. It was the first trip for the men into the rugged Saskatchewan hunting territory, and the success with which they met has already prompted them to begin laying plans for going again next year.

Pheasant Hunting Success Was Poor in Fairmont Area

Conservation department research biologist Maynard Nelson's report on opening day pheasant hunter success in the Fairmont area shows that this year the average number of pheasants bagged was 1.29 per hunter compared with 1.27 in 1961 and 1.39 in 1960.

A survey made on the day before the season indicated that only about one-third of the corn was picked. Last year it was estimated that 64 per cent of the corn was picked by the time the season opened.

Nelson reported that hunting pressure was down to less than one-half of what it was on the opening four years ago. There were very few hunters present from out of town.

Preliminary examination of the data indicated a very good age ratio of about 10 young pheasants to one adult pheasant.

Youths Earn Huge Sum Hoeing Beets

Over 1,200 Teenagers Earned Almost $45,000

Over 1200 Minnesota teenagers, 797 boys and 407 girls, earned almost $45,000 hoeing sugar beets the past summer, according to a report released by the Minnesota department of employment security. Commissioner Frank T. Starkey said that the 36 crews of teenagers organized through local employment service offices more than doubled the dollar value of beet weeding and thinning work done for state growers in 1961. Last year, 468 youths earned over $20,000.

This year the youth crews worked for a total of 53 beet growers in the following employment office areas: Albert Lea, Austin, Crookston, Fairmont, Hopkins, Marshall, Montevideo, Moorhead, New Ulm, and Willmar. The 15 to 20 youths in each crew were supervised by housewives, or by mature college students and teachers on summer vacation, who acted as "foremen" for the growers in the fields.

Cooperating in organizing the youth work program were officials and fieldmen of the American Crystal Sugar Company, school officials, local businessmen and civic groups, and local citizens who act as community representatives of the employment service.

GI Bill Revision Aids Reservists

Those Called for Berlin Crisis to Be Benefited

Reservists who were called to active duty during the Berlin crisis have been granted additional time to complete their education and rehabilitation training under a bill recently signed into law by President Kennedy.

The extension amounts to equal time for services rendered, according to John R. Parrish, director Fargo VA Center.

Reservists who were called to active duty under executive order before August 1, 1962, and those whose enlistments were extended, benefit under this liberalization of the original Korean GI Bill.

Parrish said similar extensions of deadlines for training under the war orphans educational assistance act are also granted to orphans whose programs of education are interrupted due to certain conditions beyond their control.

This is designed to aid orphans who (a) because of personal illness or sickness in the immediate family suffer financial hardship or (b) who are working and are obliged to temporarily suspend their studies because certain demands of their job force them to drop out of training.

More information about these GI Bill amendments can be obtained by contacting the VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

A Sports Bargain

Today, Monday, a group of Prowler lettermen will begin a canvass of the city to promote the sale of season tickets for the Prowlers' winter sports, basketball, hockey, and wrestling.

These tickets, and they are transferrable, are a bargain at $7.50 apiece for they will entitle the bearer to admittance to twenty-five Prowler home athletic contests. This breaks down to a price of thirty cents per game, and that's about half the usual admission fee.

Give the boys a friendly welcome when they make their visit. And remember that if, on a certain date, you cannot attend the game or program, the ticket may be used by a family member or friend.

Strong Arguments

That the Twins' hard-working righthander Camilo Pasqual will be able to marshal strong arguments for an increase in pay when he meets with the front-office at contract time is indicated by the statistics released by the American league.

The 28-year old Twins' hurler led the league in complete games pitched with eighteen; led the circuit in strikeouts with 206; tied with teammate Jim Kaat and Cleveland's Dick Donovan in shutouts with five; tied for second, with Chicago's Ray Herbert and Donovan, in the games-won department with twenty victories; and in addition he was quite a threat at the plate.

And it must be recalled that Pasqual compiled this record in spite of missing several turns during mid-season when he ran into some arm trouble.

Babe to Mankato State

Received a news release from Mankato State college stating that Dr. Harold Woodrow (Babe) Paulsen has been appointed to the college faculty as an associate professor of health and physical education.

Babe, of course, is well-known in this area for, following his graduation from Minnesota in 1941 where he was a star on the Gopher hockey teams, was a coach at Roseau and Thief River Falls high schools.

Babe was mentor of the hockey Prowlers here during the 1946-47 and 1947-48 seasons, and then was engaged as hockey coach of the Michigan State Spartans, where he remained for eight years. In 1956 he joined the faculty at Slippery Rock State college in Pennsylvania, and remained there until this fall when he came to Mankato State.

During his days here as high school hockey coach, Babe was a member of the senior hockey Thieves. And the sturdy blond was undoubtedly the finest right-winger that the local club ever had, and it was an exciting moment when Babe, with his crouching style, would come in on the goalie for a goal-getting effort. The Thieves had a potent scoring combination in those days with Paulsen at right wing and Bill Zippel at center.

There may be personal reasons for the Paulsens return to Minnesota and the Mankato area for Mrs. Paulsen, the former Clara Epp, is from Mountain Lake. She is the sister of Ruben and Henry Epp, both of whom were star basketball players for Mountain Lake. Ruben was an all-state tournament selection in 1933, and Henry was an all-conference performer while at Mankato State college.

Of Football Interest

I received a letter from a reader, and included with the epistle was a Dick Gordon item on Dunne Blaska, the quarterback of Gophers. The item was a write-up of the popular Minnesota quarterback and it told of his football career at Anoka where the John Blaska family, Dunne's folks, live.

The letter-writer goes on to state that there was a Blaska family living near St. Hilaire in the 1920's, and that this family, the Henry Blaskas, are the grandparents of the Gopher quarterback

And this is perhaps true for there are some of us who can recall attending high school here with Marie and Margaret Blaska in the mid-1920's. The Blaska family moved to Anoka in 1925 or 1926. Marie and Margaret would now of course, be the aunts of the Gopher quarterback.

Mixed Trends Noted by U.S. Reserve Bank

District economic indicators revealed a mixed trend during September and October. More figures, however, were recorded on the strong side to continue an upward trend somewhat stronger than the national rate, the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis reported in the current Monthly Review.

The farm income rise which usually accompanies the grain and livestock marketing of this time of year, has been markedly greater than a year ago over large areas of the district. Higher prices received for livestock and livestock products, and this year's near record crop output have resulted in the rise. Lower grain prices which prevailed throughout the district, have been more than offset by higher prices for other products.

Mid-October evidence pointed to the beginning of a volume rise in district retail sales, as the first two weeks of the month showed department store sales in the Twin Cities and Duluth-Superior up 2 per cent from a year ago. The bank reported new car registration in the Twin Cities metropolitan area down in September. In comparison with a year earlier, due mainly to the limited supply of some 1962 models before the introduction of the 1963 line.

Retail store executives in most district areas are optimistic about the current outlook. Some retail chains, with outlets largely in this region, had record sales in September and anticipated a high volume during the entire fourth quarter. The farm income improvement and larger payrolls in manufacturing centers are given credit for the autumn rise in sales.

U. S. department store sales during September were up 6 per cent from a year ago, up 2 per cent from August and equal to the high reached last March. Total retail sales, seasonally adjusted, declined 1 per cent in September, reflecting a further decrease of durable goods stores, particularly in the sales of new cars temporarily in short supply.

District nonfarm employment from the first of the year through October rose slightly more than seasonally, and the number of workers receiving unemployment insurance declined during September, to 41 per cent below the total a year ago.

The bank noted an exception, in the iron ore mining regions, to the moderate expansion in economic activity. Contrary to the usual trend, employment and payrolls began to decline in August. The tonnage in August was down 11 per cent and in September, 18 per cent, compared with 1961 shipments. However, the tonnage shipped during the current season at the end of September was still 10 per cent above last year.

The outlook now is for an early closing of the Great Lakes shipping season. Evidence that orders for steel are not rising as fast as anticipated have scaled down projects to prepare ore bodies for mining in 1963. Consequently, employment and payrolls in the iron mining regions may reach a relatively low level in the months ahead.

District adjusted personal income for September was up slightly, 0.4 per cent, from the previous months. The rise was entirely in the farm sector. For the first time in eight months, U. S. personal income did not rise in September, the bank concluded.

Unsafe Driver Is Redefined by AAA

Declares Poor Driver Impedes Traffic Flow

A new look at the typical 'unsafe driver' has been taken by a Columbia University Safety Research project being financed by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety.

"Our studies explode the picture of the bad driver which has come to be accepted as a stereotype—the reckless speedster, careening down the wrong side of the road," said Dr. James Malfetti, executive officer of the project. "There are such drivers and they are bad drivers, but their actions do not represent the bulk of the bad driving which we must correct if we are to reduce traffic accidents"

Dr. Malfetti added that the "poor driver characteristically acts to impede traffic flow—blocking or driving slowly in the passing lane; changing speed and position without signalling; failing to permit another driver to enter the traffic stream.

"Interestingly enough," he said, "the slow driver, particularly the one who blocks the passing lane, is more of an irritant and hazard than the driver who exceeds the posted speed limit. The man who drives too fast for conditions, however, regardless of the posted speed limit, is roughly condemned—while slow 'turtle' drivers are rarely charged with a violation."

Turkey Plentiful During November

Oranges and Apples Also Reported in Good Supply

Plan your menus around the variety of foods on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentifuls for November and you will have both tasty and nutritious meals.

Turkey and cranberries — popular Thanksgiving team — head the list of abundant foods. Because turkeys are in such large supply, you won't have to limit the family's enjoyment of turkey to the Thanksgiving feast, says Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota. The turkey crop is down only 6 per cent from the high level of a year ago.

Supplies of fresh cranberries are at a record high — about 13 per cent above last year and 30 per cent above average.

Other abundant foods this month are broiler-fryers, frozen orange juice, apples, grapes, pears, potatoes, Maine sardines and vegetable shortening.

Broiler-fryers will provide both delicious and economical eating during November. About 10 per cent more of these tender young birds are expected to come to market this year than a year ago.

Frozen orange juice will continue to be a good buy because of large stocks. Serve it for breakfast to give family members the vitamin C they need each day, but use it also blended with mayonnaise as a tangy topping for a fresh fruit salad.

Donald Lerud Has Painting in Show in Minneapolis

Paintings of two University of North Dakota faculty members and two graduate students are among those being displayed at the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis during the 1962 Biennial of Painting and Sculpture which began in October and continues through Nov. 25. Among the artists is Donald Lerud, Thief River Falls, graduate student in art, showing his painting, "Eternal Red."

From nearly 1,700 works received from Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin, Judges selected 178 works by 139 artists for the display.

The biggest increase in the state's bonded indebtedness in recent years occurred in 1950, when $78,000,000 in bonds were issued. The second largest increase was in 1960, when bond issues totaled $45,000.

"I do solemnly bind myself in the sight of God that when I shall be called to give my voice touching any such matter of this state in which freemen are to deal, I will give my vote and suffrage as I shall judge in my own conscience may best conduce and tend to the public weal of the body, without respect of persons, or favor of any man."

—Oath of a Free Man, 1639

Vote Tuesday

The right to vote is a very important privilege of citizenship in a nation of self-governing people. It is also a very great responsibility. The kind of government we get generally is what we deserve, because of the way the majority voted. Sensible government is the result of sensible voting. Competent management of our public affairs can be obtained only by placing competent men in positions of responsibility.

Ours is a Republican form of government, which means that our business of government is managed by representatives of the people, rather than by the direct action of the people themselves. To those whom we choose to represent us in the legislature, and in congress, we delegate broad powers. We give them the right to speak for us on many questions. We give them a blank check and the right to spend our dollars.

Select them carefully with this in mind.

Vote Tuesday. Vote as you, in your best judgement, believe will be in the best interest of our community, the state and the nation, and the generations that follow us. But vote.

The Amendments

Three proposed amendments to the state Constitution will be submitted to the voters and proposed amendments always deserve careful consideration. The Constitution is our basic law. Our state constitution was adopted under circumstances that were not conducive to constructive thinking, the founders of our state government being more concerned with political considerations than with statesmanship. Those were hectic times and their approach to the problems of government are understandable.

Nevertheless the products of two opposing conventions were finally combined into a fairly sensible package. The main points were borrowed from our national Constitution and the constitutions of other states. Most of the defects and shortcomings have been eliminated or corrected over the period of a hundred years of experience. In its present form it is a very acceptable document.

The three proposed amendments that will be submitted in tomorrow's election have considerable merit. We have expressed our views on them and explained why we will vote "no" on each of them. They have defects that justify further consideration, as we view the problems, and a two-year delay will do no harm according to our best judgement.

The amendment that is getting most support is No. 2, which would remove the limit on state debt. The present limit is ridiculously low and must be increased. But it should not be removed entirely and that is the basis for our opposition.

A two-year delay in getting this amendment properly amended would not do irreparable injury to any good program. Some construction would have to be delayed, but based on our observation on how these building programs are handled, and the hysteria of need with which they are always presented, we are satisfied that a two-year cooling-off period probably would be in the best interests of all groups. We are sure such a wait would be in the best interests of the taxpayers.

The Real Danger

Our guess is that the expenditures by and in behalf of the Kennedy machine in the present election would hit an all-time high in campaign spending if honest and accurate reports were made. Most of this money no doubt has come from top-level contributors to increase top-level control of the national government, and to strengthen the control of state governments.

The Kennedy machine is laying the foundations for its empire in the control of big-city politics. That is where the future voting strength of the nation will be. Or rather, that is where it already is. And that is where politics is most corrupt, and most easily corrupted.

One small segment of the opposition to the Kennedy machine has made an effort to point out the real dangers that lie ahead of us. Most of the opposition has been stupidly unaware of the nature of the real issues in the background of American politics today, or if aware, afraid to raise its voice against what is wrong merely because for the time being it is popular.

The real issue in Tuesday's election is the Kennedy machine which seeks first to strengthen its control over Congress. In its own interests it would move us in the direction of a one-party nation and, eventually, one-man government. The control of state governments is a secondary but equally important objective of the empire builders.

The so-called liberals who are leading us down the path to lost liberties are corrupting the masses by irresponsible spending and borrowing. They are buying votes, not with their own money, but with the taxpayers' money through the abuses of public credit. This trend is pointed up effectively by Congressman Clarence Cannon, Missouri Democrat, who recently stated:

> "This year, we took more taxes from the people than ever before in time of war or peace—and still went deeper into debt.
> "This year, (Federal) budget expenditures were higher than ever before, in war or peace, with the single exception of one year in World War II, and we are on the verge of passing even that high peak.
> "This year, we added another year to the long string of years of living beyond national revenues—in 26 of the last 32 years we haven't balanced the budget. Not even in times of unprecedented national prosperity have we been willing to pay as we go along. We have yet to demonstrate any determination to do so."

During this period of national deterioration as a responsible, self-governing people, the minority party has not been impressive. There have been a few outstanding Republicans, as there have been a few outstanding Democrats, who have sensed the dangers. But too many of our Republican leaders have gone along with whatever appears to be popular, regardless of whether it measures up to reasonable standards of sound prac*tice, and have given support rather than* opposition to the merry dance down the primrose path to economic ruin.

And so the real issues in this election are not based on the qualification of candidates as party members, but rather as to whether they think as "liberals" or as "conservatives."

There is considerable truth in the observation that all things are good in moderation, but that even good things can be bad in excess. And it should be obvious even to liberals, to those liberals who recognize the extremes that lead to socialism and communism; that we already have had too large a dose of liberalism for the health of our own economy.

The need today is for a more conservative approach and a return to sound practices in the management of our public affairs. And in a rural area such as ours, there should be an increasing awareness of the growing danger of our government being controlled by a national political machine that holds power by virtue of its control over big-city bosses.

The record of history tells us that few governments, of the people, for the people and by the people, have survived over as long a period of time as has ours. There are instances of popular government having been ended by invading forces. There are slave states in Europe today. But in most instances where self-governing peoples have lost their freedom, they have been conquered, first by corruption, and then by the hero who became a tyrant. This is one of the most important lessons that history has taught us.

Biggest Farm Landlord

Senator John Williams of Delaware raised an interesting question in the recent Congressional session in regard to the surplus of farm products. Referring to the high cost of inducing farmers to reduce acreage of crops that were already in surplus, he pointed out that the largest owner of agricultural and grazing land in the United States is none other than the federal government itself.

Last year, according to Senator Williams, the government leased 4,800,000 acres to farmers at an average rental of less than $3 per acre, and most of this acreage was used to produce more unneeded crops. He concluded that simply by letting its own acres lie fallow the government could have made the largest single contribution to the worthy objective of agricultural production control.

The farmers who rented these lands wouldn't like the arrangement of course. There always is that other side of the problem.

Northmen Together

(Manchester Guardian)

Calling Scotland "the English Norway," as someone did the other day, may seem at first like addressing letters "Edinburgh, Scotland, England." Yet it is a common enough saying that as highlanders who are also seamen the Norwegians are the Scots of Scandinavia. So why not call the Scots at any rate the British Norwegians? What is beyond doubt is the aptness of letting King Olav conduct his present state visit entirely in Scotland. The two countries have been bound up with one another, first bloodily and then peacefully, for most of their history.

There is something almost astonishing about the cordiality that now governs relations between Norway and this country as a whole. It is certainly rare for neighbors to differ so little; even the contentious matter of defining territorial waters has failed in recent years to cloud what seems a natural harmony. Again it seems natural that Norway should come into the Common Market if we do. The notion, canvassed within the Six, that we should be admitted but Norway and Denmark kept out would be hard to swallow.

Interesting Opinions

"The thing above all that a teacher should endeavor to produce in his pupils, if democracy is to survive, is the kind of tolerance that springs from an endeavor to understand those who are different from ourselves."

Courage is Safety

Many years ago when Colonel Snelling was Commandant of Fort Snelling he concluded a detachment order by saying "having embarked on this venture, courage is safety." This is the key to our national situation in the present Cuban international crisis.

I came away from my visit with President Kennedy last Saturday, which followed briefings by top people of Central Intelligence, Department of Defense, Civil Defense and State Department, with the feeling that we were far safer making it clear to Russia we would not permit missile bases in Cuba than we would have been to let the Cuban military build-up continue. Many wanted action earlier.

Starting last July, Russia became involved in a rapid build-up of military capability in Cuba. This was at first photographically apparent only in surface to air anti-aircraft missile bases which now ring Cuba and cover every air approach. Although there were many refugee reports the first hard evidence of attack missile bases, we were told, was from pictures taken shortly before the President acted. Then it became evident that Russia had installed medium range ballistic missile bases for 1,000 mile range missiles, that these were operational with missiles on launching pads. Furthermore, 2,200 mile intermediate range missile bases were under construction with missiles, fuel, and nuclear war heads on hand. In addition MIG-21 fighters, with bombing capability were in Cuba with other weapons of aggression.

This all means, that even with the blockade the President initiated working effectively we would not be protected for there was already in Cuba all that would be needed to launch a very destructive nuclear attack against us. This was why it was necessary to insist on the dismantling and removal of missile bases already installed.

There can be a sense of relief from Russia's announced willingness to dismantle and remove the Cuban bases but only cautious optimism for we are dealing with a ruthless foe and the situation has been eased but by no means resolved.

The Governor's Conference Civil Defense Committee of which Governor Rockefeller is chairman and I a member, adopted a number of resolutions at the Washington conference, including those I suggested, of speeding up marking and stocking public fallout shelters. This is not only to provide for survival but also to strengthen the administration in carrying out a firm foreign policy. These Civil Defense programs are being carried out in Minnesota.

Support Amendment Two

One never knows what emergency could develop. Without the authority the legislature would have from Amendment 2, we could have a serious emergency requiring public funds and not be able to issue Certificates of Indebtedness to provide for it. I urge you to vote for Amendment No. 2 so important building programs can go forward and also for this additional reason that your Governor and Legislature have the needed authority to act in case of emergency.

Be Sure to Vote

Tuesday, November 6th is election day. May I urge that you let nothing interfere with your using your share of decision making in this great free nation of ours. Your most precious citizenship privilege is to go into the polling booth and in complete secrecy express your personal conviction on candidates and issues. Indifference suggests weakness; show your strength November 6th by voting and reminding your friends and neighbors to vote.

An Open Letter To The People Of Pennington County

Dear Folks;

For the past several weeks I have been busy campaigning in your county for the position of State Senator. I have tried hard to personally contact each and every voter but this is pretty hard to do. I have met a lot of nice people and have made some new found friends. It has been most enjoyable traveling around the county and visiting with you.

I was born and raised in East Grand Forks where I live with my wife and six children. I served that community as a policeman, volunteer fireman, Municipal Judge, and City Councilman. I am an overseas Veteran of World War II and have been a railroad trainman with the Northern Pacific since 1938. In 1950 I was elected State Senator and have been reelected three times since. A man's best recommendation is his record of achievement and a constant vote of confidences by the people he has represented.

I have worked hard at trying to be a good senator for my people and I certainly welcome the opportunity of serving you folks too.

Sincerely yours,
Louis A. Murray

ELECTION TIME IS HERE AGAIN, the time of year when everyone who has at least a nodding acquaintance with politics has an interest in the outcome of voting. Before another word is said, let me add my encouragement to all persons in the area to cast their ballots for the candidates of their choice. Voting is a privilege which Americans should not take lightly — and an obligation which everyone should make every effort to meet.

A year ago I predicted city election results and hit 100 per cent in the accuracy. In the general election the situation is much different since the area is much larger and the turnout of voters is entirely unpredictable. For the sake of the record, I am again going to inch my way out on a limb with predictions of election results. This will be a personal opinion with an impersonal view in regard to candidates and issues.

Without the benefit of a crystal ball, I foresee several upsets in the political scramble in the area. There are several races where the flip of a coin before the ballots are tabulated would give as good a guess as a calculated estimate. Match your guess against mine—it's just as good.

On the county ballot, only two races are in prospect. Donald L. Olson, incumbent county commissioner from the second district, should be easily reelected with a near 2 to 1 edge over challenger Harry R. Lund. The county attorney campaign is not being waged extensively, but my guess is that Curtis L. Charlson will unseat L. W. Rulien in a close contest.

A real struggle has developed in the race for representative in the state legislature. The spot is wide open with the retirement of Rep. Ben Wichterman of Plummer. I foresee a narrow victory for Andrew Skaar over Stanley Radniecki for the vacated house seat. Skaar is a tireless and vigorous campaigner who has gained considerable ground during the past two weeks.

From here I am predicting that Sen. Louis Murray from East Grand Forks is in his final phase as a state politician. Harveydale Maruska of Angus, a fluent speaker with four years of experience as a state legislator, has carried his campaign throughout the district and has outlined a platform which is above reproach. The only snag which could catch Maruska's progressive march would be an overwhelming vote for Murray in Red Lake county where he was best supported in the primary.

For representative in Congress, Odin Langen will be elected for his third term. His opponent, Dr. Harding Noblitt of Moorhead, has conducted his campaign by attacking Langen's voting record to such an extent he has left little time for forming a constructive program. I can't see Seventh District voters tossing away two terms of seniority and a sincere candidate such as Langen in preference to a political science professor who is conducting an object lesson for his students.

In state-wide races only one prediction will be made. Gov. Elmer L. Andersen will be elected to the first four-year term as a Governor of Minnesota, his second term in that office. Andersen unseated Orville Freeman, now Secretary of Agriculture, two years ago in a hard-fought campaign. His first term has not been easy, he has made mistakes, but as a statesman is far superior to his opponent—former Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag.

These are my narrow-minded, short-sighted, prejudiced and unfounded predictions. Results in next Monday's RHYME & REASON column.

Supplied to me last week was this statement from the essay of a 12-year-old who was assigned to write about adults: "Adults don't do anything exciting. They just sit and talk and talk and don't join in games or do a thing. There is nothing duller in the world than adultry."

Note to Political Candidates: As the campaign draws near to a close and you are caught up in the turmoil of last minute details, your memory is likely to fail. Try to stick closer to the truth—that way it's easier to remember what you said the last time.

OH, DEER — DEAR ME!

Along with the others in orange or red
This writer will take to the woods
In quest of a deer with a big trophy head
And a vow to come back with the goods.

And, like many others I too will return
With scratches and frost-bitten nose,
Two sore feet, no deer meat, and cheeks that will burn
With a color the same as my clothes.

How Good is Your Family at Figures?

If you have a normal family, they're probably quite good at simple arithmetic. So, try this test. Ask all of them to sit down and estimate how much it will cost to have, say, an operation to remove your appendix. Now, take that amount and subtract it from your savings (or, if you don't have a large savings account, figure how long it will take you to earn that amount). Proves a point, doesn't it? You bet it does—it shows conclusively that you must have hospital and surgical insurance in these days of high medical expenses.
We'd like to give you the whole story about the Inter-State Assurance hospital and surgical expense insurance plans. We are sure you'll discover that it's the best investment your family can make.

. . . Challenge of Change

Education Week Schedule Of Events Begins Monday

New demands being made on American education by the dynamic, rapidly changing world around us form the basis for the American Education Week theme of "Education Meets the Challenge of Change", according to George Stockman, director of elementary education and chairman of the local AEW committee. The annual observance will be held nationally and locally November 11-17.

Several activities have been arranged to bring the story of education before the public during the special week, Stockman said. These include tours of the schools during special visitation periods, "Living window" displays for actual classroom work in the downtown area and other displays in local business places.

Beginning on Sunday, November 11, a daily series of radio programs will be carried on station KTRF. Based on the week's theme, the respective programs will be given by the following people on the following subjects: "Our American Heritage", M. R. Hankerson, supt. of schools; "A Modern Curriculum", Francis Hamerlinck, junior high school principal; "Effective Teaching", Virgil Burger, teacher; "School-Community Partnership", Joe Holter, Chamber of Commerce president; "Lifelong Learning", Dr. A E. Jacobson, former state school board member; "International Understanding", Robert Gaarder, teacher; and "A Look Ahead", Richard Edlund, senior high school principal.

Special Displays

Elementary art displays will be erected in the lobbies of Northern and Union State Banks for the duration of the AEW campaign. Displays of new curriculum material will be arranged in all local elementary schools.

A full schedule of "Living window" displays will be published in the Monday edition of the Times. The novel method of public classrooms visitation through bringing actual classes to the downtown area is expected to draw a great deal of attention.

School Visitation

Parent visitation of classes in the elementary schools will take place on Tuesday afternoon, November 13. At Lincoln junior and senior high school, parents of students will meet with the faculty while following schedules assigned to their children. This visitation will take place on Wednesday beginning at 7:30 p. m.

To permit the public to become better acquainted with the vocational—technical—school,—classes will be dismissed early on Wednesday and pupils will return for classes at 7 to 9 p. m. at which time the visitation will be held.

Airline Boarding Problem Viewed by C of C Board

Discussion of several items of business, including the problem of meeting the quota of boardings on North Central Airlines, took place when the Chamber of Commerce board of directors met Tuesday noon at the Rex Cafe.

A letter from Frank Buttomer, vice president in charge of traffic and sales of North Central Airlines, was read to the group. It called attention to the 12-month period ending June 30, 1962, when local boardings averaged 4.55 passengers per day. Minimum quota is five passengers per day.

The letter noted that the Civil Aeronautics Board is not conducting an investigation nor is North Central threatening to remove service from Thief River Falls. It did strongly urge local promotion to get boardings up to at least the minimum, however, and outlined several methods by which this could be accomplished.

In its discussion of the letter, the board of directors stated that a definite attempt should be made to encourage use of the airline whenever possible so that the local service could be continued without the ever-present possibility that it could be discontinues.

New Film Available

It was also noted that the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce Executives had succeeded in getting several industrial firms to underwrite the expense of a movie entitled "More Jobs for Minnesota". Eight copies of the film have been made and Thief River Falls has been selected as the site for area distribution.

Roland Larson, executive secretary of the local C of C., will attend a premiere showing of the

Pennington County Has 6 Bldgs. as Public Shelters

Marshall and Red Lake Among Counties Listed Without Suitable Areas

Pennington county has six buildings suitable for public fallout shelters with a total of 687 markable spaces, according to information released by the technical ... branch of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in St. Paul. Throughout the state there are 2,053 buildings and special facilities capable of sheltering 1,384,660 people.

The total is 40.6 of the state population — very close to the expected national average. The greater portion of the total is in the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area where 1,140 facilities can provide protection to 1,023,414 people — about 67 per cent of the resident population of the Twin Cities.

Included in the 13 counties with no facilities which meet Civil Defense standards are Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Red Lake and Roseau. Only if a building can provide adequate protection for 50 or more people can it be designated and publicly marked as a fallout shelter area by federal authorities. The counties, however, do have shelter areas with a lesser protection factor that will be ultimately marked and included in the local shelter planning.

County Board Accepts Span at St. Hilaire

Numerous Items of Business Handled at Session Tuesday

The Pennington county board transacted a considerable amount of business at its November session Tuesday, which also was Election Day. The board voted to reduce the sinking fund levy for 1962 by $10,000 in the expectation of receiving that amount from earnings of the Thief River Falls municipal liquor dispensary. This will reduce the levy to a total of $9,171.

Action was taken to accept from the contractor the new bridge across the Red Lake river north of St. Hilaire, which is now in use.

The board was informed of benefits available to the county under the accelerated public works bill recently enacted by Congress, which makes available funds to aid in financing brushing and repair of ditches and similar work. A resolution was adopted indicating the intention of this county to participate, and H. G. Halvorson of the Soil Conservation Service was named as liaison agent.

At the request of the Marshall county board, the board also adopted a resolution opposing the giving to the state conservation department of jurrisdiction over tax-forefeited lands, and asking that the county boards be given charge.

The board was advised that, due to his status as a federal employe, P. W. Culkins was ineligible to serve on the recently appointed Area Redevelopment Agency committee. Lloyd Johnson was appointed to replace him, and J. H. Winjum Sr. was named acting chairman of the committee.

The Pennington county forfeited tax sale was scheduled for Friday, December 14, and County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr stated that no agricultural lands are included in this year's sale.

It was voted to open bids December 4 on a new motor grader, with a present unit to be turned in on the deal.

Action also was taken to extend from this month until next spring the time limit for completion by Roy Benson of the contract for grading and widening State Aid Road No. 3 near the west border of the county, unfavorable weather having prevented earlier completion of the work.

Governor's Race Is Still in Doubt

Minnesotans may have to wait several weeks before knowing who the state will have as Governor for the next four years. The closest gubernatorial race in the state's history is now in its final throes but the result will almost certainly not be accepted by the apparent loser.

The race between incumbent Elmer L. Andersen, Republican, and his DFL opponent, Lt Governor Karl Rolvaag, has attracted nationwide attention because of its uncertain nature. Early returns gave Rolvaag a large lead which was erased by southern Minnesota Republican majorities. Gov. Andersen appeared to be pulling away but late returns cut his margin to several hundred votes.

United Press International reported at 7:48 a. m. today that 3,776 of 3,785 precincts had reported and that Andersen leads Rolvaag with a vote of 619,134 to 618,613. Another wire service gave Rolvaag a slight edge, stating that seven precincts in the state remained to report.

When contacted by UPI about 9 p.m. Wednesday, Rolvaag's office claimed to have received returns from county DFL chairmen in all counties and a margin of victory on complete returns by a total of 11 votes. About one and one-third million ballots were cast in the race for Governor.

No matter which candidate emerges on top in the initial count the other is almost certain to contest the election. There has been no official action, pending final returns, other than a request sent by Rolvaag last night that statutes providing for a visual guard of

Skaar, Maruska Win State Seats, Langen Has Edge

Election time 1962 proved to be a turbulent period of upsets and surprises in Pennington county, the 66th Legislative District and throughout the state. Minnesota provided the nation with one of the most outstanding cliff-hangers in the see-saw battle between Governor Elmer L. Andersen and Lt. Governor Karl Rolvaag for the first four-year term as Governor of the state.

In the 66th Legislative District comprised of Pennington, Polk and Red Lake counties, Sen. Louis Murray of East Grand Forks, a 12-year veteran of the state senate, was upset by Harveydale Maruska of Angus. Maruska, who had served two terms in the state house of representatives, polled 9,422 votes to 8,378 for Murray, with 130 of 138 precincts reporting. Tuesday night's snow storm severed telephone connections with some polling places being unable to report.

Pennington county gave Maruska a margin of 2,363 to 1,604 while Red Lake county favored Murray by a vote of 1,204 to 889. With 83 of 89 precincts reporting in Polk county, Maruska polled 6,170 to 5,570 for Murray to hold the comfortable lead.

In the race for state representative, Andrew Skaar of rural Thief River Falls piled up a good margin in Pennington county to offset a loss in Red Lake county to Stanley Radniecki of rural Oklee. Skaar totaled 3,128 votes to 2,741 for Radniecki, a plurality of 387 votes. Pennington county gave Skaar 2,321 to 1,707 for his opponent while Red Lake County compiled 934 votes for Radniecki to 807 for Skaar.

In the only county-wide race which was on the Pennington ballot, Curtis L. Charlson edged incumbent L. W. Rulien as county attorney by a scant margin of 84 votes. Charlson polled 2,029 votes to 1,945 for Rulien. Donald L. Olson, incumbent county commissioner in the Second District, defeated Harry R. Lund by a vote of 597 to 301.

Winter Wonderland Weather . . .

Heavy Snowfall Hits Times Area Tuesday

LANDSCAPE in the Thief River Falls area took on a bleached appearance following Tuesday night's three-inch snowfall. While motorists were getting stuck in the soggy white stuff and pedestrians were battling covered walks and slippery footing, Mother Nature settled back to a resigned position of appreciating the season's beauty. This photo was taken at the Elks park just west of the Third street bridge where the heavy snow had drifted into evergreen shrubbery.

Slanting to earth in ever-increasing intensity, the season's first real snowfall in this area created mass confusion Tuesday. Winds recorded up to 45 miles per hour whipped the soggy flakes into drifts up to two feet in depth although the official snowfall was recorded at only three inches. Some parts of eastern Pennington and Marshall counties reported up to 10 inches of snow.

With the snow being wet and heavy, much of it accumulated on area roads and highways, making travel hazardous and difficult. Temperatures dipped to 26 degrees during the night, resulting in slippery conditions on city streets and area highways. The snow stopped some late voters from going to the polls and delayed election reports in the area.

Minnesota highway patrol reported three personal injury accidents — one each in the Thief River Falls, Warren and Crookston areas — and numerous incidents involving cars slipping off the highways into ditches. City police also had several accidents resulting from slippery streets as motorists apparently had trouble adjusting to the winter season.

Hits Here at 4 p. m.

The storm hit Thief River Falls shortly after 4 p. m. and had reached near blizzard conditions by about 6 p. m. Visibility was reduced to about half a mile at the height of the storm, with highway patrol attempting to restrict highway travel Tuesday night. All roads were reported to be open, however, with traffic moving slowly Wednesday morning.

City street crews began the first snow removal work of the season Wednesday morning and the county's six road maintenance machines were at work Wednesday, clearing rural roads of snow with grader blades. In many rural areas the force of the wind kept roads completely clear of snow but sheltered areas caused heavy accumulations. The storm stretched north into Canada, south to Perham and east to Walker, the highway patrol reported.

Accident Reported

Albert McCullough of rural Thief River Falls is receiving treatment at Northwestern Hospital in this city for chest injuries received in the rural mishap late Tuesday afternoon He is reported in serious condition. His son Jake, a passenger in the car, was treated for minor injuries and released.

The McCullough car was traveling south on highway 59 about five miles north of the city and meeting a semi-trailer truck driven by Ernest Hanson of Floodwood when the mishap occurred. The truck was skidding on the highway and the trailer whipped across the highway, hitting the left front side of the car. The truck went into the ditch with the trailer coming to rest on the road and the car was also knocked into the ditch and totally demolished.

City Mishaps

Several accidents in the city resulting from the storm on Tuesday were as follows:

At about 4:17 p. m., Gregory

The basic purpose of American Education Week, it was pointed out, is to make every American aware of the important role education plays in democracy.

It was also brought out that alertness is essential on everyone's part. Most auxiliary members bought a copy of J. Edgar Hoover's book, "Masters of Deceit".

PUBLIC NOTICE

Christmas Season is the time of the year when all of a sudden certain Non-Jewelers go into the Watch business. These same stores do not have trained personnel that can advise you properly on the type of watch to buy nor do they have service departments equipped to service the watches they sell. Ask the clerk to shorten the band or regulate the watch. The answer "Sorry, we can't do that here." Ask him the difference between a pin lever watch and a jeweled lever watch and you can be sure he won't know the answer. Ask him the price — it's a bargain — he thinks! Yes, and soon as Christmas is over these same stores go out of the watch business.

Because of this competition of poorly made watches, the BULOVA Watch Company, the largest in the world, introduced the Caravelle Watch which is a fine jeweled lever watch for a reasonable price. $10.95 and up. This is no doubt the finest watch available for the price. PLUS, authorized Bulova dealers that maintain a service department with a licensed watchmaker to service the watches they sell.

Think twice before you waste money on a bargain watch. You wouldn't go to a foot specialist to get your teeth pulled — would you? Soo-O-O-O-O. when your in the market for a watch, why don't you see your Jeweler.

Body of Duluth Man Recovered In Red Lake River

Hubert Spehart Drowned When Duck Boat Swept Over Rock Dam Saturday

Three days of searching the Red Lake river for the body of a Duluth man resulted in recovery of the body about 9 a. m. Tuesday. An extensive search had been conducted since the drowning occurred about 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

Hubert Spehart Jr., 32, drowned while he and his brother were duck hunting on the river near the rock dam located about eight miles east of the Pennington county line in Clearwater county. He was married and the father of five children.

Mel Brustad, Clearwater county sheriff, told the Times that Hubert and his brother Robert had unsuccessfully attempted to land their boat on the rocks when their motor failed and the current swept them over the dam. Robert gained the safety of shore and then tried to rescue his brother but was unable to do so because of the strong current.

Sheriff Brustad reported that the Red Lake outlet dam was closed at his request and the river drained about three feet by the time the body was recovered Tuesday morning. Discovery of the body was made by an Indian watching from the shore as he spotted the man's white "T" shirt on the river bottom about half a mile below the dam. Four members of the St. Louis county search and rescue unit assisted in the search and skin divers were on hand but not needed.

County Vote Light

Pennington county's vote was light with weather and the lack of local contests combining to result in only 4,153 ballots being cast. In 1960, a presidential year, the total was 5,940 while in 1958 the total cast was 5,006.

A E. Jorgenson, county treasurer, polled the largest number of votes among unopposed county office candidates with a total of 3,756. Other county offices, candidates and vote totals were as follows:

Public Opinion

To Whom It May Concern:

This is concerning an incident that happened to our five small children on Halloween. They had been out in the neighborhood "tricks or treating" and were in our block on their way home. All of a sudden three boys, quite a bit older than ours, came from behind a large bush and grabbed the candy sacks from three of the small children and ran away with them.

I don't know if this happened any where else, I certainly hope not. With all the activities that were planned for the evening for the older ones, I don't know why they had to do what they did. It certainly spoiled the Halloween fun for the little ones.

The candy itself is not important, but I'm sure everyone will agree that it was a low, mean trick to play on small children.

Mrs. John Drury

Dear Editor:

Veterans Day — November 11— in a very real sense, should be of great significance to all Americans. This day has been so designated by the Congress of the United States in honor of the millions of our sons and daughters who joined the ranks of our armed forces in defense of our liberty and our precious freedoms.

Hundreds of thousands of gallant Americans have made the supreme sacrifice that the American heritage might be preserved. Other countless thousands bear the marks of combat incurred while meeting the highest obligation of their citizenship. There can be no measure of gratitude which is due them — both the dead and the living — from this nation. Today, we are the world's greatest nation — the one and only hope of all men who wish to be free — because of the loyalty and sacrifice of those we honor on Veterans Day.

As we pause from our day-to-day routine to observe this significant holiday, let us think of how we, as Americans, can prove to our veterans — both the dead and the living — that their sacrifices of the past have not been in vain. How can this be done? Simply by being Americans, true Americans — Americans who are alert — Americans who are not afraid to face the challenges of today — Americans who understand the gravity of the world situation and who are not only willing and able, but also eager to do their part in this great worldwide struggle.

Today, as never before in the history of our country, we must show the world that we are a nation united in the cause of liberty and justice, the preservation of the dignity of the individual, and world peace with honor. As lofty as these goals may be, nevertheless, they are in constant peril through the threatened aggression by a diametrically opposite philosophy — a godless ideology which seeks to dominate the world.

As we observe this Veterans Day 1962 let us be firm in our resolve to be more attentive to our obligations and responsibilities as American citizens; let our every thought, word and deed be a reflection of our unity of purpose. Let this Veterans Day be meaningful to each of us — a symbol of an united America, which will never succumb in the face of the attacks of those godless hordes which would consume us.

Sincerely,
John M. Elsbrener, Comdr.

Book Week Will Be Observed in Thief River Falls

Friends of the Library To Make Window Displays for Event Nov. 11 to 17

National Book Week, an annual observance calling attention to the services offered by libraries and the fun and education to be gained by reading, will be observed in Thief River Falls November 11-17. Most of the activities are being planned by the Friends of the Library organization, a volunteer group assisting with the promotion of Carnegie Public Library in this city.

Two Thief River Falls families will be featured in the Times during National Book Week. The Clarence Isaacson and Victor Franson famvilies will be pictured as they utilize the facilities offered by the local library — a custom they have followed for some time.

Library displays dealing with three phases of activity will be arranged by Mrs. Marshall Hankerson and Mrs. Dale Folger. Themes for the displays will be "Space", "Nutcracker Suite" and "Animal Fair". Story hours will also be scheduled for all elementary children in Thief River Falls.

Three downtown store windows will feature National Book Week. A window featuring Dr. Seus books arranged by Mrs. Fred Sorensen and Mrs. James Disse; First Federal Savings and Loan window will be arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Taylor and Mrs. Bernie Brandon along a fairy tale theme; and the Fashion Shop window will feature a science display erected by Mrs. Douglas Stewart and Mrs. Lowell Swenson.

Education Week Observance Will Start on Monday

Nursing and aircraft mechanics classes will not be in session but instructors will be in their departments to meet the public and answer questions in regard to their programs.

Faculty members of the city's schools will be special guests Saturday evening at a Veteran's Day dinner to be held in the American Legion club rooms. The American Legion is one of the sponsors of American Education Week throughout the nation.

Mayor Orin Green has issued a proclamation designating November 11-17 as American Education Week in the city. The proclamation notes that "the American system of free public education is a most vital force in equipping this nation's children and youth to meet the many challenges of the future" and "the nation's schools and the schools of this state and community are essential to preserving the American way of life".

Thank You
I wish to express my sincere appreciation to those who supported me in the recent election.

Entries Expected To Top Record In Sewing Contest

Make It Yourself With Wool Event To Be Held in T.R.F. November 24

Current indications are that entries in the annual Make It Yourself with Wool contest to be held in Thief River Falls on Saturday, November 24, will be greater than the 104 entries received last year, according to Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, District I director. The 1961 contest total was a record in the five-year history of the contest.

Sixty-nine entries have been received to date and include 14 in the sub-deb group, 43 in the junior group, five in the senior group and seven in the adult classification. Total entries prior to 1961 included 13 in 1957, 65 in 1958, 88 in 1959 and 67 in 1960.

Marshall county leads the list of entries this year with 20 while East Polk county is second with 13. Pennington county to date has three entries with a number of high school students expected to participate.

"We will plan our public program for 2 p. m. on Saturday, Nov. 24, in the city auditorium," Mrs. Peterson said. "JoAnn Odegaard, Gonvick, is planning to tell some of her experiences on her Hawaiian trip." Miss Odegaard won the trip to Hawaii last year by winning district, state and natoinal titles in the Make It Yourself with Wool contest, senior division.

Election Results In Area Counties Are Interesting

Cheney Defeats Omdahl For Marshall Auditor; Kittson Has New Sheriff

Election races in neighboring counties for the Tuesday balloting also resulted in interesting figures. Turnout of voters varied considerably but was generally light due to the adverse weather conditions in the late afternoon and early evening.

In marshall county, Charles Cheney defeated Richard Omdahl in the race for county auditor with a vote of 2,838 to 2,346. He will succeed veteran auditor Levi G. Johnson who was edged out by Omdahl in the county primary. Incumbent sheriff Oscar Erickson swamped Oliver Canty of Middle River 4,248 to 1,067 in the sheriff's race. William Lindberg of Warren received 742 votes for county commissioner from the first district to 668 for Emil Zutz of Radium.

Kittson county voters apparently elected a new sheriff with Trygve Ingebrightsen, Karlstad, polling 683 votes to 1,222 for incumbent Alfred Kile as 29 of 35 precincts had reported. Odin Langen of Kennedy was given 1,522 votes to 1,352 for Harding Noblitt of Moorhead in the 7th District Congressional race with six precincts remaining to report.

In the 65th district, comprised of Clearwater, Norman and Mahnomen counties, Sen. Norman Larson of Ada appeared to be reelected over Kenneth O. Johnstad. In the 65th District comprised of Clearwater and Mahnomen counties, L. J. Lee had the edge over Mervin Milsten for State Representative by a narrow margin.

In Clearwater county, Bill Balik defeated D. B. "Pike" Jones for county commissioner by a vote of 568 to 531 and Chevalier unseated veteran Harry Branigan on the county board 252 to 245. Incumbent C. R. Hanson squeezed out a 11 vote margin over Norman Hendrickson.

Red Lake county results are included in the Times main general election story today.

Over 700 Enjoyed Concert Tuesday

Choirs from Four Schools Sing in High School Gym

More than 700 area music lovers assembled in the Lincoln gymnasium Tuesday evening to enjoy the annual fall festival presented by 350 vocalists serving in choirs at high school in Crookston, East Grand Forks, Warren and Thief River Falls.

Also participating in the concert were the Lincoln band directed by John K. Moum, and the orchestra under the direction of James Solsten. Bryant Ulseth directed the Lincoln vocalists in several well-rendered numbers.

Climaxing the program were selections by the massed choirs led by Carl O. Thompson, head of the music department of Bemidji State college.

The fall festival is rotated among the four participating schools, and will next be staged in Thief River Falls in 1965.

Company officials explained that in addition to hearing about Group Health Mutual's progress during the first half of this year, delegates to the district and annual meetings will be elected. Children Thrive on Compassion In March of Dimes Arthritis Fight

"We study the child, not the laboratory report."

When Dr. Jane Borges, director of the March of Dimes-financed Arthritis Special Treatment Center at the Home for Crippled Children in Pittsburgh, Pa., says this, she isn't trying to put the laboratories out of business.

But she is trying—and succeeding—in putting children stricken with rheumatoid arthritis back in the important business of leading nearly normal lives.

Juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, which afflicts 30,000 youngsters in the United States, is a cruel disease which comes and goes like a thief in the night. Seemingly healthy children suddenly contract high fever, swollen and aching joints, rash, anemia, and severe involvement of body organs. Many suffer deformities of the limbs. Total or partial disability often occurs.

Despite continuing research, neither the cause of juvenile rheumatoid arthritis nor the reason for its unpredictable cycle of recurrence is yet known.

Prevent Side-Effects

What Dr. Borges and a growing number of experts in the treatment of rheumatic diseases do believe they know is how to prevent much of the permanent physical, mental and social scarring which have been agonizing by-products of this disease for so long a time.

Rejecting old theories of prolonged bed rest and virtual isolation, these innovators have introduced the rheumatoid arthritis child to programs of intensive therapy and close contact with children of the same age group. They encourage regular school attendance.

At the same time, education of the family in all aspects of the illness is begun early by the physician with diligent follow-up by the social worker.

Successful Results

In most cases, successful results have been achieved.

At the March of Dimes-supported center in Pittsburgh, for example, Dr. Borges last September admitted a 12-year-old girl who could not move her shoulders, elbows, or arms. She contracted rheumatoid arthritis at age six and had been in and out of hospitals since that time. When she was at home, she was rarely taken outside and saw other children only infrequently. She was painfully shy, took little interest in her studies.

Today, nearly a year later, this same girl is still confined to a wheel chair. She must attend many of her classes at the Home's branch of the Pittsburgh school system while in traction. Other complications persist.

However, daily baths in the Hubbard tank, used so successfully by polio victims, and twice-daily physical therapy have restored the use of her arms and hands. Occupational therapy—she is just now finishing a throw rug—has restored movement to her once-frozen shoulders. The challenge of competition with her schoolmates has transformed her into an excellent student.

Child in Pain

In another case, a six-year-old girl, after four years of operations and assorted treatment, was unable to adjust to school and playmates because of intermittent pain and the childhood awareness that she was the only child with a brace.

Placed among children with similar problems, she was exposed to the physical and social therapies of Dr. Borges' program. She went back home six months later "a different child . . . obedient . . . getting along happily with brothers, sisters and playmates," according to a grateful mother.

Dr. Borges, a trim, vibrant woman, views her work at the March of Dimes-financed center and its results this way:

"The laboratory reports on these children, after we have worked with them for a time, are still the same. The disease is still there.

Dr. Jane Borges and young arthritis patient exchange "girl talk" during physical examination.

"But the individual is not the same person we saw in the beginning.

"By also treating the emotional and environmental problems associated with juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, not just the physical ones, we are often able to change attitudes of despair to ones of cheerfulness and hope."

A prominent Canadian physician and specialist in juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, Dr. William M. Gibson, recently described the ideal treatment setting as "an area where personnel acquainted with the problem of arthritis in children are present every time the patient is seen."

Arthritis Special Treatment Centers, supported by local chapters of The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds, are already providing this service in Pittsburgh through Dr. Borges, and through her colleagues in many other American cities.

Additional centers are planned—centers of hope where parents can read the future in their children's faces, not in the laboratory reports.

Response Good by Employers In United Fund Drive

Employer response to the United Fund appeal has been termed "terrific" by Richard Bjorkman, campaign chairman of the Pennington County United Fund. "Work by the employers in soliciting from their employees in their own business places has met with tremendous success," he stated.

Employee response to the appeal, according to early indications, is also encouraging, Bjorkman said. He again urged use of the payroll deduction plan in contributing a "fair share" to the combined fund and reminded solicitors and employers to complete their canvassing as soon as possible. If total returns follow the pattern of early donations, the county goal of $17,619 can be easily met.

Veterans Day to Be Noted Monday

Dr. Jacobson to Speak at High School Program

With Veterans Day falling this year on Sunday, the occasion will be observed Monday in Thief River Falls. The local American Legion and VFW posts will jointly sponsor a program at 10 a. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium for the student body.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson will deliver a short address in keeping with the occasion, and Envoy Carl Paulson of the Salvation Army will offer the invocation. The colors will be advanced by the veterans' groups.

Veterans Day being a national holiday, the local postoffice will remain closed Monday, Postmaster R. J. Dryden stated. The court house and city offices, as well as local stores, will, however, be open for business as usual.

Wool Promotion Agreement Signed

Deductions to Be Made from Payments in 1963

A new 4-year agreement between the American Sheep Producers Council and the department of agriculture has been signed, according to word received at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office. The agreement follows final tabulation of the recent referendum in which producers approved continuation of deductions from wool incentive payments for use in promoting wool and lamb.

Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee said today that final results in the September referendum differed little from the preliminary results announced early in October. The final tabulation showed that the agreement was favored by producers owning 17,516,075 sheep (91 per cent), and by 86,829 (87.6 per cent) of the producers voting. For approval, it was required that producers who owned at least two-thirds of the sheep represented in the referendum cast a favorable vote, with consideration to be given also to the individual vote of producers.

Under terms of the agreement, deductions will be made from payments next summer for the 1962 marketing year (April 1, 1962 through March 31, 1963) at the rate of 1 cent per pound of shorn wool marketed and 5 cents per hundred pounds of liveweight of unshorn lambs marketed. Deductions for the following three years may not exceed the rates provided for in the 1962 marketing year.

State Heart Assn. Holds Workshop

Workshop for key Heart Fund volunteers concluded Saturday, November 3rd, at the Kahler Hotel, Rochester. The two-day conference covered a variety of topics essential to efficient operation of the 1963 independent Heart Fund campaign.

Highlight of the meeting was the banquet address, delivered by Robert Parker, M. D., past president of the Minnesota Heart association.

"The association," he emphasized, "has always been identified with a strong and constructive research support program and its professional education programs have been well recognized; hence more attention now needs to be given to the accomplishments of its programs of research support, community service and professional education."

Falls Building Improvement Has Bacteria Tester

To test water for coliform bacteria, a Sabro portable laboratory, has been received by Falls Building Improvement in Thief River Falls. The unit uses a method approved by the state board of health to determine whether or not water being used for human consumption is contaminated.

Arnie Christensen, owner of the company, has stated that bacteria tests will be provided free of charge to persons applying for water tests in the next two weeks. After that period a testing fee will be charged. The laboratory was brought to Thief River Falls this week by Phillip Sanders of the Water Refining Company distribution center in Crookston.

Plummer Eleven Made Fine Season's Record

That coach Howard Emerson's Plummer Cardinals well earned the Tri-County conference football title they won this season is revealed by the statistics prepared by the Plummer athletic staff. The Cardinals, posting a record of seven wins and no losses in conference play, and a seven wins and one loss in over-all competition (the lone loss was a 12-6 defeat by East Grand Forks Sacred Heart), scored a total 226 points.

On defense the Plummer club gave up but 60 points, and registered three shutouts. One of their finest defensive efforts was in the Oklee Bob Cats vs. Cardinals tilt, and in which the Plummer team limited Oklee to but six points while scoring thirty-three points. This was the Oklee club that had one of the league's most explosive runners in their lineup in Alan Fore. The Cardinals were able to contain the Bob Cat sprinter.

In the individual records, the Cardinals, on offense, were sparked by the 1,124 yards picked up by junior Marv Walter in 87 carries. This averages out at 13 yards per play. Walter led the Plummer team in scoring with eighteen touchdowns and eleven conversion points. Gary Martell gained 568 yards in 71 running plays; Russ Vigstol had 392 yards in 85 plays; and Dennis Wilkens, in 21 plays, gained 250 yards.

In total offense, Plummer had a total of 2,381 yards in 273 running plays, and added 392 yards on 23 pass completions in 58 attempts. Gary Martell proved to be the sharpest marksman of the Cardinals' passers, having thirteen completions, for 255 yards, in twenty-six tries. Walter had a better completion average, getting six completions in eight attempts, but his aggregate yardage was only 99 yards.

Martell proved to be a "triple threat" man for coach Emerson's club as the senior back, in addition to rushing for an 8 yards per-carry average in 71 plays, being second in the scoring column, and doing the bulk of the passing, punted nine times for an average of 38 yards.

All-Conference Team Named in Pine-Prairie

The conference champion Fertile Falcons, posting a record of seven wins and no losses, monopolized the honors in the selection of the Pine-to-Prairie all-conference squad, gaining four berths. The runner-up Mahnomen Braves placed two players on the all-star squad, while Ada, Warren, Red Lake Falls, Bagley, and Twin Valley placed one player each.

The all-star squad, limited to eleven players — seven lineman and four backfielders — is composed of ten seniors and one junior. The linemen named were Don Mosher, Paul Sannes, and Keith Gilbertson of Fertile; Bob Abraham of Bagley; Louis Kappes of Ada; Dan Snobl of Mahnomen; and Dean Peterson of Warren. And the backfield posts were gained by Rod Olson of Fertile; Mike Liebl of Mahnomen; Don Hanson of Red Lake Falls; and Gary Dunbar of Twin Valley. The lone junior on the squad is Snobl of Mahnomen. And repeaters from last season's all-conference team are Mosher of Fertile and Liebl of Mahnomen.

Twenty-eight other gridders were given honorable mention. Linemen: Steve Kotts, Warren; Fred Skarrud, Monroe Anker, Clinton Chamberlin, and Jim Jensen, Twin Valley; Louis Proulx and Gordy Olson, Red Lake Falls; David Swanson, Jim Wheeler of tile; Jon Lee, Bagley; Lowell Fosston; Charles Erickson, Fer-Johnson, Ada; and Matt Frantesl, Mahnomen.

It's Not a Hazard

On Monday, Nov. 12, coaches Al Shaff and Dale Folger will call the roll of the Prowler wrestling candidates for the 1962-63 season. Coach Shaff will tutor the varsity grapplers, and will assist with the 'B' squad, while coach Folger will direct the 'B' squad and have charge of the junior high wrestlers.

Some parents have expressed concern with the weight reduction program that is utilized, especially in the varsity competition. Coach Shaff thoroughly explained the weight control program that is used, and emphasized that this program is closely supervised and controlled, and with the recommendation of the wrestler's doctor.

According to Shaff, "With some seniors, juniors, and a few sophomores, we do set weight limits at which we feel these individuals can wrestle at the best. It is then at the option of the wrestler and his parents whether or not he should make this weight. In a number of instances this weight is greater than the boy's actual weight. We do make some recommendations on diet, but this is only in some cases, and never is it a strict diet."

And, adds the Prowler coach, "A doctor must weigh the boys, and he sets the minimum weight at which each boy can wrestle."

So you see that the weight control program is closely supervised, and always with the well-being of the wrestler in mind. And never is the fact forgotten that these boys are in their "growth" stage.

In the junior high school wrestling program, weight control is not enforced, nor is a diet of major importance. In fact, the coaches are interested in the gaining in weight, and strength, of these youngsters.

Special Mention

Entitled to a special mention, and a separate paragraph, is the 274 score that was bowled by Walt Larson last week. Walt, in a session of open bowling with Stan Larson and Ed Leyden, racked up nine consecutive strikes, and then, in the tenth frame, got seven pins for his 274. And Walt was using a "house" ball when he bowled this big game. He has placed an order for a new ball.

Some Rumbles

There are some rumbles of dissatisfaction with the eligibility rules that are in effect in the Western Intercollegiate Hockey conference. And the root of this discontent is in the number of Canadian-bred hockey players who are on the campuses of Denver University and North Dakota University, with the contention being made that these schools have tendered numerous scholarships to Canadian junior hockey players.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey league, is reported to have made the statement that there are about one hundred former Canadian Junior A players, and that these players, in their junior hockey careers, had been on a salary.

Trade Winds

The deer-hunting parties are being organized, sighting-in sessions are being held, grocery lists are being drawn up, and hunting strategy is being planned, and all this because the 1962 deer season opens on Saturday morning.

And the stories that are being circulated are numerous. As an indication that the major league baseball teams aren't the only groups making trade talk I'll report that Arnie Engelstad of the Engelstad - Erickson deer - hunting party has made overtures to the Skomedal-Rupprecht party, offering to trade Roger Krats for Al Christofferson. Al, you know, is one of the best chefs in the deer-hunting camps and he has kept the Skomedal-Rupprecht party well-fed for many years. Al closely approaches the finesse of Carl Kretzschmar of the Wennberg-Erickson party, and Carl, of course, is a professional. The Skomedal-Rupprecht aren't considering the Engelstad on a straight out pound-for-pound basis, and the Engelstad's will have to toss in a couple of extra boys, such as Herbie Peterson and Joey Poole.

But it's all in fun. And it is reported, too, that Pete Klungness, of the Rupprecht group, has issued a challenge to the Engelstads for a touch-football game. Such a game would be worth an admission fee.

Those "booms" that were heard in the St. Hilaire area on Sunday weren't caused by planes breaking the sonic barrier. It was only Lloyd (Sam) Samuelson "shooting in" his 7mm magnum rifle. The shells cost about two bits apiece, so Sam took only three shots, but those three shots produced much flame and noise. It's not a rabbit gun.

Despite American fondness for apple pie, raw apples are still a favorite. Delicious apples are the top favorite of the American public for eating raw. McIntosh and Winesap apples, good both for eating raw and for cooking, rank next in favor, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Drivers Are Urged to Improve Record of '61

Even a school child knows that "30 days has November", but there's also another bit of factual information about the month of November that is especially addressed to motorists, according to word today from the Minnesota highway department.

Traffic deaths on Minnesota's streets and highways in November, 1961, totaled 62, according to the department, to average a little more than two fatalities per day.

November is a good month, with golden sunsets, exciting weekend gridiron games, pleasant evenings in the warmth of homes and family reunions on the Thanksgiving holiday. But these happy events are overshadowed by the sombre specter of Death for those relatives and friends who must mourn the loss of loved ones killed in a traffic accident, the department observed.

Every motorist in the state should express his "thanks" for the privilege of driving by obeying traffic laws. When laws are obeyed, traffic accident tolls go down and, in turn, the joyous spirit of the holiday is retained.

Longer hours of darkness make it imperative that both pedestrians and motorists take extra care in traffic, said a highway official, allowing room to side-step unexpected danger that may suddenly dart from shadows.

Also, both pedestrian and driver should keep in mind the fact that adverse weather conditions of the season make for slippery pavements and subsequently make it twice as difficult for pedestrians to dodge erratic motor traffic, or for drivers to stop suddenly with safety. Each citizen must act as his own "lifeguard" in traffic, the department advised, if the holiday period is to be kept free of tragedy.

Right-of-way Job at Crookston Let

A total of $519,076 in apparent low bids was offered on eight projects at the October 26 letting held at the central office of the Minnesota Highway department. The projects are located in Anoka, Hennepin, Polk and Ramsey counties. The Polk county job is on Highway 2 and includes demolition or removal of buildings from the right of way of TH 2 in Crookston from Main st. to University av. Jericho, Inc., St. Paul, $1,275, lower of two bids. Work is to begin November 12 and be completed by December 15.

Watershed Job in Kittson & Roseau Counties Gets OK

$193,300 Federal Grant Allotted to $555,200 Project on Two Rivers

Approval of federal assistance for carrying out the north branch of Two Rivers watershed project in Kittson and Roseau counties was announced Monday by Congressman Odin Langen.

The project to be carried out in five years is designed to provide watershed protection and flood prevention in the 234,223 acre watershed. It is a local undertaking, with federal assistance under the provisions of the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act, Langen said.

Project sponsors are the Kittson and Roseau county soil and water conservation districts, Kittson and Roseau county boards of commissioners, and the village of Lancaster.

Federal participation for carrying out the locally developed plan was approved by Herbert A Flueck, state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

In addition to the conservation-land treatment measures necessary to protect and improve the land and water resources of the watershed, the project includes about twelve miles of channel improvement, two stabilization structures, and one wildlife structure, Langen said. The total cost of the project is estimated at $555,200, of which the federal contribution will be about $193,300; local interests will provide about $361,900, including land, easements, and right-of-way, and will operate and maintain the project when it is completed. The project will return $1.44 in direct benefits for every dollar of project cost, he added. Federal assistance will be provided by the Soil Conservation Service.

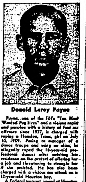
WANTED BY THE FBI



Donald Leroy Payne

Payne, one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" and a vicious rapist and parolee with a history of foul sex offenses since 1937, is charged with raping a Houston, Texas, girl on July 10, 1959. Posing as manager of a dance troupe and using an alias, he allegedly raped the 18-year-old professional dancer after entering her residence on the pretext of offering her a job and threatening to strangle her if she resisted. He has also been charged with a vicious sex attack on a 12-year-old Houston boy.

A Federal warrant, issued at Houston on September 2, 1959, charges Payne with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for rape. His prior convictions include jail break and rape and sex perversion on women and children.

A white American, born on July 19, 1918, at Haskell, Oklahoma, he is 5'10" tall, weighs approximately 140 pounds, has a slender build, ruddy complexion, and brown, receding hair. He has worked as a newspaper solicitor, fry cook, farm hand, laundry worker, machinist, salesman, and tailor.

Payne, once described by a judge as a dangerous man who "would not hesitate to kill," has a large scar on his right index finger, a scar on his forehead and a hernia scar. He bears a birthmark on his right elbow and a tattoo of two hearts, a wreath and the word "Christine" on his right forearm.

Consider extremely dangerous. Please immediately notify the nearest FBI office of any information concerning his whereabouts.

350 Members of State Groups and 225 Youth Delegates at Session

Cooperatives will become an increasingly important part of the state's business picture — if they adjust quickly and effectively to the needs of our changing times.

This was the dominant theme of last week's annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives and the Statewide Cooperative Conference for Youth, held jointly in Minneapolis.

Some 350 representatives of local co-ops throughout the state, plus more than 225 youth delegates, attended the meetings. They heard dozens of speakers outline the challenges and opportunities which Minnesota co-ops face.

These were the highlights of the meetings: A panel discussion by three University of Minnesota staffers on "The Changing Minnesota Scene"; main banquet address by Warren Wiggins, associate director of the Peace Corps; a talk by Bryon G. Allen, assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture and former Minnesota commissioner of agriculture; adoption of resolutions on current state and national issues.

The three University panelists were Sherwood O. Berg, head, agricultural economics; Marguerite C. Burk, consumption economist; George Donohue, extension sociologist.

"In general," Berg said, "fewer people on farms, fewer farms, larger farms, and increasing cash expenses in operating farms will be the order of the day for the next 10 years.

We Must Have Weather

Now that the political war is over for the time being we can all sit back and enjoy a period of comparative calm following the bombast of charges and counter charges that bored us no end during the campaign. After listening to one of the so-called debates conducted by a pair of candidates for what we ordinarily think of as a high office, we shut off the talking machine in disgust. The two candidates had convinced us that neither of them was qualified to turn out a creditable performance if elected.

We have wondered at times if the principal shortcoming of most campaigners isn't a lack of a sense of humor. We get the impression that most of them take themselves much too seriously.

About the only thing that makes our system of electing men to public office tolerable is the fact that we can't think of a better way to do it. Sometimes we think we could raise the average of competence by filling more vacancies by appointment. We think that way until we look over some of the appointees.

But it is with politics as it is with weather. Weather it's cold or weather it's hot, we must have weather, weather or not. So let's make the most of it.

Happy Days Again

With election out and over we can start preparing for some other seasonal dates and activities. Next week is ushered in by Armistice Day which at one time had real significance for a large number of our people. For years it was observed in commemoration of the end of the war that was fought to end wars. Maybe an effort should be made to perpetuate the memory of Armistice Day in a spirit of hope.

The following week brings Thanksgiving, an event that has its roots in early American history, and a reminder that even under most discouraging conditions stout hearts generally can find much for which to be sincerely thankful.

In other words we are getting near the end of another year, moving into a season that in many respects, under normal conditions, is the most pleasant of the year. The coming week should bring a coat of ice to the river above the dam. This may be delayed by the heavy flow of water. Skates are now being sharpened however. And there must be a covering of snow for the deer season.

All of these things will help us to forget a long and generally uninformative political campaign.

India Now Knows

India has discovered that neutrality is not an effective barrier against Communist attack. Prime Minister Nehru is discovering that military weakness invites attack by militant Communist neighbors.

Nehru has relied on the friendship of Russia for protection against Red China. Now he knows that when the chips are down Red China has the support of Red Russia.

Our country and Britain, along with other nations of the free world, are lining up behind India in a struggle that could mean the end of freedom for the millions of people who are banded together in a loose confederation.

For most of the improverished people of India the danger of losing freedom probably is not an important matter. They have little to lose, and the leader who offers them the most probably will get their support. Whether or not the promises will be kept is not a matter of immediate concern.

The one encouraging thing about the developments in India is the probability that Nehru and his faithful followers will now realize their past errors and by their recognition of the futility of neutrality may give strength to the nations that are attempting to hold the line against Communist aggression.

Many Barriers to Topple

Europe's Common Market is going to be a leveling-off process that will break down barriers to understanding as well as barriers to trade, and will result no doubt in greater uniformity even in such things as automobile traffice regulations. As the Montreal Star sees it:

> "In Europe's Common Market ferment, little national quirks which had seemed immutable are vanishing under the pressures of uniformity and rationalization. Two of them disappeared at the beginning of this week: Britain officially gave up the Fahrenheit scale; France slapped a speed limit on Paris traffic.
> "A temperature system dating from the early eighteenth century and setting, for no valid reason, freezing at 32 and boiling at 212 had the sort of jolly illogic which suited the British temperment. Now Britons have to adapt to the idea of 0 and 100—which are more logical figures, but somehow austere—and to such strange ideas as that zero is a mildly frosty morning and 40 is a raging fever.
> "As for the Parisians, they are being deprived of what had seemed an inalienable right: that of conducting the dialogue between motorist and pedestrian as if it were a sport somewhat on the lines of bullfighting. Henceforth Paris traffic will be slowed to what is, for it, a crawl: 37 miles an hour. What's more, the French police and magistrates have a way of making traffic regulations stick, as witness the ruthlessness of their treatment of chronic parking violators: The fifth offence in any one town in one month costs up to 860 new francs, or nearly $80."

It is high time that we give serious consideration to some of the adjustments that we will have to make if we are to conform to a sensible basic pattern. One of the musts will be an adjustment to the metric system of measurements, and our schools should recognize that probability by placing greater emphasis on the decimal system that already is the international standard.

One adjustment that the British recognize as a near-future must that will be extremely difficult will be moving traffic from the left to the right side of the road. As far as we know only Britain and Sweden go forward in the left lane.

Truthful Reports

There has been considerable criticism of the manner in which the government has handled news of the Cuban crisis. Arthur Sylvester, speaking for the defense department, has admitted that information had been deliberately concealed and its release to the press intentionally controled.

Mr. Sylvester defended this "management" of the news as a prerogative of the President in international affairs, even if it did make official reports distorted, incomplete and misleading. "The results, in my opinion," he said, "justified the methods used."

In this instance the false reports may have served a good purpose. If they did serve a good purpose it was because they were accepted as true. The press, and the people, believed that the officials who made the statements spoke the truth. But will our position as a nation be strengthened if the press and the people become suspicious of the truth of what they are told by their officials? We like the National Observer's answer to this question. It concludes:

> "The Pentagon clearly has the right, indeed the duty, to keep military secrets to itself. Disclosures about troop movements, missile emplacements, deployment of ships and aircraft could provide valuable information to the enemy. But what is objectionable in the Sylvester doctrine is the assumption that all wisdom somehow resides in Washington alone. This atitude, though perhaps not disastrous in the Cuban situation, does bolster suspicions, however, that the full story about Cuba has not yet been told.
> "What the managers of news so easily forget is that the public which begins to distrust its press will soon learn to distrust the Government that tries to manage it."

Progress Being Made

That the machine and automation has replaced and is replacing manual labor is an obvious fact that must be recognized. This trend has and will continue to create problems. There will be problems of surplus labor as well as surplus products.

The answer to these problems is not to destroy the machines. The machines are good, and are responsible for much of the higher standard of living which we now enjoy. The answer lies in reasonable adjustments that will enable us to enjoy the advantages of mechanization to the fullest possible extent, with the least possible harmful effects to individuals or groups of individuals whose interests may be adversely effected.

It seems that we are moving in that direction. At any rate the following comments by the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin indicate that progress is being made in the search for sensible solutions for the problems of adjustment, and that is the important thing. Says the Bulletin:

> "A formula is apparently being evolved gradually in the United States to cope with the inevitable impact which technological development has already had, and will continue to have, on the nation and its labor-management relationships.
> "The formula is being hammered out slowly. A presidential railroad commission added a piece in recommendations which have not yet been implemented in the railroad industry. Various isolated but voluntary labor-management agreements in other industries have contributed chunks. And now a binding ruling in the Chicago & North Western Railway-Telegraphers' Union dispute has added still more to the formula.
> "What all these contributions say, in essence, is that neither practical nor humanitarian considerations can be eliminated; they must, instead, be combined.
> "They say that management must be allowed to keep the initiative to maintain its competitive position by adjusting to changed conditions, including its right to abolish unneeded jobs. But they recognize that this can create hardships, and that humanitarian considerations demand that management ease these hardships through such concessions as extending the dismissal notice, generous severance pay, accepting retraining responsibilities and giving due regard to seniority.
> "This is a sensible compromise. Its widespread acceptance will benefit all segments of the nation."

"Then what happened?"

Breezeway window goes down—Mercury sales go up...up!
WHY DOES THIS BREEZEWAY REAR WINDOW help sell so many Mercury Montereys? This is styling that works! The recessed rear window stays clearer in rain or snow. It opens for controlled Flo-Thru ventilation. More wind, traffic noise and weather are shut out because the side windows can stay closed. The rear-window angle cuts glare, aids rear visibility. The extended Breezeway roof adds rear-seat headroom, shades passengers from the sun. See how practical elegance can be!

Let's Talk HOUSEWARES — and — TOYS - -

AGNES POST

The Boss, Vic Kalinoski, says write a column and let the people know how overstocked my department is and to list some of the specials we have to offer so we may make more room for Christmas goods coming.

So here goes, but first I'll tell you I feel like the lady who said "Doctor I'm scared, this will be my first operation." The Doctor answered "I know just how you feel, you are my first patient."

Most of you have been back in my Housewares corner — it's clean, colorful, and well stocked with new merchandise. There are gifts for every occasion and gift wrapping is FREE. Here are some of the specials besides all of our day to day low prices throughout the store:

Boss bought 36 aluminum CORN POPPERS in August for a December sale — I'm tired of keeping 'em so you can buy them now at December Sale Price of $2.82. As I mentioned last week, our FLOWERS and GREENS are going out at ½ price as a close-out for the season to make room for TOYS.

Here is one you ladies will know is the right price.

Regular Size
TIDE — 24¢
The Washday Miracle — Regular 34c
LIMIT 1 PER CUSTOMER
Thursday-Friday-Saturday

At the expense of the boss, I would like you to know that we sell the Largest Hardwood Clothes Drying Racks at $5.75. They fold down to store away. Also apartment size at $2.98. Made locally by Mr. Post.

Found an overstock of 9"x1½" heavy aluminum CAKE PANS at 1.10 — he says push 'em out at 73c.

We have a BIG SALE starting November 14th with two large Circulars going out in the mail. We have been getting ready for 3 weeks now so you can see there will be a lot more merchandise to be on sale.

Xmas paper — 6 big rolls, 26x88" each — package marked 1.98 — Our Price as of now is 87c while it lasts.

I've so much to tell you, hope you have patience to keep reading, cause you'll make money when you check over our stock. So must give you a few more you should check — HAIR DRYERS, I told Vic he was nuts ordering all different makes such as Sunbeam, General Electric, Universal and Westbend — he said "got to make the girls happy." They're selling so it has made two happy for every dryer sold, the customer and me. Must be the Sale Prices.

Here is a Johnson Floor Polisher and Scrubber that was at one time 49.95 and as of now it will be 29.00 'til we find the lucky customer. Just one more item to mention before we go into TOYS — This Fall we have taken on the HOOVER line of vacuum cleaners. One new model you should see is the cannister or tank type cleaner put into a suit case style — all in a permanent box with attachments to stay in place.

Toys are so fascinating this year, so many new things. This is worthy of mention, Vic Kalinoski offered a little boy a candy sucker last week, but he politely refused and said he would take the Tonka Truck and Trailer instead. He made the most of a golden opportunity — just what you should do now at ACE.

We have priced a group of our TOYS at 88c. It'll surprise you that regular price on some are up to $1.50. Then we have another group at $1.66 on values that go as high as $2.25. Come in and pick thru early and give us and yourself a break. The Boss showed me figures that he bought $3,670.00 more in toys this year, that's a lot in small items. I think he went overboard, but he says "Every Toy on our shelf is at a Sale Price and it will sell."

Here is just a couple of items you all know and keep buying every year — TINKER TOYS, the $1.50 size at 99c while this size lasts. Another is PLAY-DOH remodeling compound in 4 cans and colors a regular $1.00 seller in most places but Ace Price is 69c.

Now, isn't this a good reason to start your Christmas Shopping? You can use our Lay-a-way or charge it. Hope to see you soon —

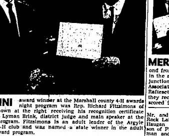
Volume Fifty-one Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Thursday, November 8, 1962 Number Ninety



ALUMNI award winner at the Marshall county 4-H awards night program was Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, shown at the right receiving his recognition certificate from Hon. Lyman Brink, district judge and main speaker at the banquet program. Fitzsimons is an adult leader of the Argyle Hustlers 4-H club and was named a state winner in the adult alumni award program.

MERLE RAFTESETH of St. Hilaire (second from left) was honored as a district winner in the annual buttermaking contest held in conjunction with the Red River Valley Dairymen's Association convention in Detroit Lakes Oct. 24. Rafteseth is shown with other district winners as they received awards at the awards banquet. He scored 99.34 to win the District B title. Shown, from left, are B. M. Haugen, Ada; Rafteseth; Vernon Hedman, Mahnomen; John Thompson, Fosston; Lloyd Eberling, Ashby; A. W. Haukebo, Frazee; Chester Traaseth, Bagley; and Harold Larson, Barnesville. ASC Tells of Wheat Acreage Diversion Farmers who are going to take part in the 1963 wheat stabilization program should be careful to sign up only as much acreage as they intend to divert, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today.

The signed acreage for 1963 will be a binding agreement, the chairman explained, and farmers will have to divert the full acreage for which they sign up in order to be eligible for any payments — including diversion payments, the regular price support loans or purchase agreements, and the extra wheat price-support payments.

"This is a change from the 1962 program," Johnson declared. "Under the 1962 wheat stabilization program, a farmer could sign up for 30 acres, and then divert only 20, and still earn payments on the acreage he actually diverted.

"For 1963, however, such a farmer would not be eligible for any diversion or price-support payments. His failure to divert the whole acreage he signed up would cancel his eligibility for any kind of wheat-stabilization or price-support program assistance.

"We hope that farmers will consider their plans carefully before they file their applications to take part in the wheat stabilization program, and that they will sign up only as much wheat acreage as they intend to divert."

Janice Anderson Member UND Band

One hundred and sixteen students have been selected as members of the University of North Dakota band. They were chosen by Director Michael Polovitz on a competitive basis through tryouts. Minnesota AAA Meeting in Minneapolis Hotel

The motorist's stake in highways, driving and safety in the years ahead will be studied and policies adopted at the 56th annual meeting of the Minnesota State Automobile Assn. (AAA) today at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis.

Fifty-one directors of the motoring organization will gather for the meeting and will be called to order by the Minnesota AAA's new president, Dr. William G. Sauer, Rochester. The AAA position on matters in the field of motoring legislation will be determined at the meeting.

Phone Linemen To Wear Red in Deer Zone Work

NW Bell Policy Requires Only Necessary Work in Field During Hunting

Red clothing becomes part of a telephone man's wardrobe at this time of the year. Not wanting its linemen mistaken for deer, Northwestern Bell asks them to wear the same bright red clothing worn by deer hunters when it is necessary to work in hunting areas, J. M. Wilson, local company manager, said today.

Linemen are also furnished maps of the deer hunting zones as well as the opening and closing dates. Outside telephone work in deer hunting areas is restricted to projects that are absolutely necessary during the hunting season.

"We have another problem during hunting season, too," he said. "Damage to telephone lines, glass insulators or cables can be caused by shotgun or rifle slugs."

He urged all residents to be careful when hunting so that they don't shoot at telephone equipment. In emergencies, having telephones temporarily out of order can result in severe suffering, inconvenience and even loss of life and property, Wilson reminded the hunters.

Newfolden Noting Education Week

Special Program Planned Monday Evening, Nov. 12

The Newfolden Education Association issued a special invitation to all parents, to attend "Parents Night" at the Newfolden Community school Monday evening, Nov. 12 at 8:00 p. m. The public relations committee, headed by Elaine Roering and Frank Kohoutek, Jr., have planned an evening that they hope will be both pleasant and beneficial.

The assembly later will meet together and the recorder of each group will present the thinking of his group. The following persons have consented to act as recorders: Mrs. Alton Carlson, Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Harvey Stokke, Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. Ray Tunheim, Mrs. Lawrence Bjorsness, Alvin Grandstrand, Lowell Hogberg, Mrs. Peter Tandberg, and Stanley Holmans.

At the conclusion of the program there will be time for classroom visitation. Displays of books, teaching materials and children's work are being set up in the corridors.

Climaxing the evening will be refreshments served in the school cafeteria.

Each grade is competing for the largest number of parents attending.

Missionary Ray Martin Speaks on Finland Nov. 13th

Former Trumpetsound Head Will Appear at Covenant Church Here

Missionary Ray Martin, formerly of Thief River Falls, who is back from Finland for a speaking tour of several weeks, will be guest speaker at the Mission Covenant church in this city Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 7:45 p. m.

Mr. Martin resides with his family in the city of Helsinki from where he carries on his work throughout this Russian borderland including the placement of Gospel signs. He is also the pastor of the English Lutheran church in the city which sponsors English Bible classes in Helsinki churches, being assisted by a Helsinki University professor, Dr. Miller, his son, Benjamin Martin, and U. of Helsinki student, Mr. Jim Savolainen of Michigan.

The messages which Mr. Martin will bring to his audiences here will be full of information about the present Finnish situation and especially the recent communist VIII International Youth Festival, where for the first time in history the Finnish police were forced to attack their own people in order to protect the communists who came uninvited to Finland.

At the Tuesday evening meeting Mr. Martin will show pictures to illustrate his message. Says Mr. Martin, "It was the tactics used to force this festival upon the Finnish people that raised the temper of the loyal Finnish youth to such a pitch that they broke out in angry demonstrations in the streets.

Education, long neglected as a major government function, accounted for $367,800,000 of the biennial appropriations of the 1961 state legislature, a rise of $74,100,000 from 1959.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It's November. And in many a local Church it's time to think about the budget for another year.

This is cause for being thankful. Really it is!

For aren't there many places in this world where men haven't any opportunity to support their Church . . . or any Church to support if they had opportunity?

And aren't there many places where men are compelled to work for causes they do not believe in . . . instead of free to work for a cause in which they do believe?

Frankly, much of the responsibility for keeping our land and our people what we want them to be rests with our Churches.

So let's rejoice in that happy American tradition — the Church budget.

And, in keeping with another fine tradition of our people, let's roll up our sleeves and help!

Meeting Tonight Studies Regional Workhouse Plan

County commissioners, judges of probate court, municipal and district judges, county sheriffs and other law enforcement personnel and interested persons from 10 northwestren Minnesota counties have been invited to attend a meeting in Thief River Falls at 7:30 p. m. today. The session will be held in the courtroom of the Pennington county courthouse and will deal with possibilities for the establishment of the first regional workhouse (multi-county jail) in the nation.

Merle Lindberg, chairman of the Pennington county board of commissioners and head of the regional jail study committee, noted that the session was scheduled to take advantage of visitation in this portion of the state by several of the foremost jail experts in the nation.

Main speaker will be Dr. Myrl Alexander, professor Correctional Administration and director of the Center for the Study of Crime and Corrections at Southern Illinois University. He is a recently-retired assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, having served in the federal prison service continuously since 1931.

Robert McLane, jail consultant for the Minnesota State Department of Corrections, will report on his recently-completed survey of jail facilities and length of time to which prisoners are sentenced and serve in this area. Allan Hubanks, executive director of the correctional service, will also be present at the session.

Alexander, McLane and Hubanks are making a tour on Monday which will include visits to the Beltrami county jail, Bemidji city jail, Cass Lake city lockup, Cass county jail at Walker, proposed regional workhouse site at Mahnomen and the city jail and Clay county jail at Moorhead.

Following Monday night's meeting in Thief River Falls, the men will return to Minneapolis on Tuesday to visit the county-city jail in Minneapolis and Ramsey county jail in St. Paul. Dr. Alexander will speak at noon to the Minneapolis Kiwanis club, at 4 p. m. at a Minnesota Press Club conference and at 7 p. m. will address the annual dinner meeting of the Correctional Service of Minnesota at Hotel Leamington in Minneapolis.

Regional Workhouse

The regional workhouse has been under discussion in this area for some time since the Polk county jail at Crookston was restricted to other counties for keeping intermediate term prisoners. Most counties in this area do not have adequate facilities for prisoners and often offenders are sentenced and placed on probation rather than serving the sentences prescribed.

Counties invited to attend the session include Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Mahnomen and Norman.

In discussing the decision to focus attention on the state's jails, Nate L. Crabtree, correctional service president, stated that "Almost all who come in conflict with the criminal law—guilty and innocent, hardened criminal and petty offender, young and old, sick and healthy—pass through our jails, and we therefore feel it is time for correctional service to help throw a light on these facilities.

"The impact of a jail on any community is difficult to overemphasize, and society has given our sheriffs and jail administrators a difficult task. We want the public to be aware of these facilities, and if improvement is needed, to learn how it can best be achieved."

Survival Course To Open Tuesday

Adults in the Thief River Falls area are reminded of the 12-hour survival course which will be conducted by the adult evening program of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. The first session will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in Room 124 of the vocational building.

Ellsworth Jorgensen, deputy county Civil Defense director, will instruct the course which will teach measures of preparedness and protection against nuclear attacks. No tuition fee will be charged and certificates will be issued to all those who attend for the 12 hours.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, November 13, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Dr. Carlson, Local Dentist, Leaving

Dr. V. L. Carlson, Thief River Falls dentist for the past 15 years, is closing his office above Purdy's shoe store late this month, and will move with his wife and three children to Buffalo, Minnesota, where he will continue his practice.

Car License Tabs on Sale Thursday

Secretary of State Joseph L. Donovan reported today that renewal application cards for 1963 automobile, truck and trailer registrations are being mailed for approximately 1,700,000 vehicles. Mailing began November 8 and will be completed about November 13. Most owners should receive their cards by November 15, and owners of mobile homes are being sent a different type notice with complete instructions.

Under the law, the department cannot issue 1963 tabs until on or after November 15. Owners receiving their applications before that date must wait until November 15 before making their tax payment.

Donovan said procedures for renewal are the same as in 1962. An instruction card is included with each application. It would be advantageous for every owner to carefully read the instructions because they contain valuable information. Small year tabs will be issued for 1963. These are to be attached to the lower right corner of the 1962 plates. Regular plates will be issued for mobile homes.

If there is a change of class of registration, change of registration weight or a transfer of ownership, a different type application form must be completed. These forms are available at all deputy registrars and at the central office in St. Paul. Otherwise, owners will need only to sign the application card mailed to them and turn it over with the required tax payment and the 1962 registration card to a deputy registrar or directly to the motor vehicle division of the secretary of state's office in St. Paul. Any change of address must be noted on the application card.

The Thief River Falls deputy registrar, Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, has her office at 101 East Second st.

36x48 Addition Placed At NE Corner of Plant Doubled in Size in 1961

Dow Key Company, Inc., which doubled the size of its manufacturing plant in Thief River Falls a short time ago, is having a 36x48 addition constructed on the southeast side of the present building. The building addition will be of steel construction with interior insulation sprayed on the walls under pressure.

With the new addition, the rapidly-expanding company will acquire additional space for material storage and move the foundry to make room for an electroplating department. Four automatic screwing machines have also been purchased and an operator hired for mass production of machine parts.

Gordon Dow, president of the company, noted that the changes are being made to bring as much work as possible into the shop as part of the firm's quality control program. Addition of the electroplating and automatic screwing machine equipment will create two new departments at the plant.

I. H. "Shorty" Emerson of Minneapolis operates the screwing machines and has now moved to this city. His wife will join him here soon when housing arrangements have been completed.

Entries In Wool Sewing Contest Increase to 94

Color Shades Dominate Samples Entered; Some College Girls Entered

Shades of blues, browns, reds, and greens predominate color samples of fabrics sent in with the 94 entries now made in the District I Make It Yougrself with Wool contest, according to Mrs. Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, district director. November 5 is the closing date for entries with the event to be held November 24 in the Thief River Falls municipal auditorium.

Marshall county leads with 21 entries while West Polk has 19, Betrami 6, Norman 2, East Polk 18, Clearwater 7, Kittson 6, Pennington 5, Red Lake 4 and Roseau 2. Textures of material selected vary from the sheer jerseys to heavy coatings, Mrs. Peterson said.

Oldest contestant this year is Mrs. Magdaline Trimble, 74-year-old grandmother from Bemidji, who is making and modeling a black wool dressmaker suit in the adult division. Youngest entry is Helen Connelou, 13, Fisher, who will model a rose beige flannel skirt in the sub-deb division.

No Substantial Errors Found by Canvassing Board

The Pennington county canvassing board met last Friday at the court house to check the accuracy of the vote tabulations in the November 6 general election. Only a few inconsequential errors were found, and none in the vote on governor. A 100-vote error in the votes received by Judge Arnold Forbes of Bemidji was immaterial since he was unopposed in the election.

Mike Norman of Grand Forks spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Norman of this city.

ENTHUSIASTIC visitors to Carnegie Public Library every two weeks are Mrs. Victor Franson, five-year-old Gary (seated) and eight-year-old Derald. Both boys and their mother have favorite reading material but enjoy browsing at the library, mostly in the children's section in quest of picture story books. Now in third grade at Northrop elementary school, Derald is just coming into his own as a reader but both boys appreciate their bedtime story hour.

Spud Growers Vote Again on Market Order

Vote in August Not Decisive; Majority To Rule on New Ballot

Potato growers of the Red River Valley will vote for the second time on the question of continuing, or abolishing, Red River Valley Federal Marketing Order 38. Ballots for the poll are being mailed November 15. Ballots to be counted must be postmarked not later than midnight, Nov. 20, 1962.

A vote on the question was held in August as the result of a petition to the Red River Valley Potato Committee asking that the Valley Marketing Order be abolished. A protest was filed with the committee on the ballot used in the poll by the petitioning group, stating that the ballot was confusing and difficult to vote, and further protested having growers sign the ballot as means of determining eligible voters.

Since there was a printing error in the ballot and as a concession to possible confusion in the ballot, the committee agreed before counting the August ballot that if 60 per cent, or more, of the votes were either for or against, that this majority should indicate that the ballot was not too confusing and the vote would be considered valid. A 60 per cent vote was not obtained so the vote was considered invalid. In the previous poll, 52 per cent of the growers voting favored continuing Red River Valley Federal Marketing Order 38.

In all previous mail polls conducted by the committee, the procedure of having growers sign the ballots for eligibility determination has been used.

Ralph Mathews Jr., Barnesville, chairman of the Red River Valley Potato Committee, in commenting on the coming poll, stated that the Valley potato growers first adopted Red River Valley Federal Marketing Order 38 in 1957, and they, and not the committee, must decide whether they want to continue or abolish it. Prior to 1957, the Valley potato industry imposed certain grade, size and quality restrictions upon itself, under authority of identical laws in Minnesota and North Dakota.

However, due to the inflexibility of the state laws and problems of enforcement, the potato growers voted in Red River Valley Federal Marketing Order 38. The order, although authorized under Federal law is solely the responsibility of the Valley potato industry, to manage and use or not use, as it desires. The federal government assists only in enforcing those regulations requested by the Valley industry.

Mathews stated further that the balloting will be only on the question of continuing, or abolishing, Red River Valley Federal Marketing Order 38, and should not be confused with the proposed National Federal Marketing Order, which the nation's potato growers are considering. He stated also that the Valley Marketing Order should not be confused with the

Christmas Seal Sale in Progress

Herman Kjos, County Head, Asks Liberal Response

Tuesday, Nov. 13, marks the kickoff of the 56th annual Christmas Seal campaign for funds to fight tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases. Over 900,000 letters containing Christmas Seals to use on holiday greetings and packages have been sent to homes throughout the state.

"How the public answers this appeal will determine how much the Christmas Seal organization can do to protect Minnesota people from tuberculosis and other serious respiratory diseases, such as pneumonia, influenza, chronic bronchitis, asthma, emphysema and the common cold," said Judge Herman Kjos, president of the Pennington County TB and Health Council.

Last year, Christmas Seal funds helped to pay for almost 320,000 tuberculin tests and 111,000 chest X-rays to check for tuberculosis infection.

The association went into schools industries and communities to search out active tuberculosis and prevent the spread of the disease. It distributed health education materials to schools and community groups.

In order to better serve the people, the Christmas Seal association employs full-time regional directors stationed in eight different areas of the state to conduct local health programs.

Architect and PTA Group Meets Thursday With Education Board

Members of the Thief River Falls board of education, meeting at a special session with representatives of local Parent-Teacher association groups, took a calculated look at alternatives to a school building program Thursday evening. Present at the session was Richard Hammel, representing the architectural firm under contract to the district to provide plans according to the board's request.

Prior to the discussion of building possibilities to solve space problems now necessitating an eight-hour school day, the board viewed a proposed budget for the coming year. Copies of the proposal were given to board members for study prior to thorough discussion at a meeting tonight.

While figures on the budget will not be published until the board has revelwed the proposal and made revisions, it is indicated that an increase will be forthcoming this year. Several items, including city assessments for street improvements, will cause the expected increase.

Proposal Reviewed

Opening the discussion on building proposals to meet the needs of the district, Hammel reviewed the procedure which had been followed in arriving at the initial plan rejected by the electorate in two bond elections early this year. He noted that the board instructed his firm to prepare proposals on an elementary and junior high school.

His first estimates were in excess of $1,700,000 to construct the desired facilities, do some necessary remodeling in other buildings, improve the site of the new school and leave a slight cushion for contingencies. This was considered too great an expenditure and the board began cutting back desired items which were not believed absolutely necessary.

A revised plan, after several meetings, provided for the building program presented to the voters, and rejected. This was for a new junior high school and elementary school, located on the same site as separate units but joined with a combination entrance to permit double use of heating plant, library, cafeteria and gymnasium.

Proposed bond issue for this plan was $1,595,000 and included the two buildings, site improvement, architect's fees, furniture and equipment, remodeling of other buildings and a reserve of $50,000 for contingencies.

Two Possibilities

"We are now faced with two possibilities," Hammel told the PTA group and board members. "We must revise the original plan satisfactorily or present an alternative proposal which will be acceptable to the electorate."

Questioned in regard to the cost of construction in the original proposal, Hammel stated that several original economies in construction would be possible. By using these to the fullest extent and sacrificing building quality which would add to maintenance costs, he estimated that $1,595,000 figure could be reduced to about $1,336,000.

Ethel Qualey Becomes Bride of Loren Klopp

In a double-ring candlelight service in Lund Lutheran church of Gully, Miss Ethel Qualey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Qualey, Gully, became the bride of Loren D. Klopp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hagen of this city. The ceremony was performed October 27 by the Rev. Roger Olson of Gully.

The church decorations were white, bronze and yellow mums in baskets.

Nuptial music was furnished by Miss Diane Stielle of Minneapolis, who also accompanied the soloist, Darlene Stielle, as she sang, "O Day of Golden Promise" and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin, featuring a scalloped neckline, long, tapered sleeves; hoop skirt and sweeping Cathedral train. Her finger tip veil of illusion net was secured by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a sunburst of large white mums with yellow tea roses, arranged with white satin ribbon and ruffled net. Her jewelry was a necklace of cultured pearls and a bracelet worn by her grandmother at her own wedding over fifty years ago.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lawrence Myrum, the bride's sister, and another of her sisters, Miss Sandra Qualey, served as bridesmaid. Both wore sheath dresses of white wool, accessorized with black. They carried sunbursts of bronze, yellow and white mums with gold ribbon accents.

Flower girl was Jody Torkelson, second cousin of the groom, whose attire was a floor-length dress of beige chiffon, satin and net, over a hoop skirt, and who carried a basket of bronze, yellow and white mums. Carrying the rings was the bride's brother, David Qualey, who wore a white dinner jacket with black trousers and a yellow boutonniere and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The groom, his attendants, and ushers all wore white dinner jackets with black trousers. Their boutonnieres were yellow. Best man was Charles Hedeen of this city, and the groomsman was Gary Hagen, brother of the groom. Ushering were Ronald Blackstad of Minneapolis, and Michael Johnson of Newfolden.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Qualey wore a navy blue wool sheath dress with black accessories, while Mrs. Hagen wore a green wool jersey dress, also with black accessories. Both mothers had corsages of yellow and bronze carnations, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ferdinand Pepin, also wore a corsage of yellow and bronze carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, with approximately 125 guests in attendance. The four-tiered bridal cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was baked by Mrs. John Nelson, and cut by an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Monrad Stenvold, and by an aunt of the groom, Mrs. Alfred Sather. Mrs. Adolph Hagen, aunt of the groom, poured, and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad served punch. Waitresses were Misses Eunice Qualey, Sharol Strande, and Sonja Myrum. Assisting in the kitchen were Mmes. Ted Carlson, John Nelson, Bennie Carlson, Harold Stielie, Hilda Kvalle, and Ann Anderson.

Misses Mary Sather and Darlene Patterson were at the gift table, and registering the guests was Mrs. Bernell Myrum, sister of the bride.

The bride's going-away suit was of blue wool. The couple chose the North Shore Drive and the Iron Range for their wedding trip.

Doorways To The World
A Book Review By
Flora Allison

Miss Elisa Daggs has chosen a provocative title for a most provocative book, "Doorways To The World. . ." She sees this as a world of doorways, "ajar for the traveler curious enough to touch the knob or blow upon the latch; doors carved of precious woods and inlaid with pearl . . . doorways for arrogant men, that rise far above their heads . . . doors through which men can walk freely, as themselves. There are doorways to the sky; the upside-down doorways of Holland, the door of the matador's jewel-box, the fallen doors of Greece, the doorway locked by the forest." Doorways. . . .doorways.

In this book, a highly skilled writer achieves a triumph in the exotic, in a style that is, by turns, dynamic as a block-buster, yet delicate as a wisp of cloud; brutal as a surgeon's scalpel, and gentle as his healing hand; pungent as autumn fires, yet sweet as the breath of clover on the night wind.

Using words with the blunt, vivid artistry of Michaelangelo with his oils, she sweeps the reader from the world's splendors to the shame of its squalors. And adding to the force of her word-pictures is the magic of her camera's eye.

From the gentle, discreet silence of a Buddhist temple, to the noisy clamor of London; from Egypt's silent deserts to the bustle and frenzy of Thialand; from the wind-tortured peaks of the Himalayas to the searing heat of a Spanish courtyard, she accomplishes the meeting of a dozen worlds, a thousand cultures. She leads the reader from the ruins of a glory long past, down the pathways of the present, to the horizons of a future as bright—or as sordid—as what has gone before.

Miss Daggs is as much at home with the expensive crowds at a London premiere as with the bloated beggar cringing in the dung-filled, dust-choked street of a teeming eastern city, where wealth ignores poverty and the mighty scorn the weak.

Somehow, in the way she manages so well, she brings into sharp focus life as it exists in every corner of the world; the movement, the sights, the smells and the sounds of distant places. She exposes all that is worst, and glorifies all that is best in the world of today, hiding nothing.

Standing you squarely before a doorway, the author then opens it and dares you to walk by without looking in. So powerful is her persuasion, so challenging her invitation, that you cannot help but enter.

If you have traveled, this book will renew memories of the places that you both have seen, and will bring you to see them with a new vision. If you have not felt the urge to wander, leave this book on the shelf, unless you want to start yourself to dreaming.

You will be amused, and touched;—you will be delighted — and disgusted; you will be astounded and informed, compelled and repelled. But you won't put this book down.

Those doorways get to you, with their promise, their intrigue and their mystery. To enter and to pursue their wonders with this superb writer is fascination. Reading her impressions is an experience you won't want to miss, for here is a travelogue with a difference: warm and human.

Plane loading at Gate One, all set for take-off through the doorway of the sky. . .you need as your passport your public Library card and "Doorways To The World."

Welcome: Welcome aboard!

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. GEORGE GESSNER

With the season's first snow hugging the evergreen boughs and the family hugging the fireplace, Mom begins to think of holidays and holiday baking, and what's Christmas without fruit cake, anyway? It's really not too early to get yours baked, either, for the longer it mellows, up to a point, the better it will be.

This cake is a favorite of mine too, since I don't go for spicy sweets, and this one has nary a spice in it.

While baking it, keep a panful of water on the lower rack of the oven to keep it from drying out. And a slice or two of apple or orange in the container in which it is stored helps to bring it to mellow perfection.

Mrs. Gessner is a marvelous cook, and this is just the kind of cake you'd expect on her table. It's called Fabulous Fruitcake, and we think it's pretty aptly named. The season calls for fabulous fixin's, so why not start your baking with this one?

FABULOUS FRUITCAKE

2 lbs. pitted cherries, well drained
1 lb. red cherries, candied
1 lb. candied green cherries
1 lb. Brazil nuts
1 lb. walnuts

1 tsp. baking powder
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. vanilla

The fruit and nuts, left whole, are combined in a large mixing bowl. In another bowl, beat together the eggs and vanilla until light. Beat in the sugar. Sift the flour, baking powder, and salt together and add to the above mixture. Beat until smooth and creamy. Pour the batter over the fruit and nuts and stir until well blended. Spoon into two loaf pans which have been generously greased. Bake about two hours, at from 250-300 degrees. When done, remove from pans and cool, after first basting with sweetened orange juice, brandy, or wine. When cool, wrap in heavy foil and store in a cool place to mellow.

Mrs. Gessner, whose husband is an apiarist and owns and operates his own business, finds herself with a lot of time for reading at last, with two older girls both gone and the boy, Tommy, away at school all day. She reads "everything I can get my hands on," she says. He husband spends a lot of time on the road caring for his bees, and supervising the honey operations. Every winter, the bees are loaded onto trucks to over-winter in Texas.

With July, 23, off to far-places as a stewardess with NW Airlines, and Bonnie having attended the U of Minnesota, where she now works in the U hospital, Mrs. Gessner is free to accompany her husband each winter. They take with them 11-year old Tommy, who adapts very well to changing schools periodically. They return home each spring, usually about June first. Our homemaker likes to work in the yard during the summer, and also enjoys cooking, and entertaining.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY MARY LUNDIN

POLITICAL FEVER HAS NOW ABATED as the elections are past and candidates are licking either their chops or their wounds, depending upon how they fared before the voters. Whatever else may be said about politics, the elective system is truly great and furnishes a tremendous amount of interest. Persons looking for their favorite television programs Monday and Tuesday can verify the latter statement.

As promised in last Monday's column, here are the results of my pre-election predictions:

County Commissioner, 2nd District: Prediction—"Donald L. Olson . . .should be easily reelected with a near 2 to 1 edge over challenger Harry R. Lund." Result — Olson 597 and Lund 301.

County Attorney: Prediction—". . .my guess is that Curtis L. Charlson will unseat L. W. Rulien in a close contest." Result—Charlson carried all city wards and nine rural precincts for an 84 vote margin of 2,029 to 1,945.

Representative in State Legislature: Prediction—"I foresee a narrow victory for Andrew Skaar over Stanley Radniecki for the vacated House seat." Result—Skaar polled 3,128 votes to 2,741 for Radniecki.

Senator in State Legislature: Prediction—". . .Sen. Louis Murray from East Grand Forks is in his final phase as a state politician. Harveydale Maruska of Angus . . . has carried his campaign throughout the district. The only snag which could catch Maruska's progressive march would be an overwhelming vote for Murray in Red Lake county." Result — With six precincts still to report, Maruska led Murray 9,422 to 8,378 in the three-county district. Red Lake county was the only one to give Murray a plurality with 1,204 to 889.

Representative in Congress: Prediction — "Odin Langen will be elected for his third term. Result — With 894 of 908 precincts reporting as this is being written Thursday afternoon, Langen leads Harding Noblitt 68,198 to 63,082.

Governor: Prediction — "Governor Elmer L. Andersen will be elected to the first four-year term as a Governor of Minnesota." Result—In the closest gubernatorial race in the state's history, Governor Andersen held a slight lead over Karl Rolvaag with the election likely to be contested. The state canvassing board meets November 20 and the official results will be announced at that time. Another prediction—Andersen will win whether there is a re-count or not.

Therefore, barring unforeseen results in the race for Governor, "Rhyme & Reason" predictions were 100 per cent correct. Some people seem to have all the luck.

United Fund Note: While payroll deductions are being urged to assist the fund in reaching its quota, contributions to the organization are entirely voluntary. Suggested donation sheets circulated by employers under the United Fund plan of business solicitation should not be considered as directives issued by the business firm. They are merely amounts which the employer considers to be a fair share for his employees. These may be adjusted up or down as the employee determines — but employees are reminded that the fund benefits a number of agencies and that payroll deduction will permit the total amount to be given in small amounts.

Looks like Ted Kennedy, newly elected U. S. Senator in Massachusetts, is emulating his older brother Jack in at least one way. An AP photo of the successful candidate showed him peering around the waving hand of his beautiful wife who seems to have as much photographic appeal as Jacqueline and quite pushes the gentleman in question into the out-of-focus background.

Two ham actors were discussing their ups and downs. One hadn't had a part in five years and the other claimed not to have had a job since talking pictures made their debut. "No kidding," the first ham said, "that's really tough." "You bet it is," the latter sighed. "I sure wish I could figure how to get out of this business."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

I like to see the snow fall,
I like the snowy trees tall,
I like to see the snow come
But don't care for the cold numb.
I do not like the frost's bite,
Don't like the bleak packed snow white,
I fear the icy streets slick
Because I don't react quick.
I like the season change show,
I love to see the snow—go.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

As I am writing my weekly column the wind is blowin' outside with the snow a-driftin' away. Winter came sooner than one was ready for it I am sure. It caught me unprepared. The snow tires are sitting in the garage when they should be on. As one realizes winter is here and we are again faced with all the winter hazards, remember all the safety tips you have heard, seen, and read to have a safe winter.

The "Make Yourself a Dress" workshop got under way at Eklund dining hall Thursday. This is part of the homemakers program again this year. Last year 45 women completed this workshop. The women come for three days, beginning at 10:00 a. m., working until 4:00 p. m. Besides working hard all day the women who have taken part have fun. These workshops have been scheduled the entire month of November. There are a few women who have indicated a desire to receive this lesson after Christmas. So there will be workshops for the reminder of the homemakers that wish for this lesson then.

Key to Whipping Cream

How can you whip cream for a dessert in advance for a company dinner so it will hold up until you're ready to use it?

The secret, any home economists is to add 3 tablespoons of unsifted powdered sugar to each half pint of whipping cream before you whip it. Add ½ teaspoon of vanilla or other flavoring at the same time. Whip the cream until it is just stiff enough to hold its shape when the beater is lifted but still smooth and glossy.

Cream whipped in this way can be put through a pastry tube and will hold its shape for hours. It does not quickly soak into cakes as ordinary whipped cream sometimes does.

Resources Council Urges New Policy on Tax-forfeited Lands

Sixth in a series

By Henry T. McKnight, Chairman, Minnesota Natural Resources Council.

Minnesota's lands are nothing short of amazing. Our rich productive soils turn out $1.5 billion worth of farm production every year, to say nothing of the billions represented in the forest and mineral wealth on our state's land.

But there is always room, it seems, for improvement—and improvement is a must if we are to keep pace with the ever-growing population. The land task force Natural Resources Council pinpointed one of the roadblocks to more complete land use like this:

"No other state has lost so much productive use of its land through tax-forfeiture as Minnesota. This land (about four million acres held by various communities) cannot be readily converted to more productive use because of our complicated title laws. Yet it is desperately needed for the development of just about all our natural resources, including recreation."

In a sense, this land task force statement typifies the manner in which the entire Resources Council functioned — always concerned about the relationship and coordination between the various resource areas.

Ably headed by Frank Peck, St. Paul farm credit consultant, this task force drew on the experienced backgrounds of six other experts: John R. Borchert, chairman of the University of Minnesota department of geography; Albert Gillie, Lake of the Woods county commissioner, Williams; Mrs. Kermit V. Haugan, president, Mississippi Valley Conference of State Federations, Minneapolis; O. B. Jesness, retired head of University department of agricultural economics; Norman Slade, White Bear Lake farmer; R. J. Whaling, Itasca County auditor, Grand Rapids, Duane A. Wilson, commissioner, state department of agriculture.

The task force offered this advice for dealing more effectively with the problems of tax-forfeited property:

"The Legislature should amend the laws relating to tax-forfeited lands to make it easier to obtain clear titles."

Some specific recommendations in this area were: Replace the requirement of personal service on the occupants of tax-forfeited lands with only the publication of lands and owners as now required for unoccupied lands. Set a time limit for bringing action to void forfeitures, except in case of tax-exempt land or when taxes have been paid. Provide for gathering the detailed information on these lands to enable more intelligent buy-or-sell decisions. Apply the "partnership principle" to divided interest in lands under tax delinquency so that any tax delinquence would be a lien against all interests in the land.

Soils—and their adaptability to farm production—came in for a good deal of attention from the task force. Biggest problem here is lack of knowledge about these soils. The report states:

"Although Minnesota contains more soil types than any other non-mountainous state, only 29 per cent of its land area (17 counties) has been adequately classified as to soils. This lack of soil knowledge is accentuated by the trend to larger farms with fewer farmers, by multiple-use requirements, by the encroachment of highway, urban and industrial construction, by erosion, and by the need for better management of water, forests, wildlife and other natural resources."

To help Minnesotans learn more about the state's soils, the task force report urged the Legislature to provide additional funds for field and laboratory research. The Legislators are also asked to support a five-year soil classification plan to be conducted by the University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Thorough study of the state's land use problems led the task force logically into the area of the rapid and far-reaching changes taking place on our farms. In general, the task force recommended:

"The state's agricultural research should stress farm adjustments and utilization rather than production. The federal government should be urged to recognize: (a) The need for selective adjustments by classes and qualities of wheat: it should not reduce hard spring wheat at the same rate as classes in greater surplus; (b) The unfavorable effects of metropolitan milk orders on markets for Minnesota dairying."

Calling attention to the lack of county and community planning around the state, the task force said, "A statewide guide plan should be prepared to assist all planning groups." This proposal unknowingly alluded to Gov. Andersen's first major action based on the Council's entire report — announcement that he would form a state planning board to work closely with his office to study and help implement the Council's proposals.

In short, the final report of the Minnesota Natural Resources Council — culmination of more than a year of dedicated study by dozens of experts — is just what it says it is. . . "a plan for action." Now it is up to the citizens of the state, and their legislators, to give immediate attention, study and support to this important blueprint for making the most of Minnesota's natural resources wealth.

Potato Growers To Vote Again On Marketing Order

one cent assessment, which is under authority of laws of Minnesota and North Dakota.

Other potato growing areas that have Federal Marketing Orders include Idaho, Colorado, Maine, Washington and Oregon.

The Red River Valley Potato Committee, Mathews states, will be guided by the wishes of the majority of growers who vote. He cautioned growers to weigh the question very seriously before marking their ballot because their decision can have a profound effect upon the future of the Valley potato industry.

Alternatives On School Building Needs Reviewed

bond issue of less than $1 million would have a good chance of passing, Hammel said. "I don't belive you can build a junior high school for 650 students, satisfy your educational program and still have a building you would want to walk into for less than a million dollars."

Alternative Plan

Given major consideration among alternative proposals presented was a plan to construct a new building for area vocational facilities, remodel present vocational facilities for high school use, add elementary classrooms or construct a new elementary school and add high school classrooms which may be necessary.

Several people present voiced the opinion that this seemed to be discriminating against local elementary and secondary students in favor of vocational students which are 80 per cent non-local. The thought was also expressed that further additions to present buildings would make them more cumbersome and difficult to maintain.

Estimated costs for such a plan were made, using a new elementary school and vocational building as a basis for the figures, and they proved to be more expensive than the orginal bond issue proposal figure. Hammel was instructed by the board to make a more complete study of the plan, which he said would take two days, and to report to the board and PTA group on his findings at a meeting late this month.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson, in commenting on the needs for building, stated that legislation will be introduced in the next legislature requiring all land in the state to belong to a high school district. Passage of such legislation could mean another 50 junior high students in the local school system.

FEATURED In the first edition of "The Voice," a religious publication which has just appeared on the scene at Amherst, Wis., was Miss Janet Kolden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Kolden of St. Hilaire. Miss Kolden is a graduate of Lincoln high school in this city and Lutheran Bible Institute in Minneapolis.

Public Opinion

Editor the Times:

I cannot understand WHY the voting population of Thief River Falls cannot pass a school bond issue, when it is so much in need!

Our children attend parochial school, so the fact that Knox (the area in which we live) is overcrowded or that the Junior High was to be built on the East side, does not really hurt us. What does hurt is the fact that we chose to live in a community where the voting public does not care.

I could not, in this letter, go into detail on what we know many other communities are doing, but I will report on one, namely Coleraine, Minn. The people of Coleraine subscribed to and built a $100,000 arena, at a time when half the people were unemployed.

We have a brochure which was presented to the people of Coleraine, in regard to the need. I would like to pass on to you one small part:

As we go about this important work, let us keep the following thought in mind—This facility is being erected to serve ALL of the people of this district. Let's, for a moment, forget that we adults will benefit at all—rather, let's just look at this as a project for our children, and their children. A very wise and great person once said: "In the year 2000 A. D. —not too many years from now—it won't matter what my bank account was today, the kind of car I drove or what sort of house I lived in, BUT THE WORLD COULD BE BETTER BECAUSE I WAS IMPORTANT IN THE LIFE OF A BOY OR GIRL."

Here is a project that ALL of us will reap some benefit from—true, our children will probably benefit from it more than we shall—but to what better use could we pool our resources?

I believe the above though could be applied to the building of a new school in Thief River Falls.

I am nobody, but, please, won't somebody take some positive or progressive action?

And, if not, again I ask WHY? Do the NO voters think the future will not exist?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gene Sack
420 S. St. Paul

Editor Times:

In regards to a recent tragic accident which occurred on Red Lake River in Clearwater county, taking the life of Hubert Spehart of Duluth:

People living in the eastern part of Pennington county, being the closest to the mishap were summoned for help. So naturally our county sheriff was notified. He answered it was not in his territory, but would notify Bemidji. It appears then that our county sheriff doesn't believe in a good neighbor policy.

When dragging operations had to be halted, till river level lowered, the people of eastern Pennington stood by with much determination.

Relatives from Duluth brought rescue equipment and skin divers from St. Louis county on Tuesday morning to continue the search. But luckily, Hubert Speharts' body had already been recovered by a local farmer. We diligently had carried on the search every day.

Wonder if there had been an opposition in our recent election, authorities would have offered a helping hand.

Fight Alcoholism, Is Theme Week of Nov. 25

Governor Elmer L. Andersen in an official proclamation Friday designated Nov. 5-Dec. 1 as "Alcoholism Information Week in Minnesota"

He urged all public and private agencies, as well as individual citizens "to support this nationwide campaign to alert our citizens to the dangers of alcoholism."

The executive proclamation was issued in support of the national educational and informational campaign to emphasize that alcoholism is a disease which can be treated, and that help is available for persons suffering from alcoholism.

Alcoholism Information Week is sponsored by the Minnesota Department of health and the Information and Referral Resource for Problem Drinkers, St. Paul, an affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism.

"There are an estimated 5,000,000 alcoholics in the United States," said Dr. A. B. Rosenfield, director of the division of special services, state department of health. "In Minnesota, there are an estimated 64,000 alcoholics, and about one-half of these live in the Twin City area," he said.

"Public understanding of the nature of the alcoholism is essential in our efforts to prevent those who drink from becoming alcoholics, and to restore those who have become alcoholics to a useful productive life," Dr. Rosenfield said.

He said the primary purpose of the annual alcohol information campaign is to motivate citizens through the state to take stock of local alcoholism treatment and information facilities, and to initiate measures leading toward the development of more such adequate services.

Information concerning alcoholism treatment facilities or educational material may be obtained from local chapters of Alcoholics Anonymous, the Minnesota department of health, the Information and Referral Resource for Problem Drinkers, St. Paul, any one of the 17 community mental health centers located throughout the state, and the Dan C. Miller Memorial Hospital's Center on Problem Drinking, in Duluth.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—Can the so-called "contract burial" be used to bury any veteran?

A—No, only those veterans who are under authorized VA care—or traveling to or from it by prior VA authorization—at the time of death. "Under authorized VA care" means receiving treatment in a VA hospital, or being a patient in a non-VA hospital by VA contract, or residing in a VA domiciliary.

Q—Transportation of the body may be paid in addition to the $250 for burial expenses when the veteran dies at a VA hospital while undergoing authorized VA care. Can transportation expenses be paid also for a veteran who is not under authorized VA care when he dies, i.e., he dies at home?

A—For veterans who are not under authorized VA care at the time of death, the law provides a maximum of $250 to cover both the funeral and burial expenses and the cost of transporting the body to a place of burial. The total amount which may be reimbursed by VA cannot exceed $250. You are right, death when under authorized VA care will afford additional transportation expenses.

Q—How many hospitals does the VA operate?

A—The VA has 169 hospitals. At least one in every state except Hawaii and Alaska, where VA patients are cared for in private hospitals at VA expense.

Q—For whom does the VA provide guardian service?

A—During the past fiscal year, VA provided guardianship service for 104,469 veterans, 390,341 minors, and 16,163 adult dependents of veterans. At the end of the fiscal year their estates amounted to more than $757 million.

Q—How do VA expenditures for compensation compare with amounts spent for pensions in a given year?

A—In fiscal year 1962, the VA paid an average annual payment of $850.30 to 2,372,683 compensation cases for which the total expenditure was $2,017,482,704. During the same period annual pension payments averaged $880.05 to 1,854,881 pensioners whose total payments amounted to $1,632,387,762.

Q—Where can I get information explaining the choice between the old VA pension plan and the new pension plan that went into effect July 1, 1960?

A—You may visit, write or telephone any VA office for this information. A choice of the two pension systems is open to those pensioners already on the rolls on June 30, 1960. Those coming on the pension rolls after that date automatically come under the new pension law.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Relly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

Well, deer hunting season has officially opened and I'm proud to say that I got mine again this year. I do think that I was lucky though, because I saw dozens of hunters who hadn't even seen a deer.

Those that I talked to felt that there just aren't as many deer this year and I feel the same way. One just doesn't see as many deer signs as last year and you certainly don't see as many deer.

This situation that seems quite general from my observation is understandable. What is not quite so understandable, however, is why certain reporting and promotional agencies told the public that there was an abundance of deer and that there would probably be more taken than last year? From my observation, that just isn't ture and, furthermore, I think the sources I have in mind knew very well what the deer population was.

I am not in favor of exaggerating the numbers of deer in the state herd just to sell licenses and gain revenue. You can kid the public one in awhile but this sort of thing usually comes home to roost sooner or later. If we expect hunters of other areas to come to this area to hunt grouse, ducks, deer, etc., then we had better not give them a bum steer or they will never believe us when we do have something to talk about.

I could be wrong, but my guess would be that those who were talking about all the deer there are should either take a refresher course in mathematics or else start finding a new group of informers. I just don't think the deer are in our area like they have been as recently as last year.

Something that is dear in our area though, is that wonderful shopping and distribution center, Thief River Falls.

Conservatives to Rule Both Houses of Legislature

Unofficial returns from Tuesday's Minnesota election apparently assured Conservatives of control of both houses of the Minnesota Legislature in the 1963 session.

Liberals bossed the House in 1961 and four preceding sessions. Conservatives held control in the Senate two years ago but indications are that their margin will be whittled slightly in the next session.

A dozen or more well-known names in legislative circles fell by the wayside. House Liberals who were defeated included Peter S. Popovich, Odean Enestvedt, Mrs. Sally Lumund F. Conn, Harry Basford, John M. Fitzgerald and Birger Nurminen.

Rep. Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia, minority leader in the House in 1961, may be elected speaker of the House when the Conservatives organize.

It Was a Tough Opener

If the statistics of the opening weekend of the deer hunting season could be fed into a 507 computer, it is probable that the computer would project a figure of hunter success at 50.2 per cent of last season's opening weekend.

Seriously, though, from conversation with hunters, and Main avenue and Third street observation, the deer hunting was very spotty. On Sunday night a number of out-of-town hunting parties were moving into other areas in hopes of better hunting. And then again there were quite a few parties who reported a fair to good kill.

It appears that the "natives" were having the best success, and I know of several groups of from eight to twelve hunters who were within a tag or two of filling their limits by Sunday evening.

The hunting in the vast areas north and east of Thorhult and Fourtown was very ordinary. The heavy rains of early spring and summer inundated much of this territory, and forced the deer to move into "high lands". And too, the snowfall of last week, which was of benefit on Saturday, became a hazard by Sunday when the thaw weather made the side roads greasy and very nearly impassable. There were instances of tractors becoming mired down in the bog.

Perhaps the most solid evidence on the success of the opening day is given by Leonard Brekke of the St. Hilaire locker plant who stated that as of Saturday night there were fifty per cent fewer venison carcasses brought in for processing than on the opening day last season. Len added that during the nine-day span of last season the plant processed more than three hundred deer. It was his opinion that this number would be lessened by half this season.

As a footnote to the deer hunting season I must make this acknowledgment of the pheasant hunting success of Don (Commissioner) Olson, Lloyd Bennes, Justus Larson, Jack Edmiston, L. L. Tygeson, and Walt Anderson the other week. This party, hunting a corn field northwest of Herman, and without the aid of dogs, filled their limit. The pheasant season will continue for a couple more weeks, but it is doubtful if such a successful hunt will be duplicated.

All-state Football Choices

This is the time of the year when concerted campaigns are being waged by coaches, fans, and writers in behalf of many of the state's high school football players. It is the hope of these interested parties that their individual choices will be named to Ted Peterson's All-State prep squad. But this can*not be, and the vast majority of* the boys will be given modest recognition and honorable mention.

It is difficult, and perhaps impossible, to do equal justice to the boys, and the All-State team that is finally chosen is perhaps as equitable a squad as can be named.

In the selection of this squad, consideration is given to the caliber of play in which the player competed, and to the over-all strength of the conference in which the player's team performed. Through no fault of their own there will be boys playing with weaker teams and against weaker opponents and the records of these boys will, naturally, be down-graded. In a number of instances, these boys, if playing with stronger teams and in top flight competition, would have been given state-wide publicity.

But it adds considerable to the interest in high school football to have this All-State team selected. It is the hope that some of the boys in Region Eight will gain recognition.

Down Memory Lane

The Lincoln high school class of 1938 is making plans to hold a reunion next summer, and that means of course that George Lee of Dallas, Texas, will visit the city and renew acquaintances.

One of the proud boasts of class of 1938 is that that was the year that coach George Lee and his basketball Prowlers won the state high school title, winning twenty-seven games and losing none. The squad had several close games that season, though, defeating Roseau, 19-18; Warren, 23-22; Bemidji, 35-32 in the Region Eight finals; Crosby Ironton, 30-28 in overtime in the state semi-finals; and Minneapolis North, 31-29, in the finals.

In conversation the other day about basketball in that era the talk drifted around to the strong Middle River squad that was in action those days. It was the next season, in 1939, that Middle River reached the finals of the Region Eight tournament, losing to the defending state champion Prowlers, 28-19. And George Lee, who had resigned from his position on the Lincoln high school faculty the previous year to accept the athletic coaching job at Eveleth, was one of the officials of that regional tournament.

An oddity about that Middle River team, the starting five, that is, is that the first names of those boys began with "R", and without having a duplication. Here's the roster of that starting Skipper five, perhaps the best basketball team to represent Middle River: Rodney Hallquist, Roger Isaacson, Raymond Maljala, Robert Carriere, and Richard Luoto.

Campaign Planned to Rid Minnesota of Sheep Scabies

All Flocks in State to Be Inspected, Starting Monday, December 17th

Sheep producers, marketing groups, farm organizations, veterinarians and state and federal agencies are joining forces to eliminate scabies in Minnesota sheep flocks.

Result of the program should help keep and expand Minnesota's markets for sheep and wool, according to Raymond B. Solac, extension veterinarian at the University of Minnesota.

Scabies is a rather rare but highly contagious skin disease, caused by tiny mites. It is also called mange or scab, because of itching and thick crusts of scabs which form on the skin.

Starting Dec. 17, all farms with sheep will be visited by a representative from one of the cooperating agencies who will look for any unusual signs in the sheep. The visitor will be either a county agricultural extension staff member, a vocational agriculture instructor, or a staff member from the Minnesota department of Agriculture, livestock sanitary board or other agency.

The livestock sanitary board will be notified of all sheep which rub, scratch, have loose wool or show other signs of scabies. These sheep will be examined by state or federal veterinarians who will determine whether the animals have scabies or other conditions which resemble scabies — such as scrapie, ticks, lice, eczema, Ausesky's disease or infected wounds.

So far, the expectation is that few cases of scabies will be found. Infected sheep will be dipped in a solution, under official supervision and at state expense.

Minnesota will qualify as a scabies-free area after the USDA is assured that scabies no longer exists and sheep are protected from reintroduction of the disease. Then, sheep from Minnesota will be able to move freely into any area for any purpose.

Vandals Damage Bemidji Church

Arlen Fore of Oklee Is Unanimously Selected for All-state Honors

The coaches of the Tri-County football conference have named the following twenty-one players to the All-Conference squad: Dennis Wilken, Russell Vigstol, Marvin Walter, and Rodney Myre of Plummer; Gene Haugen, Darwin Tanem, Duane Lillevold, and Rich Saurdiff of Goodridge; Arlan Fore, Tim Radniecki, Bob Bernier, and Scott Sundrud of Oklee; Bill Proulx, Russ Gagner, and Gary Ulland of Mentor; Ricky Smith and Bruce Carlson of McIntosh; Steve Eck and Arvin Odegard of Gonvick; and Dean Salveson and Chuck Stuhaug of Erskine.

Of this group all are seniors except Walter, a Plummer halfback; Ulland, a Mentor tackle; Smith, a fullback for McIntosh; and Odegard, a Gonvick quarterback.

In addition, Arlan Fore, the 6-foot 1-inch, 180-pound halfback of the Oklee Bob Cats, was unanimously selected as the conference representative for All-State honors. Fore has compiled a fantastic record of 2867 yards in 235 rushing plays, for an average of 12 yards per carry during his junior and senior years of competition. Last season, Fore, who is one of the top sprinters in Region Eight, scored a total of 126 points, scoring twenty touchdowns and adding six conversion points. This season he has tallied twenty-two touchdowns and five conversion points. And thirteen of this season's touchdowns were scored on runs of twenty yards or more, with six of the TD's being tallied from beyond mid-field.

2 Area Holsteins Set High Record for Production

New official production records by registered Holstein cows in this area were highlighted today in a special report from The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Warstel Happy Ardis Star, a four-year-old, owned by Warren E. Gast, Beltrami, produced 15,710 lbs. milk and 560 lbs. butterfat in 302 days.

Northwest Terry Magic, a four-year-old, owned by The University of Minnesota, Crookston, produced 14,960 lbs. milk and 503 lbs. butterfat in 305 days.

According to the national Holstein organization, the new production figures compare to an annual output of 7,211 lbs. of milk and 270 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow.

Noblitt Thanks Volunteer Help

Dr. Harding Noblitt of Moorhead, defeated in his bid for Congress by incumbent Congressman Odin Langen of Kennedy at last week's general election, has expressed his appreciation to campaign workers for their assistance and hailed the election of other DFL candidates as "our other successes in Minnesota and across the nation".

"I thank each and every one of you for all that you have done for me," Noblitt said in an open letter to friends and supporters, noting that it would be impossible to thank each one personally. He noted also that he would resume work at Concordia college next month.

President Proclaims Thanksgiving Nov. 22

President Kennedy has proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 22, as Thanksgiving Day and has urged all Americans to observe it "with reverence and with humility."

In a proclamation Wednesday, the President said "Let us renew the spirit of the Pilgrims at the first Thanksgiving, lonely in an inscrutable wilderness, facing the dark unknown with a faith born of their dedication to God and a fortitude drawn from their sense that all men are brothers."

The text reads in part:

"Over three centuries ago in Plymouth, on Massachusetts Bay, the Pilgrims established the custom of gathering together each year to express their gratitude to God for the preservation of their community and for the harvests their labors brought forth in the new land. Joining with their neighbors, they shared together and worshipped together in a common giving of thanks. Thanksgiving Day has ever since been part of the fabric which has united Americans with their past, with each other and with the future of all mankind.

"It is fitting that we observe this year our own day of Thanksgiving. It is fitting that we give our thanks for the safety of our land, for the fertility of our harvests, for the strength of our liberties, for the health of our people. We do so in no spirit of self-righteousness. We recognize that we are the beneficiaries of the toil and devotion of our fathers and that we can pass their legacy on to our children only by equal toil and equal devotion. We recognize too that we live in a world of peril and change — and in so uncertain a time we are all the more grateful for the indestructible gifts of hope and love, which sustain us in adversity and inspire us to labor unceasingly for a more perfect community within this nation and around the earth.

"Now, therefore, I, John F. Kennedy, President of the United States of America, in accord with the joint resolution of Congress, approved Dec. 26, 1941, which designates the fourth Thursday in November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the twenty-second day of November this year, as a day of national thanksgiving"

Committee Seeks to Revise Criminal Code

The first attempt in 75 years to revise and put into step with the modern world Minnesota's chaotic criminal code is presented to the public this week after seven years of study by a representative committee of lawyers and judges chairmaned by State Senator Harold W. Schultz of St. Paul.

Founded in 1885 on an earlier New York penal code, Minnesota's statutes developed through the years into a verbose and illogical assortment of obsolete provisions, piece-meal amendments, and generally unrelated additons. The 23-man advisory committee trims the staggering 665 sections in the existing code to a manageable 165 sections, with a sharp eye to the elimination of duplications, inconsistencies, irrelevance, and verbosity. For instance, two sections of nearly 500 words on the use of slugs in coin machines are streamlined to one 39-word sentence.

Students under 21 will be relieved of criminal stigma should they be caught whiling away a few moments in a pool or billiard game. Nor will the mere possession of burglar tools carry a heavier penalty than their actual use. The highly controversial subjects of bingo and abortion are realistically dealt with—each legalized under certain clearly defined conditions.

The sentencing of the proven guilty will undergo practical revision, too, if the Committee's findings prevail. In the words of a committee spokesman, "Punishment for revenge will give place to actual public protection through the rehabilitation of offenders." Recognition, however, is given the accepted fact that offenders generally are divided into two distinct classes: the ordinary or casual and the dangerous or hardened—the latter comprising a distinct minority.

To cope with this situation efforts will be made to have judicial sentences based more on the proclivities or criminal potential of the offender than on the actual crime at trial. Indeterminate sentences pending thorough study of certain offenders would, it is believed, allow for both reasonable punishment and maximum rehabilitation effort. For the casual offender more extensive use of probationary sentencing is urged.

Following the lead of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Louisiana, Minnesota is undertaking a long forward stride in dealing with crime and criminals at all levels and in all phases. Thousands of conscientious hours have been devoted to this study and the resultant proposals by the able and experienced men comprising the committee. The practical modern program they have framed will now be dependent upon public reaction and general acceptance as reflected in the 1963 legislature.

Chairman Schultz's co-workers were John R. Ellingston, executive secretary of the committee; Maynard E. Persig, reporter; and Joseph J. Bright, Herbert W. Estrem, Fred Fisher, Robert Gillespie, John W. Graff, Arlo E. Haering, Henry Haverstock Jr., Charles Houston, Yale Kamisar, Chief Justice Oscar R. Knutson, Robert McNeill, William Murphy, R. C. Nelson, William B. Randall, C. A. Rolloff, Richard B. Ryan, Robert J. Sheran, Bruce Stone, T. Eugene Thompson, Chester Wilson.

Lower Prices Paid at Beef Calf Sale

1962 Sale at Crookston Nets Average of $136.82

Lower prices were in effect at the second annual fall beef calf sale sponsored by the Red River Valley Livestock Association in the Winter Shows buildings in Crookston Saturday, November 3. According to sale manager D. Reimer, 77 calves brought an average of $136.82 as compared to $157.90, the average price received for calves at the beef calf sale held a year ago in Ada. Consignments consisted of Aberdeen Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn steer calves dropped in the spring of 1962.

Top price of the day was $205.00 for a Hereford calf consigned by Clarence Peterson, Clearbrook, and purchased by Elmer Severson, Clearbrook. William Strickler, Euclid, consigned the top Angus calf; this was purchased by Laura Wickham, Kellihler, for $185.00. Edgar Olson, Fosston, sold two calves at $160.00 each, the highest price received for Shorthorns at the sale. Purchasers of these calves were Mary Kay Bellmore, Kent, and David Brekken, Crookston.

Top prices paid at the 1961 sale were: $225.00 for a Shorthorn calf consigned by Warren Archer, Finley, N. D.; $215.00 for a Hereford calf consigned by Schermerhorn Farms, Mahnomen; and $185.00 for an Angus calf consigned by Bauer Stock Farm, Ada.

This is the second beef calf sale that members of the Red River Valley Livestock Association have sponsored during the past two years. The primary objective of the sales has been to make available top quality beef steer calves for project work by 4-H and FFA members in the community.

Fransons Become Book Week Family

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

National Book Week officially began Sunday and will continue through Saturday with attention being called to improved reading habits and the recreation, entertainment and education to be received from reading.

For the Victor Franson family, 820 Knight av. N., reading has been a favorite pastime for a number of years but is really just coming into its own. Mr. and Mrs. Franson have two energetic sons, five-year-old Gary and eight-year-old Derald. Both attend Northrop school where Derald is in third grade and Gary is in kindergarten.

For the past three years Mrs. Franson and the boys have visited at Carnegie public library every two weeks to select material for home reading. Picture and story books are the usual selections with the boys usually being treated to bedtime stories by Mom or Dad. Victor Franson is employed by Brodin Sheetmetal in this city.

Both boys have their favorites on the library's well-filled shelves. Derald favors the fantasy books by Dr. Seus and also likes the "I Want to Be" series by Carla Green. Gary has a preference for animals and airplanes and is quite partial to picture books.

"The boys look forward to trips to the library and we spend anywhere from a few minutes to a couple of hours here," Mrs. Franson said. Most often the visits are made just for the length of time it takes to return volumes and make new selections.

Mrs. Franson complimented the library staff for their ability to best use the crowded space available and noted that her family has always appreciated the courtesy of librarians when they were looking for specific volumes or needed other help.

"The children also like the displays which are put up in the library from time to time," Mrs. Franson noted. The current display by Leslie Kulseth features watches and clocks in a variety of models.

Regular library visits teach youngsters the value of reading, Mrs. Franson believes. Derald is now able to do some of his own reading and is more enthused about library visits than ever. Library use is not just a passing fancy for this family—it is part of their way of life.

Rochester Man to Head State AAA

Dr. Wm. Sauer Elected at Minneapolis Meeting

Dr. William G. Sauer, Rochester, was elected president of the Minnesota State Automobile Assn. Thursday at the motoring organization's 56th annual meeting in Minneapolis. Dr. Sauer had filled the position since last September when a traffic accident took the life of E. Ray Cory, the group's former president.

Harlan K. Nygaard, Sr., Minneapolis, was elected first vice-president; Thomas W. Von Kuster, Minneapolis, was re-elected second vice president; Louis Dussere, Moorhead, was re-elected third vice-president; and Hugh M. Craig Minneapolis, was re-elected treasurer.

Because of growth in the organization to more than 300,000 members, three additional men were elected to the board of directors. They are: Earl C. Maul, Minneapolis; Dr. George R. Smith, Hutchinson, and C. W. Meyer, Detroit Lakes.

Role of Churches Discussion Topic at 'U' Nov. 27-29

How churches can help their communities develop and their young people choose careers will be discussed at the Minnesota Institute for Town and Country Churches Nov. 27-29 on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota.

More than a hundred clergymen, representatives from religious organizations and other interested persons are expected to attend, according to Osgood Magnuson, assistant 4-H leader and program chairman for the event.

Speakers include staff members from the University of Minnesota, state agencies, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Topics will cover changes in agriculture and rural Minnesota; role of churches in community and job development; community development organization; career counseling and exploration, and economic and industrial development in rural areas.

Two special panel sessions will report on development programs in communities in Minnesota and other midwestern states.

Persons wishing for details may contact the Department of Agricultural Short Courses, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

THANK YOU—

to the voters of the Second Commissioner District in Pennington County for the support given me at the polls in the General Election November 6.

Minnesota Receives Less in Federal Aids Than It Pays in Taxes

Among states with lower than average per capita income, Minnesota fares poorly in the "give" and "take" of federal cash.

This is the conclusion of an Upper Midwest Economic Study technical paper on "The Geographic Impact of the Federal Budget." It is one of the series of reports prepared for use by the Upper Midwest Research and Development Council in its program aimed at stimulating economic growth in the Ninth Federal Reserve District.

The technical paper estimates the extent to which the federal cash budget redistributes funds between geographic areas in the United States. The area from which federal income, in the form of taxes exceeding expenditures, is drawn lies for the most part within the Chicago-New York axis. This income is redistributed, in the form of expenditures exceeding taxes, largely in the South, Southwest, Mountain States, and Pacific Coast States. In 1960 New York was the largest single deficit state, its deficit exceeding the surplus of California, the state in the most favored position.

The federal government's fiscal operations in 1960 had a neutral effect on the Upper Midwest as a whole "in the sense that tax assessments from the area were almost as large as federal expenditures."

A pattern established by the paper shows that out of 29 states with per capita income below the U. S. average, 22 receive more in expenditures than they pay out in taxes. Minnesota, however, is one of seven states to which the pattern does not apply.

Minnesota, with 1.90 per cent of the nation's population and 1.76 per cent of U. S. income, pays 1.68 per cent of federal taxes and receives 1.45 per cent of federal expenditures.

In the four states per capita income averages $1,993 as against $2,231 for the nation as a whole. Percentage of the four states' personal income generated in agriculture is 11.7 compared with the U. S. average of 3 per cent. The four states' percentage of income going into federal taxes, however, is lowest of any geographic region — 20.4 per cent — a fact attributed in large part to the dominant position of agriculture in the area. Nationally, the percent of income going into federal taxes is 21.9 per cent.

The states with the highest per capita federal expenditures, outside of the area surrounding the nation's capital, were California ($733), Washington ($693), Massachusetts ($668), and Connecticut ($684).

The four lowest states in terms of federal spending per head of population were Arkansas ($341), Mississippi ($351), North Carolina ($357), and Tennessee ($357).

Federal expenditures exceeded federal taxes in 33 of the 48 states (Alaska and Hawaii not included). The states with the largest net inflow of federal funds in terms of per cent of total state income were Virginia (12.0 per cent), Utah (10.9 peer cent), Mississippi (9.7 per cent), Kansas (9.2 per cent), New Mexico (8.6 per cent), South Dakota (8.0 per cent), Washington (7.8 per cent), Alabama (7.7 per cent), Maryland (7.5 per cent), South Carolina (7.0 per cent).

Only 15 states in the Union received less in federal cash than they paid out in taxes. Those with the largest net outflow of federal funds as a percent of state income were New York (5.7 per cent), Michigan (5.1 per cent), Illinois (4.9 per cent), Nevada (4.7 per cent), Oregon (4.3 per cent), Wisconsin (4.1 per cent), Pennsylvania (3.5 per cent), Vermont (3.0 per cent), Ohio (3.0 per cent), and Minnesota (2.7 per cent)

Research for the report was performed by Richard Rosenberg, John Adams, and Ronald J. Wonnacott as members of the Upper Midwest Economic Study research staff headed by Professor James M. Henderson of the University of Minnesota Department of Economics.

They conclude that "There is a definite tendency for income to be withdrawn from wealthy areas and spent in poor areas" and "on the basis of all indexes in this study the Upper Midwest does moderately well.

"It is quite true that the South and Far West fare better; it is also clear that the area bounding the Chicago-New York axis fares considerably less well."

Radio Free Europe Leader Reports

Arnulf Ueland Returns from Trip to Germany

Arnulf Ueland, newly appointed Minnesota chairman of the Radio Free Europe Fund returned last week from a 10-day tour of RFE facilities in Europe convinced that Radio Free Europe is a stalwart force in "keeping awareness and knowledge of liberty alive" for the 80 million captives of Communism.

"It's impossible to restrain the human spirit, even in a tyranny, when there is communication with the outside world," he said.

Ueland, Minneapolis banker, made the tour with a group of state chairmen, and other interested Americans. Their itinerary took them to Munich, Germany, where RFE European headquarters are situated and to Lisbon, Portugal, site of many of the most powerful RFE transmitters. Altogether RFE has 28 transmitters with over a million watts of power. They also visited both West and East Berlin.

Radio Free Europe, supported by contributions from the U. S. people, was founded by the Free Europe Committee in 1948 to combat Russian attempts to blanket satellite nations with Communist ideology. The RFE organization in the U.S. serves as a policy making body only and comprises 10 per cent of the entire RFE organization.

No RFE contributions were used to finance the European trip, Ueland said.

Lax Hunting Laws

Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, Donald Foltz points up the general weaknesses in state hunting laws throut the country. Most states have strict regulations granting automobile drivers' licenses but almost anyone can get a hunting license. Many states conduct some checks on cars and trucks for mechanical defects. The mechanical condition of a gun is not a factor in the issuing of a license to hunt. Foltz concludes:

"Consequently, our hunting areas are overrun with dangerous incompetents—from the kid shooting rabbits in a farmer's pasture to the vacationing hunter stalking bear in the Rockies.

"If one of them happens to miss his mark and hit a human being, the penalty is slight. He may get a fine and a harsh lecture, but chances are he'll be out there blasting away again next year, maybe even next week.

"Our hunting laws are not meant to protect hunters; they are designed to protect wildlife."

The Shouting Is Over

Most people, we are sure, can find something in the election results to feel happy about. It was not a complete victory for either the conservatives or the liberals. Each group suffered reverses, but there were offsetting gains too, and neither group was snowed under in the unusually heavy vote.

Here in Minnesota the governorship contest no doubt will require a recount, which could go either way. Both houses of the legislature will be controlled by the conservatives which would offset the liberal gain if Rolvaag should turn out to be the winner.

Nationally things will remain pretty much as they are for the next two years. Congress is likely to remain quite conservative, in spite of one-sided control by members who classify as Democrats, which means that the old party names have lost much of their meaning.

One gratifying result was the definite trend to a two-party system in sections of the country that have had one-party control for many years. Republicans made substantial gains in the solid South and Democrats gained victories in such traditionally Republican states as Vermont and New Hampshire.

From a national standpoint this is all to the good. And the reelection of Governor Brown in California can now be marked down as a victory for the Republican party, which no longer will be handicapped by the leadership of Richard Nixon. The election of Republican governors in such industrial states as Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan is significant.

Back to Minnesota again, the defeat of Congressman Walter Judd was a most unfortunate result. He has been a healthy influence in Washington for many years. He has measured up to the highest standards of statesmanship, a great American.

Here in the seventh district we will be well served with Odin Langen as our representative in Congress. He survived a really tough campaign fight under difficult circumstances. His strength in the district should increase as he gets better acquainted in the large area that he serves.

For The Next Generation

Much will be said thruout the land this week about education, and, we are sure, practically everything that will be said about our schools and education in general will be favorable. That is because practically everyone is in favor of schools and education.

And yet it is a very controversial subject. Educators themselves are the most severe critics of education. This is true mainly among top-level educators. At the lower levels the educators generally are conformists. If they disagree among themselves occasionally the public is not likely to hear about it.

Controversial questions are discussed in education journals, but their circulation is limited. Some of the larger newspapers report regularly on education and present the conflicting views to more of a cross section group of readers.

The New York Times, for instance, has a very interesting page on education in its Sunday edition. It includes a combination of news and comment and is very informative.

Educators sometimes resent the criticism of laymen, and that is understandable. It is encouraging to know, however, that within their own groups, and especially at the top level, they are constantly arguing among themselves. This is a healthy condition and, over a period of time, they no doubt will find ways of doing their important work more effectively. The education processes are now in a state of revolution. Films and television are in the experimental stage but their use will steadily increase, making available to many more students a closer contact with the world's greatest teachers.

People generally favor education just as they favor peace. Very few of our people want war. They favor a strong military machine in order to maintain peace. But able leaders have pointed out to us that a massive military machine may not be an unmixed blessing.

General Eisenhower reminded us of this fact in his farewell address as a retiring President. A military man himself, he could see the possible evils in building up a military machine so large as to become a controlling factor in our politics and in our economy. He recognized the racketeering tendencies that so often go hand in hand with great power and influence.

Let's keep in mind that within every good there is a potential evil, and that in all of our activities we must keep our guard up against possible racketeering. One of the strongest pressure groups in our country today is made up of the organized educators, and with them, as with all other groups, there are times when their special interests and the public interest are not in complete harmony.

We all want our young people to have good educational opportunities. Top-flight educators are not in complete agreement on how such opportunities should be made available. To parents, and even to grandparents, the general idea has strong emotional appeal. We want to do all we can for the generation that follows us.

One thing we are sure we should not be doing and that is to leave them a huge burden of unpaid debts. We are afraid that the coming generation is not going to hold us in very high regard as protectors of their interests, regardless of what we do in providing better schools.

"Ten Myths"

In a recent issue the Minnesota School Board Journal published an article written by a Ben M. Harris, which had appeared originally in the Illinois School Board Journal. The title of the article was "Ten Myths that Lead Education Astray," and they serve well for Education Week reading.

John Weber, editor of the Murray County Herald, published at Slayton, evidently thought well of the article and commented on some of the points raised as follows:

"Harris' article was entitled "Ten Myths That Lead Education Astray." It deals with factors, ideas and traditions that have caused this writer concern in the past, but about which apparently nothing is to be done on any large scale as far as education is concerned.

"Three of the myths that Harris discusses are particularly interesting — probably because we have discussed them on numerous occasions in the past. One myth is headed. "The Teaching Major Myth." Here Harris points out that we customarily judge a teacher on the basis of his credits, his education and the degree he or she holds. Our schools base practically everything, including employment practices and salary, on this myth. Harris points out that research and practical experience should cause us to reject it.

"Another interesting issue he discusses is "the class size misconception." Most of us have been brainwashed over the years to believe that the smaller the class the better. We have established about 30 students as the best size. Harris points out that there is nothing to substantiate this attitude. He goes on to point out that other factors, firstly the capabilities of the teacher, are of primary importance and not class size.

"Third is "The Carnegie Myth." This is the one that says the most effective way to educate youngsters is to have class periods of about one hour held five days a week for all subjects and, presumably, nine months a year. Harris maintains there is ample evidence that more flexibility is desirable. As a matter of fact, he claims "this is obvious nonsense."

"We hear so much these days— and by "we" I mean practically every community in the country, not just Slayton —about classroom shortages, space limitations, the need for better physical plants and so forth that we lose sight of the primary aim of our education system. That aim, unless it, too, has been recently changed, has been to provide the youngsters of this country with the best possible mental tools and physical skills to build for themselves a better tomorrow.

"It doesn't make any difference whether the youngster acquires these tools in a shanty or a fine building as long as he acquires them.

"Are America's educators progressing, experimenting, changing and improving — or are they becoming bound by shopworn and obsolete myths and traditions, as Mr. Harris seems to indicate?

Interesting Opinions

"The typical citizen drops down to a lower level of mental performance as soon as he enters the political field. He argues and analyses in a way he would readily recognize as infantile within the sphere of his real interests."

—Erich Fromm.

Election Results

As I write, the final results of the election for Governor are not in. Whatever the preliminary tally shows it will be so close that it will be necessary to wait for the official report on the canvassing board November 20, to make the returns official. Even then there could be a recount. Minnesota law provides that any candidate who feels the canvassing board report is not an accurate reflection of the election result can request a recount, to be done at his expense.

Amendments All Pass

One of the excellent results of the election was the passage of the three constitutional amendments. As a result we can increase earnings on our trust funds, the legislative session is lengthened, and building programs of the state can proceed. Amendment 2 was crucial. Had it failed our state government would have been tied up, not only on building programs but even on ability to issue certificates of indebtedness to meet a crisis coming out of a natural disaster, or a military emergency.

Every Vote Counts

If this election demonstrates anything it proves how important every vote can be. The sixth congressional district vote appears to have been decided by less than one vote a precinct, and the governorship by less than one sixth a vote per precinct. Many important legislative races have been decided by a handful of votes.

On the whole the total state vote is a large one by comparative standards. It falls short of what it should be. A vote of 90 per cent of eligible voters would be a great testimony to our living belief in our institutions and a proper demonstration that we truly do cherish them.

After Election

When the election results are final and the national, state and local officials selected, then partisanship should be set aside and co-operation for the public good predominate. Minnesota is a great and wonderful state. It can only achieve its full potential through a unity of purpose not eroded by ambition, greed or selfishness. Every person can contribute by citizenship responsibility and reflecting in personal life the principles on which our nation rests.

Conservation Dept. Cites Yule Tree Laws

The sound of ax and saw is ringing through Minnesota's pine forests these days as the annual Christmas tree harvest moves into high gear.

In addition to commercial tree sellers, many hunters and other persons will be in the woods and some may be on the lookout for a choice Christmas tree for their own use.

But the department of conservation, forestry division, pointed out today that explicit laws are in force relating to the cutting and transportation of such trees and must be abided by.

Before cutting any trees in Minnesota the law requires notification of the state forester in writing by registered mail. In addition the law states that no trees shall be removed from any tract of land until all taxes due and payable have been fully paid.

Other laws declare that no one may cut, remove or transport in a natural and untrimmed condition any evergreens or coniferous type trees of any size, or parts of such trees, without the written consent of the owner of the land on which the trees are grown.

The regulation applies to trees on both private and public lands.

Before any person except a common carrier may transport any decorative trees of the kind described on a public highway, he must first obtain a transportation permit from a Department of Conservation forestry station. No such permit need be obtained by any person transporting not more than six decorative trees FOR HIS OWN USE.

The written consent to cut the trees should be on a form furnished by the Department of Conservation forestry division. The forms are available at area forestry headquarters and ranger stations throughout the state.

The permit must be carried by the person cutting or transporting the trees and be shown upon demand to any officer of the law or officer of the Department of Conservation. Failure to show the written consent notice when requested to do so will be considered prima facie evidence that no such consent was given.

Regional Workhouse

Multi-County Jail Is Discussed on Monday

"Idleness and waste of time combine to make the most disturbing factor in the operation of penal institutions today," stated Dr. Myrl Alexander, professor of correctional administration at Southern Illinois University, in addressing a multi-county meeting held in Thief River Falls Monday evening. The session was called to gain counseling on a proposed regional workhouse which could solve individual jail problems for a number of area counties.

Dr. Alexander, former assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons and associated with the Federal Prison Service continuously since 1931, said there is a "desperate need" for prisoners to occupy their time in useful work. Without such a program, and with prisoners confined to cells with nothing to do, "our jails become moral cesspools", he said.

"This whole business of crime and delinquency and what is done with the prisoners is of increasing interest to people all over the country," the professor said. He noted that delinquency is on the increase in the nation and that more attention must be given to the matter in the hope of reaching some sort of a solution.

Monday's meeting was called by Merle Lindberg, chairman of the Pennington county board of commissioners and head of the multi-county jail study committee. In attendance were various judges, sheriffs, county commissioners and law enforcement officers from 10 northwestern Minnesota counties invited to participate in the session.

For some time the study group has sought information in regard to the possibilities of establishing a regional workhouse or multi-county jail which could be used by all participating counties for housing of prisoners given sentences ranging from 30 days to one year. Nearly all existing jails in the area are inadequate, most are old and in a deteriorated condition and counties are faced with the possibility of expensive building programs.

Area Study Revealed

Robert McLane, jail consultant for the Minnesota State Department of Corrections, opened the meeting and reported on a survey made to determine to some extent how the multi-county unit could be utilized. Using past figures, estimates from judges as to what they would do if the facility was available, and taking a median average, McLane stated that an estimate of 350 prisoners per year from the 10-county area should be a conservative figure. If prisoners from Indian reservations were to be included, he said another 150 prisoners per year could be expected.

The problem is to find a place to commit the routine drunk, minor assault prisoner and vagrant, McLane noted. In some cases where there are no proper commitment facilities available, judges have been forced to suspend sentencing five or six times for the same recurring offender. Sheriffs have noted that they often must by-pass one jail which is filled and drive to another city to find a place to house their prisoners.

The jail consultant said his survey was based on prisoners sentenced from 30 days to one year. The majority of sentences issued are for less than 30 days, he said, but the study showed that a facility for about 50 prisoners would be needed for the counties included in the regional plan.

Could Make History

Allan Hubanks, executive director of Correctional Service of Minnesota, told the group that they had "a real opportunity to make correctional facility history here

This County Allotted $21,087 in Road Funds

Pennington county will receive $21,087 as its share of the initial allocation of $2,780,515 to Minnesota's 87 counties of federal-aid secondary highway funds, as announced today by the Minnesota highway department.

This sum represents 50 per cent of the $5,674,500 apportionment received from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, less 2 per cent withheld by the state for planning and approved research projects. Almost $2,000,000 additional in FAS funds is expected to be allocated to the state before the end of next month, with another apportionment to be made then to the counties.

Marshall county will get $47,997; Red Lake, $16,566; Roseau, $36,555; and Polk, $66,921.

Under existing regulations, the state must apportion at least 50 per cent of its FAS allocation to the counties. However, studies are now underway by a committee of state and county representatives to determine an equitable sharing of these federal aid secondary road funds.

It is not expected that its final report will be available for approval by the commissioner of highways for some time, so, rather than await that determination, the initial allocation is being made at this time. Any adjustments deemed equitable will be made when the balance of the FAS fund allocation is received from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Skaar, Maruska Are Speakers at Rotary Monday

Newly-Elected State Officials Tell About Campaign Experiences

Newly elected state legislators, Representative Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls and Senator Harveydale Maruska of Angus, were special guests of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. The men reviewed their campaigns and answered questions concerning their opinion on legislative matters.

George Stockman, director of elementary education and chairman of the local American Education Week committee, reviewed activities which would be held in observance of AEW in this community. Jon Metusalem announced a forthcoming meeting of the Minnesota Alumni association.

Both legislators noted that their contact with voters was filled with unusual experiences as they were often confused with other candidates. Many voters were not too well informed, they agreed, but they were mutually gratified with the support they received.

In response to questions from the club, Sen. Maruska stated that he believed the taconite amendment would meet with a more favorable reception during the next session and that there would be no enactment of a sales tax. Maruska said he would not vote for a sales tax until such time as the majority of people in his district indicate that they want it, and that he didn't believe the interest would come during the next session.

Total of 1,147,050 Tons Was Harvested This Year

The third largest crop of sugar beets in the Red River Valley was harvested this year and the first payment to the farmers has been issued.

Jack Tanner, district manager of American Crystal Sugar Co. in East Grand Forks, said payment for the total crop will amount to $10,311,981, which is a rate of $8.99 per ton. The payments will be made at intervals up to Sept. 30 of next year, he said.

Total tonnage of sugar beets this year was 1,147,050, exceeded only by the 1961 total of 1,445,000 and the 1960 total of 1,347,000.

Tanner said the yield per acre was down this year because of the late season. He also noted that the hauling period was shorter than usual due to the pleasant fall season.

All three American Crystal Sugar factories in the Valley are due to end their processing campaigns around Jan. 12, he added.

School Board Adopts Budget of $1,548,267

$48,012 Increase Noted from Last 12-month Period

Thief River Falls public schools will operate on a total budget of $1,548,267.78 for the 1962-1963 school year—an increase of $48,012.78 from the estimated budget set a year ago. Adoption of the budget took place at a regular meeting of the board of education Monday evening. Depending upon the property valuation in the district, the district levy is expected to increase by about 13 mills from last year.

With last year's estimated budget just over the $1½ million mark, actual expenditures for 1961-1962 were $1,457,241.90. Last year the mill levy was 108.1 mills on agricultural property and 122.1 mills on non-agricultural property. The mill levy increase estimate was based on 1961 taxable valuation since a new valuation has not yet been determined.

Of the total estimated income for the 1962-1963 year, $578,708 will come from local taxes, $17,000 from tuition, $27,847 from local revenue receipts, $69,700 from county receipts, $792,534 from state and federal sources, $2,900 from sale of materials, supplies and equipment, $3,000 from other school districts, $500 in refunds, $75,000 from food services, $2,500 in NDEA federal aid and $500 from other revenue receipts.

Main increase in the budget was in total salaries for instruction which climbed from an estimate of $824,925 in 1961-62 to $856,277 in 1962-63. Other approximate increases are $1,500 for textbooks, $12,500 for auxiliary services due primarily to salaries for attendance director, secretary and assistant nurse, $1,200 for transportation, $3,500 for operation of plant, $3,500 for food services and $5,250 for capital outlay.

Other Business

In other action taken by the board Monday evening, it was decided to pay city street assessments over a three-year period at an approximate payment of $10,000 per year. This would permit payment of the remaining portion of a previous sewer assessment in 1962-63 and a payment of about $10,000 annually on the street assessment over the following three school years.

Approval was given for the hiring of an assistant for Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, with a maximum monthly salary stipulated by the board. Contract with Northwestern Hospital for the school's practical nursing program was approved and an agreement approved for transportation of students from rural District 1050.

Following discussion, board members also voted to direct the superintendent to confer with the school attorney in regard to contract completion by Walker Sand & Gravel in the blacktopping of elementary school playgrounds. The board failed to approve the job and has withheld a portion of the contract payment.

A letter from the state board of education was also read, noting that home economics facilities must be brought up to standard by the 1963-64 school year if the program is to receive state approval.

Hospital Addition Bids to Be Invited Shortly

Final Approval of Plans for Project Is Expected Dec. 18

Final approval of the expansion program for Northwestern hospital was secured Tuesday following an inspection of the present plant and a study of the proposed plans by representatives of the U. S. Public Health Service. The project will receive $286,831.45 of Hill Burton funds previously authorized, plus a special grant of Public Works Acceleration Fund money in the amount of not to exceed $150,683.05, conditioned upon an early letting of the contract.

Final inspection of the plans will be made at Minneapolis on December 18, with a call for bids to follow immediately. Anticipated date for the opening of bids and the letting of the contracts is January 31 according to Norman Peterson, hospital admisitrator.

The program calls for the construction of an addition on the north end of the present structure, extending it to First St., and will provide 36 beds for chronic and convalescent and nursing care patients, with supporting services. Also included will be enlargement of several departments of the present hospital. The total cost is estimated at $875,029, of which one-half will be paid through federal aid.

Conducting the inspection Tuesday were William Scheler, Architect, and M. Monk, Engineer, with the U. S. Public Health Service at Kansas City; and Elmer C. Slagle, Assistant director, division of Hospital Services of the Minnesota Department of Health. Representing Bettenburg, Townsend, Stolte and Comb, of St. Paul, architects, were Gordon Comb, architect, and Vaughn Anderson, Engineer.

The visiting officials met with executive committee of the Hospital Board Tuesday evening and expressed complete satisfaction with the program and the plans. They stated that the present heating plant probably is adequate but suggested that consideration be given to the installation of a third boiler at some future time. The plans may provide for such an addition as an alternate bid Mr. Peterson states.

The addition of 36 beds for chronic, convalescent and nursing care patients has been considered in terms of area and community needs, providing a service needed to supplement present facilities and those in the making.

Sheriff, Police Check on Thefts

Two thefts which occurred Monday evening are under investigation by local law enforcement agencies this week. Pennington county sheriff's department is also investigating the shooting of a three-year-old Hereford cow.

City police received a report Tuesday morning from John Langseth that a 40 h. p. Johnson outboard motor was taken from his boat which was parked on the south side of the Northwest Beverage building sometime after 7 p. m. Monday.

Sheriff's department personnel are checking a break-in at a garage on the John Geske farm south of Thief River Falls on highway 32 in Rocksbury township. Items stolen were gasoline, chain saw, one-quarter and one-half inch drills, a tire, tool box and tools.

The cow was shot on the farm of Mrs. Henry Trulson in the southeast part of the county on Sunday. Authorities say the animal was hit twice, ruling out the probability that it was struck by a stray bullet.

Lefrooth-Holmstrom Vows Were Spoken November 3

An impressive afternoon wedding was solemnized on Saturday, November 3, at two o'clock amid baskets of all-white gladioli, carnations and mums, at the Bethesda Lutheran Church in Strandquist when Miss JoAnne Lefrooth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lefrooth exchanged marriage vows with Deanne Holmstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Holmstrom. The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. C. W. Lindgren, with Rev. C. R. Logelin of Karlstad assisting.

Miss Carol Holmstrom played the nuptial music, and also accompanied Mrs. Donald Lefrooth, who first sang "O Promise Me," and then, as the couple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white satin gown fashioned with a full hoop skirt and short train. The fitted bodice was detailed with pearl-and-sequin-trimmed lace neckline, which trim was also repeated at the hipline. Long sleeves came to a point over the wrists. The fingertip veil of white nylon net was held by a jeweled tiara. She carried a bridal bouquet of red roses and white carnations with white ribbon accents. Her only jewelry was a white gold wrist watch, her gift from the groom. She followed the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Morris Lindstrom was her sister's matron of honor. She and the other two attendants, Mrs. Leslie Maurstad, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Lowell Bring, the groom's niece, all wore floor-length gowns of royal blue taffeta with fitted bodices, short sleeves, and full skirts. Their matching head-pieces were royal blue circlets with matching veils. All wore white, elbow-length gloves and a single strand of pearls, with matching earrings, their gift from the bride. Their cascade bouquets were of white carnations laced with royal blue ribbons.

Elaine Joy Lefrooth, the bride's sister, was junior bridesmaid. Her gown, head-piece and bouquet were identical to those of the other attendants, and she wore a pearl pendant which had been given her by the bride.

Lori Lindstrom, niece of the bride, was flower-girl, in a miniature bridal gown of white taffeta and lace, with full hoop skirt. Her white veil was held by tiny white flowers. She also wore a pearl pendant and carried a small lace basket of red roses and white carnations. Her gift from the bride was a bride doll.

Connie Maurstad, the groom's nephew, carried the rings on a heart-shapd white satin pillow with ribbon streamers. He wore a black tuxedo with a white carnation boutonniere, and his gift from the groom, a set of cuff links and a bow tie.

The groom was attended by his twin brother, Donald Holmstrom, as best man, and Donald and Verne Lefrooth, brothers of the bride, as groomsmen. Ushers were Vance Lefrooth and Leonard Holmstrom, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. Their gifts from the groom were cuff-link sets.

Mothers of the couple wore navy blue with matching accessories, and corsages of miniature red roses with white feathered carnations. Also receiving corsages were the grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Kristina Thompson of Karlstad, and Mrs. Nannie Lefrooth of Strandquist, who were presented with corsages of small red roses and white feathered carnations.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored by a reception held in the church parlors, and attended by approximately 300 guests.

Attending the bridal table were Katherine Nordine and Cheryl Thompson, cousins of the bride, and Avis Setterholm and Marilyn Holmstrom, nieces of the groom. The Bethesda ALCW catered the luncheon.

The beautiful four-tiered wedding cake, ornamented with red and white roses and white bells, and topped with bride and groom ornament, was cut and served by Mrs. Vance Lefrooth and Mrs. Leonard Holmstrom. Attending the guest book was Mrs. Arnie Maurstad, a sister of the groom. Pouring were Mrs. Kenneth Setterholm another of the groom's sisters, and Shirley Anderson. In charge of the gift table were Mrs. Donald Holmstrom, Betty Kasprowicz, JoAnne Szyzepanski, Mrs. Jerry Smith, and Mrs. Marshall Myhre, a sister of the groom, arranged and pinned the flowers.

They will make their home in St. Paul for the winter, both being employed there. They will later return to the groom's farm south of Strandquist, where they will locate permanently.

Kitchen Karnival

Dear Ladies,

Our "goof" was your headache, and Mrs. Gessner's, who received many calls concerning the amount of flour to use in the fruitcake recipe featured last Monday. The "fabulous" (flourless, as it turned out!) fruitcake calls for 1½ cups flour.

Several asked about the cherries to be used. If you have your own canned cherries, they will naturally be sweetened. Sour pie cherries need to be sweetened. This can be done while they are in the liquid or after draining, by pouring sugar over them about an hour before they are to be used. Caution — drain them well before using.

We're terribly sorry about the omission. Blame it onto the ever-present printer's devil, that small, unseen scourge of newspaper people. He can catch up with you when you least expect him. . .

University Survey Shows Old Folks Are Fairly Well Content

How happy are Minnesota's elderly citizens?

A recent survey of some 2,700 persons over 60 in Morrison county is helping answer that question. Only one person in ten reported feeling very unhappy. One in five was "very happy," and the rest were in between, but with most being "quite happy."

The study was part of an extensive effort by University of Minnesota sociologists to get detailed information about retired persons in Morrison county—where and how they live, what their health and living problems are, and how happy they are in their later years. Actual surveying was done by 500 local volunteers in cooperation with the Morrison county nursing board and the county committee on aging.

Only one in five of these persons thought of himself as "old." The others considered themselves "elderly," "middle-aged," or even "young." Other studies have suggested that the younger such people conceive themselves to be, the more likely they are to be well adjusted.

Of the Morrison county respondents, one respondent in ten said he was very secure financially and another six in ten felt quite secure. Only one person in twenty felt he was living in real distress. Such security, of course, is a relative thing. One person may be comfortable with $1,000 in the bank while another thinks $25,000 is too little.

Religion is very important to older persons. More than 80 per cent were members of a church. And of the non-members, only three per cent had no religious preference. Almost all seemed satisfied and firm in their faith, with only 5 per cent reporting any dissatisfaction.

They survey showed much room for increase in social activity. Only forty per cent condidered themselves quite active in social affairs, and these were mainly persons under 70. About three in ten belong to clubs, and two-thirds of such members were women.

In Morrison county, older persons are very likely to be home owners. More than three-fourths of the survey respondents own their own homes, and the per cent was higher in villages and rural areas than in Little Falls. Fewer than 10 per cent, even in town, lived in apartments.

Senior citizens in Morrison county don't move far or often. Almost half have lived in the same house from 10 to 40 years. Most are satisfied with their housing and plan to stay there, although a few plan to move from farm to village. Only a handful had their eyes on a sunnier climate or a retirement community.

Most of these people were satisfied with the way they used their leisure time. Their most preferred social interests include visiting children, and other family member, traveling, hunting and fishing and visiting friends and neighbors. Also popular were reading, church, hobbies, playing cards, radio and TV, and spectator sports.

Many of these elderly people wanted more social life. Forty per cent said they would like a place for visiting or playing games. There was also interest in adult education, low-cost meals for home delivery, and help with financial or personal problems.

There was little desire, however, to get something for nothing. For each of the services, about half of those who want it express a desire and ability to help organize and support it.

Fallout Shelters Topic at Bemidji

Shelter construction workshops will be held in all State Civil Defense mobile support areas throughout Minnesota in Region 4, including Bemidji, during the period November 19 through November 24. These will be three to five hour meetings for key personnel of the construction industry including architects, engineers, builders, contractors, inspectors, civil defense directors, and related groups.

A brief coverage of the entire shelter program will be made including methods of identifying, improving, constructing, or improvising community shelters and family shelters. University professors trained in protective construction methods will conduct the workshops.

Attendance at each workshop is to provide quickly trained construction industry personnel to support Region 4, State and local shelter efforts. This support can range from individual neighborhood advice and guidance to public speaking engagements and service on civil defense committees or volunteer shelter advisory groups.

Admittance to the workshop at Bemidji should be requested by personal or telephone application to O. I. Buckmaster, 414 Beltrami Avenue, Bemidji (telephone PL 1-1679), commander of Mobile Support Area III. The workshop meeting to be held in Bemidji on Tuesday, November 20th, at 1:00 p. m. will take place in the National Guard Armory.

Coordination between local offices in and around the areas selected for workshops to control both quality and quantity of attendees will be required. Admittance should be based on holding some responsible position in a firm, industry, or local government having direct interest in building, planning, design or construction. The second criterion should be willingness to assist local or State Civil Defense in giving advice and guidance to the public on shelter identification, construction, or improvisation. The attendees will form a nucleus of planning and construction personnel to expedite construction of effective shelters in areas where there is a need and demand for shelter construction by private initiative.

The organizations assisting in the program are Associated General Contractors of Minnesota, Society of Military Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers, Minnesota Association of Consulting Engineers, and Minnesota Society of Architects.

The instructor for the session to be held in Bemidji November 20th will be Donald L. Schalble of Chassell, Michigan.

Oscar Liden Dies While on Deer Hunt

Rites To Be Friday for Longtime Resident, 81

Top Ten Dairy Herds Listed for October

Orville Peters, supervisor of the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association, lists the following herds as the top ten in the association for the month of October:

	Milk Av.	Fat Av.	Test Av.
C. Christensen	1015	37.2	3.66
Myron Carlson	879	33.6	3.82
W. Reireson	947	33.4	3.54
Mordy Morrison	975	33.1	3.40
Paul Morkassel	812	32.5	4.00
D. Svendsgaard	848	31.7	3.74
Art Stenberg	863	30.4	3.52
Earl Erickson	575	28.2	4.80
John Burtness	819	27.9	3.41
Martin Hanson	736	27.7	3.76

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month.

If too many dry cows are included in the herd then the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 24 herds on test with a total of 637 cows during October, 73 percent of which were milking. The average amount of milk produced per cow was 665 pounds which tested 3.63 percent fat. This amounted to 24.2 pounds of B. F. per cow.

Cows finishing with over 500 lbs. B. F. during the 1961-62 testing year, in a 365-day or less lactation, were:

Cow	Days	Milk	Fat
A. Peterson, 14	365	13760	501
J. Burtness, Skippy	354	12910	508
J. Burtness, Clover	365	16220	610
J. Burtness, DoDee	365	14750	501
J. Burtness, Walnut	328	15360	626
Art Stenberg, Bubbles	340	15840	542
A. Stenberg, Bell	365	15790	609
Earl Erickson, LuLabell	346	11380	528
C. Christensen, 27	292	14700	548

Eight owner-sampler herds were on test with a total of 186 cows, 68 percent of which were milking.

Conservatives Will Rule '63 Legislature

By Orlin Folwick
Minnesota News Features

Election day defeats, retirement and redistricting will give Minnesota the greatest legislative turnover in its history when the 1963 session meets next January 3 with 78 new members ready to tackle the business of making laws, in both houses.

Biggest shift will be in the house of representatives, which saw 19 of its members defeated November 6, 34 retiring or seeking other offices and two unable to get through the primaries last September.

The general election proved to be a debacle for the Liberals, who controlled the house of representatives the last four sessions but had to give up to the Conservatives in the forthcoming meeting. Fifteen of them found their services no longer wanted by the voters, among them such leaders as Reps. Odean Enestvedt of Sacred Heart, Alvin O. Hofstad of Madison, Mrs. Sally Luther of Minneapolis and Peter Popovich of St. Paul, replaced by Conservatives. Along with Mrs. Luther, the only other woman in the 1961 session, Mrs. Esther Fieldman of Park Rapids, was defeated.

Conservatives fared better, losing only four in the election.

Capitol observers felt the new members coming in would carry them a mandate to go easy on spending public funds and to look for some means of tax reform. Bill to raise money and levy taxes must originate in the house.

In the senate, 23 new members will take seats at the opening session. Indications are that leadership will remain in Conservative hands in the same division as in the 1961 session — 43 Conservatives and 24 Liberals.

As in the house, the majority of missing faces will be Liberals. Gone will be Senator Don Fraser of Minneapolis, who defeated Congressman Walter Judd; Senator A. M. Keith of Rochester, DFL lieutenant governorship candidate; Senator Harold Schultz of St. Paul, who turned lobbyist, and Senator Vladimir Shipka of Grand Rapids.

Out of the picture will be the veteran Senator Harry L. Wahlstrand of Willmar, deceased, along with Senator Joseph Vadheim of Tyler, also deceased. The rest of the missing senators retired or went on to other political offices. Senators J. R. Keller of Winona, Leo Lauerman of Olivia, Harold J. O'Loughlin of St. Paul, J. L. Richardson of St. Cloud and H. P. Goodin of Minneapolis were the only Conservative senators defeated.

The switch of control in the house will take Rep. E. L. Chilgren of Little Fork out of the speakership and Rep. Fred Cina of Aurora out of the powerful rules committee chairmanship. Rep. L. L. Duxbury of Caledonia is expected to be elected speaker. A Conservative caucus will choose a new house rules committee chairman. Senator John M. Zwach of Walnut Grove, senate majority leader, is expected to continue in that rule with a committee on committees headed by Senator Donald O. Wright of Minneapolis.

A. Koszojed, 93, Dies Here Mon.; Burial in N. Dak.

Funeral services for Anton Koszojed, 93, of 802 St. Paul Ave. So., who passed away Monday evening, Nov. 12, at the home of his son, will be held Saturday, November 17, 10 a. m. at St. Peter & Paul's Catholic church at Lankin, N. D. Father L. Svetinsky will officiate; burial will be in the Bechyne cemetery, Walsh Co.; N. D. Sinding's Funeral Chapel is in charge of arrangements. Visitation hours have been set from Thursday evening until Saturday morning and at the church one hour prior to services. Rosary will be recited at Sinding's Chapel on Friday evening at 8 o'clock with Father Patnode officiating.

Mr. Kozojed was born in Bohemia, August 16, 1869, coming with his parents to the New Prague and Canby area in Minnesota in 1879, where he attended rural school. After living for thirteen years in the Cummings, N. D. area he homesteaded in 1906 in Silverton Twp., where he lived until the past several years which were spent in Thief River Falls. In 1893 he was united in marraige to Josephine Pick who preceded him in death in 1936.

Survivors include one son, Tony, Thief River Falls; two sisters, Nettie, (Mrs. Frank Dusek,) Wis.; Rose, (Mrs. Louis Simik,) Chicago, Ill.; seven grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Hamre, 68, long-time resident of the Mavie area, who passed away at Northwestern Hospital Tuesday, Nov. 13, will be held Saturday, Nov. 17, 2 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Public Opinion

Editor Times:

We are in the heart of our United Fund drive. The response to solicitations has been generous. At the time of this writing we have 25 per cent of our goal reported and turned in to our office.

There are many people who have given their time and efforts in conducting our campaign. It may be a little pre-mature for expressing thanks and showing gratitude to these people; this cannot be emphasized enough. Many behind the scenes individuals are responsible for a successful United Fund for our Pennington County.

I would like to specifically single our the faculty in our Thief River School System. These individuals gave us generous contributions and a very substantial average.

It is most reassuring to see how much these individuals are interested in our community. Civic pride is a wonderful advertisement for Thief River. We can be proud of our educational system.

I sincerely hope the reaction will be similar from the rest of our community. Please give your fair share to the United Fund. We need 100 per cent participation.

tonight. A multi-county workhouse such as you are proposing could fill a very real need. It would be the first of its kind in the nation and would certainly be watched with interest and visited by correctional people in all of the 50 states."

"This proposal is not new," Dr. Alexander noted in his talk. "It has been proposed again and again at state and national meetings, but for some reason it has never gone any further than the talking stage. You have moved further and done more toward this than has ever been done before. There is no prototype for you to follow, which makes this difficult, but the program offers tremendous opportunities."

Dr. Alexander advanced the thought that such a facility would be considerably cheaper to participating counties to establish than to attempt meeting their individual needs in their own counties. He suggested that a medium security building be erected and that prisoners be put to work improving other facilities at the site. A farm near Mahnomen has been suggested as a possible site for the institution.

Counties invited to participate in the meeting were Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Polk, Clearwater, Mahnomen and Norman.

TRF Students at FTA Conference

Attend Meeting Held at Bemidji State College

Bemidji State College students and visiting members of area high school Future Teacher of America chapters were told of the many challenges of the teaching profession Tuesday morning by Dr. Erich Selke, well-known educator of the University of North Dakota.

Dr. Selke gave the keynote address of the area Student National Education Association PTA conference which is held each year on the BSC campus during American Education Week.

Nearly 130 students participated from high schools at Goodridge, New York Mills, Fosston, Clearbrook, Thief River Falls, Nashwauk, Blackduck, Park Rapids, Fergus Falls, Fertile and Brainerd Junior College.

Dr. C. R. Sattgast, president of BSC, welcomed the visiting FTA chapters and Mrs. Inga Cragg, field consultant for the Minnesota Education Association, spoke to the students on the work of the FTA chapters throughout the state.

4-H Open to City Youngsters Also

One-fourth of Members Are from Non-farm Homes

Boys and girls living in towns, cities and suburban areas as well as in the country are eligible to join 4-H clubs.

At present about a fourth of all 4-H members are from urban and rural nonfarm homes, according to the state 4-H club office at the University of Minnesota. During the first 25 years of 4-H work in Minnesota nearly all 4-H'ers lived on farms. The shift in membership to more urban and rural nonfarm members has come about in the last 25 years partly because business and community leaders have urged that 4-H club work be extended beyond rural areas.

As club membership has broadened, more projects have been added and many old projects have been adapted to appeal to urban and nonfarm boys and girls. Among the newer projects are career exploration; town and country business; a study of marketing; automotive care and safety, which involves learning about care and safe operation of cars and costs involved; photography; and entomology, an opportunity to identify and study insects and their relationships to plants and animals.

Though 4-H'ers work at their projects, they also have fun. Recreation is a part of every club meeting. Talent shows, picnics, club tours, county camps and sports days are among ways 4-H'ers make friends.

Anyone between the ages of 9 and 21 is eligible to join a 4-H club. If you live in town and would like to belong, contact the county extension office for help in joining a club.

Planning Started for Sugar Plant at Drayton, N.D.

American Crystal Sugar Co. Asks Secy. Freeman to Make Acreage Available

The American Crystal Sugar Co. has engaged the services of the H. K. Ferguson Co. in a joint effort by the two firms to commence engineering and construction phases of a new beet sugar factory to be built and operated by American Crystal near Drayton, N. D.

Announcement of the plans were made today by H. Von Bergen, American Cyrstal Sugar Co. president.

Von Bergen said commencement of construction, presently anticipated to be not later than early spring of 1963, is dependent upon a commitment from the Secretary of Agriculture of a sugar beet acreage reserve which will guarantee that the sugar company, despite possible general restrictions on the planting of sugar beets, may contract with farmers in the Drayton, N. D. area for the growing of sufficient sugar beets to support the new factory.

Such action by the Secretary is made possible as a result of amendments to the Sugar Act of 1948 which became effective in July of this year.

The sugar company presently has operating factories in California, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota.

Travel Fare Taxes Ended Wednesday

Savings to Taxpayers Is Estimated At $150 Million

The 10 per cent federal tax on rail, bus and boat fares passed out of existence at midnight Wednesday and a similar levy on air fares will be cut in half. As a result, travelers can expect to save nearly $150 million a year.

The eastern railroads and some bus lines will boost their fares to offset the tax change. But all air fares will remain at current levels, at least for the present.

As a result of the tax changes, voted by Congress last summer, the government will incur a revenue loss of about $170 million a year. Savings to the public will be less, however, because of partially offsetting fare increases.

The tax was first imposed during World War II to raise revenues and at the same time discourage nonessential travel. Receipts from the passenger fare tax have totaled nearly $4.5 billion since 1941.
